In a resolution, that was carried, the Dominion Government were called upon to withhold the subsidy they are giving the Furness-Whitby Line of steamers for the carriage of fruit to the Old Country until the latter should make proper provision for the transportation of all perishable fruits. The carriage of apples from Halifax had been unsatisfactory, great loss having accrued to the farmers on account of the insufficient ventilation on shipboard.

Speaking on the above resolution, Howard Bilger, of Halifax, said he was glad to see any improvement in the handling of fruit. They should have the best line obtainable. He would like to have it arranged so that boats would depart from Halifax for London every ten days, making a six days' passage. He had never seen better fruit-boats than the Loyalist and Evangeline, and his intimate knowledge of the handling of fruit made him perceive that little fault could be shown.

Several others also had something to say on this, and a paper by C. O. Allan was read by Mr. Innis, containing valuable information regarding the handling of fruits. It was claimed that there either should be swifter boats or a system of cold storage.

A committee, consisting of Colonel S. Spurr, Dr. J. B. Black, P. Innes, R. R. Eaton and W. W. Pineo, will wait on the Ottawa Government in support of this resolution.

In another resolution the board pledged itself to do all it could to have an agricultural college established in King's County, and the Provincial Government was requested to take such steps necessary, by appropriation or otherwise, to secure the best location in King's County for this institution.

The following officers were elected :

President—P. Innes.

Vice-President—A. S. McDonald.

Secretary-Treasurer—L. S. Eaton.

Council—E. M. Beckwith, J. W. Hubbard, C. C. H. Eaton, J. A. Kinsman, Dr. A. M. Covert, Fred Fisher, A. N. Griffin, Ansley Bishop, J. L. Gertridge, Dr. Chipman, W. L. Hamilton, Warden Balcom, A. E. McMahon, L. Gaul, S. B. Chute, W. W. Pineo, Dr. De Witt, F. J. Porter, R. S. Eaton and H. H. Wickwire.

Auditors—M. G. De Wolfe and H. G. Harris.

SARNIA BOARD OF TRADE.

At the annual meeting of the Sarnia, Ont., Board of Trade, President A. D. McLean in the chair, communications were received from the Toronto Board of Trade recommending that Great Britain adopt a preferential tariff for wheat and all other grains produced within the Empire : and also from the Windsor Board of Trade recommending the abolition of fees for overtime for Customs officials. It is claimed that such fees are a hardship to local corporations and private individuals.

The treasurer's report showed that after paying all accounts there was a balance of $177.02 in the treasury.

The officers elected for 1902 were as follows :

President—A. D. McLean.

Secretary—C. S. Ellis.

Treasurer—F. J. Winlow.

The 1901 council was elected for 1902.

Secretary Ellis was instructed to correspond with the F. & P. M. Railway relative to crossing connections at Sarnia, and with the M. C. R., requesting them to come to Sarnia.

W. J. Proctor urged the board to make representations to the stockholders of the Grand Trunk Railway in England regarding the way that railway's management is taking everything away from Sarnia and making Port Huron the principal terminal. Even the local trains going east now start from Port Huron. This was done to extort fees for the passage of trains through the tunnel.

It was stated that the new elevator which the Grand Trunk is building at Point Edward will not be completed this year, and it was thought that something ought to be done to secure this elevator for Sarnia.

MILK FLOUR IN SWEDEN.

THE U. S. Consul at Bergen sends additional information regarding the discovery of milk flour brought to the attention of the meeting of the Academy of Agriculture at Stockholm, a few months ago. The report reads :

Dr. M. Ekenberg, of Gothenberg, Sweden, described a process of changing milk into a fine flour that afterwards, through solution in a sufficient quantity of water, may again be transformed into milk with all its alimentary qualities.

The peculiarity of Dr. Ekenberg's discovery lies in his having found the conditions under which the milk will retain its solubility in water in spite of the transformation into powder. Formerly, when milk was dried, the components became indissoluble.

The transformation of milk into powder requires a special apparatus, which is said to be so simple that it can be placed in any dairy, requiring no technical knowledge to operate.

Dr. Ekenberg would not give a description of the apparatus, as he has applied for letters patent. According to his calculations, the apparatus should not cost more than a common separator.

The milk-flour resembles wheat flour, and has the aroma of milk. It can be kept in tin cans, wooden barrels, and even sacks and paper bags. One part of the flour, in weight, gives about ten parts of milk. It is simply concentrated milk, in the form of flour ; it contains all the constituent parts of milk, except the water and gases. It does not turn sour or effervesce, and is not susceptible to changes in the weather. Samples have been kept for weeks in thermostat at blood temperature (37.5 degrees Celsius), and no changes were noted. Even in damp air, without protection, it does not turn sour or become moldy.

From the milk flour, cream, butter, and cheese may be obtained. It can be used in baking bread, puddings, etc.

The working expenses for the production of milk-flour have been calculated at one cent per gallon of milk.

Flour of skimmed milk was also exhibited by Dr. Ekenberg before the Academy of Agriculture, and it is particularly for this article that the new process will be of importance, as the product has hitherto been largely wasted.

The flour will be found to be superior to such preparations as "proteid" and "proton," as 10 to 20 per cent. of the albumen of the milk is lost in the production of the latter, and the flour can be produced much more cheaply.

Skimmed milk is said to be the cheapest albuminous aliment known. The process for the production of milk flour is so simple that the article can be profitably sold at one krone per kilogram (12 cents per pound), and even less, provided that skimmed milk can be obtained at three ore per liter (2.9 cents per gallon).

By means of this apparatus, every dairy will be enabled to send all its products to the market in a transportable condition.

TEA A CURE FOR MALARIAL FEVER.

Tea planters and merchants seem to have taken the advice of Lord Curzon, writes an Amritsar correspondent to The Indian Daily News :—"The effect of their efforts to popularize the use of Indian tea is becoming apparent at Amritsar, which is the principal tea emporium for the Punjab. The poorest native has taken to drinking tea, and a large quantity is retailed to villagers, who use it as a prophylatic against, or a cure for, malarial fever. There is, therefore, a brisk trade in tea, and it is believed that its stimulating and curative properties will cause it to be used largely in place of opium. If the planters would start selling tea in small two-anna packets, and send their agents into the villages three or four times in the year, tea-drinking would soon become general among the rustics, and the demand increase considerably."

BRAZIL AS A COFFEE-PRODUCER.

BRAZIL is the most important coffee-producing country not only of South America, but of the entire world. For a long series of years she produced steadily an average of about one-half the world's requirements, but, in 1896, an impetus was given to the Brazilian industry that has culminated in the present commercial coffee year in a production of probably three-fourths of the entire crop of the world. Brazil's position with reference to the world's coffee crop has grown to be strikingly similar to that of the United States relative to the world's corn crop. Each country, respectively, occupies a controlling position with reference to these products. And, as the bulk of the corn crop of the United States is the production of a limited number of States, so a few States in the southern part of the trans-equatorial Republic constitute the coffee belt of Brazil. The State of San Paulo is by all odds the heaviest producer, and from its seaport, Santos, there is shipped annually over one third of all the coffee that enters into the commerce of the world. Next in importance to San Paulo as a coffee-producer is the State of Rio de Janeiro, whose seaport, Rio, is second only to Santos as a seaboard coffee market, and, on account of the brand of coffee that bears its name, it is even more widely known in a popular sense than Santos itself.

The total world's crop of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1901, is given by The Crop Reporter of the Department of Agriculture at 13,875,000 bags, of which Brazil produced 10,927,000 bags. Estimates of the present Brazilian crop range from 12,000,000 to 15,000,000.

The importance of Brazil as a coffee producer may be best illustrated by a statistical statement showing the total production of coffee in bags of 132.28 lb. in that republic for a series of years as compared with the combined crops of all other coffee-producing countries of the world. The statement is from commercial sources, and the figures under "other countries" for the last three years of the series are subject to revision :

Year ended June 30.	Brazil. Bags.	Other countries. Bags.	Totals. Bags.
1891.....	5,308,000	3,989,000	9,297,000
1892.....	7,376,000	4 482,000	11,858,000
1893.....	6,193,000	5,090,000	11,283,000
1894.....	4,307,000	4,895,000	9,202,000
1895.....	6,689,000	4,947.000	11 636,000
1896.....	6,250,000	3,944,000	10,194,000
1897.....	8,680,000	3,928,000	12,608,000
1898.....	10,462,000	4,600,000	15,062,000
1899.....	8,779,000	4,944,000	13,723 000
1900.....	8,959 000	5,478,000	14,437,000
1901	10,927,000	3,548,000	13,975,000

Brazil has apparently demonstrated her ability to supply the world with coffee, but there is evidently not sufficient demand for the present supply. The natural resource would seem to be a development of the European demand ; this country's demand is already heavy, and it is to be hoped that the proposition made in good faith in Brazil to buy up and burn one fifth of the present crop will not be necessary. It should not be forgotten that there have been periods of overproduction before this. Coffee loses nothing to speak of by being kept, and a reaction from the present depression, though perhaps distant, is none the less likely to occur.—Bradstreets, New York.

SITUATION IN HOGS AND HOG PRODUCTS.

From The National Provisioner.

A point most marked against the hog-products situation is in the increased weights of the hogs arriving, in addition to the feature of their larger number ; the previous week's weight of the hogs at Chicago averaged 211 lb., as against 205 lb. the week before, while a month ago the weight was 207 lb., and two months back 200 lb.; a year ago, however, at this time the average weight was 226 lb. The production of meats had, of course, gained most latterly ; indeed, the stocks of meat over the West are becoming excessive, of which the shipments as well are much under those of this time last year ; it was estimated early in the week that the stock of ribs at Chicago had increased about 6,000,000 lb. since the beginning of the month, and that the stock of pork was also gaining ; of lard, the stock at Chicago then was estimated about as on February 1, as the consignments of this product to Europe had been most extensive ; at the same time there is an impression that more lard has accumulated at general western points than desired.

The receipts of hogs are not likely to get down to comfortable volume for healthy situations of the products for a while, and unquestionably more lard is being turned out in productions than had been regarded as probable for this advanced period. It could be said that the larger supplies of the products would not be of much consideration in the event of demands getting up to ordinary volume ; but the fact of the matter is that no distributing point in Europe or this country cares to fill in largely with the products, considering their unsettled positions, and it will probably be a long time before the distributors will feel safe for extensive trading. It is considered by all buyers that prices are now much higher than last year at this time, and that although the markets last year began advancing from this along, yet they were then better situated statistically, as they had then marketed surplus productions at comparatively low prices earlier in the season, while this year prices have been strained at an early period, and which has interferred with distributions. Germany has bought lard a little more freely this week on a few actual needs ; essentially every point on the continent, however, has been conservative. The English demand has been about at a pause.

Mr. R. W. Waters, of R. W. Waters & Son, general merchants, Norwood, Ont., was in Toronto this week.

Mr. J. A. Stewart, one of Exeter's progressive general merchants, was in Toronto this week attending the millinery openings. Mr. Stewart informed THE CANADIAN GROCER that while there had been the usual quietness in trade during January and February, the winter's trade on the whole had been good. Spring trade, he said, was most promising.

GROCERS DRIVE AND DINE.

A HIGHLY enjoyable occasion was the annual drive and dinner of the Montreal Grocers' Association, which this year took place on Thursday, February 27. The roads were not in the best of condition, but this did not prevent nearly 100 members from turning out.

The party left about 10 a.m. in sleighs, and arrived at their destination, Back River, at 1.30. Here, in Peloquin's Hotel, a splendid dinner was served about 2 o'clock. For some time every grocer was busy placing in a largely assorted stock of the finest goods in the country, and then they were ready for speeches.

The president, Ald. Richard Turner, rose first to propose the toast of "The King," which was honored as heartily as ever it was. Mr. A. D. Fraser, of Fraser, Viger & Co., replied, referring in his speech to the association's work and progress. Every grocer in the city should be a member.

Ald. Ricard then proposed "The City Council," to which Ald Valliers replied. The toast of "Our Guests," proposed by John P. Dixon, secretary of the association, was replied to by Mr. Lussier ; that of "The Press," proposed by Ald. Laporte, was replied to by Mr. Decells, of La Presse. Mr. Ewing then proposed "The Ladies," and Mr. Geoffrion made a happy reply.

During the speech-making several songs were rendered by different members. A letter of regret at not being able to be present was read from Mayor Cochrane.

The grocers were hearty in their praise of the champagne, which was donated by J. M. Douglas.

About 5 o'clock in the afternoon the dinner was over, and the party arrived in the city at 6, very much pleased with the day's outing.

COFFEE CROP OF SALVADOR.

United States Consul-General Jenkins writes from San Salvador, February 1, 1902, as follows :

"The present coffee crop will not exceed 40,000,000 lb. The yield for 1901 was 55,600,000 lb. The deficit is due to the early rains, which fell soon after the harvest of last year and caused the coffee plants to blossom prematurely. This bloom, however, was destroyed by the north winds. Later, when the rains came in their proper season, the plants blossomed a second time, but very feebly. From the present outlook, a decreased crop will be harvested."

GALT BOARD OF TRADE.

A MEETING of the Galt Board of Trade was held on February 27, when a report of the present condition of beet-sugar affairs in that centre was presented. The beet-sugar committee reported progress, and said that things were in a satisfactory shape.

F. Stewart Scott gave an account of his visit to Ottawa. He was a member of the deputation that waited on the Government, asking that for one year longer machinery for the manufacture of beet sugar be admitted free, and also requesting the imposition of countervailing duties against bounty-fed sugar.

Resolutions were received from the Toronto Board of Trade, stating that any tax imposed by Great Britain on outside productions should be so levied as to grant a preference to the colonies within the Empire ; from the Brantford Board of Trade, asking for a revision of the tariff to preserve our markets from unfair competition, and from the Orillia Board of Trade, praying for preferential trade within the colonies.

Stop the Leaks!

It is the little expenses that count--a small leak will sink a big ship. It is the quality of the ordinary staple articles of trade that a grocer carries in his stock that gives standing to his store. It is the widely-advertised goods that people are familiar with which give them confidence when they see them on a grocer's shelves.

Confidence grows slowly, the loss of it comes quickly. "Stop the leaks" that betray your weakness in carrying inferior goods. Stop them quick ! Sell Windsor Salt--it's a small thing, but remember, please, it's a staple ! It is the Salt of highest quality through and through.

CANADA AND THE TRADE OF JAPAN.

JAPAN, the country which during the past few weeks has been so much in the public eye on account of the treaty which has recently been arranged between her and Great Britain, did a foreign trade of about $244,000,000 in 1900. Of this, $101,500,000 was exports, and $142,500,000 imports. The aggregate foreign trade of Japan is about where that of Canada was eight or ten years ago.

The best customer for Japanese products is the United States, 26 per cent. going to that country. Hong Kong comes next with 19¼ per cent. The percentage which goes to China is 15½, to the United Kingdom 5½, to India 4¼, to Germany 1¾, and to all other countries 18¼.

Japan buys more from the United Kingdom than from any other country, of her total imports 25 per cent. being from that country. The United States furnishes 22 per cent., China 10½, Germany 10¼, India 8¼, France 2¾, and other countries 21¼ per cent.

The foreign trade of Japan has more than doubled during the past ten years.

The chief imports of Japan are as follows, being in the gold yen, worth in Canadian currency 99 7c. :

	Gold yen
Machinery	6,150,000
Provisions	9,470,000
Books and stationery	5,470,000
Drugs, medicines, chemicals	7,161,000
Dyes and paints	7,322,000
Grain and seeds	15,545,000
Metals and manufactures of	37,667,000
Oil and wax	15,914,000
Textiles, fabrics, yarns	115,458,000

In contributing to Japan's import trade, Canada does but little. Last year, it is true, we did better than usual. But even then the total export trade with that country only aggregated $188,683. In 1900 it was $112,308; 1899, $135,265; 1898, $148,728. The amount of money expended last year in subsidies on the C.P.R. steamships running to Japan and China was $73,000.

Our chief items of export to Japan during the last three years were as follows :

	1899	1900	1901.
Flour	$	$ 6,434	$ 8,410
Carriages, bicycles, etc.	130	3,021	17,696
Coal	40	11,653	8 298
Cotton and manufactures of	6,430	6,320	13,117
Fish and fish products	40,270	47,773	97,085
Sugar	42,535	....	....
Wood and manfactures of	36,819	21,946	30,471
Leather and manufactures of	2,762	7,519	12

At present our trade with Japan is somewhat one-sided, for, while we sell, according to the figures for 1901, only $188,683 worth ol goods to that country, our purchases therefrom are $1,620,868. In other words, our exports to Japan are scarcely 10½ per cent. of our agregate trade with that country.

Although our export trade with Japan is at present so small, there is nothing discouraging in the possibility of increasing it. What is wanted is enteprise on our part.

ANNEXING THE UNITED STATES.

An immigration agent of the Dominion Government estimates that 75,000 people from the Northern and Western States of the American Union will settle in the Canadian Northwest during 1902.

What with United States capital and United States people that are being attracted to Canada, we are evidently on a fair way to annex the territory of the neighboring Republic. But we hope before this is consummated our cousins will have finished their campaign in the Philippines. While we are not very positive about it, we expect to have the Boer War settled by that time.

BUSINESS MEN AND POLITICAL CORRUPTION.

Corruption at elections is a grave social disorder and is the canker and the disgrace of a free people. It is a thing which affects and is a danger to the good and efficient administration of the affairs of a country.

THE words given in the above paragraph are from the address of Judge Wurtele when charging the grand jury in Montreal a few days ago. They are strong words, but they are true words, and what, unfortunately, is equally true, there is a reason for their utterance.

A generation ago men, actuated by party zeal, stood at the polling booths and by physical force prevented their political opponents from registering their vote. But disgraceful as these practices were they were not nearly as heinous as the practices which are resorted to to-day in order to prevent the expression of the popular will at the polls.

The bribery that is practised in elections is the least of the methods employed. It is the official who stuffs the ballot box and manipulates the ballot after it has been cast whose practices are the most reprehensible.

While it is quite true that the law is neither as effective nor as drastic as it might be, it possesses a great deal more utility for the punishment of the corrupt than the politicians are disposed to call into operation.

The law, however, should be made both more effective and more drastic. None should be more concerned in bringing this about than the business men of the country, for good government, whether it be in the municipality, the Province or the Dominion, means a great deal to them.

Wireless telegraphy and wireless telephones are all right, but what is still more desirable are elections without wire pulling.

TOO MANY CANNING FACTORIES.

A LETTER FROM MR. H. C. BECKETT.

Editor CANADIAN GROCER,—The condition of the canned goods industry, following upon the failure of the canners to come to an agreement for the year 1902, is, as a natural consequence, bound to be precarious and uncertain ; in fact, I might go to the length of saying that complete disorganization of the trade is an inevitable result.

One of the main causes of this disagreement has been the refusal of some of the smaller and less experienced canners to reduce their pack on a pro rata basis, having regard to the normal output of their factories and the capital invested. These canners could not be made to realize that the inevitable consequence of packing goods irrespective of the statistical position and of the fact that the combined producing capacity of canners now in business, irrespective of those who contemplate starting other factories next fall, is equal to a consuming capacity of a population at least three times that of Canada.

At present there are over 30 canning factories in Ontario besides those in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Half a dozen of the well equipped factories could easily pack sufficient to supply our market.

Until taught by actual experience the new packer cannot realize that the cost of packing largely depends upon the size of the output. A small packer cannot afford to employ the best and most scientific processes, in consequence of which the trade in Canadian canned goods, both at home and abroad, has been hurt by the sale of so many brands of doubtful quality. Open competition is not calculated to encourage a uniform production of high-grade goods, and thus the reputation of Canadian canned goods will suffer, even in the face of the finest raw products the world produces.

The majority of the experienced canners now in business have recognized the seriousness of the situation, and, with a view to keeping the pack within the limits of consuming demands, have for the past two years curtailed their output considerably to prevent the necessity of selling below producing prices.

In 1901 the pack of vegetables of nearly all the Ontario canners, as you are aware, was purchased by the Dominion Syndicate. Before contracting for the pack of 1901, the Syndicate made the condition that each packer should reduce his pack 30 per cent. below his production of 1900, together with a further reduction of his pack to the extent of any 1900 goods remaining on hand on the first of July, 1901. This contract was entered into in March, 1901, at which time there were large holdings in canners' hands. Instead of living up to the spirit of the contract, almost immediately after the deal was completed, the canners determined that no 1900 goods should remain in their hands on the first of July, 1901 (to be deducted from their pack of that year), sold their holdings at cut prices, in some cases 20c. per doz. below prices which they had previously charged the trade. The result has been that instead of reducing the output, the surplus of 1901, together with the large holdings of 1900, has increased the quantity to be carried over this year. The canners in thus breaking faith with the Syndicate in the spirit, if not in the letter, have followed a short-sighted and self-injuring policy. They apparently could not see that the surplus stock of 1900 was just as real a surplus in second hands as if carried by themselves. They treated the surplus as if the goods had actually gone into consumption, whereas the sale of the surplus in June and July last simply discounted and reduced the sales of the 1901 pack. In spite of the conditions which they know to exist, the canners having failed to reach an agreement for the regulation of production, have resolved to run their factories without curtailment, some having declared their intention to increase their output.

Recognizing the advantages and value of a steady market, the Syndicate has protected buyers against decline in prices, and will continue this policy on all standard goods until the 1902 pack is ready for the market, at which time they will of necessity be compelled to unload their holdings at lower prices than even the low prices which are likely to rule next fall, as buyers would otherwise naturally give the preference to new goods, although it is known that the quality, generally speaking, of last year's pack was above the average, the contract with the canners having called for this.

While the purchase of the Syndicate from the canners last year secured for the canners a moderate profit on their output, it was expected there would be no substantial surplus to carry over, and that the Syndicate would have been able to have disposed of their holdings without loss.

Had it not been for the large export of tomatoes (even in the face of a 40 per cent. duty) to the United States, owing to the failure of the crop there last year, large quantities would be carried over in this market.

The outlook, therefore, is not calculated to furnish hope that the market will be otherwise than demoralized and uncertain when the 1902 goods are ready for delivery.

TOURISTS IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

AS a result of being interviewed on February 28 by a deputation from the St. John, N.B., Tourist Association, the treasury board of that city have asked the council for a grant of $750 towards the work of that organization.

It was pointed out by Mr. D. J. McLaughlin that the association was doing more work every season. It was shown that last year between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000 was realized from tourist travel by the State of Maine alone, and that every year saw more visitors going to Nova Scotia. They wanted travel to increase likewise in New Brunswick.

Mr. W. S. Fisher explained that the association contemplated publishing 50,000 booklets, instead of the 25,000 they issued last year. He also stated that $1,000 was contributed by the Government last year, $500 by the city of St. John, $1,300 by private citizens and $300 in subscriptions to the band-concert fund. This made a total of $3,100.

It was estimated that $200 was spent for every moose killed by the hunters who went to New Brunswick last season.

After the deputation withdrew, the board recommended that a grant of $750 be made by the city.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, March 6, 1902.

GROCERIES.

WHILE there is not an extensive trade being done there is a fairly good movement of merchandise, considering this time of the year. The most unsatisfactory feature of the trade, and in fact about the only one, is the weakness of the sugar market, and the attendant dullness. At noon on Wednesday there was another decline of 5c., making the total reduction in about a week 10c. per 100 lb. The situation in canned goods remains much the same as a week ago, there being a fair demand for vegetables and salmon. Coffees are quiet with the outside markets rather firmer. Syrups and molasses are meeting with a fair request. The same may be said of rice and tapioca. In spice, trade is moderate. In foreign dried fruits, prunes continue to be the active feature. There is a fairly good business being done in currants, and a slight improvement appears to be noticeable in the demand for Valencia raisins. There is also a little more active demand in dates.

CANNED GOODS.

Probably the most interesting feature in canned goods is the failure of the recent Syndicate scheme. This, however, has had no effect upon the market, as the proposed scheme only concerned the pack of 1902. The Syndicate controlling the pack of 1901 is still in existence. There has been a fairly active demand for canned vegetables, particularly for tomatoes. As some of the wholesale houses have been trying to buy from each other during the week, the tendency has been to further strengthen the tone of the market for this particular line. The ruling price for tomatoes is 90 to 95c.; for corn, 75 to 80c., and for peas, 80 to 85c. Canned fruits are quiet. There is a good demand for canned salmon, and, in fact, the same may be said of most lines of canned fish. We quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality. A good demand is being experienced for jam and marmalade.

COFFEES.

The situation in the primary market has improved during the past week. The covering by shorts is apparently quite a factor in imparting a strong undertone to the market. It is said that stocks of Brazilian coffees in the primary market, suitable for Canada, are already getting short. It is said for the better grades of coffee premiums are being paid. The firmer tone of the primary market is causing local importers to hold off, however. The demand from the retail trade is quiet. Prices rule as before. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7⅞c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Local wholesalers report a fairly good demand for nutmegs, cassia, allspice, ginger, and cloves. The outside markets rule steady to firm.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A fairly good trade is being done in both rice and tapioca. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 4c.; tapioca, 4c. per lb.

SUGAR.

A further weakness has developed in the sugar market on this side of the Atlantic since our last report. In New York a cargo of raw sugar has been sold at 3 9-16c. to go to Philadelphia, and as we go to press we hear of another cargo being sold to arrive at 3½c., making a total decline of ⅛c. during the week. On Monday all refined sugars were reduced five points in the United States, making the basis for granulated, $4.75. In sympathy with this decline a reduction of 5c. per 100 lb. was made in the price of all Canadian refined sugar on Wednesday at noon. The basis of granulated is now $3.80 f.o.b. Montreal, which establishes a new low-price record. The meltings at the four United States ports last week were only 313 tons less than the receipts, the latter being 23,313 tons. The total stocks of sugar in Europe and America at the close of last week were 3,530,049 tons against 3,638,787 tons the same time a year ago.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

A fair business is being done in molasses. In syrups, there is a good demand, especially for the corn description and the better grades of sugar syrups, the latter at about 35 to 40c. per Imperial gallon. The ruling quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

The tea market during the past week has not been a particularly interesting one. There has been a demand from the wholesale trade for medium and low grade Ceylon green teas, very few of which are to be had. For the finer grades there is no demand. There is still some inquiry for China greens, but there are very few obtainable, and those who have them are holding them at firm prices. A few Japan teas, which were offered at lower prices, in order to move them, have changed hands during the week, but trade in this line is, as a rule, very quiet. There has been a little movement in Indian and Ceylon black teas, but the demand is light. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of February 21, say, that at the auction about the same quantity of Indian tea was brought forward as the week before, and that the recovery in prices, which then took place, was fully maintained. The price of medium and good medium Indian teas is 1d. below that ruling in January, while commonest grades are about ½d. lower than in that month. In Ceylon teas the advices state offerings were fairly moderate and rather less than those of the previous week, while the steadier tone was maintained.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The demand for currants continues good and prices firm. We quote as follows: Filiatras, 6 to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Advices from London report an advance in Valencia raisins, and say that the supplies are very much reduced and that still higher prices are looked for. The delayed shipment of Valencia raisins ex-Ontanada has at last reached this market, and is in stock with the wholesale houses. The demand is a little better than it was a week ago, and prices are firm at 6½ to 6¾c. for selected.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The demand is fairly good and prices firm. We quote 8½ to 12c. as the range of prices.

PRUNES.—These continue to be the most active line in the foreign dried-fruit trade; if anything, the demand is brisker that it was a week ago, while prices are firm and unchanged. We quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—Prices are firm and the demand during the past week shows some improvement. We quote: Sairs, 4¼ to 4½c.; Hallowees, 4½ to 5c.

FIGS.—A little more interest is noticeable in tapnet figs, the demand being good, while stocks are light. Some nice lots have changed hands during the week. The ruling quotations are 3¼ to 3½c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—There is a fairly good demand for both apricots and peaches. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12½c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges is improving and prices are firm with an upward tendency. Valencias have advanced 25 to 50c. per case. A shipment of ripe tomatoes from Florida has been received, which are selling at $4.50 per six-basket carrier. Cranberries and apples are rather quiet. We quote: Oranges, marmalade, $3 per case; Tangerine or kid glove, $8 to $9 per strip, or $4 to $4.50 per half strip; Floridas, $3 to $3.25 per box; Mexicans, $2.25 per box; Californian navels, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; Valencias, $4.50 to $5 00 per small case, $5.50 to $6.00 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; pineapples, 15 to 25c. each by the case; Southern cucumbers, $2.25 to $2.50 per doz.; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50; small crates, $1.10.

VEGETABLES.

Things are dull in the vegetable market. A little hothouse stuff is selling. Rhubarb is down 25c. a doz. bunches, and lettuce 5c. Cabbage and celery are quiet. We quote: Green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.00 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 50 to 60c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS — The receipts of new-laid eggs have been freer, and prices have come down 1c. per doz. The demand is good. We quote: new-laid, 23 to 25c.; held fresh, 21 to 23c.; cold-stored, 20 to 22c., and limed, 19 to 20c. per doz.

BEANS—There is a fair demand, and the market is steady. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.25 to $1.60; prime, $1.10 to $1.35 per bush.

HONEY—Trade is good and prices are firm. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is a good demand for evaporated apples. Dried apples are quiet. We quote as follows: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The prices are unchanged at 60 to 65c. in car lots, with a good trade.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand for choice dairy butter in pound prints continues brisk, with moderate offerings. The inferior grades are hard to move. Creamery is firm. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 21 to 21½c. per lb.

CHEESE—The market for cheese is very strong, and holders are expecting better prices. As high as 10½c. has been paid for the finest cheese, but the majority of the sales are at 10¼c. for the finest samples. We quote cheese at 10½ to 11c. in small quantities and 10¼ to 10½c. for export lots.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY—A few chickens and a limited quantity of turkeys are being offered. The prices are firm. We quote as follows: Chickens, 60 to 90c. per pair ducks, 90c. to $1.20 per pair; geese, 8 to 9c. per lb.; turkeys, 12 to 14c.

LIVE POULTRY — A few chickens are being received, for which there is a good demand. The offerings in live poultry are expected to improve with the finer weather. The Canadian Produce Co. Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice for live chickens, 8c., for ducks and turkeys 10c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens, 5c. per lb. Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The warm spell of last week lessened the demand for fresh fish, but with the colder weather it is recovering. The prices are unchanged. Oysters are still high, and the prices are steady. We quote as follows: Fresh and frozen fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 6½ to 7½c.; herring, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 10 to 15c.; haddock, 5c. per lb.; perch, 5c.; British Columbian salmon, fresh, 20c., frozen, 11c.; Labrador herring, $3 to $3.25 per 100-lb. bbl. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 50 to 65c. per bundle. Prepared fish — Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.; bloaters, per box of 50, $1 to $1.25; kippered herring, 50 in a box, $1 to $1.25 per box; smelts, per 15-lb. box, extras, 12c. per lb.; No. 1, 6½ to 7c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $7.25 to $7.50 per large pail, or $4 50 per small pail; selects, $5 to $6 per pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There is a limited movement in Manitoba and Northwestern wheat, and the prices are unchanged. No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat is quoted at 87c. per bush.; No. 1 Northern, 83c., and No. 2 Northern, 80c. grinding in transit Sarnia, or 1c. less Toronto and west. The receipts on the local grain market are limited owing to the almost impassible condition of the roads. The prices are unchanged. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 77c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, 46 to 47c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

FLOUR — Trade is quiet. The local demand continues fair. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.05; Manitoba bakers', $3.80; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The oatmeal and rolled oat market has been characterized by a drop of 20c. per bbl. The demand is still slack. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4 60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.75; split peas, $4 75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

There is a moderate demand for green and cured hides, and skins are steady. Wool is still quiet. We quote buyers' prices on arrival:

HIDES—We quote: No. 1, green, 7c.; No. 2 green, 6c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7c.; cured, 7¾ to 8c.

SKINS—We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 80c.; deerskins, 12½ to 14c. per lb.

WOOL—We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

Owing to the heavy roads, the receipts of red clover and alsike have been greatly diminished, and prices have accordingly been advanced 15c. per bush. for red clover and 25c. for alsike. The market is steady at these prices. We quote buying price at outside points : Red clover, $4.50 to $4 75; alsike, $7.25 to $8.25, and timothy, $2.50 to $3.25 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

The drop in dressed hogs is 25c. per 100 lb.

One cent per dozen less is being paid for new-laid eggs.

Red clover has gone up 15c. and alsike 25c. per bush.

Valencia oranges have advanced 25 to 50c. per case.

Oatmeal and rolled oats have taken a drop of 20c. per bbl.

All Canadian refined sugars declined 5c. per 100 lb. on Wednesday.

The cheese market is strong, and prices have been advanced ¼c. per lb.

Lard is beginning to weaken, and some houses are quoting it at ¼c. per lb. less.

The delayed shipment of Valencia raisins ex Ontanada has at last reached this market.

OTTAWA AND TOURIST TRAVEL.

A deputation from the Ottawa Valley Tourist Association were present at a meeting of the Finance Committee of the Ottawa City Council on March 1 and obtained a grant of $500 to assist the association in the work of advertising the city. This grant is conditional. The organization must raise $1,000 by private subscriptions.

The deputation consisted of G. F. Henderson, J. R. Reid, A. Holland, and King Arnoldi, who all asked for the grant to help hem in their work. Mr. Henderson claimed that the Tourist Association was the best medium for advertising obtainable and that the Municipal Act authorized a grant being made to such an organization. The influx of tourists, he thought, would fully repay any outlay that might be made by the corporation.

After some discussion the money asked for was granted.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. D. G. Bell, of Bell & McEachern, general merchants, Stayner, Ont., was in Toronto this week for a few days. He said that while the recent storms had interfered with business a great deal, trade conditions were now much improved, and the outlook was bright.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, March 6, 1902.

GROCERIES.

GROCERIES this week have been very satisfactory, and in most lines prices have ruled steady. The only great exception is that sugar has gone down 5c. more. The very bad roads have made a difference in the offerings of country produce, but the indications are that this will be much improved toward the first of the following week. The heavy demand for fish keeps up, this being the grocer's best selling line at present. Some lines of green fruits are beginning to get scarce. Messina lemons are expected to advance here before long.

SUGAR.

A further decline of 5c. brings the price of sugar to a lower figure than it has reached for almost five years. The crop is so large that this quotation was not unexpected, but it is generally thought now that prices have got down so low, a rising market may follow before the conditions of the supply and demand warrant it. Granulated sugar is now sold for $3.80, and yellows, $3.05 to $3.70.

TEAS.

Cable advices from London state that the market for Ceylons is decidedly stronger, and with an upward tendency. This is particularly applicable to teas up to 7d., and also for teas from 11d. up. China greens remain very firm. The report that the steamship Acara, which went aground off Long Island, and which had a large cargo of tea on board, is now breaking up, makes it look as though the market would be strengthened still further. In regard to Indian teas, recent advices from Calcutta say that at the last auction the sales were steady, and no further declines occurred. Offerings on Friday, January 24, were 16,496 as against 18,708 in the previous week. The selection was a mixed one, including in it a strong proportion of final invoices of small breaks and poor quality. Beyond these, however, there was a fair selection of Assams of a medium and useful quality. Cachan are of their usual plain character, but mixed in the leaf. Dooars, Terais and Darjeelings were practically closed up. There was some little excitement in China greens when it was expected that in the last couple of shipments to New York there would be 4,000 or 5,000 rejected teas which would come here. The market, however, was so dull for such teas, and prices were so low, that a better figure could be realized in London. Accordingly, they were shipped to the London market, none of them reaching here at all.

SYRUPS.

There is a good business being done in syrups, and prices are steady. There has been no change in quotations this week. We quote corn syrups: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

Since the decline of last week of 2c. in Barbados molasses there has been no quotable change. There is a good demand. Barbados sells for 27c., and Antigua is worth 24c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is an active inquiry for canned goods, which will likely continue for some time. The demand for peas and corn has improved during the week. Tomatoes are still firm and the demand keeps up and there has been no change in prices. Our quotations are as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15, according to quality; corn (ordinary stock), 80c.; tomatoes, 92½ to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. Salmon, $1 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

The market is still strong, and indications are that the firm prices will be maintained for some time. A report received March 4, from New York, says: "We have to report an active and generally better market for nearly all grades of spices, especially pepper. The demand from grinders for spot and nearby deliveries of Singapore, Lampong and Acheen peppers has absorbed nearly the entire visible supplies of Singapore and Lampong up to April 15, and export orders have taken a liberal slice of the parcels of Acheen of various grades now due here from the Straits. The stock of spot Singapore is now the smallest on record, and the quality is so poor that it will be difficult to get any carload lots of satisfactory grade until first arrivals come along late in April. There is no more Lampong on the way and no new supplies available in Java till next fall." Locally, the situation is practically the same as last week. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Both for rice and tapioca there is a good local inquiry at steady prices. New prices have not yet been issued on Patna rice. We quote in combine district as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—No change has been made in the local market in the prices of currants. The demand is quite active. We quote: Fine Filiatras, in half cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7⅞ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—There is no change in the market conditions, and prices are still firm. Finest off-stalk sell for 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅜c.; layers, 6⅞c.

CANDIED PEELS.—Business is brisk. We quote: Orange peel, 11½c.; lemon peel, 10½c.; citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is no change. A small demand continues at steady prices. Our quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

FIGS.—Trade is moderate. Layer and tapnet are both quoted at $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Prices are very firm. There is a fair inquiry for seeded at 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—No change in prices has yet occurred here in sympathy with the advance in the primary markets, but the tendency of the market is firmer. Our quotations are as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The demand for peaches has been very large. Other fruits sell well also. We quote: Apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 10½c.; pears, 10c.

NUTS.

There is a little doing in nuts, and no quotable change has occurred. Our quotations are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The market is active. Large rolls have advanced ½c., but otherwise prices are the same as last week. Finest creamery is firm at 22 to 22½c.; medium, 20 to 21c.; large rolls, 18 to 18½c.

CHEESE.—Exporters are now getting their own prices for cheese from English buyers, and this trade is growing. As a result the market has advanced to 10½ and 10⅝c., and there is a good movement at this price. Some dealers are looking for 11c. as the price for any stocks held now.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Owing to the recent break in the weather the roads in the country have been almost impassible, with the result that deliveries for the last few days have been late. In sympathy with this the market has taken a firmer feeling, and 26 and 27c. is the price wholesalers are now charging retailers, which is 1 or 2c. below our last week's quotations, but is also a big advance over the 24c. to which eggs declined in the latter part of last week. It is now a matter of supply and demand, and prices are very apt to break as soon as the stock is able to be brought forward.

HONEY.—The market is quiet and prices show no change. We quote: Buckwheat, in comb, 8 to 9c.; strained, 6½ to 7c.; white clover comb, 12c.; white extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.

ASHES.—Trade is dull. Firsts are worth $4.10 to $4.15; seconds, $3.95 to $4; pearls, $6.75 to $7 per 100 lb.

DRESSED POULTRY.—The market is fairly active. Small lots are being offered, and are readily taken at full prices. We quote: Choice, fresh-killed, dry plucked turkeys, 12 to 13c.; ordinary, 10½ to 11c.; choice chickens, 9 to 10c.; ordinary, 6½ to 7c.; geese, 5 to 6c.; fowl, 4 to 5c.; ducks, 8 to 9c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is only a moderate trade doing in green fruits, and for the most part, prices are steady. Messina lemons are firmer, and though no quotable change has occurred, it is thought that the advancing market in New York will very soon affect this one similarly. In the

TO the Oriental, adulterated Coffee is unknown, the pure article and only the best is used.

Unfortunately, too often the article is made injurious by being adulterated. The Coffee bearing the name and seal of Chase & Sanborn can be relied upon as pure and good. Their experts know where the best Coffee is grown. They buy only the best from noted plantations.

It is not only more delicious perhaps than the Coffee you have been accustomed to use, but more healthful.

Doubling Our Capacity

Owing to increased business we have commenced work on the installation of a monster Cold Storage Plant, which will be completed about the 15th of May with a storage capacity of sixty thousand (60,000) cubic feet, in twelve separate compartments. The system is so complete that the temperature in any one compartment may be raised or lowered as the grade of goods may require without affecting any of the other cool-rooms.

Our object in this is to offer to our customers the best possible advantages in marketing their produce. If we get it fresh we will keep it for a reasonable length of time in as good condition as it was received.

A great advantage in having your produce in our cool-rooms is that it remains in good condition and is always ready when the market prices are satisfactory, and at any time an offer should be made to us we would at once communicate same to you by wire if you had not already set your selling price. Nothing but eggs, butter, cheese and poultry will be stored, so there will be no chance of taints or foreign flavors.

We would be pleased to communicate with any who have not already arranged with us for the coming season and place their names on our books.

Drop us a card and we will give you full particulars.

FISH.

The run on green cod of all sizes has practically rendered the market bare of that fish. Even the small sizes are now hard to get, and some dealers are completely out of them. Fried smelts continue to be scarce, and the price, though no higher, is decidedly firmer. The scarcity of these lines has brought about a heavy demand for herrings, which are now selling better than other lines. Our quotations are now as follows : Haddics, 6c. ; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box ; smoked, medium herrings, 11c. per box ; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 12½ to 13½c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg ; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg ; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $5.75 per bbl.; No. 2, $4.50 ; large, $6.50 ; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes ; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case ; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle ; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces ; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $6 per ½ bbl. and $11 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100 ; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There is a steady trade doing in flour, Manitoba brands being in the best demand. Business in Ontario flour is mostly of a jobbing nature, and the market is quiet. We quote as follows : Spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.20 ; winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4 ; strong bakers', $3.80 to $3.90 ; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—The local market is quiet, though a good business is done in Manitoba wheat for export. There is a fair inquiry for oats at unchanged prices. We quote Manitoba wheat as follows : No. 1 hard, 73c.; peas, 79c.; rye, 63 to 64c. (carlots in store) ; seed barley, 53c.; oats, 47 to 47½c.; buckwheat, 53½c. east ; corn, 65 to 66c.

OATMEAL.—The market is somewhat easier. Rolled oats, in barrels, are worth $5 to $5.30 ; in bags, $2.45 to $2.47½.

FEED.—There is an active inquiry at steady prices. Ontario bran is worth $20; mouille, $28 ; Manitoba bran, $20 ; shorts, $21 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—The local market is fairly active at unchanged prices ; but little business is done for export. We quote : No. 1 timothy, $10 to $10.50 ; No. 2, $9 to $9.75 ; clover, mixed, $8 to $8.50; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Cheese has gone up ½ to ¾c.

Sugars have declined 5c. more.

Large-roll butter is ½c. higher.

Florida tangerines have advanced 50c. per box.

Eggs are 2c. lower than last week's quotations.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., March 1, 1902.

DURING the last week in February we had April weather. It has broken up the roads, and business, which has been very quiet, has not improved. The winter port shipments continue large. Portland, Me., is feeling the effect of the large quantity of goods now going to England via St. John. We are not yet doing as much of the Canadian export business as we should, or as much as we would if Western Canadians could see the importance and direct advantage to them of using their own port. There is one matter the Government should see to, and that is the freight charged by the subsidized lines. On the same class of goods shipped to Liverpool by an unsubsidized line, a shipper found the rate of freight some 11s. less than that charged to Glasgow by a subsidized line. This is something the Government could and should control. In markets there has been little change. Fresh fish continues scarce.

OILS.—In burning oils there is still a large business doing. St. John feels the advantage of competition. We have a much lower price than they have in Halifax, where the business is done by one company. In lubricating oils the present business is dull, the demand being largely from lumber mills. We feel a lack of business during the winter season particularly. However, the quantity booked for later shipment is large. In cod oil it looks like higher prices. Paint oils are firm at the higher figures. There is rather an improved business.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt there is a large business being done. Importers are pushing sales that they may get their salt by the winter-port boats and ship direct from ship's side. In fine, the season is yet early. There is a fair movement, chiefly Canadian. Quotations are as follows : Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1 ;

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., March 3. 1902.

THE wholesale grocery trade for the last week has shown quite a perceptible improvement, although, considering February and March the dull season, dealers had little to complain of, comparing this with previous years. The winter stocks of the country merchants had begun to run low and the remarkably good roads had tended to stocking up for the balance of the winter and early spring trade, before the rough weather, usual to March, had set in. Just now the back of winter seems to have been broken, the snow has almost disappeared, and the mildness of spring prevails. This sudden change in the weather will open up the ice-closed ports and tend to brighten up trade. Just now the volume of business seems to be increasing regularly.

The retail trade, too, shows signs of improvement and dealers are quite satisfied with the amount of goods moving. The prices of staple lines remain practically unchanged with prices ranging higher than usual at this season of the year, especially in provisions. There is every sign that the mid-winter dullness is being overcome somewhat earlier than usual. From this on—but much depends on the weather—dealers expect to liven up from day to day.

The fish business is the only one—and it is a very important one to Halifax—which does not show any improvement. Fairly large stocks of both green and dry fish are coming in, but the wholesale dealers, who have up to now bought freely, are inclined to ease up, as the West-Indian market shows no sign of improvement. Prices are low now and possibly may still be shaded to some extent. The outlook is poor for the fishermen until the opening of the spring fishery. Bank cod are now quoted at $3, with no anxiety to buy, while the fishermen are holding to some extent for $3.25. Shore cod will open at about above prices. The price of herring is also very low, following the tendency in cod. The lobster fishery is now about a failure, though the small quantities going to Boston bring a fancy price. The latest price quoted is $25.

The hay market is still dull and the demand has not been very great. Considerable quantities are being shipped at St. John, and five more steamers are chartered to carry hay from that port to South Africa. The tonnage of these five steamers amount to about 12,000 tons. This export will carry off the greater quantity of the surplus hay of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In the meantime, considerable quantities of the various feeds are being used in lieu of hay, and the demand is improving, prices being easier than a month ago.

Butter is still scarce and prices still rule high. Eggs are coming in quite freely and the price has lowered. Last week another large shipment was made to Montreal, where the price is some 10 to 13c. higher than in this locality. Potatoes are now quoted at 45c.; oats, 55c.; turnips, 25 to 30c. per bushel. Beef, lamb, veal, and other table provisions are all

The molasses and sugar markets are firm and prices unchanged. There is still considerable speculation as to the prospective prices for new crop, but dealers are not uneasy. Considerable molasses was moved during the last two weeks, which has considerably reduced surplus stocks.

SUBSTITUTION.

WHILE talking the other day with one of the leading grocers in a hustling town of Michigan, says a writer in Trade, a woman came in and asked for a standard article, which was at once sold to her. She accompanied the payment of the cash with the remark that she was very glad to come to a store where no effort is made to poke off something "just as good" in the place of what she wanted. Shortly after this another woman came in and made a similar statement. Naturally this aroused our curosity, and we asked for a little information.

Our friend, the grocer, smiled, and said: "The fact is, my competitor across the way is overreaching himself of late and I am getting a good deal of trade which he is losing. He carries a stock just as good as mine, but he has also laid in a line of cheap goods. It seems to be his invariable practice when a customer asks for some well-known article, say, soap, for instance, to show her something which he claims is much better and a trifle cheaper, though a little more profitable to him. Upon such sales he has undoubtedly made more money than he would if he had sold what his trade called for. Lately, however, they have caught on to his game, and sooner than go to him and insist that they know what they want, they come here where we don't attempt substitution. He is losing a good portion of his trade simply because he doesn't look into the future.

"I don't mean to say that substitution always works that way. For instance, I occasionally run on to a good thing which is profitable to sell, but before I push the sale very hard I make a practical test of the article in my own home. If it gives me satisfaction, and I can see its good points, then I can conscientiously recommend it to my customers.

"Even this can hardly be called substitution. On the contrary, when I am selling an order of groceries, before we get to the article in mind, I say, 'By the way, we have something good in the, say, soap line,' and mention the brand and price and tell her my own experience with it. I also tell her, after making the sale, to bring back the goods if unsatisfactory and get her money back. Usually everything is satisfactory and my customer frequently calls attention to it among her neighbors and helps materially to increase my sales.

"Substitution in the regular way is, according to my way of thinking, a big mistake. To me it appears but little short of an insult, and I believe that most buyers of groceries think about the same way. My clerks know my views on this subject quite well and they all see that it is not good business to 'soak' a customer every chance they get, but it is the best policy to give them just what they ask for without any insinuations or suggestions that something else is better.

"I think it pays well to do this. At any rate, from the example which you have just seen, it pays poorly not to do it."

THE LATE MALCOLM NIVEN.

The funeral of the late Malcolm Niven, Toronto, took place to Mount Pleasant Cemetery on Tuesday, the 4th inst., from his late residence, 39 Yorkville avenue.

Deceased, who had passed away at the age of 80 years, was up to within a short time of his death a well-known figure in wholesale grocery circles in Toronto, and could be seen going his regular rounds amongst the trade up to within a short time of his death.

He conducted a commission business for many years, having his office at 50 Front street east. With the wholesale grocery trade he was quite popular on account of his geniality and pleasant manners. As evidencing his interest in the affairs of the day and his agility, it may be mentioned that he was one of those who did not hesitate to get up and come down town at midnight on Pretoria Night, and join in the celebrations over that city's fall.

Many beautiful tributes were donated by his friends. The pall bearers were Henry Swan, Wm. Galbraith, John D. Ivey, James E. Bailey, H. Chesmer Boomer and W. D. McIntosh.

UNJUST FREIGHT RATES.

Some time ago action was taken against the White Pass & Yukon Railway Company by a Victoria, B.C., firm for the recovery of freight and passenger rates, which that railway had illegally extorted from them owing to their tariff not being approved by the Dominion Government, and also because these rates are alleged to be unjust and extortionate.

Justice Martin, of the Supreme Court, has decided that a right of action exists against the railway on this head under the Railway Act. Consequently three more writs have been issued by Victoria firms. These are on behalf of the Upper Yukon Consolidated Company, Joseph Clearihue and J. St. Clair Blackett & Co. The claim of the latter firm is $40,000.

So far the total amounts sued for are over $300,000, and in addition the Victoria-Yukon Trading and Transportation Company is bringing in a claim for $100,000. It is estimated that when all the firms have taken action, the writs issued in Victoria alone against the railway will bring the total up to three-quarters of a million dollars. These cases are all expected to be tried at the March Assizes.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, Man., March 1, 1902.

TRADE throughout the week has been fair in nearly all lines. The very mild weather and soft roads retarded business somewhat, but the sharp turn in the weather on Thursday and the slight snowfall will remedy these conditions considerably. Very few changes as to price have marked the course of the week.

SUGARS.—Prices have again dropped and the market seems very uncertain. Standard granulated is now quoted at $4.80, and bright yellows, $4.10; the drop being 5c. per cwt. in one case and 10c. in the other.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS.—Californian evaporated fruits are all higher in the primary markets and there will be an advance of from ¼c. to ½c. per lb. on all lines here in the immediate future. Californian muscatels are also higher, but there is little movement at present; the price has not been definitely advanced in this market. Evaporated apples continue scarce, firm, and not of the best quality. Prices are high, 11½c. straight being the present figures, while dried are very hard to obtain at 8 to 8½c. Syrups are firm and show further signs of advance.

CANNED GOODS.—There is a slightly increased demand for canned vegetables and a little more inquiry for canned fruits, but the trade is not active in either line. Prices have remained unchanged throughout the week. The efforts of the eastern packers to make large sales here at advanced figures has not proved very successful, as the majority of the houses were well stocked from last fall.

GROUND FEED.—Oat and barley chop has dropped 50c. this week, and is now quoted at $24.50. Straight oat chop is $26, and barley, $22. Oil cake is in limited demand at $27 per ton.

MILL FEED.—This market is very quiet, there is little export trade, and the local demand is limited. Prices are unchanged, being $14.50 for bran and $16.50 for shorts.

CEREALS.—This has been a very slow week; the export trade seems to have dwindled very much, and the local demand is small. Light orders for immediate consumption seem to be the rule. Rolled oats, in 80s, $2.40; in 40s, $1.20; in 20s, 60c.; granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.75; cornmeal, $1.90; split peas, $2.85; pot barley, $2.45; pearl barley, $3.65; white beans, $1.80.

FLOUR.—There is very little movement and no change in price. Small export demand. This seems to be the sum total of news with regard to flour this week.

POULTRY.—Very active demand for fresh killed, but offerings are small and the quality unsatisfactory.

CURED MEATS.—The market has been very slow all week and without change in price in any line. Hams, sugar-cured and smoked, 13¼c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8½c.; breakfast bellies and backs, 13¾c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 12c.; backs, 12c. per lb.

LARD.—The market continues firm and the demand fair. No change in prices has occurred during the week. Twenty-pound pails, $2.50; American, $2.60; 50-lb. pails, $5.85; 3 and 5-lb. tins, 60 in a crate, $7.55.

BUTTER.—The story is still the same. There is an active market for fresh table butter and practically no supply. The small amount of really eatable butter coming in is a source of astonishment even to dealers accustomed to the eccentricities of the Manitoba butter market. There is considerable shipment of second grade to hand and very large quantities of it in store, but the strictly A1 fresh is very hard to find. For this grade of butter prices are high and firm. Jobbers offer 18 to 19c. and can readily realize 20 to 22c. for it. On the other hand second-grade butter is sold under protest and strictly graded as to price.

CHEESE.—There is little movement beyond the usual consumptive demand. The stock supplied is all Ontario, and the price is 12c.

EGGS.—The supply has dropped off very considerably and in addition there have been quite a number of shipments east. The cold snap now on will, of course, tend to further decrease the supply and prices are once more on the ascending scale, the present quotation being 18c. for case eggs, Winnipeg, with further advances in sight. Guaranteed new-laid are on the market at 25c. per dozen, but also liable to advance at any moment.

VEGETABLES.—The warm weather of the past ten days induced many holders of potatoes to open pits and cellars, and the result has been a glut on the market and lower prices. Farmers' loads were freely offered during the early part of the week at 25c. The return of cold weather will probably help to adjust matters. Other vegetables are moving slowly and there are no changes in price to record. The market is now supplied with a fine quality of Californian celery which jobs at 90c. to $1 per dozen.

GREEN FRUITS.—The market is normal. The mild weather enabled dealers to bring in a few lots of bananas by freight, and these found ready sale at $3.50. The supply is very limited. Bananas arriving by express are worth $4 per bunch. The orange market is firm and shows every indication of further advances. Seville (bitter) oranges are in fair demand. The first shipments received were not satisfactory, but later arrivals show good quality. The price is $6 per case. A further car of Northern Spies will arrive in a day or two. The price continues firm at $6 to $6.50 for anything that can be termed fancy stock.

MARKET NOTES.

Among visitors to the city last week was Mr. Gugglesheim, of Gugglesheim Bros., San Francisco, who visited the city in the interests of Californian dried and evaporated fruits.

Campbell Bros. & Wilson will erect a large addition to their warehouse this summer to meet the demands of their rapidly increasing business.

REAL AND IMITATION CHAMOIS SKIN.

From a report which The American Druggist summarizes, it appears that very little of the so-called chamois skin which is marketed is genuine. The real article comes from an animal found only in the Alps. There are two kinds of imitation known to commerce. The best is prepared from the skin of the doe, the cheaper grades from the flesh side of the split sheepskin. The grain of the skin is first removed by scraping with a round knife or pumice stone. The skins are then put into a bath of bran liquor, wrung out, dried, again soaked in water, and then fish oil is forced into the grain of the skin by beating several layers of skin soaked with oil with heavy wooden hammers. This process is repeated several times, the skins are then suspended on hooks in a warm room until a slight fermentation takes place, which dilates the pores and promotes the incorporation of the oil. The skins are then scraped and freed from excess of oil by treatment with weak patash lye, washed in an infusion of oak bark to give them a buff color, dried, smoothed and made supple by passing between iron rollers. After sorting, both as to quality and size, the skins are put up in packages of 30, each package being called a "kip." The skins vary from 6 x 8 inches to 20 x 33 inches in size. There seems to be no practical difference between the true skin of the chamois and the imitation, which is the commercial article, but there is some difference in the texture which enables an expert to distinguish between the two.

Why Woollen Blankets Wear Thin.

A Scene in a Grocer's Store.

Sir, I have just come round myself to tell you that you have absolutely spoiled a pair of blankets of mine.

I have!

Yes, sir, you have!

Surely you are mistaken, madam!

I am not mistaken. I sent round my little girl a few days ago for a good strong soap to wash out some heavy things. In all innocence I used what you sent me, and the result is that my blankets are just the skeleton of what they were. They are ruined, sir, and it's your fault!

Yes, but I sent what I usually send in such cases.

What you usually send! No wonder Mrs. Moore, my neighbor, complains of her clothes wearing out; I find you usually send her the same soap.

But, madam, I always give my customers what they ask for. Had you named a particular brand of soap you would have had it.

Named a particular brand! How was I to know anything of brands? But I know better now, and I know what ruined my blankets—and my hands are in a nice plight, too!

I can assure you, madam, that it is not my desire to sell anything that will be injurious to either the hands or clothing of my customers, and I shall be glad to know how you prove that what I sold you injured your blankets and your hands.

Well, I was telling Mrs. Neill my trouble, and she lent me a little cutting, and here it is; you can read it:

"Dr. Stevenson Macadam, Lecturer on Chemistry, Surgeon's Hall, Edinburgh, describes the destructive property of soda upon wool very graphically.

"After mentioning how strong alkali, such as potash and soda, disastrously affect cotton, linen, and wool, he says:

"On one occasion I employed this property of soda in a useful way. There was a large quantity of new blankets sent to one of our hospitals, which, when given out, were said by the patients to be not so warm as the old blankets were, and that led to an investigation as to whether the blankets were genuine or not. They looked well, and weighed properly, and I got a blanket sent to me for examination and analysis. We found soon that there was cotton mixed with the wool, and the question was as to separating the two, because they were thoroughly woven throughout, and it was only by detaching the fine fibres from each other that you identified the cotton fibre. I fell on the device of using soda. I took a bit of blanket, and put it in a vessel with soda, and boiled it there, and very quickly the wool got eaten away by the soda, and there was left behind the cotton as a kind of skeleton—a sort of ghost—of the original blanket out of which it was taken. I mention this merely to indicate to you the pernicious effects of using caustic materials, which, when employed strong by themselves, affect woollen articles in this way, and which, even when not very strong, will more slowly, but with equal certainty, tend to destroy the woollen fibre."

Now, I want to tell you that we neighbors have had a talk over the matter, and we are not going to have our clothes and hands ruined in this way. Several of our neighbors who know have proved to us that Washing Sodas, Potash, Chloride of Lime, and "soap substitutes" are most injurious to clothes and hands. "Free alkali" in soaps is practically the caustic soda that burns the clothes. Why, you dare not keep Caustic Soda in a tin canister; it must be in an earthen jar, or it will even corrode the tin! Now, it's for you to provide us with pure soap without free alkali, or we must find it elsewhere.

Madam, you enlighten me! So many soaps are advertised as pure, that I really took little heed to any difference between them.

I have one, however, that has medical certificates of its freedom from free alkali. It is guaranteed pure; and the makers offer $5,000 reward to any one who can prove it is not pure, and further, I am authorized to return the purchase money to any one finding cause for complaint.

Let me see it! Why, Sunlight Soap! It's a beautiful clean, fresh-looking soap, and this Octagon shape is very handy. Give me five bars.

* * * * * * * *

Note by the grocer.—This whole neighborhood is using Sunlight Soap now. I have no more complaints. I have no room in my store now for resinous concoctions of alkali poisons; but it is not the grocer's fault if the public are satisfied with common soaps. If the public ask for Sunlight Soap—octagon bar—we give it them. 604

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

March 4, 1902.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N. B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page 30.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

CEYLON TEA DIRECT.

I AM prepared to supply my Estate Tea, and despatch same direct to any of the principal towns of Canada, on most reasonable terms, to wholesale dealers, grocers or private individuals, who wish to procure any grade of "Pure Ceylon Tea" direct from the planter. I am also willing to correspond with anyone wishing to take up the agency for my Teas in any part of Canada or the United States. For reference and information apply to G. C. WARREN, Wolseley, Assa., or direct to Dudley E. WARREN, Tea Planter, Avisawella, Ceylon.

How Used in Produce Business.

(1) Merchants taking Produce to be paid for in trade, pay the Customer the balance due for produce in Due Bill Currency. The customer, as he needs, buys what he wants and pays the merchant with the Due Bills, same as if he had cash.

(2) He can thus trade out as much or as little as he likes from time to time, and gives the merchant no trouble in writing out Due Bills or entering amounts of purchases on said bills, or tracing amounts due on lost or worn out written due bills.

(3) The merchant assumes no more risk than if he had paid for Produce in cash, and the Due Bills are equally convenient to the customer.

(4) ☞New Customers are Gained.—The Due Bills being transferable, customers getting them can make Deals and Bargains with friends and neighbors, and pay in Due Bills on your store, which always means many new customers and chances of securing new constant trade to the merchant. Merchants using the Due Bills report many new customers gained by this means, and the cost returned to you many times a year.

(5) Children can be sent to make purchases with exact amount to pay for goods wanted and no risk run of losing the written due bill and no more bother to the merchant than a cash customer would be, and no pass books to be her with or dispute over afterward.

AGAINST EXPOSING MEATS.

The New York State Assembly Bill to prohibit the exposure of meats, vegetables or other perishable foods in front of stores or elsewhere is mainly aimed, according to an exchange, at the push cart meat and vegetable vendors and pedlars of New York City. The word "elsewhere" is the shot at the revolving street markets. Meats exposed in front of a market are no more unhealthful for that circumstance than when laid on a table or window sill of a home. Many butchers prefer this inconvenience to the presence of the dirty push-cart meat, poultry, fish and vegetable merchant. The Bill is likely to have opposition. It is thought that it will pass.

CALLED HIM A THIEF.

Busse, a Toronto provision dealer, employed Gilder as a sausage-maker, and, when he was discharging him, said he was a thief. This was said in the presence of two others. When Gilder called for his wages he was again called a thief, and payment was refused. So the injured party sought to recover damages in the County Court, and was awarded by a jury $100 as compensation.

W. J. O'Neal, for Busse, the defendant, on March 3, appeared in the Divisional Court, Toronto, before Justices Ferguson and Meredith in support of the defendant's appeal for a new trial in action for slander, and to have this judgment set aside. It was held that the most serious objection to the course of the trial is in the ruling and charge to the jury, that neither of the occasions of publication of alleged slanders was privileged, because both were privileged. There was enough in the evidence to allow the plaintiff to go to the jury on the question of malice, the onus of proving being upon him, of course.

An order was made for a new trial. The defendant will only pay the costs of trial and motion in the action.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The receipts of Northern and Western hogs have been small and the market is quiet. Northern hogs are quoted at $7.75 to $8, and Westerns $7.40 to $7.60 per 100 lb. in carlots. On the local market dressed hogs have been quiet and the price is 25c. lower. The demand for dressed beef is good and the prices are steady. On the live stock market live hogs are easier, selects being 12½c., lights 25c. and thick fats 12½ to 25c. per 100 lb. lower. We quote: Dressed hogs, $7.75 to $8.00; beef carcasses, $5.75 to $7 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6.50 to $7.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 8½c. per lb.; lambs, 8 to 8½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

Smoked and cured meats are steady. The prices of long clear bacon and rolls are down ½c. per lb. Lard is easier, some houses quoting it ¼c. lower. Trade in all these lines is fair. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The tone of the provision market is steady for nearly all lines. The demand is still for small lots for immediate requirements. The receipts of dressed hogs continue light, but the feeling is much easier, though no quotable decline has taken place. There is a fair inquiry for hog products. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.35 to $2.40 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork and beef, there is no change in price. The market is, at least, no higher. There is but limited business. In fresh beef, prices seem rather easier on the local market. There are free receipts of domestic beef. Round hogs are still scarce and high. In smoked meat there is only a fair sale, but full prices rule. In lard, sales are quiet. Prices keep high, though some have shaded figures on pure lard. We quote as follows: American mess pork, $22 to $23; domestic mess pork, $21; plate beef, Canadian, $13.50 to $14; mess pork, American, $21.50; plate beef, American, $14.50 to $15; fresh beef, 6 to 8½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8½c.; pure lard, tubs, 12½c.; pure lard, pails, 12¾c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's tubs, 10¾c.; pails, 10½c.; domestic fresh beef, 5½ to 7c.; Ontario fresh beef, 7½ to 8c; round hogs, 8 to 8½c.

WINNIPEG.

BUTCHERS' CATTLE—The supply is very limited indeed, and appears to be growing more so. The quality of the few animals arriving is, however, satisfactory. Owing to the shortage in supply, prices have again advanced, and the best butchers' cattle are quoted at 4½c. off cars Winnipeg.

SHEEP—None have been offered on this market for some weeks.

VEAL CALVES—A few calves are coming in, but the supply is irregular and unsatisfactory at present.

HOGS—The supply of hogs is still limited, but owing to the weakening of outside markets, the price has again dropped ¼c., and 6c. straight is now the quotation for the best bacon hogs; thick fats and underweights, 5 to 5½c.

COWS—None have come on the market for sale this week. There has been considerable inquiry, but no cows to fill the demand. Prices are firm.

STOCKERS—The demand is good, and buyers are constantly on their rounds through the country. They complain that farmers are making the mistake of letting their young stock run outside all day during this milder weather and get their chief nutriment from the strawstack. The result is that already a number of the stockers are thin and rough. Some buyers have found it necessary to take the stockers away from the farmers altogether and feed them in droves of 300 and 400 at some one point.

BEEF—Is rather scarce and very firm, being a shade higher than last week; 7¾c. is quoted for the best city dressed and 6½ to 7c. for country-dressed.

VEAL—There is only a small amount offering, rather thin, and fetching easily 8 to 9c.

MUTTON — Ontario frozen is jobbing slowly, in a small way at 7c.; lambs, 8c.

FISHERIES OF ABERDEEN.

By Andrew Murray, U. S. Consular Agent at Aberdeen.

THE industry of white fishing (which includes all edible fish, with the exception of salmon and herring) was inaugurated at Aberdeen, in 1883, with two trawlers, and shortly afterwards steam-line boats were added. Since that year, the fleet has increased to 175 trawlers and 47 steam liners, 14 of the latter being employed during the greater part of the year as steam drifters.

Besides the regular fleet, a number of trawlers from the adjacent ports of Fraserburgh and Peterhead make Aberdeen their headquarters during a period of the year; many incidental landings are also made at this port by English trawlers and liners.

In addition to the above fleet, rome 30 steam trawlers and liners are in course of construction.

For the first 11 months of 1901, the landings of trawled fish amounted to 904,619 cwts., valued at £554 055 ($2,696,309), and of line fish, 157,373 cwts. ,valued at £95,192 ($463,252) The total quantity of trawled, line and drift net fish recorded during this period was 1,245,932 cwts., valued at £692,362 (3,369,380).

The average daily deliveries of trawl and line fish exceeded 191 tons. Taking the aggregate for the past five years, most fish have been landed in June, followed by April, May, November and October.

A fully-equipped modern trawler costs from £5 500 to £6,200 ($26,766 to $30,172), and even as high as £7,000 ($34,066) has recently been paid. Steam liners cost from £3,500 to £3,700 ($17 033 to $18,006), not including gear. All well-managed companies pay from 10 to 30 per cent. on the money invested.

In the early days of the industry, a large proportion of the trawlers were paddle steamers, but that type of fishing vessel is now almost obsolete. The introduction of the otter trawl, which some five years ago displaced the beam gear, has provided a much more efficient means of capture than the old system. The deck work on trawlers and on some liners at night is now accomplished with the aid of acetylene gas or electric light. Both trawlers and liners are larger and speedier vessels than formerly, and the former now carry many more lines.

The bulk of the trawl fish landed at Aberdeen comes from the northeast and east-northeast grounds, 50 to 300 miles off.

The principal varieties of fish caught are cod, ling, tusk, saithe, hake, haddock, whiting, turbot, brill, halibut and soles. Herring and mackerel are also occasionally netted in very small quantities, but about 1,500 herring boats land vast quantities of herring during the months of July and August.

The average market prices are:

	s.	d.
Turbot, per cwt.....	71	0=	$17 27
Lemon soles, per cwt....	48	0=	11 68
Brill, per cwt.....	43	0=	10 46
Plaice, per cwt	39	0=	9 49
Halibut, per cwt.....	35	0=	8 52
Whitings, per cwt.....	20	0=	4 87
Haddock, per cwt.....	12	6=	3 04

The fish are disposed of at auction to fish merchants, to be sold fresh or to be smoked, pickled, dried or tinned.

The wholesale fish merchants ship all over the country by rail. The principal markets to which consignments of fresh fish are sold on commission are Glasgow, London, Manchester, Birmingham, Liverpool, Leicester, Sheffield, Leeds, Bolton, Wigan, Blackburn, etc. Pickled, dried and tinned fish are destined principally for export.

The nonmarketable fish are bought for conversion into manure and oil at 5s. ($1.22) per ton.

Fish are preserved fresh at sea by means of ice, and some of the trawlers also have refrigerating plants. Ice is the only medium used to keep fish fresh when despatched to distant markets. I am informed that refrigerators can be introduced into each trawler at a very moderate cost.

ST. THOMAS GROCERS AND PREMIUMS.

A subscriber writes: "I do not know if you are aware of the fact that the grocers of St. Thomas, as a body, made an agreement that they would handle no goods that were sold with premiums, and they carry that out well, so that any traveller going their with premium goods simply does nothing at all."

CREDIT AND CHARACTER.

E. M. SKINNER, in a recent article on "Credit and Character," draws this picture of the gradual change in the personnel of the credit man:

"Don't look as you did in olden times for a gray-haired gentleman of long and tried experience, but often of crusty and cold tempermanent; don't expect to find an Arctic atmosphere surround his desk, and a line of questions as to your habits, family pedigree, age and birth of your family, etc., shot at you in tone of voice that soon works you up to such a murderous frame of mind that you reveal your true nature and character, and then get refused. Do not look for this, I say, you old-timers in business, for the methods that have gained for the credit desk the name of "sweat box" are no longer used. The credit man has gone in with this great rush of progress and reform, and has come out more in keeping with his duties and in touch with the times. You will no doubt find him young—but do not think without experience. You will almost surely find him pleasant and courteous; you will find him able in his particular branch; you should find him cautious and careful. His knowledge of general and local conditions is wide without being wonderful; his memory marvelous without being miraculous. He will strive to learn all he can from you as to your affairs, so easily and pleasantly you hardly know you are talking about yourself, and you often leave wondering why you met him; but he does not. While he looks harmless, he can be firm, and while he is sometimes careless and makes bad credits, it does not happen often enough to make any sure thing of it."

POPULARITY is the proof of merit, and no brand has ever achieved popularity so quickly as

A GOOD MARGIN OF PROFIT FOR THE RETAILERS.

Wheat Marrow.

That "totally different" Cereal Food, "Wheat Marrow," is meeting with wonderful success — more so by far than the makers ever dreamed of. And why not, when it is the most delicious, quickest and most easily prepared Cereal Food on the market to-day?

"Totally Different."

It has no competitors, because there is nothing just like it. Sterilized. Prepared from the glutinous portions of the choicest Winter Wheat. Healthful, nourishing, easily digested. Ideal to use in place of cracker crumbs for frying fish, oysters, etc.

TO THE TRADE.

Owing to the enormous demand for Gold Soap, the manufacturers find that the fourteen thousand coins at first advertised will not be nearly sufficient to last out the year. When this number of coins was decided upon it was never expected that the sales of Gold Soap would reach anything like the figures that they have done, so it is not to be wondered at that the appropriation for "money-in-the-soap" will be exhausted much sooner than was at first anticipated. This being the case, they do not feel that it would be fair to the public for them to attempt to make this comparatively small number of coins the only inducement in connection with Gold Soap, so they have decided to supplement it by a mammoth prize competition involving over 5,000 prizes, details of which will be found below.

This competition will be carried out on such broad lines that everyone who sends in any wrappers at all will receive either a prize or a premium, thus, the small consumer will be dealt with quite as fairly as the one who buys in large quantities.

With this added attraction, we feel sure that the sales of Gold Soap will continue to keep thousands of cases in advance of our facilities, as they have been doing in the past.

Requests for circulars, hangers and further particulars of this competition will receive prompt attention.

5213 PRIZES.

DIRECTIONS

Save your Gold Soap wrappers, and send them in to Gold Soap, Toronto, before November 15th, 1902, with your own name and address enclosed. The prizes will be sent out on November 24th with a full list of the winners. You may send your wrappers in at any time so long as your name and address comes along with each lot. Do not send in the whole wrapper, but just the centre part.

LIST OF PRIZES

1st Prize—For the largest number of Gold Soap centres received - - $100 in Cash
2nd Prize—For the 2nd greatest number - - - - - - $50 "
3rd Prize— - - - - - - - - - - $30 "
Each of the next 50—A 14k Gold Filled Watch for Lady or Gentleman, guaranteed.
Each of the next 10— - - - - - - - - - - $10 in Cash
Each of the next 50—A handsome Silver Watch for Lady or Gentleman, guaranteed.
Each of the next 100—One dozen Silver-Plated Tea Spoons, guaranteed.
Each of the next 3,000—A handsome piece of Silverware—Silver Sets, Cream Jugs, Novelties, Ladles, Sugar Bowls, Salts and Peppers, Butter Knives, etc., etc., etc.
Each of the next 2,000—A copy of the famous picture, entitled "King of the Forest," designed especially for Gold Soap. This picture cannot be procured elsewhere.
All those that do not win a prize, will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers.

CONDITIONS

All wrappers sent in must have contained soap; we have a secret process for detecting bogus wrappers. Only private individuals are allowed to enter this competition—no institutions or societies being permitted. Consumers should be careful never to buy Gold Soap unless it is wrapped in the regular black and orange wrappers. All wrappers (or centres) must be plainly marked with the name and address of the sender, and mailed to Gold Soap, Toronto, on or before November 15th, 1902. Those that receive prizes will not receive a Premium as well, but all those not winning prizes will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers. In case two persons send in the same number of wrappers, the prize will be divided. Persons giving information leading to conviction of any one trying to defraud Gold Soap will be liberally rewarded. Address all communications simply

HINTS AND IDEAS FOR MEN WHO ADVERTISE.

Schemes and Programmes.

EVERY advertising man should have lots of backbone, says Printers' Ink. He should be able to say no, and stick to it. If he is wise he will have a given time each day to receive solicitors. He will admit them all, be friendly and stick to his knitting. Special editions and programmes generally have some sort of a "cause" to promote. A hospital, a lecture-course programme, those earnest young men with a college paper, a pastor that is getting up a church paper, the winning young woman that is "just getting it up for the society, you know," and so on to the end of a list that never ends, and never will until men stop spending money just to see their names in print or to be considered "a real nice man."

I believe in charity. Once I presented to the president of a bank a proposition to advertise in a concert programme. I could not pass upon it, but the solicitor had made such a strong appeal, that I ventured to bring it to the attention of the bank's president. He heard me to the end, and then sat down on me. He said, "Brown, it is not creditable to you to bring this matter up. You are presuming that I am not doing my full share of charity. It would be well for you to understand that we hired you to make investments of our money in advertising and not charity." Possibly he was a little severe, but he told the truth and I learned a lesson.

Take the money out of the cash drawer and donate to charity for the sake of charity, and charge it to charity. Keep your name out of such "grafts" and make the business stand or fall on its merits as a business. These solicitors don't always realize that they are running a confidence game, but they are.

Another form of the programme evil is found in societies that sell the privilege to get out a programme or souvenir edition to some advertising solicitor. They give him a nice letter of introduction, stating that the edition will be "official." He comes in the name of the organization, and you pay money that goes mostly to the solicitor and you think you have helped the cause. The postmaster writes a letter authorizing a certain "official post-office guide," and you feel that you surely ought to be in this "official" publication.

Another form. A good-looking man comes in. "Mr. Brown?" "Yes." "I have been referred to you as the party having charge of the advertising of your company. Now, we have no advertising to sell, but the character of your company is so well known and your people are so influential that our editor has prepared an editorial on your company, and I wanted you to look it over and see if it was all right. We are going to get out a large edition of this number." You read over the ordinary rot about the great and good concern you are working for, and see that your name is prominently mentioned as being one of the main spokes in the wheel, and how progressive and businesslike your firm does things, and advising everybody to be sure and call, upon the personal assurance of the editor that everything is all right.

"Yes, that is very nice," you say. "Glad you like it," says our friend. "By the way, would your company like to have a quantity of this edition to send to your friends? We charge you nothing for the editorial, you know, but if you want we shall be glad to supply you with 500 copies." You price the 500. Ten cents each. If you don't come down with the $50 you will not find your great and good company mentioned. The chances are even that the 500 copies would comprise the entire special edition if you did decide to reap the benefits of free editorial mention. Any paper that sells its editorial columns is a good one to let alone.

Advertising.

We may live without poetry, music and art,
We may live without conscience, and live without heart;
We may live without friends, and live without fads,
But business to-day cannot live without ads.—The Country Merchant.

Sincerity in Advertising.

When we read the advertisements that crowd the newspapers and magazines, says Profitable Advertising, we find it rather hard to believe that downright sincerity is a part of the present age, but now and then we come upon something that tends to help our unbelief. There are a few sincere advertisements published, and they stand out very noticeably. They are always short and simple, more notable for the clean, wholesome, direct business methods they reveal than for those glittering generalities that seem to be the present rule. One cannot read them without feeling that the advertisers are honest in their statements, and that the goods will be exactly as described.

It is not pleasant to think that sincerity has departed from among business men. One would just as soon think that fidelity and honor and knightly courage had departed also. Yet we know that these things still exist, and we are glad to believe that there are still sincere advertisers, also.

The Price Element.

The elimination of the price element or factor in any grade of advertising is and always will be a serious handicap to its "pulling" quality, writes George Hippard in Profitable Advertising. It emasculates the strength and depreciates the value of the advertisement, no matter whether the article advertised is low or high priced. What the public want to know is the price of the article and why it is worth it. Of course, it is understood that the article is good and just what it is represented, for no amount of advertising will or can keep up a bad thing.

The tendency in the novices in the advertising field to-day is too much toward attempts at literary construction, and artistic creation or adaptation. Alliterative text and pictorial design are no doubt often desirable and effective, but they are secondary to the leading part of the advertisement, and should be used only to supplement and strengthen the argument. To the ignoring of this vital fact by thousands of advertisers and their agents can be traced the numberless failures in the advertising field.

To its recognition can be attributed the great successes of every mail-order business in the country.

"Good advertising consists in, first, reaching the people who are able to buy your article; second, telling them the price; third, telling them why it is worth the price."

What It Is.

Advertising is the life blood of the business world to-day, and well-directed advertising is like the powerful searchlight of a river steamer, thrown upon a distant cottage on the bank, cutting it out like a picture painted on a black canvas, remarks a contemporary. The timid buyer and the prospective industry will follow the rays of the searchlight of publicity, just as surely as will the eyes of the steamer's passengers follow the light thrown from their vessel. They will not search the surrounding gloom for objects of interest when a beautiful picture is clearly shown before them. Prospective buyers will not search the surrounding gloom for your competitors if the search-light of publicity is turned on your own place of business.

Originality.

Originality is one of the qualifications necessary to ultimate success, This is especially true in the advertising world. Originality is a broad term, and it can be brought into profitable play in an almost unlimited field and in diversified forms.

In advertising this quality is made apparent in different ways, bringing into play the products of thousands of brains, each brain having a kink therein different from all others. Originality is simply a brain kink.—Business.

Help Sentences for Advertising.

The following were gleaned by a contemporary from some New York windows and advertisements :

Could they be lower ?

Prices lean your way.

Wide range—narrow prices.

Prices speak louder than promises.

We have been "caught with the goods."

"Little and often fills the purse" is our price-proverb.

Purchase or be merely curious, but come in, anyway.

Our way of bidding for money to move in new stocks.

We save in buying and can afford to be liberal in selling.

Honesty is the only policy, and all customers are good friends.

Economy leads to wealth. To miss these values is extravagance.

Demonstrating how little we care for cost when we want results.

Small profits, of course, but that's our lookout. You profit by the saving.

"A fault confessed is half redressed." We confess to being overloaded on these ties and pay for our fault by foregoing the profit.

A good driver turns in a small space—a good merchant turns on a small profit.

Not a clearing sale of broken lines, but a big, broad, comprehensive movement.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good—especially when it's a manufacturer's ill wind.

Simply another proof that there is always "something doing" in this window—and inside.

We aim to secure your confidence, and our prices are calculated to make us good marksmen.

Value of Distinctive Names.

The Saturday Evening Post tells of an instance in which an attractive name was sufficient to create a demand for a waste and almost worthless product. New Mexican turquoises are found in a stone of a rather pretty reddish color. Sometimes small bits of turquoise are mixed with this material, which has little value. A New York gem expert took to polishing small pieces of this useless material and setting them in jewelry. Then he cast about for a name, and settled upon "matrix turquoise." To his surprise the novelty took at once, and the demand created for "matrix turquoise" has set other jewelers to counterfeiting the new gem. Furthermore, the fashion has extended to other gems, and there is call for "matrix" emeralds, rubies, sapphires, and so on. There is little doubt but that the name was largely instrumental in making the novelty popular. The public loves a name, and will often tolerate very ordinary things when they are distinctively named, whereas the lack of an effective name has frequently caused the failure of articles of unquestioned merit and utility.

SALMON CANNERY COMBINE.

A Vancouver despatch says : "It is understood that a new salmon cannery combine, taking in at least 45 of the largest cannery plants in British Columbia, is about completed. The combine is on the line of that on the Columbia River. Americans, it is reported, are backing the deal, with a capital, it is said, of $4 000,000. H. Doyle & Co., of Vancouver, have arranged the deal."

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN GOODS.

The following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government office in London :

1. A firm in the eastern counties importing roofing shingles desire to get into communication with Canadian houses shipping these goods. Size 18 x 4 inches, with rounded corners at one end, to be packed very closely for shipment.

2. A firm of brushmakers (tooth, nail and shaving) desires to be furnished with the names of large buyers of these commodities in Canada, and are also open to appoint agents in the Dominion.

3. A London firm of timber brokers are desirous of being placed in communication with some leading exporters in Canada.

4. A well-known bottling firm who only put up high-class beers for export are desirous of extending their trade with Canada, and will be open to appoint agents.

5. An important firm of wholesale and export druggists are seeking openings for an extension of their business with Canada in chemicals, drugs, tinctures, fruit essences, sundries, and surgical instruments.

6. A military and general saddlery firm are contemplating an export business with Canada, and make inquiry respecting a possible market for the goods they manufacture.

7. An importer and broker asks for names of exporters of oatmeal, farina, peas, etc., in Canada.

8. An important firm of carriage builders are prepared to accept agencies for Canadian carriage makers and to arrange for the display of such Canadian goods at some of the leading exhibitions in the United Kingdom.

9. Inquiry is made for the addresses in Canada of lumber firms making egg cases for export, in stock ; also for names of makers of fillers for egg cases.

10. A person with experience in the line wishes to take up the representation in the United Kingdom of Canadian houses shipping whitewood picture frame mouldings and other similar wood goods.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER]

BRITISH COLUMBIA ASSOCIATED BOARDS OF TRADE.

THE Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia held their fourth annual meeting at Kaslo, B.C., on February 28, when some important resolutions were passed. Twenty - eight delegates were present from Nelson, Kaslo, Fernie, Trail, Rossland and other centres. President C. Scott Galloway was in the chair.

In his address, Mr. Galloway dwelt on the allotting of a seat in the Laurier Cabinet to a British Columbian, the Hon. Mr. Templeman ; the obtaining of a bonus for the refining of lead ores in the Slocan from the Dominion Government by the Mine Owners' Association, and the appointment of a British Columbian representative in London, Eng., to keep before the British capitalists the boundless opportunities afforded by the Pacific Province for profitable investment. He also touched on the necessity of increased railway facilities for the development of British Columbia, and urged the appointment of a delegation to request the Provincial Government to remove the obstructions at present placed on railway construction in the Province. This would enable capitalists and others to have a free hand in the opening up of new districts with their railroads or the paralleling of existing lines.

Several important resolutions were passed. Probably the most noteworthy is the one asking the Dominion Government to so adjust the duties on lead products as to encourage the manufacture of white leads and lead products in the Dominion, thus enlarging the home market for Canadian lead. This resolution will be placed before the Ottawa House by G. O. Buchanan, W. H. Aldridge and James Cronin.

A resolution was passed regarding the bounty of $5 per ton on pig-lead produced in Canada, asking that the Dominion Government be requested to modify this bounty for the first year, so that the full amount, amounting to $100,000, be distributed, providing 15,000 tons of pig-lead be produced during the first year ; should there be less than 15,000 tons produced during such year, then the rate allowed during the first year to be $7 per ton, instead of $5, as at present, provided furthermore, that the bounty for each of the succeeding years shall be at the rate of $5 per ton, but such bounty not to exceed $100,000 per year, as at present.

Resolutions also were passed asking that timber rangers be appointed by the Provincial Government to assist in the prevention of bush fires ; that the Dominion Government pass a general railway Act on the lines of the present Provincial Tram Act, and that the Rossland riding be cut in two so that the Boundary District might have a representative of its own in the present Provincial Legislature.

The secretary-treasurer's report showed a balance of $40.47 in the treasury.

THE ATTRACTIONS OF VICTORIA.

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the Victoria Tourist Association, Victoria, B.C., was held on February 27 with a full attendance of members.

An address was given by G. S. Bennett on the methods employed by the Tourist Associations at Detroit, which he had been in close touch with for several years, at Halifax, St. John, and other places.

The question of employing a travelling advertising agent came up, but nothing definite was done.

A committee on printing was appointed to supervise the publication of a small folder for early distribution throughout the Pacific States, the Territories and Manitoba.

PLUM PUDDING AND ITS ORIGIN.

PLUM PORRIDGE, which was often served as a first course at dinner, and, as a general refection, took the place of our "spice cake and cheese," seems to have been the ancestor of plum pudding as we now know it. Sir Roger de Coverley thought there was some hope of a Dissenter when he was enjoying his porridge at the Hall on Christmas Day. This curious dish also figures in Poor Robin's Almanac for 1750, and Hudson Turner says that until the accession of George IV. "this savory porridge used to be given away to the lords in waiting, maids of honor and other domestics in the Royal palace." Sixty quarts, according to a writer in The Umpire, were made at St. James' for the general supply. The latest historical mention of it is by Brand, who partook of a "tureenful of luscious plum porridge" at St. James', at the table of the Royal Chaplain, in 1801. It is very difficult to successfully trace the evolution of plum pudding proper. In the middle of the eighteenth century it was only conspiring, slowly gaining strength for the revolution (external and internal) that it ultimately effected. To its eggs and raisins it ventured, in 1747, on the addition of currants—an improvement of a marked type. By successful innovations were added candied lemon peel, citron, spices, brandy, and lo! the pudding, more or less as it is to-day, had its throne upon the Christmas board. — Food and Cookery, London.

FOR HIS HEALTH.

Mr. H. A. Leak, Montreal manager of the N. K. Fairbank Co., Chicago, has gone on a holiday of a month or so to Hot Springs, Arkansas. Mr. Leak's health has not been of the best for some time, and the hard work he took upon himself did not improve it. Meantime his place is being filled by Mr. Beeckman Graham, who has been with the Chicago house some years.

THE GOLD SOAP COMPETITION.

It will be noticed from the advertisement on page 2 of this issue that the Gold Soap people are offering still another inducement to their customers. A short time ago they made the announcement that 14,000 coins would be distributed among bars of Gold Soap, and this novel method of advertising proved so successful that the sales of this brand have exceeded their most sanguine expectations. As this is the case, they feel called upon to supplement their "money-in-the-soap" distribution by a further and equally generous offer in the form of a prize competition, which, from their advertisement, promises to be the most elaborate of its kind ever attempted in Canada. They are giving a very large number of prizes, and thus avoiding the mistake that is so often made — of disappointing a large number of people. By their system of giving a premium to those not winning prizes, no one will go away empty-handed. A post card addressed "Gold Soap, Toronto," brings ful particulars.

"Thar's a sto'keeper up my way, an' I've hed a good many dealin's with him fust and last. I reckon I've seed him put his right thumb in the scales a hundred times when he weighed things I bought."

"Well, you ought to have stopped him. You can't collect damages for that," interrupted the attorney.

"I don't want no damages."

"Well, what do you want?"

"You see, we got in a fout yestiddy, an' I bit off that thumb, an' I want to know if, as many times as I bought it, I don't own it, so that he kain't get damages for my bitin' it off."—Washington Star.

DEATHS.

Tel. Lacasse, grocer, Montreal, is dead.

Mederic Menard, of The Mederic St. Lawrence Wine Co., Montreal, is dead.

F. P. Reid, of F. P. Reid & Co., wholesale grocers, Moncton, N.B., is dead.

The following from the advertisement of a prominent wholesale grocer should be read and pondered by every dealer:

"Some grocers succeed where others seem to work just as hard and yet fail to achieve much—it is just as important to know what to push as it is how to push—pushing pure and pleasing products produces prosperity, but pushing poor stuff drives trade away."

It pays infinitely better to push a baking powder like "Royal," an article of known merit, whose good qualities are recognized and appreciated by all consumers.

Royal Baking Powder is easy to sell, and when sold there is always a pleased purchaser.

Royal Baking Powder is largely advertised and that helps the dealer; but a pleased purchaser is the best advertiser for your store, because she will recommend to others that dealer who has pleased her.

Royal Baking Powder is the highest class baking powder, made from pure cream of tartar, and absolutely free from alum or other harmful ingredient.

ANOTHER RAILWAY PROJECT.

A SCHEME is on foot to construct a trans-continental railway from Quebec to Port Simpson, on the Pacific Coast. To make the first move in this gigantic undertaking a meeting of a number of Quebec Province's representative commercial men was held on March 5 at Quebec. Among those present were Geo. Tanguay, President of the Quebec Board of Trade, in the chair; J. G. Scott, V. Chateauvert, J. T. Ross, C. Baillairge, W. A. Marsh, F. Billingsley, E. Beaudet, W. Shaw, A. E. Doucet, H. O'Sullivan, Alex. Hardy, Quebec; Lieut.-Col. B. A. Scott, Roberval; J. D. Guay, Mayor of Chicoutimi; A. E. Vallerand, Cyrille Tessier.

The company was incorporated by the Dominion Parliament in 1895, and is known as The Trans-Canada Railway Co. Its charter was amended in 1897, when it was capitalized at $20,000,000. The incorporators were a number of railroad capitalists in London, Eng., and Ottawa, Canada, but since then they have associated with themselves a number of railroad magnates from Quebec, Montreal, Chicoutimi, Lake St. John, Boston and New York. The Quebec men have the control of the concern.

Plans and profiles of the first 60 miles of the road were submitted by the company's engineers, Messrs. Doucet and H. O'Sullivan, besides a map of the route the line would follow across the continent. The road is to be divided into four sections. These are as follows: The first, from Quebec to James' Bay, via Roberval; the second, from James' Bay to Norway House, at the north end of Lake Winnipeg; the third, to Peace River Pass, in the Rockies; and the fourth, from the summit to Port Simpson, the best Canadian harbor on the Pacific Coast.

The advantages claimed for this route are that it is about 300 miles shorter than the C.P.R. from the Atlantic to the Pacific; 600 miles shorter than Mackenzie & Mann's proposed line, and 700 miles shorter to Japan and China than the C.P.R. The point at which it will cross the Rockies is less than half the elevation of the C.P.R.

The Dominion Parliament has given this undertaking its support by voting a subsidy to the first 60 miles of the road, from Roberval westward. This section is to be placed under contract immediately.

The financial statement of the company was read by the chairman, the stock book was reopened for the subscription of shares, and the company was duly organized.

BOOK-KEEPING BY HYPOTHESIS.

There was once, according to an exchange, an aged merchant of Ohio who carried the accounts of the day in his head, and just before going home, would sit down and enter his charges and credits. One evening he remembered very well that a customer named Fuller had asked about a hammer, but could not be sure whether he had bought one. The merchant scratched his head and figured over it a long time, and then, to make no mistake, evolved the following original specimen of bookkeeping:

John Fuller, one hammer .... 75c.

THE UNITED STATES TEA DUTY.

Mr. George Lightbound, Toronto, has just returned from a business visit to New York. "The uncertainty as to what will be done in regard to the duty is causing an unsettled feeling in the tea market. Should the duty be taken off on July 1, I think we shall see a good market there. Should, however, the proposed change not go into effect till January, I look for an unsettled and unsatisfactory market."

Mr. Lightbound also said that the importers in New York are still prepared to buy bag figs on the Canadian market if they could obtain them. As THE CANADIAN GROCER pointed out some weeks ago, this market is already practically cleaned up of bag figs.

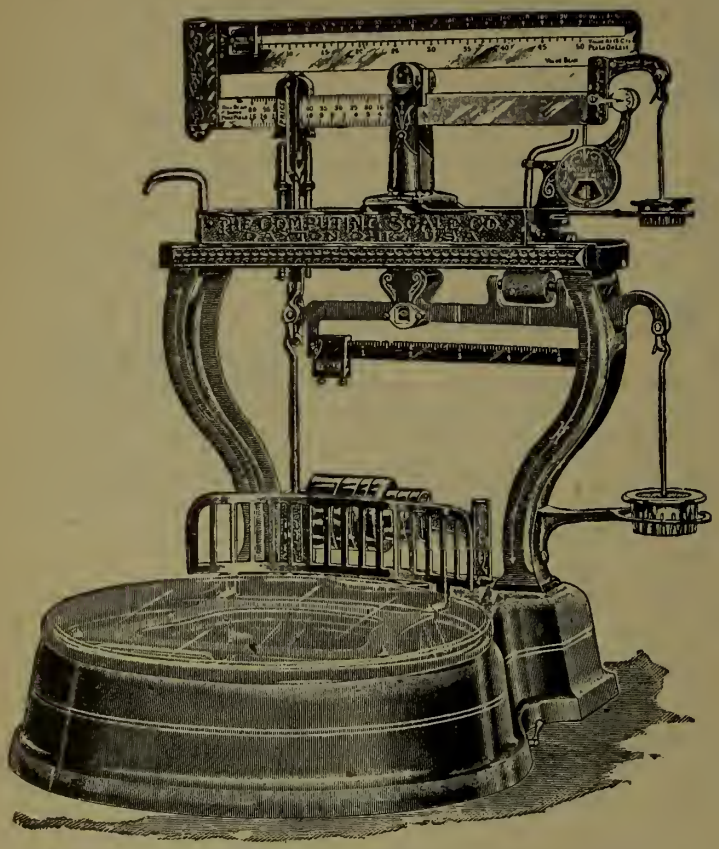
E. W. GILLETT & CO., LIMITED.

IN an interview with Mr. William Dobie, general manager and treasurer of the E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, Toronto, our representative was informed that the new company was about complete, all the stock having been fully subscribed; in fact, the demand for stock was such that it was more than doubly subscribed for and many applications had to be refused. This is most gratifying, expressing as it does the confidence of Canadian merchants in a business that has for 50 years borne such a high reputation, both as regards its business management and integrity, as well as the high and reliable quality of its various manufactures.

The method of placing this stock on the market was, besides being unique, a clear advantage to every merchant, both wholesale and retail, giving him, with the incentive to sell the goods of the company, the pecuniary advantage of his investment in the shape of assured dividends. There is no question of a doubt but that this method will produce the most beneficial results to stockholders, and, as the high standing of the goods of The E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, is so generally acknowledged by the trade throughout the Dominion, every merchant can conscientiously and consistently recommend to his customers the products of his company.

The capitalization of the company is $300,000, and the provisional directors are Mr. E. W. Gillett, Mr. Wm. Dobie and Mr. Geo. Hepburn. The offices of the company are at 32 and 34 Front street west, Toronto.

Every Store-Keeper, This Means You.



Every store-keeper big or little needs help from the outside. He needs patronage, he needs good friends, but most of all he needs our help, which we can guarantee him through the use of our profit savers, our system of stopping down weight, the Money-Weight System.

Don't get discouraged and say there is nothing in the grocery business—no money in it, for there is a mighty big percentage of profit in it if you only know how to get it. How would you like to wind up this year's business with a big gain in profit more than enough to equip your whole establishment with our system and have a nice balance in bank besides? You can do it. THE STRONG CHEESE MARKET.

THE cheese market has stiffened a great deal during the past two weeks. And now cheese for export to Great Britain is selling at 10¾ cents; and 11 cents is asked in some instances, although we know of no orders being filled at that figure. This is remarkable considering that the shipments of Canadian cheese to Great Britain last season were 281,857 boxes less than in 1900, the exact figures from May 1, 1900, to February 26, 1901, being 2,435.361 boxes and 2,153,504 for the following year. This is explained by the English buyers in 1900 laying in a heavier stock than the occasion warranted. Consequently they were sufferers and so hung back all through last summer. This winter, although fully aware that the supply of cheese in England was becoming limited, for our cheese has found for itself a reputation in English homes that makes it always sell, British dealers refused to pay the figures asked by the Canadians who held stock.

Finding at last that there was not so large a stock of cheese in Canada after all as English importers had imagined, and hat what was here was in the hands of about half a dozen exporters, they became alarmed, and raised the prices and are buying all they can secure, so that now there is believed to be not over 95,000 boxes of cheese in the country.

Indications are from this out that there will be a heavy export trade until all the available cheese is exported.

THE CANNED-SALMON COMBINE.

FURTHER details are to hand regarding the combination among the salmon canners in British Columbia, a brief reference to which was made in last week's issue.

Strictly speaking, it appears to be more of an amalgamation than a combination, as the latter term is generally misunderstood.

This is the third attempt that has been made to consummate a similar scheme, and appears to have been successful.

Briefly the scheme is to take into a company capitalized at $3,500,000 the majority of the canneries in British Columbia. Each cannery is to be paid part in cash and part in stock in the new consolidated concern. It is said that 50 out of the 70 canneries have agreed to come into the syndicate. The value of each cannery is to be fixed by a committee.

The promoters of the syndicate are United States capitalists, and a part of the scheme is said to be the closing up of one half of the canneries.

It would not be possible, with the little information that is available, to intelligently discuss the merits of the scheme. All we can hope is that it may not prove detrimental to the interests of one of the most important industries of the Dominion.

About $3,000,000 is estimated to be invested in the canning industry alone, and the export trade approximates to that amount. The exports in 1901 were :

	Quantity in lb.	Value.
Great Britain	28,107,945	$2,322,111
Australasia	2,121,234	182,281
British Africa	69,800	5,325
British East Indies	35,176	3,320
British West Indies	968	86
Newfoundland	490	47
China	9 600	890
France	2,400	200
Hawaii	6 503	533
Japan	477,557	38 921
United States	4,510,848	335,683
Other countries	903	83
Total	35,343,424	$2,889,480

The home market consumes about 100,000 cases of canned salmon annually.

EARLY CLOSING IN MONTREAL.

THE report in the papers that the clerks of Montreal are agitating for early closing and a half-holiday during the summer months does at least not apply to the Montreal grocery clerks, though doubtless such a movement would meet with their endorsation.

It ought not to be a difficult matter, however, to bring about early closing and to obtain a half-holiday, say, on Wednesday, during the hot months. Last year such a movement was started, and although begun late in the season, it was successful wherever its originators worked hard to bring it about. In one portion of the city the clerks were given Wednesday afternoons off and the evenings besides. But to obtain these concessions all the associations of the city, comprising the different trades, had to act together. It would be useless for the clerks of one branch of the trade to ask that their stores be closed while other merchants kept open.

In the past the merchants of Montreal have shown themselves willing to accord these privileges to their clerks if at all possible, and the grocers, whose business perhaps suffers in such cases more than other trades, were not backward in the movement. It is likely that the subject will be brought up before long at the meetings of the various clerks' associations.

It is not alone to the interests of the clerks to have early closing, and now and then, in the heat of summer, a half-holiday. The employer indirectly gains as much. A wornout clerk serving behind the counter day after day and night after night during the warm weather, which seems to be the rule in summer now, may do as much harm to his employer as good. He cannot exercise his abilities as a salesman fully; that is admitted. He is very likely to be careless, and, worse still, cranky with customers. Such a bearing toward customers will obviously do harm to the employer.

A man working till all hours at night has no time for relaxation, and can only come to work in the morning unrefreshed and unfit to perform the work before him properly. With the evening off he can get away from work, take some exercise that will make his sleep more refreshing and be a new man in the morning, a man that can make money for his employer.

TRAVELLERS' LIFE INSURANCE.

A MEETING of considerable interest to many of our commercial friends was held on Saturday at St. George's Hall, Toronto, when the adjourned annual meeting of the Commercial Travellers' Mutual Benefit Society took place. For some months past, considerable interest has been taken in this matter, as the rates charged by this society have been under discussion. It would appear that during the months of May, June and July last the directors of this institution found that owing to several claims on their funds being held over from the year 1900 to that of 1901, and that the death rate for the first months in 1901 was rather higher than usual, that the income from the regular assessments was likely to be insufficient to meet the claims of the policies falling due, and as they feared that making special calls might be objectionable to some members of the society, they called a special meeting to consider the desirability of advancing the rates on all persons who were then members of the society. This was considered important, as in the early history of the society the scale of rates charged was very low, and that it was then found that no less than three different classes of rates were being used.

As the attendance at this meeting was not very large, owing to many persons being away on their holidays, it was considered wise to hold over the consideration of the rates then proposed by the board until the annual meeting. At the annual meeting, in January, it was found that two members had given legal notice of amendments which they proposed for the consideration of the Association. As a new board of directors had been elected, a resolution was then passed that the meeting should be adjourned for six weeks, to give the new board an opportunity of considering the whole matter of rates and introducing their policy. At this meeting, which took place on Saturday last, a rate was proposed that was claimed to be based upon a report presented some years ago by Mr. Blackadar, of the Insurance Department at Ottawa, in an address that he gave before the actuaries of this country, which he offered as the experience of one of our oldest life insurance companies as their actual cost, without anything being allowed for agents' expenses or loss on investments, or anything of this character. This scale has since been considered by Mr. Howard Hunter, of the Ontario Government Insurance Department, and, by his advice, engrafted into the insurance laws of Ontario. It has also been adopted by the Province of Quebec.

In the discussion which took place on Saturday, it was claimed that these rates would be found to be positively safe for the adoption of the Mutual Benefit Society, and in comparison with the largest assessment association doing business in the world, it was found to be a very small percentage higher than the one used by them. At the same time by comparison it was shown that it was lower than the lowest rate used by any regular insurance company doing business in Canada on the all-life plan, without any participation in profits. This scale of rates was made a substantive motion at the meeting, as only such motions as had been properly advertised before the annual meeting could be introduced to this adjourned meeting, but to which any amendment might be moved, the new board of directors presented their alternative as an amendment to this scale of prices.

In the report of the president he showed that two regular line companies were anxious to take over the business of the Mutual Benefit Society, one of them demanding that each member should pass a medical examination, and the company have the privilege to accept or reject same. The other company offered to take all the members without medical examination. The rate to be charged in future in each case, taking the ages at which the members joined the association, was only a slight advance over the lowest rate found now offered by any regular line insurance company, but each policy was expected to have charged to it a lien for the number of years the person had been a member of the Mutual Benefit. After a full discussion these two plans were voted on. The policy proposed by the board of directors to transfer the business to the regular line asking for the medical examination was voted down at once. Then the first resolution to adopt the scale proposed by Mr. Fielding, which was claimed to be about equivalent to the rates spoken of as proposed by Mr. Hunter and Mr. Blackadar, but when the votes were counted for and against, it was found that it lacked a few of being the full two-thirds majority of those present, which any change of the by-laws must have in order for it to have force and effect, consequently no change has thus far been effected in the rates of the society.

The board of directors then announced that this might necessitate the making of some special calls during the present year.

As considerable comment has been made on the stability of this organization and the probability of their continuing to do business, we have made some little investigation and find that even with the three special calls that may be made this year before anything is taken from the surplus, the amount to be paid will not exceed the lowest rate charged by any regular life insurance company doing business in Canada, and, as the reserve fund of $36,000 appears to be larger than many assessment companies doing business in Canada, there does not appear to be any necessity for alarm.

The Bulletin of Assessment Life Insurance Chart, issued for the year 1901, shows that there are no less than 12 insurance companies doing business in Canada whose average reserve only amounts to $5.71 per thousand of the insurance they carry, while the same report gives $14 79, being the amount of the reserve for every $1,000 carried by the C. T. Mutual Benefit Society. This would appear to be a guarantee of the solvency of the Association.

THE FALL IN EGGS.

EGGS have come down with a run and are now selling at 12, 13 and 14 cents per dozen for fresh stock. This is a difference of 11 cents from the prices of last week and it was brought about in this way. The spell of warm weather that has made things so pleasant during the past few weeks gave the hens the opportunity they have been looking for all fall and winter. Every one of them commenced to lay, but the mildness of the weather also affected the roads, which became almost impassible, preventing the marketing of these eggs, and aiding in the accumulation of a heavy stock by the farmers. As soon as the facilities for shipping them to market improved, the farmers brought them in in such large quantities that the market was glutted, and in a panic the merchants put down their prices to the lowest notch.

A reaction is not improbable as soon as the surplus stock is cleared away.

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

Early Closing, The Fruit Market, and Amalgamation Discussed.

THE Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held their regular monthly meeting in their room in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening, March 10. A number of important matters were touched on, and an interesting address on the subject of the early-morning market was given by Mr. Thomas Cleghorn, of Cleghorn, Smith & Co. President Sykes was in the chair.

Letters were received and read from The Standard Chemical Co., and from F. S. Mearns, the solicitor of the association. Mr. Mearns, in his communication, stated that he was of opinion that the

in its amended form, would be passed by the city council, who seemed more favorable to the measure than the last council. A test case could then be fought out in the higher courts and if the decision of these courts went against the law, the Legislature could then be appealed to, to further amend the statute, making it more constitutional.

The Standard Co.'s letter was in regard to the sale of charcoal. They stated that in their business relations they had always protected the interests of the dealer and had never retailed charcoal at wholesale prices in small quantities to the consumer.

AMALGAMATION

Secretary Trowern, of The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, has on foot a scheme whereby the retail grocers may amalgamate with the grocers' section of that body, and he has been approaching members of the retail grocers in support of it, so a committee was appointed to talk it over with another committee from the Grocers' Section of The Retail Merchants' Association and report on the advisability of uniting the two bodies.

The appointment of this committee met with considerable opposition.

D. W. Clark, in moving the appointment of this committee, believed that the combination of the two associations would make them much stronger and that they were sending to the Exhibition Board they might lose.

J. Bond wanted this subject to be given a fair consideration.

B. Panter said that amalgamation would be of no especial benefit to them and would be unwise. The representative that they were sending to the exhibition board they might lose.

J. Bond informed those present that they would not lose their identity by uniting with The Retail Merchants' Association, neither would they be deprived of their representation on the Exhibition Board. Questions of some importance were daily arising which they would have to grapple with and this they could not do as well as if all classes of grocers were working together.

F. W. Johnston believed in the old saying, "In union there is strength," but he thought that the disposal of their surplus would be an obstacle hard to overcome.

The committee was then appointed and consists of the President, J. G. Gibson, B. Panter, T. Clark, D. W. Clark and J. Butcher.

The executive committee recommended an increase in the membership fee, the appointment of H. Jones to the secretaryship, and leaving of the prizes granted towards last summer's picnic remaining uncollected in the hands of the donors.

The appointment of a new secretary will be held over for a couple of months.

The committee that waited on the Industrial Exhibition Board reported that one representative had been allowed the association and J. G. Gibson was the unanimous choice of those present for that position. This appointment he accepted.

Should the association decide to run an excursion to Niagara Falls, N.Y., this summer, The Natural Food Co., of Buffalo, N.Y., would be pleased to have them as their guests at their premises at the Falls. Much pleasure was expressed on the receipt of this invitation.

HONORING MR NOLAN

As James Nolan has sold out his business on McCaul street and is leaving for Dakota. He was the recipient of many expressions of good-will and sorrow from his fellow members. Mr. Nolan has always been a faithful and hardworking member of the association and up to the present time was a member of the executive. His loss will be hard to replace. An illuminated address from The Toronro Retail Grocers' Association will be presented to him by a committee drafted for that purpose, consisting of the secretary, Edw. Hawes, W. J. Kelly, J. G. Gibson, R. H. Davies and B. Panter.

EARLY MARKET MOVEMENT.

Thomas Cleghorn's address then followed, the text of which is as follows:

Through the kindness of your vice-president I have been asked to give you a few lines on the subject of the early morning market and the means to obtain it.

Now, it must be an acknowledged fact, and admitted by both receiver and retailer, that for years past we have all spent too much valuable time in and around the foot of Yonge street, and that as time is money, it follows that we have all been losers to some extent. The remedy, I submit, gentlemen, is, primarily and positively, in your own hands. The system of running down to meet every train and boat has fostered the feeling among both shippers and receivers that their goods will find ready sale at no matter what hour they arrive, hence we find fruit straggling in at all hours during the day, and the receivers at the expense of keeping men there to sell it and yourselves at the loss of time to go down and buy it. In all distributing centres that I have ever visited this evil does not obtain. In fact, in Toronto we lack concentration, and if we desire to remedy it, your cooperation shall very materially help to accomplish it, and, while I would not suggest that you lay down a cast-iron rule at the commencement, not to patronize the market after, say, 10 a.m., I would suggest that you gradually work into a system of being on the market for your supplies at, say, 7 a.m. for a commencement, and come with your own wagons and select from whichever stock meets your approbation, both as to quality and price, and you would then make yourselves the biggest factor in the market, and the railroads and receivers would very quickly see to it that stocks were on hand for your selection. I could instance to you dozens of cities, both larger and smaller than Toronto, whose business men take some pleasure out of life, even in the fruit trade, by being able to have their supplies for the day in by 9 a.m., yea, even at 8 a.m. In Canada, Ottawa, Montreal, and even Hamilton, are not behind in this respect, to say nothing of such cities as Chicago, New York, Pittsburg and Buffalo.

Toronto is not so very differently situated that fruit of all kinds could not be bought here during the cool of the evening or nights and be on market for early sale and be the better for it. In fact, if I were to be permitted to glance into the future, I see a very bright prospect for all of us if we could centralize around that new market building and all handle their own goods on their own premises, and in nice cool warehouse rooms, convenient and handy to everyone, and where you would be able to move around and take time to make your own selections, a city ordinance in the meantime compelling all fruit and produce to be delivered at the market, and get away home to meet your morning customers, who commence their shopping, say, at 9 a.m., would be a good thing.

In this connection I would ask how is it that for 20 miles around Toronto farmers are able to and do reach the city limits by 6 a m., and that they generally find ready sale for all kinds of produce at that hour, and why the fruit and truck stuff carried by rail and water cannot reach here at the same time is beyond my conception? One fact to me is self evident. The market will be just what you gentlemen (who are the best buyers) make it, and I hope, for the benefit of all parties coneerned, you will at least make the attempt and give the receivers to understand it will be your endeavor during the coming fruit season to be early on market and, as an extra inducement to have them aid you, that you will carry your supplies home with you and purpose buying sufficient for your day's use, and that you will not be open for further supplies until the morning of the next day, my humble opinion is you will soon see them all up and doing and only too anxious to try and serve you and the fruit market over every day by 10 a.m. at the latest.

After considerable discussion on the above address, in which a number of varying opinions were expressed, the meeting adjourned.

KEEP POSTED ON YOUR BUSINESS and please don't hug yourself with the delusion that you can't be taught, or that there's nothing to learn. Such conclusions as these have often had fatal terminations—that is to say, fatal so far as your worldly interests are concerned.

Any man that has only half studied the Tea situation for the past year must readily admit that Japans are passing through a crisis, and one that they will never recover from.

Their young and relentless rival.

"SALADA" Uncolored Ceylon Green Tea is slowly but surely driving them to the edge of the precipice of public condemnation.

After a while—not long to wait—over they'll go, and be a relic of the past, like China Black Teas.

But, if you are an anxious inquirer, we have some further interesting remarks that we shall be glad to make on request.

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 13, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE past week has not been an eventful one in the wholesale grocery trade. Business is not active. It is not usual for it to be so at this time of the year; but it is fair for the season. Like many other branches of trade, the wholesale grocers are looking for a brisk business when the weather becomes more settled and favorable. Nothing particularly new has developed in the sugar trade during the past week. The demand is light, but prices are unchanged in Canada, although raw sugar is weaker in the outside markets. A fair business is being done in teas, and the market continues in a fairly satisfactory condition. Canned goods are in much the same position as a week ago, tomatoes and salmon still being the strongest features. The spice market is fairly steady, although for future shipment some lines are being quoted slightly lower in the primary markets. Coffees are still dull and rather unsettled. Tapioca is weaker in the primary market. Foreign dried fruits are meeting with a fair demand, particularly prunes and currants.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation during the week. Tomatoes are meeting with a fair demand from the retail trade at 90 to 95c., and a number of inquiries are heard from the wholesale trade whose stocks are rather on the light side as a rule. The Syndicate's price of 90c. still rules. Corn is in moderate demand. Prices are weak with the ruling quotations for standard brands 75 to 80c. Peas are getting in light supply with the wholesale trade, and prices are steady at 80 to 85c. Canned fruits are still dull. There is a fair Lenten demand for salmon and other kinds of canned fish, but it is nothing beyond the usual. Prices are fairly firm in canned salmon, although we do not look for higher prices locally, at any rate for some time. We quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15 according to quality. A good demand is being experienced for jam and marmalade.

COFFEES.

The Rio coffee market is fairly strong. In the primary market, Nos. 4 and 5 are quoted at premiums and descriptions suitable for the Canadian market are scarce and dearer. Santos coffees are being offered at relatively reasonable prices. The outlook for undescribable green coffees is real favorable owing to the weak statistical position of the world's market with its supplies for two years ahead. Locally, green coffees are only meeting with a moderate demand. We quote: Green Rio No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Cassia has experienced a sharp advance in the country of produce, advices from

See pages 39 and 40 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

Canton reporting prices very much above the parity of the New York and London markets. Pepper is a trifle easier for May shipment.

SUGAR.

Since our last, centrifugal sugars have sold in New York as low as 3⅜c., duty paid, a cargo of 15,000 bags having been sold to the Arbuckles at that figure. Within the last 10 days, therefore, there has been a total decline of ¼c. in centrifugal raw sugars. Beet sugars have declined to 6s. 6d. f.o.b. Hamburg. But at this figure prices are still too high for business on United States account, being on a parity of $3.60 for centrifugals, or, say, 22½c. per 100 lb. above the price of 96 degree test. Receipts of sugar in the United States last week were nearly 20,000 tons in excess of the meltings, the latter being 24,000 tons, and the former, 43,900 tons. Arrivals were mostly from the southern ports of Cuba, where storage facilities are insufficient to hold present stocks. In the northern ports, where the storage facilities are better, the disposition is to hold and wait for a recovery in prices before selling. The demand for refined sugar, in both Canada and the United States, is light, but it is expected that with an improvement in the roads will come an improvement in the demand. The basis of granulated, f.o.b. Montreal, is still $3 75 for Acadia and $3.80 for St. Lawrence and Redpath.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business is moderate in both syrups and molasses. The market in New Orleans is firm, with open kettle molasses in few hands, and offered but sparingly. The ruling quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

A fairly good demand is being experienced for Indian and Ceylon black teas. A cable received in Toronto this week from Colombo reports the market about ¼d. easier. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of February 28, say that at the auction with a moderate quantity of India tea brought forward the stronger tone noted the previous week was further developed, and prices tended to rather improve for teas up to about 6½d. per lb. Medium teas, although perhaps a shade firmer, continue cheap. In Ceylon teas, the improvement noticed the previous week was more pronounced, and teas up to about 6½d. were frequently ¼d. dearer.

Thrre is quite a brisk demand on the local market for the cheaper grades of Ceylon green teas, but, very few of these teas are in sight. Packers are practically only making these teas under contract. Colombo shippers are not as a rule consigning Ceylon green teas to this market.

China green teas are still in active request, but very few are to be had, and for the very few that are to be had prices are about 5c. per lb. above the average price of normal years.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

TAPIOCA—Rather easier. Japan rice for future shipment is showing rather better value. The local demand for rice and tapioca is moderate. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 4c.; tapioca, 4c. per lb.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—According to a private cable advice received in Toronto a few days ago the market in Greece was fairly steady. There is a little business being done on import account and there is a fair demand from the retailers. We quote as follows: Filiatras, 6 to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Although it was said a short time ago that stocks were exhausted in Spain, Canadian importers have been recently offered by cable fruit from Denia and in fairly good quantities, too. The market is still steady as to price. Locally, selected raisins are again getting scarce, and prices are firm at 6½ to 6¾c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS—The demand is fair, and prices steady at 8½ to 12c.

PRUNES—The demand continues active and prices firm. We quote as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's., 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50 60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES—The demand is fair. We quote: Sairs, 4¼ to 4½; Hallowees, 4½ to 5c.

FIGS—There is quite a little business going on between the wholesales in tapnet figs. The demand on retail account is fair at 3¼ to 3½ per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—There is some inquiry from the wholesale trade for peaches. The cheap peaches that are offering from the Coast show poor quality. There is a fair demand for apricots and peaches from the retail trade. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12½c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market for oranges is strong, and Californian navels will probably advance, as their crop is nearly over, a recent report stating that there were only 300 or 400 carloads in that State left for export. Californian ruby blood oranges are coming in, as also Californian celery, which is selling at $4.50 per case of eight doz. The demand for apples has improved, and prices are 50c. per bbl. higher. Tomatoes from the South are selling fairly well. Pineapples are more plentiful, and are worth $4.50 per case for large stock. We quote: Oranges, marmalade, $2.75 to $3 per case; Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Floridas $3 to $3.25 per box; Mexicans, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Californian navels, $3.50 to $3.75 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75; Valencias, $4.50 to $5.00 per small case, $5.50 to $6.00 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and 80c. to $1 for first eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2.25 to $2.50 per doz.; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.25 to $2 50, Californian celery, $4.50 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $4 50 per case of 6 baskets.

VEGETABLES.

There is a good demand for greenstuff, such as lettuce, green onions and rhubarb. The trade in other lines is moderate with prices steady. Green rhubarb has been advanced 25c. per dozen. Cabbage and celery are quiet. We now quote as follows: Green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.25 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 20c. per peck; turnips, 15c. per peck and 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 75c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The improvement in the roads and the milder weather has led to a large number of fresh eggs being received, resulting in a sort of panic among produce merchants and bringing down their prices of 23 to 25c. per dozen last week to 12 to 14c.

BEANS—Trade continues fair. Choice hand-picked beans are worth from $1.30 to $1.50 per bush.; and prime, $1.10 to $1.35.

HONEY—There is a steady demand, making prices stiff. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Evaporated apples are selling freely, and fair sales of dried are reported. We quote as follows: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—There are moderate offerings in carlots and prices still remain at 60 to 65c. per bag.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—More choice dairy prints and rolls are wanted, as they are in brisk demand. The poorer grades sell slowly. Creamery prints and solids are firm with an inclination to advance. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18½c.; large rolls, 16 to 17c.; fubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 21 to 21½c. per lb.

CHEESE—There has been a good demand for export, making the stocks of cheese on hand light. Prices locally and for export have been advanced ½c. per lb. We quote: Cheese, in small quantities, 11 to 11½c., and 10¾ to 11c. per lb. for export.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY—The arrivals are small, only consisting of a few turkeys and chickens. The prices are firm. We quote as follows: Chickens, 60 to 90c. per pair; ducks, 90c. to $1.20 per pair; geese, 8 to 9c. per lb.; turkeys, 12 to 14c.

LIVE POULTRY — Trade has improved, the receipts being freer since last week owing to the improvement in the roads. The Canadian Produce Co. Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 8c., for ducks and turkeys 10c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens, 5c. per lb. Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The important feature of the market this week is the decline in oysters of 25c. per wine gallon, owing to the opening up of the harbors around Baltimore allowing a better catch. The warmer weather is playing havoc with the market for fresh and frozen fish, and things are dull. We quote as follows: Fresh and frozen fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 6½ to 7½c.; herring, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 10 to 15c., haddock, 5c. per lb.; perch, 5c.; British Columbian salmon, fresh, 20c., frozen, 11c.; Labrador herring, $3 to $3 25 per 100-lb. bbl. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 50 to 65c. per bundle. Prepared fish — Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.; bloaters, per box of 50, $1 to $1.25; kippered herring, 50 in a box, $1 to $1.25 per box; smelts, per 15-lb. box, extras, 12c. per lb.; No. 1, 6½ to 7c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $6.25 to $6.75 per large pail, or $3.75 per small pail; selects, $4.50 to $5 per pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—This week No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat is offered at 87c. per bushel, No. 1 Northern, 83c., and No. 2 Northern, 80c., Toronto and West via North Bay. Locally, the receipts on the St. Lawrence market have been almost nil, and the only change is the advance of 1 to 2c. in oats. We now quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 77c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

BREAKFAST FOODS — The advance in oats has a tendency to stiffen the prices of oatmeal and rolled oats. Trade is commencing to improve and prices are unchanged. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4 60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.75; split peas, $4 75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196 lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The market is weak owing to the unsatisfactory condition of the skins usual at this season of the year. We quote: No. 1, green, 7c.; No. 2 green, 6c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7c.; cured, 7¾ to 8c.

SKINS—The market is dull and the prices are unchanged. We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 80c.; deerskins, 12½ to 14c. per lb.

WOOL—The wool market is in an unsatisfactory condition owing to the weak export demand. We quote: Fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

Red clover and alsike are dull, owing to the close of the export season, and the prices are weak but unchanged. We quote buying price at outside points: Red clover, $4.50 to $4.75; alsike, $7.25 to $8.25, and timothy, $2.50 to $3.25 per bush.

MARKET NOTES.

Oats have advanced 1 to 2c. per bushel.

Dressed hogs have taken another drop of 25c.

Rhubarb has advanced 25c. per dozen bunches.

Cheese has advanced ½c. per lb., and the market is firm.

Fresh eggs have come down 11c. per dozen since last week, and the market is unsettled.

Prices have again advanced in castile soap. There have been two or three advances lately.

In the fruit market trade is recovering from its quietness during the winter resulting in an advance of 25 to 50c. per box in Mexican oranges and 50c. per bbl. in apples. Californian and Messina lemons have come down 25c. per box.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, March 13, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE market in general groceries has been fairly active this week, the business in this line not being affected by the bad conditions of the roads as are such other products as butter, eggs, etc. On the whole prices have been steady throughout the week and payments are reported to be quite satisfactory. White beans are a shade lower, and now sell for $1.27½ per bushel. British manila rope and sisal are both up ½c. In foreign dried fruits there have been no quotable changes in either the primary or local markets in anything except figs. The demand from importers is very light in all lines, jobbers apparently holding good stocks, as the inquiry on retail account is active. The business in country produce might be better. The present quiet condition of things is due in a great measure to the condition of the roads.

SUGAR.

Since the decline of 5c in all sugars noted last week the market has been somewhat steadier and prices remain at our last quotations. Notwithstanding that the present prices are lower than they have been for years, there seems to have been no increase in the demand. The market is still on the quiet side. The price of granulated sugar is $3.80. No. 1 yellow sells for $3.05, and Phoenix for $3.70.

TEAS.

The local market remains inactive. Whatever movement there is is almost wholly in a distributing way. The scarcity of China green teas preserves the very firm feeling in these lines. In black China teas, however, there is little or nothing doing, and the market is easy. There has been some advance in Ceylon teas of all grades.

SYRUPS.

The inquiry for corn syrups is active this week, at current quotations. Prices have not changed since last week. We quote corn syrups: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

Barbados molasses are moving freely at steady prices. The market shows no change worth mentioning. There is a small lot of the new crop offering, but little has been brought here as the early molasses are not, as a rule, satisfactory. A very light business is being done in Antigua and Porto Rico molasses. The latter, in the very highest grades, has been in better demand dueing the past two or three weeks, but this is usually the case during Lent. Barbados, in single puncheons, is worth 27c.; Antigua, 24c.; Porto Rico (finest grades), 38c.

CANNED GOODS

The market for canned goods is, on the whole, firm. Canned salmon has been in big demand. Corn and peas are steady at our last quotations. The Syndicate price for tomatoes is still 92½ to 95c. In canned fruits there is a good business being done. We quote as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15, according to quality; corn (ordinary stock), 80c.; tomatoes, 92½ to 95c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. Salmon, $1 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

Prices on all spices are still firm, and a good demand continues. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Both these articles are in good demand in the local market. We quote in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The market is active. Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, are worth 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—These are getting more and more scarce as the season advances, and prices now are very firm. The demand keeps up. Finest off-stalk sell for 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅛c.; layers, 6⅞c.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is a good trade doing at unchanged prices. Orange peel is worth 11½c.; lemon peel, 10½c.; citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—These remain at our last quotations. There is, however, only a small inquiry. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is nothing new. The market is active. Hallowee dates sell for 4¼ to 4½c.

FIGS.—The supply of tapnet figs is almost exhausted, the small amount still left being in the hands of one firm. Tapnet figs have advanced 5c. per tapnet since our last report, and now sell for $1.20. Layers are still quoted at $1.15. There is an active inquiry.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Notwithstanding predictions of a great shortage there still seems to be enough seeded raisins to supply the demand. On the Coast the stocks have become very small, but there is very little demand. Prices are still firm. Seeded raisins are worth 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The advance in the primary markets has not effected prices here, stocks in wholesalers' hands apparently being sufficient for the demand for some time. There is a firm feeling in the market. Quotations are as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—Though the wholesale houses report a good demand on retail account, they are taking very little from the importers, stocks being still fairly heavy. The prices are the same. Apricots are worth 14½c.; peaches, 10½c.; pears, 10c.

NUTS.

The market is dull, and our quotations are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—There is a good demand for butter, with a somewhat stronger feeling on the market. Prices are firm. The price for finest creamery is 22 to 22½c. There is some inquiry for fresh-made stock, but there is little or none coming forward, and this will give the holders a chance to clean up what winter stock they may have. Creamery seconds are worth 20 to 21c., and large roll butter remains at 18 to 18½c. There is not much of the latter, however, coming forward, and prices are steadier than they would otherwise be. The output will be increasing daily now, and it is not expected that these prices can be maintained for very long.

CHEESE.—During the past week several large sales have been made on English account. As the stocks are comparatively light, the market has advanced, and those fortunate holders who have some lots are asking a higher price. At present any trade that is being done between jobbers and wholesalers is on a basis of 11 to 11¼c. for finest colored. Finest white, for export business, is quoted at 11c. The advance in colored is ½c. It is the prevailing opinion that there will be a shortage before the new goods come in.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Eggs are now down to 15 to 15½c. The deliveries have been heavy and the market declined somewhat rapidly. This was an unsatisfactory thing for country shippers, but at this season of the year, with eggs as high as at present, merchants in the country could hardly expect anything else. At the present price the consumption has shown a considerable increase, but it is apparently the opinion of the trade that lower prices yet will be reached, though the above quotations may be held to for a few days. Now that there is nothing but new-laid stock on the market, consumers can buy without fear, and this should stimulate the demand to some extent.

HONEY.—There is not much trade passing. Quotations follow: Buckwheat honey, in comb, 8 to 9c.; strained, 6½ to 7c.; white clover comb, 12c.; white extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.

ASHES.—The market for ashes continues very quiet and steady. We quote: First pots, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.95 to $4; pearls, $6.75 to $7 per 100 lb.

DRESSED POULTRY.—There is a good trade doing at firm prices. There have been advances in every line since last week. We quote: Choice unfrozen turkeys, 12½ to 13c.; frozen, 11½ to 12c.; choice chickens, 10 to 11c.; ordinary (frozen), 8 to 9c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 9 to 10c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—There is a fair trade doing. Syrup sells for 70 to 75c. per tin, imperial gallon; best sugar, 8 to 9c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The fruit market remains quiet. There is a firm feeling in Valencia oranges, and 420's have advanced 60 to 75c. per case and 714's, 50c. per case. It is predicted that they will go higher yet, in sympathy with the Liverpool markets. Several other changes in prices have occurred, to be accounted for merely by the laws of supply and demand. There are no Californian tangerines left on the market, and the Florida tangerines arriving are not in the best of quality. Low grades of Messina lemons have declined 25c. per box. No. 1 bananas are down 25 to 50c. Vineland's sweet potatoes have advanced 25c., and Florida tomatoes are 50c. to $1 per crate lower. We quote as follows: Jamaica oranges, in bbls., $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75: Florida oranges, $3.50 to $3.75; Californian "Sunflowers," $3.50 to $3.75; other marks, $3.25 to $3.50; Valencia oranges, 420's, $3.85 to $4.25; 420's, Jumbo, $4.75; 714's, $5.00; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $4.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2.00, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; Spanish onions, $1.10; sweet potatoes, Vineland's, $5.75; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.75 to $10.50; red onions, $3.50 per crate; yellow, $3.25; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12½c.; Florida tangerines, $3.75 per box; grape fruit, $4.25 to $6 per box; Florida tomatoes, $3.50 to $4.50 per crate; fine Spies, $5 to $5.50.

FISH.

Fish is, of course, moving very rapidly. A few lots of green cod have been offered to the wholesale trade this week, but the price asked them was altogether too high, being from $6.50 to $7 per barrel. At such a price there was very little business done, and the market still remains practically bare of green cod. Salt salmon has been moving well, and stocks are becoming light. Labrador herring is scarce. There have been no fried smelts offering, so that in this line there is almost nothing doing, the market being bare of them. There is a greater demand for haddock than usual, owing, no doubt, to the scarcity of other fish. There is no quotable change to note this week. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 90c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked, medium herrings, 11c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 12½ to 13½c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $5.75 per bbl.; No. 2, $4.50; large, $6.50; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $12 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6.25 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $6 per ½ bbl. and $11 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There has been no remarkable change in the position of flour in the local market. What business is being done is mainly in Manitoba brands, but there is almost no movement of Ontario flour. Quotations are as follows: Spring wheat patents, $4 to $4.20; winter wheat patents, $3.85 to $4; strong bakers', $3.80 to $3.90; straight rollers, $3.60 to $3.70.

GRAIN.—The trade in grains has been quiet during the week. There is a good demand for Manitoba wheat for export business. Oats show a decline of ½c. Corn and peas are steady at current quotations. We quote as follows: Oats, 47c. ex-store; rye, 63 to 64c. (carlots in store); peas, 79c.; seed barley, 53c.; buckwheat, 53½c., east; corn, 65 to 66c.

OATMEAL.—There is little demand for rolled oats at present. Prices are steady at $5 to $5.30, in bbls., and $2.45 to $2.47½ in bags.

FEED.—The market is active. The price of Ontario bran has gone down 50c. to $1, owing to the large deliveries. Manitoba bran is steady at $20. Shorts have gone up $1. We quote: Ontario bran, $19 to $19.50; mouille, $26.50 to $28; Manitoba bran, $20; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—The firmer feeling for Canadian baled hay for export has improved the condition of the local market. There is a better trade doing this week. We quote: No. 1 timothy, $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9.25; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., March 8, 1902.

BUSINESS continues to be fairly quiet, though somewhat improved reports are heard this week. The first cargo of Porto Rico molasses for the season arrived during the past week. The quality is good. There is some surprise regarding the stand taken by the direct steamer to Jamaica in regard to inward cargo. It seems, owing to the desire of the owners to do business in Jamaica fruit and cocoanuts, they will not bring stock for outside parties. Importers will still have to use other lines. The markets show little change, and rice is a little easier for future business. Cream of tartar is also quite easy.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt imports continue to be quite a large business and prices are held firm. Buyers should be careful to so order as to have shipment made direct from steamer, as quite a saving is effected. In fine salt very little English is received; in Canadian fine salt, the outlook is for a large season's business. In large bags this has taken the place of the English factory filled in small package. Bags in barrels take the place of the box salt, owing to the price of the latter. Quotations follow: Liverpool coarse, 50 to as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

OILS.—In burning oils the low prices continue. There are still large sales, though the season of largest demand is over. In lubricating oils, a very large business for spring is being booked. Prices are unchanged. Paint oils show a better movement, and the price is quite firm at the advance. The stock of cod oil held is light and higher prices are expected.

CANNED GOODS.—Prices in vegetables are a little firmer. This is, perhaps, more noticeable in tomatoes. These goods are being sold too close. In fruits there is improved inquiry. Strawberries are rather scarce and rather higher figures are expected. Peaches are firmer. There is quite an inquiry for two's. Gallon apples are firm. Salmon have just a fair sale. Lobsters show little improvement. Meats have more attention, but holders have failed to take advantage of the higher market. Domestic fish have a steady sale. Sardines are in good supply. Haddies are scarce.

GREEN FRUITS.—The past week has seen bananas more plentiful and cheaper than ever before at this season, the arrival of the direct Jamaica boat being the cause. Days of her arrival are likely to be so marked in future, as any ripe fruit must be sold at once. Lemons are still very low. Retail grocers are selling two dozen for 25c., but higher prices are expected. In oranges, Valencias have the trade and the stock is very nice. The market is rather higher, but the price is still low. Some Jamaicas and Californians are offered. Cranberries are very high and the sale light. Apples have but little attention. For best stock high prices are asked.

DRIED FRUITS.—There is just a fair business. Prunes are still low and show a fair sale. A car of seeded raisins, expected for some weeks, has arrived. As the market is now much higher, these goods will show a nice profit. The stock of raisins is light. Higher prices are asked all around. Currants are firmly held; the sale is for cleaned. Dates are firm at the advance. Figs are dull. The market is quite bare of peels. Nuts are unchanged. Prunes are quite high. Evaporated apples are high, but it seems they are lower than some western prices quoted.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—In butter, the market is over-supplied, much of that received being of very indifferent quality. Where the butter is nice stock, good prices are easily obtained. In eggs, the supply has been light and prices have kept high. Some western stock has been offered. Lower prices are looked for. Cheese have but a light business and no large stocks are held. Small cheese are in demand.

SUGAR.—There is a large sale., but the low prices continue. Granulated, owing to the low price and also on account of the quantity of yellow offered being of indifferent quality, has much the larger sale.

MOLASSES.—The first cargo of Porto Rico has arrived; two further cargoes are shortly expected. Prices are low and are likely to remain so, there being much competition. In Barbados, a little new has also been received, and prices are low. The sale is for Porto Rico. The first shipment is just one week earlier than last season. Last year direct shipments were received at St. Stephen, Moncton, and Fredericton. It is doubtful, considering the continued low prices and strong competition, if outside lots are imported this year.

FISH.—There is a fairly active sale. Fresh fish are quite scarce, particularly haddock. There are fair receipts of halibut, and a few Gaspereaux have been offered. In dry codfish prices are rather higher. Pollock is unchanged. Pickled fish is dull and without change. Finnan haddies are held firm, and shipments continue large. Smoked herring continue very low. Quotations are: Haddies, 6 to 6½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½ to 3c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.60 to $1.70 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $2.00 to $2.10 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.95 to $4.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, trade is dull. Prices are unchanged. Feed is very scarce. In oatmeal, business is quiet. There is some range in price, and the market seems rather easier. Oats are quite firm. In cornmeal the price is lower. There is a large sale. Beans have some inquiry, but prices are easy. Barley continues high. Blue peas are very scarce. Seed are again high this year. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.65 to $4.75; best Ontario, $4 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; oatmeal, $5.30 to $5.40; cornmeal, $3.05 to $3.10; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; handpicked beans, $1.50 to $1.60; prime, $1.40 to $1.50; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3; split peas, $4.85 to $5; barley, $4.70 to $4.75; hay, $12 to $14.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 8, 1902.

BUSINESS for the week has shown good volume, and is, in fact, steadily increasing. There have, however, been very few changes in price and little that can be termed news.

CANNED GOODS—The situation in canned goods is firm. The demand for canned fruits is more active, as the housewives' home supplies are being exhausted, and there is also a keener demand for vegetables. Tomatoes have been advanced by some of the houses here to $2.40 per case, and these houses claim the advance has not diminished their sales. On the other hand, one or two houses are clinging to the price of $2.30 to $2.35. No change of price is quoted in any other line.

SUGARS—The week shows another decline in both granulated and yellows. Granulated is now quoted at $4.75 and yellow at $4.05. The market is unsteady and unsatisfactory.

SYRUPS—The demand is light, and prices are firm at the last advance quoted. Extra bright is quoted at 3 to 3½c., and glucose at 3½ to 3⅝c.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—The demand for currants and raisins is fair and prices are firm and advancing. It is a little difficult to quote accurately, as merchants in Winnipeg thought it best to not put on the whole advance warranted by primary markets at once and are adding it gradually a half cent at a time. There is no doubt, however, that they will be obliged to advance the balance of their stocks the full amount of the outside markets, as there is not stock in Winnipeg to carry the trade through until new goods are received and purchases cannot now be made at the price present stocks were bought at. In evaporated fruits, prices have been ad vanced during the week. Choice apricots are worth 14c.; standards, 13 to 13½c.; peaches, 10½ to 11c.; pears, 10½c. Prunes are remarkably firm and run from 5½c. for the smaller to 12½c. for the larger sizes. Pitted plums are also firm at 9 to 11c., according to grade. Cooking figs have advanced sharply, and are now quoted at 5½c. in tapnets. The demand for these figs has been very good this winter, probably owing to the high price of apples. Evaporated apples are firm at 11c. and dried in good demand at 8c.

FISH—There is a fair demand for all kinds of fish, both cured and frozen, but prices are unchanged.

GREEN FRUITS—This is a slow and somewhat barren market, though some signs of improvement are visible. Lemons are showing a tendency to drop, but are not actually quoted lower. The best are still quoted at $5.25. Cranberries are off the market for the season. Oranges are in fair demand, and prices are firm at the last quotations, being $4 to $4.50, according to sizes. Apples remain at $6.50 for the best stock. These are the only lines of fruit moving at present.

BUTTER—Matters have not improved during the week. A few straggling shipments of fresh and sweet dairy have come to hand, but they have been few and far between, and were snapped up almost before they got on the market. The supply of fresh table butter has rarely been so low as at the present. As to prices, fresh made commands almost any kind of a fancy price. Demand for inferior grades is very slow.

CHEESE—The market is bare at the present time, and Winnipeg firms are negotiating for the shipment of a car from Montreal to meet present requirements of the Manitoba trade. Comment is surely unnecessary.

EGGS — Manitoba hens are evidently trying to break the record. The market at the present moment is actually glutted with fresh eggs, and the price is down to 16c. again. The shipments east, which lasted for a few days, have ceased, as the Eastern Provinces have now almost as plentiful a supply as Manitoba. The season is now so far advanced it is not likely that high prices will prevail again before next winter, unless some utterly unforseen event should occur.

VEGETABLES — Potatoes in carlots are a little firmer, being again quoted at 30c. Other lines of vegetables are in limited demand and without change of price. Practically all the celery at present on the market is from California.

FLOUR—Winnipeg millers report a larger trade than usual in Manitoba. In other years the Provincial trade outside of the city has to a great extent been in the hands of the smaller local mills. This season, however, the increase of population has been such that the large city mills have found room for a much larger quantity of their flour than usual, while all country mills have been busy. There is considerable export trade going on also, but prices are such that millers are findlng little, if any, profit in it. So far as can be ascertained, however, all mills throughout the country are running full capacity, and no heavy stocks in store are reported. Prices for the week are without change. Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $2.00; Glenora Patent, $1.85; Alberta, $1 65; Manitoba, $1.45; Imperial XXXX, $1.25; Nestor, $1.15; Lake of the Woods Milling Company Five Roses, $2.00; Red Patent, $1.85; Medora, $1.65; XXXX, $1.25; Hudson Bay Hungarian Patent, $2 00; Strong Bakers', $1 85; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $2.00; Home Rule, $1.85; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $2.00; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70; Strong Bakers', $1.60; Pansy, $1.25.

GROUND FEED—The demand is only fair, though probably slightly better than it was two weeks ago. Prices are without change for the present week. Oat chop, $26; oat and barley chop, $24 50; barley chop, $22. Oil cake in limited demand at $27 per ton.

MILL FEED—A very quiet market all week with limited export demand and a fair demand locally. Prices are without change, $14.50 for bran and $16.50 for shorts.

CEREALS—Steady but not large consumptive demand, and a very small amount of export trade has marked the week. Prices have remained firm and without change of any kind: Rolled oats, 80s, $2.40; 40s, $1.20; 20s, 6c.; granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.75; cornmeal, $1.90; split peas, $2.85; pot barley, $2.45; pearl barley, $3.65; white beans, $1.80.

KNOWN ALL OVER GREATER BRITAIN.

The enormous growth of the three factories: Boeckh's Toronto factory, Bryan's London factory and Cane's Newmarket factory, now recognized as The United Factories, has brought them into prominence all over the British possessions. This company is well known as the leading brush, broom and woodenware manufacturers of Canada. Their reputation for turning out first class goods is an enviable record, and Canadians should feel proud in knowing that they have a factory of this nature that not only competes with the world on high-grade staple goods, but gives the dealer the very widest margin of profit and offers the consumer reliable home-manufactured goods at the same price as inferior, flimsily-made foreign goods are being retailed at.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., March 10, 1902.

DURING the past week the wholesale grocery business has been in a fairly healthy condition, and has, if anything, been heavier in volume than past years. Orders for spring stocks are coming in in considerable quantities, and on account of the extremely mild season, much earlier—probably a month—than usual, the fishermen and lobstermen are fitting out, and this makes trade brisk in that particular line. The retail trade is comparatively dull, except for the usual city trade. This is accounted for by the fact of a late heavy rain which has broken up the roads and travelling—now on wheels — is heavy. The country merchants are not moving ont much goods—neither are the farmers and producers sending in a great quantity of eggs, butter, and other commodities necessary in the retail trade.

The time has now come when the farmers and speculators in hay must either sell or hold over until another season. Unless there is some very remarkable change in the season, spring will open up a month earlier than usual, and hay and feeds will not be in so great demand. Dealers are still importing Quebec hay in two and three carload lots, some of which—not of the finest quality—has been sold at auction as low as $11, and up to $11.75. Notwithstanding this holders of Nova Scotian and New Brunswick hay are firm in their demands and are holding ont for $12 to $13.50, according to quality. Another week or two may find a sudden break in these prices, with the possibility of considerable being held over. This, however, may be worked off at St. John, as there are five steamers already chartered to load hay there for South Africa. All depends on the ability of Quebec to supply this demand, as prices there seem to rule some $3 less than in the Maritime Provinces.

The trade in flour is light and prices remain firm. In fact, there has been no change to speak of for the last two months. Hungarian Patent, Manitoba, is quoted at $4.70 to $4.80; Manitoba strong bakers, $4.30 to $4.40; 75 to 90 per cent. roller patents, from $3.65 to $4. Fairly good flour may be got as low as $3.20 to $3.30. The market for rolled oats and oatmeal is weak. The former is quoted at $5.15 to $5.20, and the latter at about similar figures. Canadian cornmeal is in fair demand at $3.20 to $3.30; Halifax ground at $3.15 to $3.20. Middlings and bran have been in good demand, the former at $25.50 to $26.50, and the latter at $23 to $24.50, according to quality and quantity sold.

The sugar market remains unchanged and is weak. Prices quoted are: Granulated XXX, $4.05; Austrian, $3.95; bright yellow, $3.75; No. 1 yellow, $3.45. The regular spring demand has not commenced. The molasses market is fairly active, but heavy importations have not yet commenced. Prices quoted are: Porto Rico, 32 to 33c.; Antigua, Trinidad, Barbados, New Orleans, 30c.; St. Kitts, 27c. The Porto Rican market is still firm, with a call of 1 to 5c. over last year's prices, but wholesalers anticipate that this advance will steady down to the ordinary level one when the full quantity of product is established and importations commence.

Fresh meats are in light supply but still equal to the demand. There have been considerable quantities of held frozen stock, but these are pretty well run down and the dealers are looking for the regular winter-fattened supply to come in. Fresh-killed pork is in the market in good supply and prices are quoted at 8 to 8½c. Butter, Canadian imported, now largely stocks the markets, but fresh-made creamery is scarce with prices firm and unchanged. More country butter is commencing to come in now, and the market will, no doubt, soon show a decline in prices. Eggs still remain at 20c. wholesale, for fresh laid, which is at least 5c. over the regular season price. This is accounted for by the fact that considerable quantities have been shipped from here to Montreal and to Sydney, from both of which places there have been many inquiries during the last two or three weeks. Dealers paid an expressage of 3c. per dozen and claim to have netted 5 cents.

The fish market still remains dull. There is considerable of last season's catch still to come in, but buyers are not anxious to take up more stock as the West-Indian market still remains extremely dull. Porto Rico is, however, said to be improving. Salmon, Nos. 1, 2 and 3 are quoted at $12, $9 and $8 respectively. Mackerel, extras, Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, at $14, $12, $10 and $8 respectively. Bank cod, $2.75 to $3; Newfoundland, $3.50 to $4; Shore, $3 to $3.25; grocery, large, $3 to $3.25.

The fishermen are now fitting out for the spring fisheries and are in hopes of better luck than they have had through the winter season along the coast. The following notes, gleaned from various sources, may be of interest:—The steam trawlers Messenger and Harbinger both arrived at Yarmouth last Wednesday, but with very small fares.....Lobsters, alive, per crate, bring $25 in Boston..... During the last year 4,911,375 lb. of fresh fish passed through Canso for Canadian and United States markets.....The net fishermen at North Head, Grand Manan, are doing well this month back in herring, but can only obtain 25c. per 100 for frozen fish. The fishermen of the South Shore are preparing for the spring lobster fishing. The high price prevailing will encourage larger operations than in previous years.....The schooner J. W. Cousins, of Digby, a week ago returned from Brown's Bank and landed the largest fare of haddock ever brought to that port. The weight of fish was 86,000 lb., valued at $1,712.67, a pretty good record for two days' fishing. Only two or three small fares have arrived at Halifax during the past week of fresh fish.....The schooner Frederick W. Day arrived at Yarmouth last week and reported having seen several large schools of mackerel 80 miles southeast of Five Fathom Bank lightship. This is early in the season for mackerel.

TRAVELLERS' TAX IN P.E.I.

In the House of Commons, on Tuesday, the question of the imposition of a tax upon commercial travellers in Prince Edward Island was brought up by Mr. Kemp, who characterized the measure as illegal, and urged that the Minister of Justice should consider its constitutionality. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick replied that he had not looked into the question recently. But the Act had been allowed to go into force, and the courts were open to those who were affected by it, if they chose to apply to them. Mr. Farquharson, who was Premier of the Province when the Act passed, said it had not had the effect of keeping the commercial travellers from coming in, some 400 paying the tax every year. He entertained the opinion, judging from the sentiment of the people, that the tax was likely to remain in force. Mr. Hackett expressed the opinion that the tax was a disgrace to the Province. The people of the Island, when they entered Confederation, hoped to sell their products in the other Provinces without having a tax placed upon them. Mr. Fielding regarded Mr. Kemp's statement, that the Act was illegal, as rather strong, and, although there might be no doubt about the wisdom of the tax, there was considerable doubt about the legality, which was an open question. Good lawyers were to be found who held that it was illegal, and other equally eminent men upheld its constitutionality. He did not justify the tax, but thought the question could only be determined by the courts. Mr. Clarke inquired whether the Department of Justice had given an opinion upon the legality of the Act. Mr. Fielding replied that the Act was allowed to go into force, but its legality had not been determined.

RETAIL CLERRKS ORGANIZE.

ON Monday evening, March 10, there was a meeting of the Toronto Branch of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association in Richmond Hall and officers were elected. This is a new organization, being a branch of the Retail Clerks' International Protective Association, and has for its object the regulation of the wages paid the clerks. It belongs to the same class of societies as the tailors' and the printers' unions. The association was put on a proper basis and 30 new members were enrolled. The officers elected are as follows: President, H. Brett; vice-presidents, J. O'Leary and D. D. Jones; secretary, V. R. Fisher; treasurer, W. J. Tanner; guardian, Charles Schlemner; guide, P. McKendrick; press representative, E. Bowie.

On Thursday, March 20, they will be addressed by the President of the Association, J. K. Richardson.

THE CRANSTON Pat. Applied for 50 J.K.C., Galt Ont. TRADE DUE BILLS.

The Cranston Trade Due Bills Make a Credit Business Easy.

How Used?

The merchant who has customers to whom he has been granting credit for the fortnight or month, charging up each item, or entering in pass books, whether the amount be one cent or fifty, making out statements and making settlement when Pay Day comes, and having the ANNOYANCE OF DISPUTED ACCOUNTS, the LOSSES caused by FORGETTING TO MAKE CHARGES WHEN extremely BUSY, etc., simply issues to his customer Due Bills, cash, covering the amount such customer will probably want credit for, say $5.00, $8.00, or $10.00, etc., for fortnight or month, and charging this in one single item, and when pay day comes his customer settles this amount by cash and Due Bills on hand or by giving an attractive discount you get cash in advance, thus both are benefitted. In the meantime the Due Bills are used by the customer in buying supplies, paying for purchases same as paying cash. Merchants using them would not go back to booking accounts or pass books again.

The Markets—Value of Farm Animals in the States—Miscellaneous Notes.

VALUE OF FARM ANIMALS IN THE STATES.

AFTER an investigation of the entire field, Live Stock Interests reaches the conclusion that "the average price of every class of farm animals, except hogs, is lower than a year ago. If this condition prevailed only in those States where grain and forage crops were last year largely a failure, it might be attributed to local conditions, but such is not the case. In every State the decline is notable and more or less uniform. Part of this is, of course, due to the high price of feeding materials and forced sale of farm stock in some districts. But there is some indication at least that the upward trend of live stock values, which has been a marked feature of our animal reports for several years, is over." In number, it is estimated that hogs in the United States decreased last year from 50,740,000 to 46,612,000, while sheep increased from 41,507,000 to 41,724,000. In value, the farm stock of the United States at the opening of the two years is figured out as follows:

	1902.	1901.	Decrease.
Horses.....	$1,031,640,000	$1,044,624,000	$ 12,984,000

TORONTO.

Dressed hogs all round are 25c. per 100 lb. lower than last week, owing to a falling off in the demand. Western hogs are now worth $7.25 to $7.50 per 100 lb. and Northern $7.50 to $7.75, and the market has a downward tendency. The receipts of dressed hogs on the local market have been fair, but there are few buyers. The other lines remain about the same. We quote: Dressed hogs, $7.50 to $7.75; beef carcasses, $5.75 to $7 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $6.50 to $7.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 8½c. per lb.; lambs, 8 to 8½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, glihts, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

There is a fair demand for cured provisions, keeping the prices steady. Lard is moving moderately, and the prices are unchanged. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The provision market continues steady, with an increased demand for the Easter trade. Most of the business passing is in smoked meats, in which packers report a fairly active trade. Deliveries of dressed hogs have been light, but there is sufficient to supply the demand, as the majority of winter packers here have suspended operations for the season. Mess pork is in very light demand. Hog products are moving well, and compound lard is in good demand. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $21 to $21.50; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled goods, such as pork and beef, sales are very light. While there is no change in prices, the market seems hardly as firm. In fresh beef, while sales are large, business is not quite as active. Prices are unchanged. Receipts of round hogs continue small, but market is hardly as firm. In smoked meats, the high prices have very much affected sales. Lard continues hardly as firm, but high prices rule. We quote as follows: American clear pork, $22 to $23; domestic mess pork, $21; plate beef, Canadian, $13 50 to $14; mess pork, American, $21.50; plate beef, American, $14.50 to $15; fresh beef, 6 to 8½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8½c.; pure lard, tubs, 12½c.; pure lard, pails, 12¾c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c.; pails, 10½c.

WINNIPEG.

BUTCHERS' CATTLE—The number coming in during the week has been even smaller than that of last week, and there is no promise of early improvement. The only satisfactory point in the situation is the good condition of the range cattle being received. On the other hand, Manitoba stock is much of it unsatisfactory, owing to carelessness in letting the cattle run too much during the winter. Prices are firm, and show a tendency to further advancement; 4¾c. off the cars here has been paid for all the best grades coming this week. Inferior stock bring from 3½ to 4¼c.

SHEEP—Another week has passed without any offerings.

VEAL CALVES—None have been received from outside points, and none have so far offered. The few reaching the city are from dairy farms in the immediate vicinity, and in most cases are underfed.

HOGS—Receipts have been light for the week, probably not more than 350, all told, reaching the city, and many of these were not strictly bacon hogs. The few choice bacon hogs have brought 6¼c., but the majority have sold at 6c. and under.

BEEF—Demand is good and the supply short. Prices are firm and show a tendency to still further advance. Best city dressed 7¾, country dressed 6½ to 7c.

VEAL—A few carcasses are coming in from the neighborhood of Winnipeg. The veal is poorly fed and thin. Prices run from 7½ to 8½c.

MUTTON—Ontario frozen the only mutton offering. Demand is light. Prices are unchanged, being 7c. for sheep and 8 for lambs.

DRESSED HOGS—Offerings have been small all week. Prices are unchanged at 7½c.

POULTRY—Offerings of fresh killed show a slight increase, but the quality is poor.

CURED MEATS—Market is firm, with a fair demand and no change of prices. Hams, sugar-cured and smoked, 13¾c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8½c.; breakfast bellies, 14c.; backs, 13½c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 12c.; backs, 12c.

LARD—There has been a sharp advance in lard and the demand is active. Lard in tierces is now quoted at 12¼c.; 50 lb. pails, $6.25; 20-lb. pails, $2.60; American ditto, $2.65; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.80; 5-lb. tins in cases, $7.90; 3-lb. tins in cases, $7.95.

EXTENSIVE COLD-STORAGE SYSTEM.

An extensive cold-storage system is being installed by Alex. Manning in the premises on Front and Colborne streets, Toronto, occupied by D. Gunn, Brothers & Co.; The Wm. Ryan Co., Limited ; Fox Bros.; J. A. McLean ; Rutherford, Marshall & Co.; White & Co. and James E. Baillie. The British-Linde system has been adopted. With a capacity of 80 tons, the plant will be duplicate throughout. There will be two 125-horse-power boilers, two 75-horse-power engines, two brine pumps, two brine coolers and two section automatic condensers.

All the piping will be arranged in sections, thus enabling the tenant to have control of the temperature of his own rooms. The engineer will be able to control the temperature of the brine coolers only. The ammonia for the condensers will not be carried beyond the engine-room. The brine will be made with chloride of calcium. There will be a separate boiler and engine room, and all parts of the system will be so arranged that, in case of a breakdown, the part disabled can be shut off and the auxiliary section used.

The plant will be placed in the Colborne street section, and the refrigerating power will be carried across the lane to supply all the buildings in the Front street part.

The new buildings will be quite extensive. There will be four-storey additions to the rear of 75, 77 and 79 Colborne street and a two-storey addition to the rear of 73 Colborne street. In front of 75, 77 and 79 Colborne street a one storey addition is to be built, and one of three storeys added to 76 Front street. There will also be other alterations to 62 and 70 Front street.

The cost of this plant will be between $40,000 and $50,000, and it is expected to have part of it in running order by May 15. In preparing plans for this system, Mr. Manning has gone to much expense, and Mr. J. A. Harvey, the architect, has been on a trip to Montreal, Chicago and other centres investigating the systems in use in those places. The power and other necessaries will be supplied to the tenants at cost, and everything will be thoroughly up to date and complete.

EATING WITH THE EYES.

The appearance of the retail market has more to do with trade, and consequently success, than many butchers seem to appreciate. It is one thing to keep on hand and sell good meats, and another thing to impress the fact that the meats are really good upon the customers by their appearance. Just, for example, take a choice joint and throw it promiscuously with a lot of trimmings, bones and fat, partly concealing the joint. Dig this out when a customer asks you for a good piece of meat, just the thing that might sell that particular piece, and present it to madam. Notice and observe the frown and the refusal to accept it. Then take from the white marble, where the meats are in orderly, neat and trim condition, a similar joint and present that for approval. The latter will be chosen every time, even though it may be that the meat selected is really not so good as the covered joint. Many people, as the saying is, "eat with their eyes," and this fact, if it may be so called, should be constantly remembered.

Appearances count for a great deal, more so in the line of food than in any other.

Have a system of order and neatness applied to the whole shop, from floor to ceiling, and the increase in trade will fully repay for little extra exertion and expense it may call for. It is not necessary to make good meat look poor, but to make it, in a measure, speak for itself. While, naturally, few butchers keep poor meat, such slack methods and untidy appearance cause it to look far worse than it really is.

There are many points about the retail shop which, small in themselves, mean to those who are not used to slackness, a great deal. Keep yourself, your clerks and your establishment in good order, and the customers can then relish "eating with their eyes."—National Provisioner.

PICKLED BEEF.

What is the process of pickling beef? I am one of your old readers, and will feel favored by a prompt reply.

To one gallon of water take a pound and a half of salt, half a pound of sugar, half an ounce each of saltpetre and potash; boil together until all the scum rises and is skimmed off. Pour into a tub to cool, and when cold pour over the beef, which must be well covered with pickle, and should not be put down for at least two days after killing, during which time it should be slightly sprinkled with saltpetre, which removes the surface blood, and may be wiped off, leaving the meat dry and clean.—Butchers' Advocate.

DAILY RECORD OF PROFITS.

At a recent meeting of merchants the question was asked: "How can you tell how much you make each day as a merchant?"

One of those present in reply said that he keeps a cash book and puts down every sale, at the same time putting down the cost in another column. At night the difference between the two columns shows the profit.

TEA BLENDING.

THE following, which may be of interest to our readers, is from Chambers' Journal:

Tea blending is a process that affords great benefit to purchasers, as it enables them to purchase teas which are superior in strength and flavor in preference to a plain, unmixed tea which would cost quite as much. This is effected by using strong Indian teas and the flavory and less pungent teas of Ceylon, and occasionally those of China and Java, which are principally used for cheapening purposes.

It is also ordinarily of material benefit to the ordinary retail trader, as it obviates the necessity of separate purchases of those varieties which would be used in a blend, and in outlying country districts it is often difficult for a retailer to buy all that he requires, for there are times when the market is rather bare of certain qualities. If, however, he is in the habit of buying blended teas from a wholesale house of good standing, he may rely on almost absolute uniformity of quality and flavor. Nothing damages a tea trade more than changing the flavor of the tea sold, even when better qualities are substituted, as people get used to the tea sold by a particular trader, and their palates recognize and prefer it to any other.

Before the retailer could readily purchase blended teas his outlay was considerable, for he had to buy stocks and to pay duty, so that he often held a stock of teas which took him many months to sell and locked up his capital, but at the present time he can satisfy requirements by making weekly purchases of blended teas from a wholesale firm. By this means, both the average tea retailer and the public benefit, as a rule, the trader by economizing capital and the purchaser by the chance that he will obtain better teas. The teas blended by the wholesale house are kept with extreme care in a dry warehouse, so that they come to the consumer in the best possible condition, whereas the retailer often had to stock his tea in damp rooms and in warehouses where spices and such articles as sugar and other groceries were kept, and contact with these was often calculated to damage the quality of the tea very materially, as tea, being highly roasted, readily absorbs the flavor of articles stored in its vicinity. Consequently, within the last 10 years, the trade in blended tea has much developed, and, although some of the country dealers, from a feeling which, in the majority of cases, seems somewhat akin to false pride, prefer to blend their own teas, the purchase of blended teas by the retailer from a wholesale house is generally acknowledged to be advantageous to all parties.

NOVA SCOTIA TOURIST ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Nova Scotia Tourist Association was held at the Board of Trade Rooms, Halifax, last week, when the following executive was elected: G. S. Campbell, G. E. Faulkner, I. C. Stewart, F. G. J. Comeau, F. S. West, H. L. Chipman, W. E. Hebb, C. R. Hoben, W. E. Thompson, Ald. MacIlreith, Alex. McNeil, LL B., A. F. Macdonald, W. R. McCurdy, T. J. Egan, J. W. Vidito, F. P. Hayden, J. Frank Colwell.

The annual report reviewed the history of the Association since its formation in 1898, and then went on to describe last year's work. They had distributed 20,000 copies of their booklet in 1901, and every Monday morning had issued a small leaflet entitled, "What is going on in Halifax." The report dealt with the methods of advertising Halifax at the Pan-American Exposition, the organization of various other associations throughout the Province, the establishment of the Bureau of Information and the Lodging Bureau at Halifax, the illustrated lectures about that city, and the visit of the Canadian Press Association.

The financial report of the Association showed a balance of $169.97 in the treasury.

THE FORT WILLIAM ELEVATORS.

The elevator capacity of the Canadian Pacific Railway at Fort William, Ont., will be increased from 5,500,000 bushels to 8,000,000 or 9,000,000. These proposed extensions involve an expenditure of nearly $1,000,000. The alterations will comprise the doubling of the large 1,500,000-bushel elevator built by The Weber Company, provisions for which were made at the time it was erected, and the construction of a 2,000,000-bushel elevator between the two existing wooden ones. The steelwork of these will be built within a year.

Mr. Weber, of The Weber Elevator Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and his two engineers, Messrs. Nephers and Wait, are at present in Montreal conferring with the general manager of the C.P.R. and Mr. Vautlet, chief engineer.

JAS. B. CAMPBELL. WILLIAM PRATT.

TWO WEST-INDIAN LETTERS.

MR. ROBERT MUNRO, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and Assistant-Secretary Stewart, who are on a trip to the West Indies to see what sort of opening there is there for Canadian trade, have written home two interesting letters on their observations.

They write their first letter from Bermuda. That colony has been enjoying general prosperity, and its imports are about $2,000,000 annually. Of this trade in 1900, $520,000 went to Great Britain, $1,250,000 to the United States and $155,000 to Canada. In the figures for 1901, which are about the same, the Dominion had the best of it in box material, sending 274,425 ft., as to 11,700 ft. from the United States. Of butter, the United States has the largest share of the trade, exporting to those islands 124 tons, as compared with 38 tons from Canada. The Bermudas import 51 tons of United States cheese and 30 tons of the Canadian product.

In flour the imports were 2,682 barrels from Canada, and 26,648 from the Republic. Canada has about half of their cattle feed imports, but her share of the canned goods trade is very small. The lumber trade of that colony with the United States in 1901 amounted to 2,813 663 feet, as compared with 464,970 feet with the Dominion. Importers desire to be placed in communication with Canadian mills for doors, sashes and building material. The best way to work up trade would be to have a resident general agent of ability, who might be paid by commission.

Mr. Stewart wrote the second letter from the Island of St. Lucia, where the condition of affairs are about the same.

The figures for 1901 include the following: Bacon and hams, United States, 23,480 lb.; Great Britain, 3,938 lb.; Canada, 429 lb. Beef and pork, salted, United States, 294 000 lbs.; Great Britain, 204 lb.; Canada, 411 lb. Biscuits, Great Britain, 11,784 lbs.; United States, 11,456 lb.; Canada, nil. Butter, United States, 4,112 lb.; Great Britain, 4 716 lb.; France, 6,000 lb.; Canada, 18,035 lb. Cheese, United States, 17,000 lb.; Great Britain, 382 lb.; Canada, 11,000 lbs. Flour, United States, 17,139 barrels; Canada, 92 barrels. Lumber, United States, 1,399,000 ft.; Canada, 64,000 ft.

It is pointed out that much could be done by Canada with a little effort to greatly increase trade in these lines, for these islands are anxious to trade with Great Britain and their sister colonies.

The quality of the cheese from Canada has not been always as good as it might be, although there has been a considerable increase in the quantity shipped. Up till now butter has usually been sent in tightly sealed tins, but one Canadian manufacturer is experimenting with the butter put up in glass fruit jars.

THE HERRING FISHERY.

There have been, to date, 13 American vessels at Woody and Sound Is., P.B., for frozen herring. Of that number, five have left loaded, and several others could remain no longer, so departed with part cargoes. Netmen have shared as high as $70 each. Some of the seine crews did remarkably well, making as much as $170 per man. There were fewer fishermen engaged this season than for many years past, and on that account those who had nets were very successful. Some of the old fishermen are of opinion that the use of purse seines should be permitted. If such were in use this year, every vessel that wanted herring could load, as there were never so many fish seen in the bay before. There is also a strong feeling among those engaged in this industry that traps might, without endangering the fishery, be used. It would be in no way disastrous to the supply of herring, as, when trapped, they need not be taken from the water except as required, and in small quantities to suit all. This would also, these people contend, give them a supply of bait in the spring when most needed for codfishery. One man forcibly puts it that the herring are sent in the bay by Providence. The Americans come with their gold, but the fishermen are prevented from securing either fish or gold when sent to their doors. They purpose petitioning their representatives in the matter of herring traps at an early date.—Herald, St. John's, Nfld., February 28.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS.

In the House of Commons on Thursday, Dr. Sproule was told by Mr. Paterson that during the year 1901 the number of bushels of grain or other seeds shipped from various ports was:

	Bushels.
Depot Harbor	17,524
Midland	7,840,546
Collingwood	222,000
Meaford	1,447,222
Owen Sound	1,576 527
Sarnia	5,624,520
Goderich	2,665,420

During the same year 143,262 barrels of flour were shipped from Depot Harbor, 13,963 barrels from Owen Sound, and 297,669 barrels from Sarnia.

RICE CROP IN THE STATES.

The coming rice crop, it is estimated, will amount to about 3,000,000 sacks in Louisiana and Texas. Texas next year will more than double her acreage and planters say should raise fully 2,000,000 sacks. Louisiana will also increase her acreage to some extent, the most of which will be along the river, as rice irrigated from the Mississippi is of a much finer quality than that grown in the south-western part of Louisiana and Texas.

At present there are about thirty-five mills in operation in Louisiana, and there will be about twenty new mills erected in Louisiana and Texas, the majority of which will be in Texas, for the milling of the coming crop. There are eleven mills in the city of New Orleans alone.

THE PULP INDUSTRY IN CANADA.

A Paper Read by Mr. D. Lorne McGibbon, Manager of the Laurentide Pulp Co., Before the Canadian Forestry Association.

AS you are all probably aware, pulp, whilst being a manufactured article from pulp wood, is still only a basis of raw material for the manufacture of paper. The two principal grades of pulp in use to-day are mechanical or ground wood pulp, and chemical or sulphite pulp. Mechanical or ground wood pulp is almost explained by its name, as the process of manufacture is very simple, consisting principally of grinding wood into pulp. Chemical or sulphite pulp is a much more intricate process of manufacture, and consists in treating the wood by chemical process, and thus separating the fibres of the wood by the extraction of resinous material. In the manufacture of paper 70 to 75 per cent. of the pulp used is mechanical, and the balance, 25 to 30 per cent., is chemical. Paper made altogether from mechanical pulp would not be satisfactory for newspaper or any of the finer grades, as the fibres of the pulp are too short to give the paper sufficient strength, so that it is necessary to use a proportion of sulphite pulp, which, by its process of manufacture, retains the long fibres of the wood, and thus gives the strength to the paper.

THE FIRST CONSIDERATION.

The first consideration, therefore, to the manufacturer of pulp is his raw material and power. An enormous quantity of water-power, on account of its cheapness, is necessary for the manufacture of mechanical pulp, and, therefore, it is usual for a pulp manufacturer to locate his mill at a point where there is good water-power and where his source of supply of pulp wood is close at hand. A pulp manufacturer, having his water-power assured and his source of supply of pulp wood for his raw material located, then figures on the quantity of raw material he will require for a season's operations. For the manufacture of a ton of mechanical pulp it takes a trifle over a cord of spruce wood. If, therefore, the pulp manufacturer has a capacity of so many tons of each kind of pulp per day, it is very easy for him to figure the exact amount of pulp wood he will require for the operation of his mills for a year. If he should have his own limits, his first step in procuring his pulp wood is to know exactly what his limits consist of and the amount of available spruce logs that are contained in same. As the Government regulate the size of a tree to be cut, he must, therefore, only figure on cutting trees in accordance with these regulations. In the case of The Laurentide Pulp Co., owning such a large area of timber limits, we have found it more practicable to divide these limits into three districts, having a superintendent over each district. We have also found it much more practicable for each of these superintendents, by giving his whole time and attention to his district, to become thoroughly acquainted with all rivers, streams and lakes in same, and where the best points are to procure logs to advantage, rather than have one or two men for the entire limits, which, by their large area, would only permit them, to say the least, to have a superficial knowledge of it all.

CONTRACT SYSTEM BAD.

Having, then, determined the quantity of pulp wood to get out in a season, and having your limits divided into districts, with a man thoroughly familiar with the conditions of each district, you determine the quantity you will get from each district. As a pulp manufacturer wants to insure a uniform cost of his raw material for years, it is, therefore, bad policy for him to attempt to pick out the easiest spots to get pulp wood one year, and leave the hardest and more expensive places for a following year. Under the circumstances it is necessary for him to average this up, taking some of the expensive wood each year, so as not to leave it all for future operations. It is the policy of most pulp manufacturers to procure their pulp wood, or, at least, a large portion of it, by letting contracts to jobbers or contractors. This to my mind is a very cheap way to procure pulp wood, but from my experience the results of this method are but temporary. It has been the practice in the past to allot a certain territory to a contractor, and give him a contract for a certain number of logs. As far as I can learn, the territory allotted to a jobber in the past has been much too large for the quantity of logs that his contract calls for. As a natural consequence this jobber, who has only one aim, viz.: to make money out of his contract, picks out the easiest spots in his territory, and no matter whether there are some large fine spruce logs in his territory that should be cut, but which would cost him a trifle more to get out, he will leave these standing. The following year, therefore, when a contract is let in the same territory a higher price is demanded, owing to the timber being scattered and only the hard places left to lumber in, and it usually ends up with the result that no contractor will go into this territory except at an exorbitant price, and it, therefore, falls to the lot of the pulp manufacturer to establish his own camps, and get out the remaining available logs at a very high cost.

CHEAPER IN THE END.

This point I wish to emphasize more particularly, and that is, when a contract is let for a certain quantity of logs the area of territory should be limited, and so thoroughly explored that it can be cleared systematically of the logs that should be cut. As contractors for logs are more or less of moderate means, and who, if a bad season sets in and a possible loss in fulfilling their contract stares them in the face, either fall far short of their contract or abandon it, it is, therefore, necessary for a pulp manufacturer, in order to be safe regarding his raw material, to establish some of his own camps which will get the logs out no matter what the set-backs are. It has been amply demonstrated that a camp, or camps, operated by a company cannot get logs out as cheaply as a jobber or contractor, at least in the Province of Quebec, where the timber is scattered and the country very mountainous, but the result obtained by operating camps direct are in the long run very much more beneficial than from contractors. The Laurentide Pulp Company, as mentioned before, having such a large territory, and who require such an enormous quantity of pulp wood for the operation of their mills, have found it advisable to employ two inspectors, one for the jobbers or contractors and the other for its own camps. It is the duty of the former inspector to inspect regularly and frequently all jobbers' camps, and to see that these jobbers do not waste the timber nor break the Government regulations. He also sees that all logs are stamped and properly culled, and when he finds anything out of the way, he reports it direct to the management of the company. The inspector of the camps acts in a similar capacity, but reports on the general conditions of the camps in addition to the above.

ANOTHER BAD FEATURE.

Another bad feature of giving contracts to jobbers for logs is that it is usual to give a contract for a certain quantity of logs to be of a uniform length. Suppose, for example, that a contract has been let for 50,000 spruce logs 13 ft. in length, 7 in. at the small end and up. A contractor, if he cuts down a tree, will only make from this tree logs of 13 ft. in length, and I have found from personal experience that a large proportion of these trees would permit of another log being cut from 8 to 10 ft. in length, and still not be under 7 in. in diameter at the small end. This part of the tree is just as good for making pulp as anything else, but, as you know, the cost of handling and driving a small log is almost as great as that of a large log, and, if a manufacturer only considers his immediate circumstances and his immediate cost of raw material, he will not bother with these ends of a tree, but, if he considers the fact that his raw material is worth money, and that by leaving these ends of the trees in the woods he is simply throwing away a part of his assets, and in addition to this is enhancing the danger of forest fires, he will, even at a slight extra cost, have them taken to his mills with the larger logs. In the case of a company operating its own camps, this should be done in any case. In the case of the logs being cut for export to the United States, these ends of trees are not considered of any value.

HANDLING OF LOGS

The next step in the cost of raw material is the handling and driving of these logs to the pulp mills, and this is a point I wish to emphasize very particularly. The cost of pulp is determined largely by the quantity produced, as the fixed charges of a pulp manufacturing concern are almost the same, whether a large or smaller quantity of pulp is manufactured. It, therefore, is apparent that a large pulp mill has an advantage over a smaller one, and this refers more particularly to the cost of handling and driving the logs to the mill. As you are all no doubt aware, it costs very little more to drive a larger quantity of logs than a smaller quantity, and therefore if a pulp manufacturer has a larger quantity of logs to handle, it pays him to make permanent improvements on his streams, lakes and rivers, so as to lessen the cost of driving operations as well as to insure the safety of the logs.

The cost of manufacturing pulp is determined largely by the cost of the raw material, viz., pulp wood, and it is natural therefore for a pulp manufacturer to endeavor to obtain his supply of raw material at the very lowest possible cost. In doing this, however, it seems to me that in the past, at least, it was being done at the expense of his prime asset, viz., his pulp wood limits, and he will find that each year his cost will grow greater; whereas, by systematically getting a proportion of expensive wood each year with the cheap wood, and eliminating all source of wastefulness in the cutting of logs, and by making improvements so as to lessen the expense of driving operations, he will, in the long run, make more money and be better off than the manufacturer who simply looks one year ahead.

The raw material, or pulp wood logs, having arrived at the booms in front of the mills, their conversion into pulp is an entirely different business from the logging operations. I do not intend to go into the details of manufacturing pulp wood into pulp, except to say that so far as the pulp wood is concerned, it should be as carefully watched as coal or any article that costs money. I fear, however, that a great deal of waste is incurred in preparing the pulp wood for manufacturing. In the case of the Laurentide Pulp Company, we allow nothing to go to waste, and even if a block of wood should come along with a certain amount of rot in it, instead, as is the usual custom of using it for firewood, the rot or imperfections in the wood are extracted, and the balance used for manufacturing pulp. In Canada there are more mills manufacturing mechanical pulp than anything else, and as this is a comparatively easy matter, and requiring less capital, it is bound to grow considerably. The manufacture of chemical pulp is very much more intricate, entailing more expert labor, and therefore has not grown to the extent of mechanical pulp mills.

EXPORT OF PULP WOOD.

As stated previously, the manufacture of pulp is only a step in the manufacture of paper, and the object of my paper is more for the purpose of showing what Canada is losing by not manufacturing this pulp into the finished product of paper than anything else. As an example of what this means to Canada, we will commence with a cord of wood. We will say, for convenience sake, that a cord of wood is worth $3.50. When this is exported out of the country all the benefit Canada derives from it is the amount of labor expended in cutting this cord of wood, and the stumpage, if any, which is paid the Government.

By converting this cord of wood into mechanical or ground wood pulp, it means an expenditure in Canada of at least $7.00 per cord, for both labor and material, and all of which can be obtained and produced by Canada. By converting a cord of wood into chemical or sulphite pulp it means that an expenditure of at least $15.00 per cord is made for both material and labor. All of this, with the exception of the sulphur, which has to be imported from Sicily, can be produced in Canada. In the conversion of these pulps into paper, it means that a cord of wood, originally costing $3.50, is manufactured into a finished product worth about $40.00 per cord, all of which is for material and labor, the most of which could be produced and manufactured in Canada if the business were sufficiently large. At the present time there are over 1,000,000 cords of pulpwood exported to the United States annually, worth, we will say, for convenience sake, $3,500,000 to $4,000,000. If this quantity of 1,000,000 cords of pulpwood was converted into pulp and then into paper in Canada, it would mean that an expenditure for labor and material in Canada would take place of over $30,000,000 annually. For the manufacture of this large quantity of pulp and paper it would require, however, several times this amount for permanent investments in the limits, water power, mills and machinery, and this in itself would mean a huge thing for Canada.

HOW TO ACCOMPLISH IT.

It therefore seems to me that the principal question before the Dominion and Provincial Governments is, first, how to accomplish the manufacture of this large quantity of paper in Canada, and, secondly, how to dispose of it after it is manufactured. At the present time the United States exacts a duty of $6.67 per ton for mechanical or ground wood pulp and $3.33 per ton for chemical or sulphite pulp, and have a duty on news paper that is prohibitive. The effect of this policy is apparent on the surface, as it provides the manufacturers in the United States with their raw material in a partly-manufactured state at a low cost, and prohibits the competition of foreign paper. In addition to this, Canada seems to be the ally and friend of the United States manufacturers, as she allows them to come to Canada and procure their raw material, in the shape of pulp wood, with little, if any, charge, and the United States Government allows it to enter into the United States free of any duty. The effect of this policy on Canadian manufacturers is, to say the least, very unfair. The Canadian manufacturer of both kinds of pulp has to compete with the American manufacturer of both kinds of pulp at a disadvantage by the amount of duty imposed by the United States Government on the pulp. This competition at certain times has been ruinous to the Canadian manufacturer. As an example, during the summer of 1901, the paper market was very dull, and, as a consequence, the amount of pulp consumed by paper manufacturers diminished considerably. The overproduction of pulp in Canada and the United States was very large, and the prices dropped until they reached a point where a loss was incurred. The overproduction was caused absolutely by the American pulp mills that procured their supply of pulp wood from Canada, and, as a consequence, owing to the protective duty the United States pulp manufacturers had, the Canadian pulp manufacturers were obliged to curtail their manufacturing operations until such time as prices reasserted themselves. This state of affairs would not have happened had not Canada allowed her pulp wood to go out of the country for a mere song. As I mentioned before, the over-production of pulp was caused by the pulp manufacturers in the United States, who procured their supply of wood in Canada. If these mills had been out of the market it would not have been necessary for Canadian manufacturers to have curtailed their operations last summer. It is true people say Canada has the world for its markets in pulp and paper, but I am afraid too many people hazard this opinion without giving it the consideration it demands. In England, where our principal market at present for both pulp and paper lies, we have the serious competition of Norway and Sweden, and it is no mean competition. Whilst I do not believe that either Norway or Sweden has as good wood for manufactnring pulp or paper as Canada has, still they have many advantages that we have not, and, as a consequence, they are able to sell their pulp and paper in England at a very low cost, and which Canada is obliged to meet in order to procure business.

SOME FURTHER DIFFICULTIES.

It certainly seems absurd that Canada should allow her pulp wood to be exported from the country for a very slight charge, and that the American manufacturers, who use this wood, do not have any competition in the finished product, paper, from Canada to the United States—but when Canada exports her paper to England or any other foreign country, she not only has to compete against paper and pulp manufactured in Norway and Sweden, but also comes into competition with paper and pulp manufactured in the United States from Canadian wood obtained from Canada almost for nothing. In addition to all this, the Canadian manufacturer to day labors under great difficulties. He has to import from the United States the greater portion of his machinery and the clothing of his paper machines—consisting of felts and wires—which amount to many thousand dollars a year; he has to use coal that is protected by the Canadian Government to the extent of 60c! per ton; he has to import his china clay from England, and the best grindstones also from the same place; he has to bring his sulphur from Sicily, and his chemicals from various countries of the world; he has to employ his expert labor from the United States, and which is controlled by a union which curtails his production, and which union while enforcing this rigidly on Canadian manufacturers, makes exceptions in the United States. We are also handicapped in our export trade during the winter months by the long haul to our winter ports.

WOULD COME TO CANADA.

To sum up the whole matter, it appears very much as if the Canadian Government did not want to increase the manufacture of pulp and paper in Canada, but rather would prefer to supply American manufacturers with their raw material, and be satisfied with a small revenue derived from the same. In conversation with a capitalist in New York two or three weeks ago, and who is largely interested in Canadian timber limits, I used the argument that if Canada prohibited the exportation of pulp wood until such time as the American Government abolished or diminished its duty on pulp and paper, the American manufacturers would in a very short while remove their mills to Canada. This gentlemen, after arguing this point for a long time, said:

"I believe that what you say is correct, but I cannot understand why you, representing a large manufacturing concern should wish to make this fact prominent, as it would only invite competition for the company you represent." My answer to this was, that we would prefer all the competition that would take place, and having the United States market open so us, rather than have less competition and our present markets. In conversation with another United States manufacturer within the last few days, he made the same statement, and from my own personal knowledge I feel quite certain that it would not be long before a certain proportion of the United States manufacturers would be obliged to remove their mills to Canada if they wished to compete with Canadian manufacturers when the United States market was open to them.

It is true that the United States is not wholly dependent upon Canada for its supply of pulp wood, as is evident from ex Governor Powers' remarks at the Paper Trade banquet in New York two or three weeks ago. Ex-Governor Powers made the statement that in Maine alone they had 12,000 square miles of territory, containing 500,000,000 ft. of spruce, and which, in his judgment, if properly handled, would be an inexhaustible supply for American paper manufacturers. I do not agree with ex-Governor Powers in this statement, as 500,000,000 ft. of spruce is a mere bagatelle to United States manufacturers of pulp and paper.

FREE TRADE IN PAPER.

In addition to this, the Canadian Government saw fit, a short time ago, to reduce the duty on news paper entering into Canada. The Canadian market is so small that this only interferes with the smaller mills, who are dependent on the Canadian trade for their existence, but it certainly seems unfair that the Canadian Government should do this, as it will enable the United States paper mills, when their production is greater than the demand, to dump their surplus in Canada. As long as the United States have a prohibitive duty on paper, Canada should do the same, but an abolishment of both would be the best.

I ask you also, why is it that American capitalists have to-day invested in Canadian timber limits and Canadian water powers without developing the powers and cutting the limits? Why is it, I say, but to prepare for the time when Canada will come to her senses, and they will be obliged to manufacture in Canada, or otherwise get out of business. These men are not short-sighted, and although they did procure a promise from the Quebec Government that no extra stumpage over and above 25c. per cord would be charged by them for the next ten years, they still feel that it is necessary to look still further ahead than this. I ask you also why is it that the Quebec Government a short while ago raised the stumpage on pulpwood cut from Crown timber limits for export into the United States to $1.90 a cord, thus giving a preference to the Canadian manufacturer of $1.50 per cord, without any advance notice of what their intentions were? Why is it that they reduced this to 65c. per cord, thus reducing the preference in favor of Canadian manufacturers to 25c. per cord? Would it not be better for the Quebec Government, instead of selling its timber limits with a guarantee of this kind, to assist in building up Canadian manufacturers of pulp and paper, and which would necessitate their purchasing further timber limits from the Quebec Government, and in the development of these, the stumpage to the Quebec Government would increase, and be a regular source of revenue, rather than to continue its present policy?

THE GRAND MERE CONCERN.

The Laurentide Pulp Co. to-day manufacture about 100 tons of paper and cardboard per day, 125 tons of ground wood pulp per day, 70 tons of sulphite pulp per day, and cut 10,000,000 or 15,000,000 feet of pine lumber each year. To do this, it has required an investment of nearly $4,000,000, the annual payment in wages of about $1,000,000, and, as a result of this, the town of Grand Mere, wholly and absolutely dependent upon the Laurentide Pulp Co., has sprung into existence, and to-day has a population close on to 5,000. In addition to this, the viliages adjacent to Grand Mere have all grown, and the rural population in the vicinity of Grand Mere is thriving and doing well. Canada could have 20 such mills as these in a short time if she would come to her senses and adopt the proper policy. Would it not be better for Canadians to have a permenent advancement of this kind, even though it did take a few years to obtain?

THE CANADIAN FARMER.

Possibly the question might arise as to the Canadian farmers who dispose of their pulp wood at the present time. These farmers would have a better market with just as good prices as they have at present, if their purchasers were Canadian manufacturers instead of American manufacturers. Whilst on this subject I might make mention of the fact that the so-called farmers of Canada who dispose of their pulp wood to American manufacturers do not deserve all the sympathy and support that one would think. In our own district, I know several instances where these men obtained lots from the Government presumably for settling purposes, but who, when the timber was cleared off, obtained another lot in somebody else's name. These men are doing more to damage Canadian forestry than any one else, and it is the duty of the present Government to give this special attention and see that it is stopped as soon as possible.

Canada has an opportunity to-day to show her wisdom and her foresight. If the Government would take up this question as seriously and as vigorously as the Department of Public Works has taken up the question of river and harbor improvements, we might hope in the near future to see the paper industry of the world centred in Canada. At present Canada is floundering in the dark, and her wideawake competitors are taking advantage of this. Nothing in this world is gained without a struggle, and a struggle cannot take place unless the parties are determined. Canada should be determined to get the most out of her timber assets, and should not fear to take a decided step in this connection. The trouble is that Canadian politicians do not study the question sufficiently, and are too easily swayed by outside influence. I do not say that it would be a wise thing for Canada to always have an export duty on her pulp wood, but I do say that there should be a sufficiently high export duty on pulp wood so as to make it practically prohibitive until such time as the United States Government open their market for the finished product to Canadian manufacturers. This is only fair and just, and I cannot see why any hesitation should take place in adopting it. Canada has an opportunity now which should be taken advantage of. If she does not do so quickly, it simply means that she is not only losing an opportunity, but is losing time that cannot be recalled.

CANNING FACTORY AT NAPANEE.

A movement is on foot to establish a canning factory at Napanee, Ont. Mr. Miller, who has a factory at Port Hope at present, is offering to remove his establishment from its present location to Napanee, providing his terms are accepted. The cannery complete, including machinery, etc., would cost about $40,000, of which the projector offers to subscribe $21,000; the balance is to be subscribed by leading business men and others interested. On the work of construction being completed, Mr. Miller would require a loan of $5,000 or $10,000, which he will pay back in 10 equal annual instalments without interest, the loan to come from the town or surrounding municipalities. Besides fruit and vegetables; poultry, pork and beans would be canned.

Subscription lists have been opened, and already many influential citizens have subscribed stock, and little difficulty in raising the necessary amount is expected.

EXPORT OF SICILIAN LEMONS.

United States Consul Heingartner writes from Catania, February 15, 1902, as follows: "It is estimated that about 700,000 boxes of the winter crop of lemons remain for export. The quality of the fruit is considered good. Prices, however, are very low, varying from 3.50 lire (65c.) to 5.50 lire ($1.02) a box. A shipment of 300 boxes to the United States was made from this port a few days ago, the first within a year. The freight was 30.4c. a box."

THE LICENSING OF PEDLARS.

THE question whether or not pedlars should be granted licenses was the chief subject for discussion at the regular meeting of the grocers' section of the Toronto branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada at their regular meeting, on Wednesday night, March 12, at their headquarters in the Medical Building on Bay street. J. W. Nettleton was in the chair.

That the merchant who paid rent and taxes should not be subjected to competition with the pedlar was the general opinion of those present. The latter usually pays neither license nor taxes, and sometimes is a serious competitor with the merchant who usually contributes the bulk of the taxes.

A distinction, also, it was considered, should be made between the resident and the non-resident pedlar. The former only, it was held, should receive a license; also, pedlars on foot should be charged just as much as those driving wagons. Farmers and hucksters ought also to be compelled to go directly to the market and there dispose of their goods. Some argued that the Transient Traders Act should be enforced.

The above question re the licensing of pedlars is being brought before all the organized branches of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

A BARGAIN IN RAISINS.

Hudon & Orsali, wholesale grocers, St. Paul street, Montreal, are making a special offer this week in Grustan layer raisins at 4c. per lb. These goods are of 1900 crop and are put up in 7, 14 and 28 lb. boxes. Hudon & Orsali state that this is a genuine bargain, and warrant the raisins to be of excellent quality. The announcement of this offer appears on another page.

DEAR SIR,—

The near approach of EASTER will remind you that this is the opening of the season for this line of food products, and we would remind you that a good beginning goes far toward ensuring a good ending to the season's trading.

We can provide you with our usual selection of ENGLISH BREAKFAST BACON, which holds the highest reputation in this country, bar none.

We can give you something new in the curing of HAMS. We call it "OUR THREE STAR BRAND," and you will be pleased with it.

About LARD—We can only say, try our "STAR BRAND" Pure Lard. You will like it. If you want Lard Compound, we can sell you this also, and of excellent quality. Recent additions to our plant enable us to quote low prices and to give you as good goods as any in the market.

We have also the other various cuts of meats, including Long Clear Bacon, Rolls, Backs, Shoulders, Picnic Hams, Short-cut Pork, etc.

Our Sausage Department is up to date, being equipped with the latest machinery.

There is a large trade to be done in the summer season supplying Cooked Hams, Beef and other meats. Your customers do not want to be bothered with cooking in the hot weather. You will find this a growing trade, and one that will pay you good profits. We can supply you with Cooked Hams, Cooked Beef, Cooked Tongue, Brawn, Beef Bolognas, Ham, Tongue and Chicken, Frankfurter and Fresh Pork Sausage. These should always be ordered to go by express.

In CHEESE and BUTTER (Creamery and Dairy) we have the pick of the factories in Western Ontario, and can give you choice goods at fair prices.

Soliciting the favor of your orders, which will have our prompt attention, we are,

Yours truly, F. W. FEARMAN CO., LIMITED.

Stop the Leaks!

It is the little expenses that count--a small leak will sink a big ship. It is the quality of the ordinary staple articles of trade that a grocer carries in his stock that gives standing to his store. It is the widely-advertised goods that people are familiar with which give them confidence when they see them on a grocer's shelves.

Confidence grows slowly, the loss of it comes quickly. "Stop the leaks" that betray your weakness in carrying inferior goods. Stop them quick ! Sell Windsor Salt--it's a small thing, but remember, please, it's a staple ! It is the Salt of highest quality through and through.

A LESSON TO EXPORTERS.

THE Canadian commercial agent in Australia, Mr. J. S. Larke, makes a serious complaint against a Canadian furniture manufacturing firm, the name of which, however, is withheld.

It appears that a firm in Sydney, on January 29, 1901, cabled an order to a furniture manufacturing company in Canada. It was not, however, till August 22 following that the shipment left New York, whereas, under ordinary circumstances, the goods should have been in the hands of the purchaser three or four months after the date of the order. One fifth of the money for the goods was paid on or about the date of shipment, and a draft for the other four-fifths was duly honored by the Sydney firm before the furniture arrived at destination. By the time the shipment reached Sydney the new Customs tariff had come into force and the purchaser had to pay duty at the rate of 20 per cent. and 10 per cent. added to the invoice as well, all of which would have been avoided had the goods been shipped within the ordinary time.

But this was not all, for, when the shipment arrived, it was found that the furniture was not such as the sample called for. The chairs, for example, were deficient in a crossbar, and were, in consequence, weaker than the description called for in the order. This deficiency caused the people to whom the importer had sold the goods to refuse to accept them. This, of course, meant additional loss to the importer. And, naturally, he is not disposed to place any more orders with Canadian furniture manufacturers.

The furniture import trade of Australia is one that is growing rapidly, and, therefore, is worth cultivating. We have not the figures giving the imports into all the States of the Commonwealth, but those for New South Wales, Queensland and Victoria aggregated over $1,000,000 in 1900. This is an increase of over 100 per cent. in five years. The imports of these three States during the three years ending 1900 were as follows :

FURNITURE IMPORTS OF THREE STATES.

New South Wales.	$401,188	$493,636	$550,814
Queensland.....	181,648	233,298	250,599
Victoria.....	124,061	158,497	278,826
Total.....	$506,897	$885,431	$1,080,239

Canada exports a great deal more furniture to Australia than she did in 1896, when only $187 worth was shipped ; but a perusal of the figures appertaining to the trade since then do not give one much cause for gratification, for the simple reason that the trade of 1901 was half that of 1900, and nearly $3,000 less than that of 1898 and 1899. And this dissatisfaction grows upon one when one compares these figures with those relating to the imports of furniture by the three States to which we have already referred.

The following are the exports of Canadian furniture to Australia during the last six years :

OUR FURNITURE EXPORTS TO AUSTRALIA.

1897.....	7,921
1898.....	23,069
1899.....	23,095
1901.....	20,352

While the subject under discussion chiefly concerns the furniture manufacturers of this country, it does not wholly. Every manufacturer who exports to Australia or any other country is concerned, or at least should be.

Strict attention to instructions, faithful adherence to samples, no unnecessary delay in filling orders, and prompt answering of business communications are essential to the establishing of a successful export trade. It would be better for the general good if those who cannot or will not comply with these essentials were to refrain from trying to do an export trade.

THE MATTER OF DETAILS.

DETAILS are stumbling blocks to many business men. Someone must look after the details if the business is to be made a success, but that someone is not he who has the ordering of them. A vessel is just as likely to reach its destination without a rudder as a business is to be prosperous while the details are ignored. There are a good many business men who so fully realize this that they can trust no one but themselves with the development of them. Where the business is a one-man business this is all right ; but where it is not it is all wrong.

The larger the business the less time has the head of the firm or the head of a department for detail work. His duty is to direct, not to work out the details. His duty is to prepare plans, not to carry them out. The captain of a vessel does not obey his own commands. Neither does the successful captain of industry.

The demands of business to-day are such that there must be someone to think and plan. Those who undertake to develop the details, as well as to plan them, can do neither well. It is thus that they become stumbling blocks in the way of their own business.

The successful captains of industry are the men who plan enterprises and leave the working out of details to others. One has only to recall to mind the men who are to day famous in the commercial world to be convinced of that. It is an art. And to practice it requires about as much thought and planning as does the devising of the schemes themselves.

PROPOSAL TO TAX TRAVELLERS DEFEATED.

AS a good many of our readers are doubtless aware, an agitation has been on foot in Newfoundland for some months having for its object the imposition of a tax of $100 on commercial travellers entering that colony.

On Wednesday we received advices from a private source that the proposition had been defeated at least for a year, and, perhaps, permanently.

This will be of interest to business men in Canada who send travellers to the "Island down by the Sea."

AN UNIQUE IDEA.

AN idea of Hon. Senator Rolland, of The Rolland Paper Co., Montreal, for encouraging the buying of Canadian products has materialized into the form of a notice which the company has printed and sent to several of the large business houses in that city. The following circular accompanies it :

Dear Sir and Fellow-Canadian Manufacturer :

Herewith we send you copies of a notice which we have had posted throughout our paper mills, and with which we anticipate in advance you will be heartily in accord. The time has certainly arrived when Canadians should have confidence in the product of their mills and factories and show it by buying the Canadian make, and we "have taken the bull by the horns," so to speak, and put into practical form the views of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, hoping that this small self-imposed duty will be met by our fellow-manufacturers in having it posted in their respective factories, and, we have no doubt, that beneficial results will not be long in making themselves felt. Kindly acknowledge receipt and oblige,

Yours patriotically,

THE ROLLAND PAPER CO.

In one corner of the above circular is printed an extract from a report of Hon. W. S. Fielding's speech at the banquet of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at Montreal, November 6, 1901, in which he said that he did not believe the Canadian people had done their duty in their private purchases to the Canadian manufacturer. It was a misfortune that he still hung on to the old idea that a thing was better if brought from 1,000 miles away. Let each citizen of Canada, in this Coronation year, do something to show that he was loyal to the factories of his country, and would purchase Canadian goods. He hoped that it would be the feeling of every loyal and patriotic Canadian.

The notices, which are intended to be posted on the walls about the buildings, are printed in both French and English, in large black type on heavy paper. They read as follows :

NOTICE TO EMPLOYES.

All employes are requested, in their private purchases, to buy (as much as possible) only goods of Canadian manufacture, which may be told by observing that the name of a Canadian manufacturer is on the goods, or the label "Made in Canada."

Then follow lines for the date and name of the firm whose place it is put up in.

A few of these notices have been sent to manufacturing houses outside of Montreal also. Whether the posting up of these notices will be followed by more purchases of Canadian goods by those who read them or not, it is not possible to say, but the idea is a worthy and practical one. A reminder that there are such things as domestic manufactures and products is all most people need to make them ask for them. The average man, or woman, makes purchases without the least thought of where the goods came from, whereas, if it occurred to them to ask, they would, in many instances, prefer those of our own manufacture.

BUSINESS MEN AND IMMIGRATION.

A RETURN brought down in the House of Commons on Tuesday showed that the 309,327 immigrants who had come to Canada during the last 10 years cost the country on an average $74 per head.

If it be true that every immigrant coming into Canada is worth to the country $1,000, the price was not out of the way. Some of the organized labor bodies are opposed, not only to the expenditure of any money on immigration account, but to immigrants even coming to this country. But the manufacturing and commercial interests are, on the other hand, supporters of a vigorous immigration policy. They want customers.

The chief need of Canada is population, and the best interest of this country calls for a wise and vigorous immigration policy on the part of Dominion and Provincial authorities. The greater the population the smaller relatively will be the cost to manufacturers and merchants to do business. Even self-interest alone, therefore, would seem to urge the business men of this country to support such schemes as are most likely to produce the desideratum.

DECLINE IN BARBADOES MOLASSES.

THE new crop of Barbadoes molasses is quoted at 26c. for 1 to 4 puncheons, a decline of 1c. over the price of the old molasses.

As the combine price applies only to quantities from 1 to 4 puncheons, larger quantities than this are at more or less open terms, and for 5 puncheons or over the new molasses is offered at 24½ to 25c. This, by the way, does not affect the stocks now held here, which still remain at 27c. for single puncheons. But the stock on spot is not large and the present heavy demand is rapidly bringing it within a very small compass.

It is difficult to prognosticate anything in regard to the molasses market, it being one in which importers must always work to a certain extent in the dark, but present indications are that the market for the new crop will tend toward a decline.

CONVICTED OF FRAUD.

CHARLES PLUMB, the Toronto grocer charged with obtaining goods from The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, by fraud, was found guilty by the jury at the Sessions on Tuesday.

The particular nature of the fraud was in giving a false statement of his affairs when obtaining goods on credit from the firm.

Retailers generally will not regret that The Eby, Blain Co. put the matter into the hands of the Crown. Merchants who get goods on false pretences are usually merchants who do not do business on business principles, thus making it difficult, by their unfair methods of competition, for straightforward men to succeed. In prosecuting Plumb, The Eby, Blain Co., therefore, did a service to the trade.

Those who are ready to defraud those from whom they buy are usually also ready to defraud those to whom they sell. It is better, therefore, for all concerned that they should be out of business.

The contract between the Canadian Government and Marconi for the construction by the latter of a wireless telegraph station in Cape Breton was signed on Tuesday. This is the outcome of Marconi being driven out of Newfoundland by the Anglo American Cable Co. and being hospitably welcomed by Canada.

"LONG TERMS" VERSUS "BEST VALUES."

We have often observed that in buying Teas many dealers pay more attention to a four months' postponement of pay-day on large lots than close values and short datings on small ones. The far-sighted merchant buys "SALADA" Ceylon Teas on 30 days, and is enabled to turn over four or five purchases on these terms, while he would be disposing of (one) of the "long-winded transactions."

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 20, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade this week is quiet and lacking in life. The cause of this is generally attributed to be the bad condition of the country roads. Nothing particularly new has developed in any one line of the grocery trade. There is, however, some disposition on the part of wholesalers to advance the price of canned tomatoes. In other kinds of canned goods, the situation is about the same as a week ago. Sugars continue quiet, with prices unchanged. There is a fair movement in syrups and molasses. Rice is in good demand, and there is a fair business being done in tapioca. Coffees continue quiet, with the outside markets fairly steady. In spices, the market is rather easier on pepper, ginger and cloves, while cassia and nutmegs are steady. Teas are quiet, but prices, as a rule, are firm. There is a good business being done in currants, and a further improvement in the demand for Valencia raisins is to be noted. Prunes are meeting with a fair demand. Dates are scarce and rather firmer.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no material change in the situation since last week. Tomatoes are still strong and at least one wholesale house has advanced its prices 2½c. and is quoting nothing under 92½c. The majority of houses, however, are still quoting 90 and 95c. while for some particular brands as high as 97½c. is asked. There have been some transactions between wholesalers and packers in moderate quantities of canned tomatoes, and wholesalers have also been buying from each other. This emphasizes what we have said in previous issues in regard to the light stocks held by some houses. Peas continue steady in price and stocks in first hands appear to have been pretty well cleaned up. Prices rule at 80c. upward to the retail trade. Canned corn continues weak and stocks heavy, with the ruling price for standard brands 70c. upwards. A good many retailers in Toronto are making a leader of corn just now at 5½c. per tin. At this low price the consumption will, no doubt, be largely increased and thus help to relieve the preseet unsatisfactory condition of the market. Theie is a little inquiry from the retail trade for gallon apples, which are quoted at $2.60 to $2.65 ; 3's are quoted at 90c. to $1. In canned fruits generally trade is just moderate. Wholesale houses are beginning to book orders for later delivery in canned meats, the price of which is steady and unchanged. Canned salmon and other descriptions of canned fish are meeting with a fair Lenten demand. We quote : Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30 ; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15 according to quality.

COFFEES.

Green Rio coffees are quiet, and very little is being done in mild green coffees.

See pages 33 and 34 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

For roasted coffees the demand is fair. Latest European cable advices in regard to Brazilian coffees are of a more encouraging nature, slight advances have taken place, and the crop movement is gradually decreasing. We quote as follows : Green Rio No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Just a moderate trade is being done. Advices from the outside report that the pepper market is "draggy," lacking in speculation, and slightly easier. The advices also say that no immediate improvement is looked for, on account of the large quantities which have recently been shipped from the East. Ginger is reacting from the extremely high prices which formerly prevailed. This applies particularly to Cochin and African ginger. Cloves are barely holding their own, while nutmegs and cassia are steady.

SUGAR.

There is a little better inquiry, although the movement is still light, both in Canada and the United States. An advance of 1-32c. in the quotation on raw cane sugars, duty paid New York, has taken place, and considerable quantities have been taken by the refineries at this advance for spot or near-by sugars. In regard to sugars for shipment, 3 7-16c. duty paid New York for 96-test centrifugals is being asked, which is also a slight advance. In Europe, beets have declined once more, and are now again at the lowest point on record, namely, 6s. 3d., but at this figure prices are still above the parity of 96 test New York, and even 6s. f.o.b. Hamburg would be above the parity. As long as this condition of affairs exists, American refiners are not likely to buy European beet sugars, but will confine their attention to the cane description. It is thought that the prevailing low price of beet-root sugars may influence the sowings for the new crop. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were heavy, they being 34,500 tons, against meltings of 27,000 tons. The total stock of sugar in the hands of refiners and importers in the United States at the close of last week was 111,013 tons, against 183,231 tons the same time last year. The price of sugar in Canada is without change, granulated still being on the basis of $3.75 f.o.b. Montreal for Acadia, and $3.80 for St. Lawrence and Redpath.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for both syrups and molasses is fairly good ; in fact, trade has kept up well all this season for both these lines. The ruling quotations are as follows : Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs ; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A good trade is being done in rice and a fair business is reported in tapioca. We quote : B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 4c.; tapioca, 4c. per lb.

TEAS.

The tea trade continues rather quiet, the latest mail advices from London, England, under date of March 7, say that the steadier tone previously noted, which characterized the auction on the previous week, had become more pronounced. Common teas were again slightly dearer, while the bidding generally was of a more animated character. In Ceylon teas the firmer tone was also more apparent. All descriptions were well competed for. The lower grades were slightly dearer, while medium brokens and fine teas also sold rather better. The average price of Indian tea sold on garden account was 7.45d. against 7.22d. a year ago. The average for Ceylon tea was 7.12d. against 6.51d. a year ago.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS — The market is without change, being steady, and the wholesalers report a continuance of a fairly good demand. We quote as follows: Filiatras, 6 to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Business continues to improve and the demand may now be said to be fair at 6½ to 6¾c. for selected fruit.

SULTANA RAISINS—There is some inquiry on importation account, but very little business has resulted. There is a fair demand from retailers at 8½ to 12c.

PRUNES—There is just a fair business being done and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's., 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES—The local market is almost bare as a result of the good demand which has been experienced here lately, and the price of both Sairs and Hallowees now rules at 4½c. It is worthy of note that in London, England, Sairs are quoted 2s. higher than Hallowees, due to the fact that the latter are this year showing poor quality.

FIGS—The demand for tapnet figs continues good at 3¼ to 3½ per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—The demand is fair for apricots and peaches. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 12½c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

As was predicted in last week's GROCER the prices of Californian navel oranges have been advanced, the change being 25c. per case. This is owing to the warm weather necessitating their being packed in ice, and thus making their cost of transportation greater. There has been a shipment of ripe strawberries received from Florida, which sold at 45 to 50c. per quart. Bananas are selling better, and the price for 8-hands has been advanced 25c. Messina lemons are scarcer, and the prices are ranging 25 to 50c. per case higher. Southern cucumbers are more plentiful, and have been reduced 25c. per doz. There has been received a shipment of late Jersey cranberries, which are selling at $8.50 to $9 by the bbl. We quote: Oranges, marmalade, $2.75 to $3 per case; Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Floridas $3 to $3.25 per box; Mexicans, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Californian navels, $3.75 to $4 00 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75; Valencias, $4.50 to $5.00 per small case, $5.50 to $6.00 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; late Jerseys, $8 50 to $9; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1 to $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3; Californian celery, $4.50 to $4 95 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $4.50 per case of 6 baskets.

VEGETABLES.

Some mushrooms are being offered at 50c. per lb. There is a fair movement in green onions, rhubarb and radishes. The demand for potatoes is steady, but for cabbage and turnips it is slack. We quote as follows: Green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 75c. to $1.25 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 50c. per bag; turnips, 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 75c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The demand has been so brisk as to clear up the surplus stock of last week and stiffen the prices to 14c. per doz.

BEANS—The demand is quiet. Choice hand-picked are worth $1.20 to $1.30, and prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY—Trade is fair. We quote as follows: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—The demand is beginning to fall off. We quote as follows: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The prices are weaker this week, on account of the visible supply seeming to be large. The offerings are free. Potatoes are quoted at 60 to 63c. per bag on the track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There is a good market for dairy prints and rolls of good quality for which 18c. will be paid. As usual the greater portion of the receipts are of poor grade and hard to dispose of, making the market for them dull. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18½c.; large rolls, 16 to 18c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 21 to 21½c. per lb.

CHEESE—The local market is firm, with a brisk demand and a small supply. The ruling prices range between 10¾ to 11c. For export, the market continues strong, with large sales reported at 10½ to 10¾c.; 11c. is asked for in some cases, but no sales at that figure have been reported.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY — There have been practically no receipts of dressed poultry this week, and prices quoted are nominal. We quote: Chickens, 60 to 90c. per pair; ducks, 90c. to $1.20 per pair; geese, 8 to 9c. per lb.; turkeys, 12 to 14c.

LIVE POULTRY — The arrivals continue light, and prices are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 8c., for ducks and turkeys 10c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens, 5c. per lb. Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

There is a steady demand for fresh and frozen fish, which will continue until the end of the Lenten season. Next week a shipment of green cod and haddock is due, which will be ready for the Easter trade. Prepared fish are selling moderately. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Fresh and frozen fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 6½ to 7½c.; herring, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 10 to 15c., haddock, 5c. per lb.; perch, 5c.; British Columbian salmon, fresh, 20c., frozen, 11c.; Labrador herring, $3 to $3.25 per 100-lb. bbl. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 50 to 65c. per bundle. Prepared fish — Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.; bloaters, per box of 50, $1 to $1.25; kippered herring, 50 in a box, $1 to $1.25 per box; smelts, per 15-lb. box, extras, 12c. per lb.; No. 1, 6½ to 7c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $6.25 to $6.75 per large pail, or $3.75 per small pail; selects, $4.50 to $5 per pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There has been a decline of 1c. per bushel in Manitoba No. 1 hard and of ½c. in No. 1 and No. 2 Northern wheat, which are now quoted at 86, 82⅛ and 79½ cents, respectively, per bushel via North Bay. The receipts still continue moderate. On the local market the arrivals of all kinds of grain have been light and the prices are unchanged. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 77c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

FLOUR—The demand continues slack. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.05; Manitoba bakers', $3.80; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS — Trade still continues to drag in oatmeal and rolled oats, but the prices are firmer. The other lines are steady. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4 85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4 60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3 75; split peas, $4 75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196-lb. bbls.

OFF ON A HOLIDAY.

Mr. Albert Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., left Montreal on March 8 with his wife and child on a holiday trip to the Southern States. After visiting New York, Richmond, Va., and other points, they went on to St. Augustine, Florida, where they are now stopping. It is partly their intention to stay in Florida for three or four weeks, though no regular plan of the journey has been mapped out. The trip will afford Mr. Hebert a well-earned rest, and it is hoped that it will also benefit Mrs. Hebert's health, which has not been of the best for some time.

THE SUGAR TARIFF.

In his budget speech, on Monday, Hon. W. S. Fielding announced that there would be no change in the duty on sugar, nor would there be any bounty given on beet-sugar produced in Canada. The time, however, during which machinery for beet-sugar factories might be admitted free would be extended one year.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, March 20, 1902.

GROCERIES.

TAKING into consideration the adverse weather conditions, bad roads, etc., the week's business in groceries gives some cause for satisfaction. Locally, the market has been characterized by an activity which leaves nothing to be desired, and buying from the country, while confined in a great measure to small orders for immediate delivery, has, nevertheless, been steady and fair. There has been an advance of 20c. per 100 lb. in glucose. The agreement between importers and jobbers of Berger's starch, by which this article was sold at a fixed price, has come to an end, and wholesalers are now at liberty to sell at any price they desire, which has made the starch lower. It is now quoted at 10½ to 11c. per 1-lb. package, and for ¼-lb. package the price is 9¾ to 10c. Evaporated apples are ½c. lower per lb. There has also been a decline in canned French peas, which are now down to $1 per case. In other canned goods there has been practically no change in the situation. The new crop of Barbados molasses is now offered to importers for future delivery at a decline of 1c. for 1 to 4 barrels. This, however, does not affect the stock on hand.

SUGAR.

There has been no further change in the price of sugars. The market remains very weak, and it seems to be the opinion of the trade, to judge by the buying, that further deliveries may be expected. The market is quiet. The only movement comes from the buying of country merchants, who keep up a steady inquiry for small lots. Apart from this demand there is very little doing. Granulated sugar is quoted at $3.80, and yellows from $3.05 to $3.70.

TEAS.

Trade is still quiet, the bad roads being accountable for a very light demand from country buyers. On the local market several sales of some of the cheapest teas are reported at 13c. per lb. this week, but these are of the grade that usually change hands at this time of the year. Black teas are rather stronger, but there has been no noticeable improvement in the demand. It is expected that the spring movement of teas will commence earlier than usual this year, as navigation is likely to commence early in April, and with that there is always a brisk trade done.

SYRUPS.

There is nothing new to report in this line. Syrups continue to be in good demand, and no quotable change has occurred. On corn syrups we quote as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

There is an active inquiry. Molasses to arrive are quoted at 26c. in quantities of 1 to 4 barrels. Whatever stock is on hand now is still held at 27c., but there is not much of this. Deliveries of the new crop may be expected about May or June. Locally, there has been no change in the situation, and prices on Barbados and other molasses are unchanged at our last week's quotations. These are, for Barbados, in single puncheons, 27c.; Antigua, 24c.; Porto Rico (finest grade), 38 cents.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been a large and steady demand for canned goods throughout the past week, and on all Canadian goods the prices are firm. No change has been made though, except in canned French (imported) peas, which have declined to $1 per case. The demand for canned fruits continues active. In salmon there has been also an active inquiry, but the trade is not up to the standard of last week. Peas are steady at 82½c. to $1.15, according to quality, and corn at 80c. for ordinary stock. Tomatoes are selling well at 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80, and 3-lb. apples are nominal at $1. We quote salmon as follows: $1 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

There is a gradual improvement in the demand for spices, and prices are well maintained on all lines. Peppers continue to be the only interesting feature of this market. New York advices state that the broad demand for the general list of spices has had the effect there of absorbing a large part of the small supplies of Singapore black pepper and Singapore and Penang white pepper. Cables from the Straits name much higher figures and there is a decided prospect of very much smaller visible supplies in July and August than were considered probable a month ago. There is no change in prices to report on the local market, and our quotations are as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is nothing new to report; the market remains practically the same, and prices are unchanged on all lines. Our quotations are as follows in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is a good demand at steady prices. It is reported that some damage was done to the crop, but it is a little early yet for this to be likely. We quote: Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—An active inquiry continues, and as the scarcity becomes more marked, the prices are stiffening. Finest off-stalk is worth 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅜c.; layers, 6¾c.

CANDIED PEELS.—Business is brisk. We quote: Orange peel, 11½c.; lemon peel, 10½c.; citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—The demand for Malaga raisins is not large, but the market remains steady. Quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is a good movement. Hallowees are worth 4¼ to 4½c.

FIGS.—Both layer and tapnet figs are selling well; the latter, however, are very hard to get. Tapnets sell for $1.20 and layers, $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Though the demand for raisins is very light prices remain as firm as ever. Seeded raisins sell for 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—Prices show no change here, nor is there likely to be any new price for some little while, as the stocks in wholesalers' hands will be sufficient for the demand for a time yet. The advance in the primary market will tend to keep prices firm here. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—The demand for these still continues active, and at steady prices. We quote: Apricots, 14½c.; peaches, 10½c.; pears, 10 cents.

NUTS.

The market is somewhat easier this week. In the foreign markets a reduction of 3d. has taken place on filberts, and 6d. on almonds. Prices, locally, are unchanged. We quote: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The demand is still good for finest quality of butter and prices remain firm. A small amount of fresh-made creamery is on the market at the present time and is selling for 23c. Fall-made still continues to be inquired after, and the price is unchanged at 22 to 22½c. There is a certain amount of creamery seconds on the market, but the demand for it is very

Corks Corks

The rapid growth of our cork business has necessitated the establishment of a branch office in Toronto, to look after our Western business. This office is in charge of Mr. E. J. Murphy, and is located at 87 York Street. We manufacture and import every description of corks for all purposes. It will pay intending purchasers to secure our quotations before placing their orders.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There has been a decline on all grades of flour, both Manitoba and Ontario, and the market at present is weaker. Manitoba flour is selling fairly well but business in Ontario brands is quiet. Spring wheat patents have declined 10c.; winter wheat patents are 10c. lower; strong bakers', 10 to 30c. lower, and straight rollers, 15c. lower. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.80; straight rollers, $3.45 to $3.55.

GRAIN.—There is hardly any improvement in the demand for any line this week. Ontario No. 1 spring wheat is quoted at 78 to 78½c. The demand for Manitoba wheat for export is very good, for both future and present shipment. Peas are quiet at 91c.; rye, 64c.; oats, 47c. ex-store; corn, 66 to 67c.; buckwheat, 55½c., middle freights; feed barley, 53 to 54c.

OATMEAL.—A succession of declines in rolled oats has brought the price to $4.75 per barrel, a decline of 25c. In bags, there has been a decline of 17 to 20c., the price now quoted being $2.25 to $2.30.

FEED.—There is a good demand for feed, and the supply being unequal to it, the market has become firmer. Ontario bran, in carlots, sells for $18.50 per ton; shorts, $22.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—There is still a good demand and the market is firm. Receipts are light. Our quotations are now as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9.25; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Evaporated apples are ½c. per lb. lower.

Florida tangerines have dropped 25c. per box.

The fixed price for Berger's starch no longer exists, and jobbers are now quoting 10½ to 11c. per 1-lb. package.

Valencia oranges, 420's, Jumbo, are 25c. higher.

Vinelands sweet potatoes have again advanced 25c.

Barbados molasses, to arrive, are quoted at a decline of 1c. for 1 to 4 barrels.

MERCHANTS OF THREE TOWNS.

Secretary Trowern, of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Toronto, has just returned from an organizing trip through Western Ontario, in which he visited Windsor, St. Thomas and London. Successful meetings of the retail merchants were held at each of these places and they all decided to form branches in affiliation with the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada.

At St. Thomas, besides the meeting for organization, they had a banquet. The officers for the St. Thomas branch are as follows:

President.—E. G. Egan.
1st Vice-President—Mayor Chant.
Secretary—F. A. Lemon.

The Windsor meeting was well attended. The officers for that city are as follows:

President—G. H. Nairne.
1st Vice-President—A. E. Edgar.
2nd Vice-President—Frank Hutton.
Treasurer—R. Patton.
Secretary—B. G. Davis.

In London the merchants were enthusiastic and turned out in good numbers. The officers of the London branch are:

President—T. F. Kingsmill.
1st Vice-President—E. A. Shoebotham.
2nd Vice-President—T. A. Rowat.
Treasurer—John Callard.
Secretary—E. Sutton.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 17, 1902.

BUSINESS has been in good shape all week, and shows many signs of genuine spring trade. The heavy blizzard of the past two days will probably be winter's parting gift, and steady, fine weather may be looked for from this on.

SUGAR--Sugars promise soon to be "out of sight." Granulated has dropped to $4.75, and bright yellow to $4.05. Trade is not specially active.

CANNED GOODS—An advance of 10 to 15 per cent. has been made on all lines of tinned meats on this market. The advance of tomatoes noted last week is now general, but trade continues good, and, in fact, better than when these goods were at lower prices.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—Trade is steady in these lines, and, although no advance has occurred during the week, the tone of the market is firm, and in many lines shows a tendency to advance.

FISH—The Lenten trade, so far as jobbers are concerned, is now about over. The warm weather of the early part of the week has had a bad effect on frozen stock, which will be cleared out as speedily as possible.

CURED MEATS — There are no large stocks in the city.

BUTTER—Supply is still very short, and no indications of immediate improvement. Contrary to expectations, the mild weather of the earlier part of the week brought larger supplies. The demand for fresh-made butter fit for table use is very keen indeed, and merchants are at their wits end to supply it. Butter of second and third grade is plentiful, but there is little or no inquiry for this article. Prices for strictly fresh-made are high and firm, 20 to 21c. being paid by jobbers for the best grades.

CHEESE—The advance in the east has strengthened prices here, but the market is very bare of cheese, and the date of arrival for a new supply has not yet been announced. Price here is 12½c.

EGGS—The glut continues and it remains to be seen whether the present cold and stormy weather will affect the supply. Considerably over 1,000 cases have been received in the city during the week and in consequence the price has slumped. Present quotations are 12½ to 13c. Winnipeg. Fresh case eggs are retailing for 15c. And guaranteed new laid for 20c.

GREEN FRUITS—Market is reviving to a considerable extent especially in the matter of country trade. The first car of bananas is expected early next week. These will sell at about $3. Ben Davis is the only variety of apple now on this market. The price is $6 to $6.50 for this stock. Lemons have dropped to $4.50 per case, but owing to the last advance in California this is not expected to last. Oranges are without change and very firm. Demand is fair.

VEGETABLES—Market is dull and without change of any kind.

FLOUR—The weakening of the wheat market seems to have affected flour, as there has been a 5c. drop this week. This is the first break in flour prices for many weeks. Trade is slow and export trade imited, owing to low prices. Quotations are as follows: Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $1 95; Glenora Patent, $1.80; Alberta, $1 60; Manitoba, $1.40; Imperial XXXX, $1.20; Nestor, $1.10; Lake of the Woods Milling Company Five Roses, $1.95; Red Patent, $1.80; Medora, $1 65; XXXX, $1.25; Hudson Bay Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Strong Bakers', $1 80; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $1.95; Home Rule, $1.80; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70; Strong Bakers', $1.60; Pansy, $1.25.

POULTRY—The mild weather of the early part of the week brought an increase of supply in freshly dressed poultry. Prices of chickens are 11 to 12½c.; ducks and geese, 10c.; turkeys, 12½ to 14c. Demand for frozen stock is very light.

MILL FEED—The demand, though not large, is steady, and prices are unchanged for the week. Bran, $14.50; shorts, $16.50.

SPELTZ—Demand for this grain for seed is on the increase. An agreement appears to have been arrlved at among holders to drop the price 25. per bush. in order to bring it within the reach of a larger number, and the quotation for this week is 75c. per bush. of 50 lb. One estate is offering some 2,000 bush. this week, and has already had many inquiries.

CEREALS—The market for rolled oats seems to be weaker, although there is no general drop in price. Some houses are quoting a decline of 5c., while others maintain last week's figures, viz.: 80's, $2.35; 40's, $1.15; 20's, 55c.; split peas, $2.85; pot barley, $2.45; pearl barley, $3.65; white beans, $1.80.

NOTES.

Mr. W. F. Blaine, Canadian manager for The Globe Oil Co., of Toronto, has been in the city for some time past making arrangements for the opening of a Western branch of the company's business. Temporary offices have been secured at No. 5 Nanton Block, and Mr. George W. Campbell has been appointed manager for Winnipeg. Mr. Blaine is leaving for the Coast, and will establish branches at a number of points en route, and will also open offices in the Coast cities. A complete stock of all the goods manufactured by this company will be carried in connection with the Winnipeg office.

Are You One?

Are you one of the merchants who has written me that Red Rose Tea does not suit your customers, or are you one of those who has sent a repeat order about every six weeks for nearly a year past?

TO THE FORMER, of whom there are not very many, I can only say I fully appreciate the difficulty of pleasing everybody, but I believe Red Rose Tea, if given a fair trial, will suit a very large majority of any merchant's customers. If you haven't confidence in it now, wait until you know more about it. We will do business together some day.

TO THE LATTER, those who have ordered many times and have written such warm words of praise, let me assure you that the quality of Red Rose Tea will be fully maintained.

It will be true to its past record. If you are not a customer, I hope you soon will be.

TO THE TRADE.

Owing to the enormous demand for Gold Soap, the manufacturers find that the fourteen thousand coins at first advertised will not be nearly sufficient to last out the year. When this number of coins was decided upon it was never expected that the sales of Gold Soap would reach anything like the figures that they have done, so it is not to be wondered at that the appropriation for "money-in-the-soap" will be exhausted much sooner than was at first anticipated. This being the case, they do not feel that it would be fair to the public for them to attempt to make this comparatively small number of coins the only inducement in connection with Gold Soap, so they have decided to supplement it by a mammoth prize competition involving over 5,000 prizes.

This competition will be carried out on such broad lines that everyone who sends in any wrappers at all will receive either a prize or a premium, thus, the small consumer will be dealt with quite as fairly as the one who buys in large quantities.

With this added attraction, we feel sure that the sales of Gold Soap will continue to keep thousands of cases in advance of our facilities, as they have been doing in the past.

Requests for circulars, hangers and further particulars of this competition will receive prompt attention.

More Than Thirty-Two Years of Progress

SUCH IS THE RECORD OF

Jonas' Flavoring Extracts

A record of which we are justly proud. Prospects for their success in the future bid fair to eclipse all previous years. The secret of their wonderful success is because every purchaser becomes their ardent advocate and friend, because they never fail to give entire satisfaction. Why do they give satisfaction? Their wonderful PURITY, STRENGTH and RICHNESS are the three principal reasons. They please the dealers' customers, and he is in no small measure benefited by handling such reliable and high-class goods.

CHRISTIE'S Orange Marsh Mallows

Introduced to our patrons last week, are already in great favor. If you have not tried them, add a tin or box to your next order.

MANUFACTURED BY

Christie, Brown & Company, Limited

TORONTO AND MONTREAL.

THE ONLY YEAST WITH CREAM IN IT

GILLETT vs. LUMSDEN.—At last our solicitors have been able to bring this case to a trial. Decision reserved. We trust to be able to report results next week. What a row to create over the word "Cream." Puts us in mind of a story the late Sir John A. Macdonald used to tell of a Jew who was tempted to eat a piece of Sugar-Cured Ham, and, as he came out of the Russell House, Ottawa, was met with a tremendous clap of thunder, when he exclaimed: "What a devil of a row to make over such a small piece of Pork." It was sworn to on our side that we used Cream in the manufacture of Jersey Cream Yeast Cakes. It was sworn to by the plaintiff's side that it was impossible to place Cream in Yeast Cakes, and having bought out over 40 Yeast Factories, know it cannot be used. So we can safely claim that we are the only manufacturers of Yeast Cakes who use Cream in their product. We do use the finest Cream in our Yeast Cakes. We intend to use Cream in our Yeast Cakes, whether the brand remains JERSEY CREAM YEAST CAKES or JERSEY YEAST CAKES.

If you do not sell Jersey Cream Yeast, buy it for your homes, nothing is too good for the average grocer of Canada. You will find the bread made with Jersey Cream Yeast Cakes sweeter than that made with any other.

CRANSTON'S TRADE DUE BILLS.

Will They Benefit Me

1. Yes; by saving you [illegible] losses caused by forgetfulness in making charges when goods are made. (This is an item much larger than most retail dealers have any idea of.)

2. By saving you much valuable time [illegible] going to books and making small charges when goods are purchased. You simply take Due Bills to cover amount of purchase, and as Due Bills are for one cent up the change is instantly made; no more time is consumed than in making change for a cash customer.

3. By saving you all account keeping and bill making and passbook account with customers.

4. By avoiding for you all annoyance of disputed accounts, and practically reducing your credit business to a CASH BASIS, and transfers the risk of credit from storekeeper to customer.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—A Menace to Canadian Meat—Miscellaneous Notes.

A MENACE TO CANADIAN MEAT.

A REPORT has been received by the Canadian Department of Agriculture from a firm engaged in the shipping of meat from the Dominion to Glasgow that a by-law is about to be passed by that city making it compulsory for the meat of all animals imported from Canada for food purposes to undergo a microscopical examination.

This is a law similar to that enforced by the United States against British and foreign meats. Should it be passed it is feared it would injure the Canadian trade, and so steps are being taken to prevent such action. The Hon. Mr. Fisher has communicated with the Glasgow authorities to ascertain the exact situation and, if it is possible, will try and prevent the passing of this law.

A BUTCHER ASSIGNS.

Joshua Clayton, butcher, 86 and 426 Queen street west, Toronto, made an assignment to E. R. C. Clarkson on March 12. At a meeting of his creditors on Tuesday, March 18, a statement was submitted by the assignee showing liabilities of about $1,500 and assets of about $1,000, consisting of $500 cash and the balance of book debts. The stock had been previously sold and its value is represented by the cash on hand. The assignee was instructed to wind up the estate.

TORONTO.

The receipts of dressed hogs are small, but the demand is weak, causing a drop of 25c. per 100 lb. We are quoting Western hogs this week at $7 to $7.25 and Northern at $7.50 per 100 lb. On the local market dressed hogs are dull and 25c. lower. Beef is scarce and has advanced 50c. per 100 lb. all round. On account of the high prices for live lambs on the Buffalo market, where they are quoted at 5½c., the prices here for lambs have advanced 1 to 1½c. per lb. We quote as follows: Dressed hogs, $7.25 to $7.50; beef carcasses, $6.50 to $7.50 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $7 to $8 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5 to $6 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 8½c. per lb.; lambs, 9½ to 10½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4 to $4.50.

In the provision market what promises to be a good season is just opening up for all hog products. The prices are steady and unchanged. Lard is in good demand, and a number of houses have booked orders for future delivery next month, indicating that there is no accumulation of stock. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

On most lines of provisions the market is quiet. The demand for smoked meats for the Easter trade has continued to grow, and there is at present a good movement at steady prices. The inquiry for pork is not active. Hog products are somewhat easier. Lard, both pure and compound, is in good demand. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $21 to $21.50; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—The week has brought no change of situation. Supply is short and prices firm. Best city dressed sells at from 7¾ to 8c., country dressed 7 to 7½c.

VEAL—Very small number of calves from district surrounding Winnipeg. Quality is still poor. Prices 7½ to 8½c.

MUTTON—Little demand for frozen and prices are without change, being 7c. for sheep and 8c. for lambs.

DRESSED HOGS—Offerings have been small all week and prices are unchanged at 7½c. off cars here.

CURED MEATS—Demand has been fair throughout the week, and prices have remained unchanged. Hams, sugar-cured and smoked, 13¾c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8½c.; breakfast bellies, 14c.; backs, 13½c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 13c.; backs, 12c.

LARD—The advance noted last week continued, and the market is firm with a good demand. Tierces, 12¼c.; 50 lb. pails, $6.25; 20-lb. pails, $2.60; American ditto, $2.65; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.80; 5-lb. tins in cases, $7.90; 3-lb. tins in cases, $7.95.

BUTCHERS' CATTLE—Receipts have fallen even below those of last week, and the market is poorly supplied. Prices are correspondingly firm, 4¾c. off cars has been paid for the very best grades and 4 to 4½c. for others. The present storm will, without doubt, further restrict shipments for some days at least.

STOCKERS—Yearlings are worth $14 to $16, and two-year-olds, $18 to $20. These are prices to farmers.

HOGS—Shipments have been slightly larger this week, but still far below requirements. Prices are firm at 6c. for best hogs and 1 to 1½c. lower for unders and covers.

PROVISION NOTES.

W. J. Webb, butcher, Carberry, Man., is out of business.

Joshua Clayton, butcher, Toronto, has assigned to E. R. C. Clarkson.

Bird & Scarse, butchers, Swan River, Man., are succeeded by Scarse & Work.

Cosman & Wetmore, meat merchants, etc., St. John, N.B., have dissolved partnership. George S. Cosman continues.

H. Charbonneau & Cie, provision merchants, Montreal, have assigned. Eugene H. Godwin is provisional guardian.

FOOD PRODUCTS FOR EXHIBITIONS.

Secretary Russell, of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, last Saturday, March 15, shipped some exhibits for the exhibitions at Wolverhampton and Cork, which open about May 1. The consignment for the London Exhibition was shipped some time ago.

The shipment comprises 15 sacks of fine flour, 20 sacks of oatmeal and cereal foods, 5 or 6 sacks of pot and pearl barley, about 30 cases of fancy cheese, 100 cases of canned meats and 200 cases of canned fruits and vegetables. It is also his intention to secure and ship some cases of honey in a few days.

TESTING THE AGE OF EGGS.

ACCORDING to The Backer und Konditor Zeitung—a German bakers' and confectioners' organ—the age of an egg is now discovered by immersing it in a solution of salt containing, as far as I can gather, about eight ounces to the pint. When the salt has thoroughly dissolved, the egg to be tested is dropped gently into the glass containing the solution. If the egg is only one day old it sinks immediately to the bottom; if three days old it sinks just below the surface only, and from five days and upwards it floats. Another process has just been awarded a medal in Saxony by the National Society of Poultry-breeders, and is described in a German contemporary. It is well known that the air cavity at the blunt end of the egg enlarges as the age of the egg increases. Consequently, if the egg be placed in a solution similar to the one described above, it will have an increasing tendency to float with the long axis vertical. A scale of angles is placed at the back of the vessel, and from the inclination of the egg to the horizontal, the age can be gauged almost to a day. A new laid egg lies horizontally at the bottom of the vessel. When three to five days old the egg raises itself from the horizontal, so that its long axis makes an angle of about 20 deg. with the horizontal. At eight days this angle increases to about 45 deg.; at 14 days it is 60 degs.; at about three weeks it is about 75 deg., whilst after four weeks it stands upright on the pointed end. If the egg is bad or over five weeks old, it floats.

COLD STORAGE ON STEAMERS.

In the House of Commons on Monday, Mr. Smith, of Wentworth, was informed by Mr. Fisher that four steamers have been fitted up with cooling apparatus in the compartments used for carrying perishable products in conformity with the agreement with the Government of Canada. Other steamers are being fitted up in the same way for the trade of 1902. Since last year seven steamers have been fitted up with fans to produce a circulation of fresh air in the compartments in which perishable products are carried.

COLLAPSE OF THE U. S. TOMATO COMBINE.

THE N. Y. Journal of Commerce, in a recent issue said :

"It was learned to-day from an apparently reliable source that the proposed tomato packing combine, which it was confidently expected would include the majority of the tomato packers of Maryland, Delaware, and New Jersey has practically fallen through. The proposed consolidation was incorporated under the name of the American Packing Company, with a capitalization of $20,000,000. It is stated that the principal obstacle to the success of the scheme has been the failure to get financial interests of sufficient weight to finance the deal. The committee having this matter in charge, it is stated, failed to obtain the support of Philadelphia and were in New York a day or so ago trying to interest New York capital, but received little or no encouragement. It could not be learned to-day who were the financial interests approached here. It is a matter of surprise to brokerage interests here that the scheme has fallen through, since the options do not expire until April 1 next. In some quarters there is an impression that negotiations may be continued until the options expire, but, in others, there is a feeling that the Philadelphia reports, though unofficial in character, are true enough, and that other influences aside from the lack of financial support have brought about the failure. It is known that many packers identified with the move have been currently reported to be sellers of futures, being led to do so by a lack of confidence in the movement. Sales of futures from packers having given options to the combines are said to have been made with the understanding that business done would be turned over to the combine on the completion of negotiations.

"In this connection private advices from a thoroughly reliable source in Philadelphia state : 'In keeping with our prediction of February 18, published in your valued columns, we were yesterday informed by a representative of the firm, who claimed that they had been appointed selling agents of he packers' trust, that the matter had failed to materialize, or, in other words, that it had fallen through. This information we consider thoroughly reliable, as the firm from whom it emanates were among the prime movers, and struggled hard to make the combine a success. From present indications there will not be sufficient spot tomatoes to last later than June 1, the largest holders of same in this vicinity having stated yesterday that their stock was nearly exhausted. We confidently expect to see standard Delaware and Maryland goods sell at $1.50 per doz. long before new goods are ready for delivery. The market on future standard Delaware and Maryland 3s. is firm at 82½ to 85c., regular f.o.b. shipping points, with a large majority of packers refusing to entertain any business under last-named price. In future gallons nothing obtainable in Maryland and Delaware packed goods under $2.20 regular county, and standard Jerseys at 5c. per doz. more.

"'We think the dissolution of the so-called Packers' Trust will have a tendency to advance prices, for the reason that it was anticipated that the combine, if successful, would name a lower price on futures than any yet made, and now that it is a thing of the past we believe that it will have a tendency to make packers and growers more independent than ever, having nothing to dread in the way of a lower range of prices at the hands of the Trust.'

"Brokers here confidently expect a revival of interest in futures, as many buyers have held off, expecting a lower basis from the combine."

THE BEET-SUGAR BOUNTIES.

Referring to the effect of the removal of the European beet-sugar bounties Willett & Gray in their circular say :

"The concensus of opinion is that as the bounties are not to be abolished until September, 1903, after two crops are marketed, that there will be little, if any, diminution in the enormous production of beet sugars and that low prices will continue for a long time to come. Germany will keep her 400 sugar factories going and will get just enough advantage out of the reduced import duty of 53c. per 100 lb. and the low cost of her labor, and, by reason of her favorable location, to enable her to continue holding the English market, where she has established a large trade for her sugars. Cuba and the British West Indies cannot successfully compete with Germany for the English trade and must look to the United States for a market."

RULING ALARMS APPLE DEALERS.

Mr. Eben James, fruit merchant, has entered an appeal against the fine imposed recently by Magistrate Denison for infringing the Fruit Marks Act passed last year. He points out that 10 bbls. of the apples in question were held in storage, and were not being offered for sale. The other 8 bbls., he claims, had been overfaced, but were rebranded at the other end, and the original brand scraped off, making the branded end, or what applemen understand as a faced end, considerably inferior to the opposite end. Magistrate Denison held that either end of the barrel was the face, but this, Mr. James says, is never admitted by apple dealers.

With regard to the 10 bbls. held in storage, Mr. James holds that until they were offered for sale they were not liable to fine. If the magistrate's ruling is upheld, any large grower packing his fruit for storage in the orchard and intending to subsequently repack for export might be held liable to a fine of $1 per bbl. on the entire pack. In many seasons 100,000 bbls. are stored in Canada, and, in the haste to get them under cover, are packed in a hurry, and, should Col. Denison's decision hold, the business would be a dangerous one.—Mail and Empire.

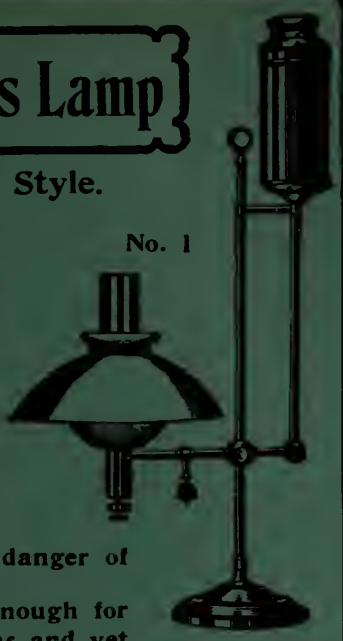
The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.



No. 1

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000. Offices Throughout the Civilized World.
Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

A GOOD MARGIN OF PROFIT FOR THE RETAILERS.

Wheat Marrow

Many of your customers are in a rut. They are tired of eating the same Cereal for breakfast day after day and would gladly welcome your suggestion of that "totally different" Cereal Food, "Wheat Marrow," for a change. It is different. It yields mental and bodily vigor and strength—even the weakest stomach digests it easily.

Made only from the glutinous portions of the choicest Winter Wheat. Easily prepared and quickly, too—more quickly than any other. Sterilized.

Codou's Macaroni

On the borders of the Black Sea grows that rich, nutty-flavored Wheat used in making that famous Macaroni, "Codou's." No other Wheat yields such white, delicate, tender Macaroni, and that is why "Codou's" keeps in the front rank always. The choice of connoisseurs the world over. The brand of fame, "Codou's."

Sold by leading wholesalers.

TO THE TRADE.

Owing to the enormous demand for Gold Soap, the manufacturers find that the fourteen thousand coins at first advertised will not be nearly sufficient to last out the year. When this number of coins was decided upon it was never expected that the sales of Gold Soap would reach anything like the figures that they have done, so it is not to be wondered at that the appropriation for "money-in-the-soap" will be exhausted much sooner than was at first anticipated. This being the case, they do not feel that it would be fair to the public for them to attempt to make this comparatively small number of coins the only inducement in connection with Gold Soap, so they have decided to supplement it by a mammoth prize competition involving over 5,000 prizes.

This competition will be carried out on such broad lines that everyone who sends in any wrappers at all will receive either a prize or a premium, thus, the small consumer will be dealt with quite as fairly as the one who buys in large quantities.

With this added attraction, we feel sure that the sales of Gold Soap will continue to keep thousands of cases in advance of our facilities, as they have been doing in the past.

Requests for circulars, hangers and further particulars of this competition will receive prompt attention.

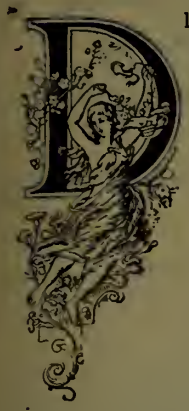
DIRECTNESS AS A BUSINESS QUALIFICATION.



IRECTNESS is a cardinal virtue of the man who succeeds. He does not go over a thing, or around it, but to it and through it. If he calls to see you on business, he does not spend 15 minutes in introducing his subject ; he strikes directly to the heart of it ; he does not waste your time on preliminaries or non-essentials, but proceeds to attend to the business in hand, and, as soon as he finishes—stops.

If there is anything that a successful business or professional man dislikes, it is a man who gets into his private office by "hook or crook," and proceeds to talk about all sorts of things except the one thing for which he called. He inquires after one's health, and the health of one's family, and asks various other questions not pertaining to the business, but does not arrive at his own errand until he has entirely exhausted the patience of his auditor.

Many a man has failed to get a hearing on a worthy and commendable proposition merely because he has bored some capitalist, or impressed him, by his indirection, as being impracticable.

The quality of directness is characteristic of all men of great executive ability, because they value time too much to squander it in useless and meaningless conversation ; it is an indispensable quality of the leader or manager of all large enterprises.

Many a man has gone down to failure because he lacked ability to arrive quickly and effectively at a conclusion. While he was deliberating and balancing and "beating about the bush," the opportunity to save himself passed and the crisis ruined him.

EVERY QUESTION DOES NOT NEED AN ANSWER.

Indirectness has ruined many a rising lawyer. The justices of the Supreme Court of the United States say that it is one of the most difficult things with which they have to contend. Young lawyers, too much impressed with the importance of a Supreme Court appearance, give long introductions, spin out oratory, explain self-evident points, and send forth copias verborum until they weary the court and hurt their own causes. It is not oratorical display, not verbiage, not well-rounded periods, but direct, clean-cut English, that judges want—facts, clearly, briefly, and decisively stated.

It does not matter how much ability, education, influence, or cleverness you may have ; if you lack the art of coming to the point quickly and decisively, of focusing yourself immediately, you can never be very successful.

We know many young men who were graduated with honors from college, and who have always impressed us as youths of great possibilities and great promise ; yet, somehow, they never focus, they never get anywhere ; they are always about to do something ; they are usually just going to come to the point, but fall a little short of it. Men who are well bred, well educated, and superbly equipped, have often disappointed their relatives, their friends, and themselves, simply because they lacked directness or the faculty of focusing their ability upon one point until they burned a hole in it.

A thimbleful of powder, packed behind a ball in a cartridge and fired from a rifle, may penetrate iron or steel and perform great execution ; but a wagonful of powder burned without confinement would hardly stir a feather 20 feet from it. Indirect people flash all their powder in the pan, and never fire the charge or start the ball.

In selecting a boy from a score of applicants, a screwd employer will take the one who gets to his subject directly, states it concisely, with the fewest words, outlines his position briefly and stands or falls by it, and does not bore him by telling of the great things he has accomplished or of what he can do.

Writers, when afflicted with the disease of indirectness, grow redundant. They tire readers with useless description and meaningless verbiage, making them impatient at wading through pages and chapters for the kernel, the point, the purpose. They fail to make their writings direct and compact by concentrating expression, but are diffuse. They have not learned the Napoleonic art of massing their forces.

Some of the most meritorious books ever written remain unread on dusty shelves because of their long, tedious, meaningless introductions and treatment. The writer made his point so late in the book that the reader was tired before he reached it and threw the book aside with disgust, and advised other people not to read it. If an introduction is long, verbose, "dry," or uninteresting, readers take it for granted that the rest of the book is similarly objectionable, and stamp it as "poor reading," and a "waste of time," thus condemning it to their friends. The book may be of great value, but, in these days of rush, with good books plentiful, people do not wish to spend valuable time reading pages and pages of uninteresting and verbose writings.

INTEGRITY WILL BAFFLE TRICKERY.

A large number of the articles received by editors lack directness. Many are really useful works, but the writers waste space in useless introductions and meaningless preliminaries before they reach their real stories or arguments, and the editor gets disgusted before he understands the gist of the article, and so he returns it with his usual thanks. An efficient editor abhors indirectness, and hates to examine the manuscripts of writers who use these pleonastic, ambiguous introductions or never reach their messages until near the close of their articles. Not long ago, the writer saw a manuscript whose introduction occupied nearly three quarters of the available space.

Reporting on great dailies is a splendid drill for writers who never arrive anywhere. Reporters soon abandon meaningless introductions ; they learn to tell a story directly and tersely—to give it pith, point and purpose, for nothing else will be received by competent managing editors.

Everybody dislikes indirectness, ambiguity, circumlocution, because they waste valuable time and clog all progress ; the direct method is the winning one in every vocation.

Cultivate, then, this great secret of focusing effort, coming to the point, and striking at the heart of the subject, for therein lies a great secret of success.—Success.

HOME PRODUCTS.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association wish to educate the general public to use, as far as it can, goods only of Canadian manufacture. With this end in view it is proposed to raise a fund for the purpose of providing lectures, exhibits and conducting a general educational campaign laying before the people that it is to their advantage to buy, when possible, only Canadian-made goods, thereby keeping a large number of employes at work in this country. It will be pointed out that the imports of goods from the United States are rapidly increasing and that these same imports chiefly consist of articles that can be readily manufactured in Canada.

ADVANTAGES OF FINE PLUCKING.

MUCH has been written and said regarding the efficacy of reducing the area only of tea gardens, as a solution of the vexed question of over-production, but there is one point to be grasped—that of maintaining a high grade of quality. In one way, a reduction in area or reduction of actual output may very probably correct the over-supply of the markets, but will the market improve from that cause alone? It is a point requiring the careful consideration of each planter, remarks Planting Opinion, and as each particular method appeals to his own sense of reason so let him practise it. But that reduction of output, simply through reduction of cultivated area alone, shall improve the position of Indian teas in the world's markets is beyond the question. Reduce the output by all means, but reduce it with an increase of quality. Pluck finer and raise the standard; manure just sufficiently and judiciously enough to produce a better-flavored leaf. When that has been done the market will take care of itself. If the congested markets gradually free themselves from the glut of teas, good and bad mixed, and the future shows a falling off of inferior sorts and a steady supply of a good-class leaf sufficient to meet ready demands, the result must be a rise in prices and a sounder footing for the Indian product. Another point worthy of careful attention is the rushing and glutting of the tea markets. If producers—and this applies to every class of grower—would only pause and consider what a careful study of the markets and the law of supply and demand means to them, they would, as a body, be in a much more satisfactory position to day than they are. To rush an overburdened market with goods for which there can be no demand except at minimum prices is suicidal for the producer, when, by holding his hand and watching the opportunity, the return may double or treble itself. Farmers, after an exceptionally good season, will flood the markets with hay, grain and root crops, for which they are compelled to accept slump prices sooner than go to a little expense, expenditure of time or labor in preserving it for later handling. These very men will buy, before the year is out, the very same article from the neighbors or agents, as the case may be, for double what they have sold their own produce for, and in many cases they are actually—if from the agents—buying back that which they had previously sold at the lowest figures possible.

If planters would only bear this in mind and go more fully into the advantages of establishing exporting depots, whence only necessary quantities should go forth, according to the demand or probable demand, they would find much benefit to be got from it.

That, and judiciously plucking without any sacrifice of fine quality bushes in the way of reduction of area, is all that is required to put the industry on a better footing. Should the regular fine plucking weaken the necessary supply, there will then be ample time to consider coarser plucking or extension of area.—Tea.

The chief subjects for consideration were the settlement of the water frontage dispute and the procuring of assistance in dock construction. The officers and members of the council will assist in the final arrangements.

THE QUALITY OF TEA.

THE chemistry of tea is receiving considerable attention in India at the present time. For many years, says a writer in Grocery, the processes through which tea—especially black tea—goes have been quite empirical and only quite recently has any serious attempt been made to find out their rationale. The fermentation of the tea is one of the most important of these processes, and in the somewhat similar case of tobacco, which has just been investigated, it has been found that the fermentation is due not to a bacillus, but to an enzyme. These are both rather dreadful words for the uninitiated, and I may explain that a bacillus is a fungus of a very low type which produces fermentation through its action on the substance on which it lives during growth and multiplication, which proceeds at an almost inconceivably rapid rate. The fermentation through which milk turns sour; through which alcohol turns to vinegar; and the numerous slow fermentations which produce the characteristic flavors of butter, cheese and many other substances, are due to the action of these organisms. Although it produces fermentation, an enzyme, so far as is known, is not an organism. All the ferments of our own digestive juices, such as the saliva and the stomach, contain enzymes; the substance in malt which converts the starch into sugar is another enzyme, and many more might be quoted. All this rather scientific matter should be interesting to my readers, because it has been found that by the addition to teas of the special enzyme which has been found to produce an oxidizing effect upon them, a remarkable improvement is secured in the body and the color of the tea, although it is not yet decided whether the flavor is affected to the same extent. It is possible that by this means low-quality teas may be "leveled up," so to speak. The enzyme appears to be a distinct chemical compound which can be separated with comparative ease.

ALLEGED FRAUD AND THEFT.

W. J. DENNIS is a general merchant of Roseneath and Hastings, Ont., who became insolvent a short time ago. Should the allegations of several Toronto houses prove true, he is guilty of both fraud and theft. Charged with these crimes, he was arrested last week and is now waiting his trial in Toronto.

It is charged that on November 1, 1901, a statement was sent out by Dennis showing that he had a balance of $8,700 on hand. He stated he had $6,300 in stock, $2,000 in real estate, $1,800 in book debts and $100 in cash. All that he owed was $1,500, and, he claimed, there was no chattel mortgage on the goods. A week afterwards he assigned, and it was shown that he had only $2,604 worth of goods in his two stores, $834 in book debts and no real estate. It also transpired that a chattel mortgage on his goods had been given in May.

After the assignment $1,000 worth of the goods were stolen while the man in charge was asleep. The thieves are claimed to be W. J. Dennis, Margaret Dennis and James Lasher, jr. The last named has since taken up his residence in the United States.

Daniel O'Leary, a partner of Dennis, also charges Dennis with the theft. He had formed a partnership with Dennis shortly before the assignment, understanding by his statements that he (Dennis) only owed $500.

O'Leary advanced $600, and shortly afterwards $1,541 more, all the money being taken to pay off debts of which he knew nothing. He had sold his farm for $3 000 to raise this money, and now he is working in a Toronto factory—none of his money being left.

Among the Toronto creditors are The Wyld-Darling Co., The Ames Holden Co., The Eby, Blain Co., Warren Bros. & Co., and F. J. Westbrook & Sons. They are represented by A. J. R. Snow, of Beatty, Snow & Smith.

THREE GOOD REPUTATIONS.

The three large factories now doing business under the title of United Factories, Limited, have an enviable reputation in the manufacturing world, each having been in operation for over half a century. The excellent quality of their brushes, brooms and woodenware are commented upon all over the civilized world. The amalgamation of these well known companies does not mean higher prices, but better goods, if possible, at closer figures.

TOBACCOMEN SEEKING PROTECTION.

A DEPUTATION of tobacco manufacturers waited on the Premier and Minister of Justice at Ottawa on March 21, and called their attention to the way the trade of the Canadian tobacco manufacturers is being menaced by the American Tobacco Trust. The Trust has bought out The Empire Tobacco Co. of Canada, and is threatening to withhold from the Canadian houses the American brands of tobacco which are becoming popular in Canada, unless the wholesale and retail dealers consent to only handle the Canadian leaf the Trust manufactures.

Of late, several Canadian factories have succeeded in creating a considerable demand for native leaf of their own manufacture in this country, and this action of The American Tobacco Co. threatens to deprive them of this trade, so the Government is being asked to release them in some way from this state of affairs into which they were being driven.

Messrs. M. K. Cowan, R. F. Sutherland and several other members of Parliament accompanied this deputation, which consisted of Mr. Wilton, George E. Tuckett & Sons, Hamilton; Mr. Fred Fox, The Erie Tobacco Co., Kingsville; B. Goldstein, REFLECTIONS OF A TRAVELLER.

Never take the train to the next station while you are doing business where you are.

There is nothing so difficult to oppose in argument as statistics in the hands of the other fellow.

It is not good policy to be always explaining why. Try not to have anything to explain.

If you want to earn a man's regard, induce him to perform some slight service for you. He will think more of you than if you had loaded him with favors.

TORPEDO FISH.

LECTURING at Leicester, Eng., recently, Dr. F. Gotch, professor of Oxford University, dwelt, according to an exchange, upon the subject of electrical fish, and pointed out that no such fish existed in English rivers. They were comparatively rare objects, he said, and were possessed of singular interest. There were at least four groups of electrical fish in which an extraordinary electrical organ had been developed. Some of these fish could give shocks strong enough to knock a man down, and, if the current they were capable of generating could be maintained, it would be sufficient to light a whole town. The electrical eel and the torpedo fish were alluded to as a species possessing this remarkable phenomenon. The lecturer described the electrical organ found in the tail of the common skate. Physiologists, he said, had been dissecting this fish for years, but had generally passed over the tail as an object unworthy of study. It is here, however, that the interesting structure is situated, immediately below the skin. It consists of a whole series of columns which have taken the place of muscles. These columns contain translucent material, and in the fresh state are most beautiful objects. The columns are crossed by lines which divide them into compartments, like a railway train, the compartments including a most wonderful arrangement of nerves. The electric discharge occurs as the result of a nervous impulse communicated in the fish to the nerve ends, causing an electrical charge. An electrical organ may include as many as 2,000,000 of these compartments. The lecturer, continuing, said that a formidable species of electric fish which inhabits the rivers of North Africa, including the Nile, belongs to the genus gymnotus, and is capable of giving a very powerful shock. An easily recognizable picture of this fish has been discovered in an ancient Egyptian tomb. These electric organs were the most remarkable examples of nerve mechanism known to exist. They had been developed as a means of defence —the first consideration for the maintenance of any species—and also as a means of attack.

A PROGRESSIVE COLLEGE PROFESSOR.

Dr. Davidson. of the New Brunswick University, took his class in economics to St. John last week and visited some of the chief industrial establishments, among them being the tea blending and packing warehouse of T. H. Estabrooks, proprietor of "Red Rose" tea, the Portland Roller Mills and Pender & Co.'s nail works.

The class was very much interested in the various kinds of labor-saving machinery, and, no doubt, gained some practical knowledge which will be of material benefit to them.

SHOULD A BUSINESS MAN RETIRE AT SIXTY?

THE newspapers discuss many subjects that are of more or less public or individual interest. Recently, quite a number of comments have been observed upon the question, "When a man is 60 years old, should he withdraw from business?"

The opinions of different individuals upon this subject have been sought. Among these is Mr. Henry Clews, the oldest broker in Wall Street, and who is the only man remaining in the street who has done business under his own sign for 43 years.

Mr. Clews, in a signed interview, says: "I think a man ought to retain an active interest in his business as long as his vitality holds out, no matter how old he is or how much money he has accumulated. It is dangerous to have nothing but time on your hands. My business is in such shape that I need not come to the office once a week, but I am here every day anyway, and I haven't the slightest intention of retiring."

Mr. Clews is considerably over 60, and, in a reminiscent way, he refers to several well-known men who have passed the 60 mile post.

Andrew Carnegie is one of these. He made the greatest success of his life after he was 60 years old, Mr. Clews says, and, in fact, after that time, as in less than two years he cleaned up $150,000,000, though, of course, he had laid the foundation for what resulted during many years prior to the time of his last great deal.

J. P. Morgan is another man instanced who is making the greatest of his successes just now, and he is a man more than 60, and it does not seem likely that he has any thought of retiring.

Russell Sage is another veteran business man who comes to his office every day and attends personally to every detail in his business,

Mr. Clews refers to these men as examples, very likely because they belong to his own business set, but their careers illustrate that a man is only in his prime ordinarily when he has reached the age of 60. As for Mr. Clews, he says: "I come to my office every day and can attend personally, if I wish, to the orders of more than 4,700 customers that I have on my books."

That although over 60 years of age, Mr. Clewes attributes the fact that he possesses this degree of vigor to his habit of life in having never indulged in violent physical exercise. This kind of exercise, "athletic" is the popular term for it, he regards as extremely harmful, believing that it is more injurious than beneficial, as almost always it is attended with over exertion, resulting in harmful results which, if not before, are shown late in life. The only exercise this man says that he has ever been known to take is walking, and that with a gentle pace, and not for a great distance. The result is that he is perfectly well and has always been so.

There are two rather interesting and significant features in the views above expressed, remarks a contemporary. On one hand there is sufficient confirmation of the fact that a man is, or ought to be, at his best when he has arrived at 60 years of age. In the next place, the views entertained in regard to the violent physical exercises that are thought necessary to the training of the coming man and the college man of to-day, the views expressed in the highest degree possess practical common sense. If a man is to live out his days retaining the vigor of his faculties, it is certain that he cannot afford to burn the candle at both ends.

An Unique Window Display.

AN UNIQUE WINDOW DISPLAY.

THE accompanying cut is an illustration of an attractive window display of package tea with baking powder tins for a steeple. The display, which, it will be noticed, is of "Red Rose" tea, appeared in the window of James Edgcumbe, grocer, Peterboro', Ont., and was arranged by James A. Dawson. The photograph, from which the cut was made, was taken by flash light from the inside of the store. The display attracted a good deal of attention. "The people," remarks Mr. Dawson in a letter, "think that the tea must be good seeing that it represents a church."

No doubt a good many of our readers will be able to utilize the idea, not only for displaying package teas, but many other articles which are on the market in package form.

CHEESE-CURING STATION.

The Dominion Government is getting ready to build a cheese-curing station at Brockville, Ont., one of the four points selected for that purpose. It is to be located near the railway station, on property owned by the Grand Trunk Railway, and work on it is being immediately commenced. It will be a two-storey building, 45x80 ft., built after the style of the ordinary cheese factory curing-rooms. Special facilities for icing and controlling the temperature will be provided.

Three other stations are to be located in Ontario and Quebec, the towns selected for them being Woodstock, Cowansville and St. Hyacinthe.

The estate of the late Wm. Adams, wholesale liquor merchant, Toronto, is valued at $45,202, and, as there is no will, the widow and Arthur and Irving, his two sons, are seeking powers of administration.

The result is we have an income of about £600 to £700 per annum, which covers the whole of our working expenses. In return for this payment, the Federation in Parliament; we likewise give free advice on all legal questions to the affiliated associations, or to their individual members through the secretary of the local associations. We likewise deal with all questions of trade customs, trade contracts, and frequently act as arbitrators in trade disputes.

At the present time a scheme is being prepared for the appointment of a board of arbitration by the Grocers' Federation, which it is hoped will be recognized be merchants and manufacturers, and this board will probably have under review the subject of trade contracts, and the terms of such contracts.

The Federation has instituted special terms for the insurance of members against claims made by their assistants for accidents under the law known as the Workmen's Compensation Act; for what is known as the Thirty Party Risks, such as accidents caused by grocers' drivers to members of the public, and also accidents happening to members of the public in or about the shops of the grocers.

The Federation likewise have a benevolent fund, which started two years ago, and has already seven pensioners receiving £22 per annum. It should be added that we have no organizing secretary, but the spread of trade organization is generally done by missionary work, some members of an association visiting a town where no such association exists, and setting forth to a meeting of the grocers the advantages of such a movement.

200 LOCAL ASSOCIATIONS

As to local associations, these are formed in various towns, and already in the United Kingdom we have nearly 200 such associations. They manage their own affairs, and the members generally pay about 10s. 6d. ($2.55) per annum subscription. Where a member has a number of shops, he pays in addition to that sum 2s. 6d. per annum for each shop. These associations give free legal advice to their members, defend their members when they have acted honestly and are unjustly prosecuted, hold social and other gatherings for the mutual intercourse, sometimes arrange prices—but that part of the work is far from successful, and is generally found to be productive of so much contention that the association adopting it is quickly broken up.

In some of these local associations they have a mutual plate-glass insurance department, in which all the members pool their premiums, and at the end of the year, after all expenses for replacements have been paid, they divide the profits. Many of the associations likewise keep what is known as a "black list," which is a list of "deadheads." This, however, has, of course, to be conducted with considerable care, owing to the stringent libel laws which prevail in the United Kingdom.

MANY MEMBERS IN POLITICS.

In a great many of the local associations the principal members are also members of the local town council, and nearly 100 are mayors of the boroughs in which they reside. This gives the local association a very considerable influence locally, and gives the grocery trade generally a very good standing.

In addition, at the monthly meetings of many of these associations, papers on various trade questions are read by different members, and sometimes an experienced and prominent member of the trade will give an address upon some educational topic, such as, tea-blending, coffee-roasting, qualities of sugar, with method of manufacture. All these things are found to be very interesting and helpful, and there are signs of an intention to spread this system of technical education. The main object both of the Federation and of the associations is to bring the members of the trade together, break down the feeling of jealousy hitherto existing, and inspire a feeling of mutual confidence, by which alone united action can be secured for the purpose of opposing common enemies, and for the remedying of common grievances.

OGILVIE BUSINESS SOLD.

THE milling interests of The W. W. Ogilvie Company have been sold. The new purchasers are Charles R. Hosmer, of Montreal, and F. W. Thompson, the general manager of the company at Winnipeg. The price paid for the mills is stated to be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000.

It is intimated that Mr. Hosmer will be the president of the new company, which will be backed by a number of English and United States capitalists. The Ogilvies will retire from the business altogether, the name of the company will be slightly changed, and the business greatly extended. Realizing the immense grain-growing capacity of the Canadian Northwest and the inability of the milling industry of Canada at present to cope with the wheat crops, the new concern will greatly increase its present daily capacity of 7,500 barrels of flour, enlarge its 64 elevators and build many new ones, much increasing its capacity for storing grain.

The late W. W. Ogilvie was the founder of this company in 1801, and afterwards admitted his two sons, W. W. and A. W. Ogilvie, as partners. The business has continued to grow until the present time and is now the largest in Canada.

F. W. Thompson, one of the purchasers, has been a prominent man in the councils of the firm ever since the death of Mr. Ogilvie, which took place a couple of years ago. He has been in Montreal for several weeks engineering the deal, which has resulted as we have mentioned above.

CANADIAN AND WEST-INDIAN TRADE DISCUSSED.

THE Georgetown, Demerara, Argosy, of March 5, contains a report of a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of that place on March 3, when the possibilities of developing Canadian and West-Indian trade with that colony were discussed. Mr. Robert Munro, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association; J. F. M. Stewart, assistant secretary of the Association; G. J. Morrison, J. C. Archibald, Thomas Patterson, H. Thompson, J. S. Billman and Hon. Thomas Kickham were present in the interest of Canadian trade.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Robert Munro stated that 900 firms were represented in the association to which he belonged, and their invested capital exceeded $200,000,000. The combined imports and exports of the Dominion for the year 1901 exceeded $400,000,000. These figures had been doubled within the last 12 years. But, of all the $400,000,000 imports and exports of last year, only $3,000,000 was with the West Indies. With a population of less than 250,000, Newfoundland took six times as much flour as the West Indies with their 2,000,000 souls. Lumber, including doors and sashes, organs, pianos, wagons, iron, steel and other metals, textiles, cotton fabrics, woollens, leather goods, and electrical machinery were some of the articles the Dominion could export to these islands. The Association had now on hand a number of projects for the furtherance of Canadian trade, such as the establishment of a line of steamships to the Cape of Good Hope, the appointment of a Canadian consular service and the advocacy of a preferential tariff between British possessions. He touched on the object of this visit to the West Indies, which was to seek their trade, and offered the merchants there and elsewhere the cooperation of the Association, as far as it would be reasonable for them to give, in any measures that would have a tendency to promote a reciprocal trade with the Dominion.

Mr. Stewart said he had found out that the people of these colonies were only going to buy what they wanted and not what the manufacturers wished to sell them. When he went back he would take with him samples of what was required in these colonies and the prices paid for them at the place of their origin. He alluded to the sugar troubles, and said that with proper tariff arrangements Canada was in a position to consume their surplus products of that article.

A member of the Chamber, the Hon. J. H. De Jonge, on the invitation of the chairman, President E. M. Sanderson, expressed his views. He said that like the preferential tariff, the speed of the steamers going to that colony was a trifle under the requirements. The United States had treated them well, but that should not prevent them going to other markets where they could receive better treatment. Canada could supply many articles to that colony, but should take its produce in return.

The chairman, E. M. Sanderson, hoped that in a reasonable time there would be a considerable increase in their business with the Dominion.

GREEN CORN IN ENGLAND.

FROM the United States, to meet the wants of Canadian and American visitors, green Indian cobs have been forwarded to the London market, this esculent being preserved in crossing the Atlantic by means of cold storage.

But this class of competition is not to go on unchecked, and many astute market gardeners and others are developing enterprises to secure the British market for themselves.

In one instance we have to chronicle the advent of a new English vegetable, new, however, only inasmuch that until recently green Indian corn has not been grown as a vegetable in this country, although so well known in the form it was sent to Covent Garden from America.

It is true that the maize plant, with its tall stem, long flaglike foliage and silvery fringe, has been grown for years in our gardens for decorative purposes, but the cobs have been neglected in their edible or profitable possibilities until last year, when certain market gardeners discovered that an ordinary summer will develop the heads in this country quite sufficiently for eating in the green state, and from these experiments it was found in delicacy of flavor the heads grown in this country were fully equal to those grown in the United States or in Canada.

So rapid has this esculent advanced in favor that whole fields are now devoted in Essex to growing this Indian corn, or maize, as it is called in England, to be cut early, and this season it is finding a growing demand at the large hotels in the West End.

The ordinary cookery books as yet do not include recipes for it, but in the preparation of this vegetable nothing can be more simple, for the cobs only need be boiled in slightly salted water till tender, and served with plain, melted or oiled butter.

When taken at the table one finds that "fingers were made before forks," for, like asparagus, it cannot be properly consumed with other assistance.—Pall Mall Gazette.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE.

THE following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London:

1. A German importer asks to be furnished with the names of some Canadian shippers of molybdenite.

2. A Liverpool firm of provision merchants who have a large sale for bacon (wholesale only) are open to sell on commission for any reliable Canadian firm requiring representation.

3. A Dublin house ask to be referred to Canadian manufacturers of mouldings suitable for picture frames, etc.

4. A correspondent asks for the names of manufacturers in Canada of motor cars and motor car parts.

5. The names of leading importers of cotton and woollen goods, and of some first-class booksellers and stationers in Canada, are required by a correspondent in the north of England.

6. A firm in the Midlands are desirous of arranging for direct consignments of Canadian apples, either on commission or at so much per barrel advanced against bill of lading.

Inquiries received by the Canadian section of the Imperial Institute:

1. A London firm of merchants would like to hear from Canadian manufacturers of doors and mouldings in quantity. They are in a position to contract for the total output of one or more factories.

2. A Liverpool firm ask to be placed in touch with the leading Canadian mining companies who use cvanide of potassium.

3. A London house wish to be placed in corres pondence with Canadian sawmills which can supply packing case shooks on a large scale.

4. A firm in Brussels desire names of Canadian shippers of feldspar of good quality.

[Names of the firms making the above inquiries can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER].

TICKETS AND SHOW CARDS FOR WINDOWS.

Hand-painted show cards and price tickets are quite as necessary to a perfect display of goods in the show window these days as to have goods in the window. It is with pleasure that we call attention to the advertisement of W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., Box 315, in this issue. We can heartily recommend his book of instructions teaching this art as one of the most complete works of the kind ever published. It sells at $1. Secure a copy. It will pay you.

The flour mills at Perth, Ont., are to be enlarged, and machinery of modern type added, which will greatly increase their capacity.

IS SIR RICHARD AWAKE TO HIS DUTY?

THE speech of Sir Richard Cartwright the other day on the budget has attracted a great deal of attention throughout the country. It could scarcely have done otherwise. In point of ability it was one of the best speeches that has been delivered in the House for some time.

But what possibly attracted more attention to it than anything else was the energy and zeal that characterized it. "Richard is himself again," remarked one of the daily papers. And he certainly was.

We are certainly glad to see Sir Richard himself again. Since he took possession of the Trade and Commerce Department in 1896 he has seldom been his old active self. Instead of being a man of action, as was his normal condition prior to that year, he became a man of inaction. And the Department of which he is the head became almost a sinecure. Its chief duty appears to be the payment of subsidies and bonuses. As a trade-creating force it is certainly a sinecure.

The Department, in salaries, stationery and sundries, costs the country about $21,500, and it expends something like $670,000 besides, of which only $7,604 is for the maintenance of commercial agencies. It surely costs enough to do something tangible for the commercial interests of the country. Because it has not done something, a strong opinion has developed among the uncommercial classes of Canada that the Trade and Commerce Department should be abolished.

As we have pointed out before, the fault is not with the Department itself. It is with those who administer it. It is not, therefore, the Department that should be abolished.

In commercial affairs it is not customary for shareholders to wipe out an important department because the head thereof has been incapable. They remove the head and endeavor to put new life into the department. This is what should be done in regard to the Trade and Commerce Department.

It is possible it may not be necessary to remove Sir Richard. He may have woke up at last to a sense of his duty. Candidly, however, we must confess that our faith is weak. We fear that his recently awakened energy and zeal are due to concern for his economical tenets and that he is still dead to the importance of the Trade and Commerce Department as a force in developing the commercial interests of the Dominion.

The revival of snuff-taking by the King will doubtless prove a "sneezer" to a great many people.

THE MEN WHO SUCCEED.

Successful business men are not those who follow. They are those who lead.

No matter what their competitors are doing, they keep forging ahead, laying their own plans, devising their own schemes.

They are not ignorant of what their competitors are doing. They endeavor to keep informed as to modern business methods and as to the course of the various markets. But they also act and think for themselves.

The man of thought and of action is the man who is orlginal. And the man who is original stands out among his fellows, is seen and does the business.

BRITISH TEA IN AMERICA.

THERE was quite an expansion last year in the trade in British-grown tea with Canada and the United States. This is shown by figures recently issued by Gow, Wilson & Stanton, London, England.

The total quantity of Indian and Ceylon tea shipped to this continent, direct and indirect, was 19,266,691 lb. This was nearly 3,000,000 lb. more than in 1900 and over 9,500,000 lb. more than in 1896. In other words, in six years there has been an increase of over 100 per cent.

The following table shows the avenues through which the tea was shipped to Canada and the United States, and the quantity that was of Indian and Ceylon growth respectively during the last two years:

INDIAN TEA.

	1900.	1901.
Re-exports from U. K.....	2,840,711	1,958,215
Transhipment via U. K. ..	1,001,174	1,628,644
Direct exports via China ..	1,103,752	1,174,557
Direct exports via Calcutta.	2,081,136	2,198,612
Total lb.....	7,026,773	6,960,028

CEYLON TEA.

	1900.	1901.
Re-exports from U. K.....	4,895,193	3,121,727
Transhipment via U. K....	2,159,275	1,303,477
Direct exports via China ..	2,694,819	1,262,463
Direct exp'ts from Colombo	2,491,631	3,489,017
Total lb.....	12,239,918	9,176,684

It will be noticed that in the direct exports from the country of production there has been a decline. This is due to the fact, at any rate as far as Canada is concerned, that fewer teas have been consigned than formerly.

Until the past year teas were consigned to Canada in quantities far beyond the consumptive requirements of the country. The result was, of course, heavy losses. In many instances sales had to be made at prices which meant a net loss of 4c. per pound to the consignors. Thanks to better judgment in consigning and to shipments made from here to the United States the tea market in Canada is to-day in a healthier condition than it has been for some years.

The temperance people of Kent propose running Mr. Parrott as their candidate in the coming Provincial elections. Mr. Parrott ought to be a good talker.

OUR TRADE RELATIONS WITH GERMANY.

IT is to be hoped that the efforts of the Dominion Government to secure better trade relations with Germany will not prove abortive.

Canada, in inducing the British Government to give notice of the abrogation of the commercial treaty with Germany, was actuated by no antipathy towards that country. Canada wanted to give the products of Great Britain preferential tariff treatment. This, with the treaty with Germany and Belgium in existence, she could not do, although the treaty was created before the Dominion had an existence. This was simply intolerable to Canada, and had been for several years.

Possessing self government and the right —which we took advantage of—to place an import duty on the products of the Mother Country, we could not, nevertheless, give her products preferential treatment.

The price we have had to pay for this is the maximum tariff of Germany; and while this has in some respects adversely affected our trade with that country, there are few, if any, Canadians who would be prepared to recall the past, with its restrictions, in order that the tariff conditions as they were before 1897 might be brought into existence again.

However, it is possible we may be able to successfully negotiate a commercial treaty with Germany, as we did eight years ago with France.

The British Government came in for some severe crlticism from a number of British newspapers for not insisting, when negotiating the treaty with Germany that succeeded that abrogated in 1897, that the maximum tariff should not be applied to Canada. We do not know whether or not the British Government made any representations to Germany in the matter. But, no doubt, Canada would have its good offices and influence in negotiating a treaty with the German Empire.

In spite, however, of a tariff that militates against Canadian products, our export trade with Germany has not, on the whole, suffered to the extent one might have expected, for, whereas in 1897 it was valued at $764,589, in 1901 it was $1,374,716.

The following table gives the course of the export trade in home products with Germany in each alternate year since 1897, in the different branches of industry :

	1897.	1899.	1901.
Mine	$ 69,373	$ 15,074	$300,516
Fisheries	22,758	42,442	75,038
Forest	8,584	32,604	16,999
Animals and their produce	21,521	80,437	8,452
Agricult'l products	494,822	829,817	300,285
Manufactures	147,531	309,999	673,426
	$764,589	$1,310,373	$1,374,716

It will be noticed at a glance that where the trade has been adverse is in products of the farm. The following table shows how the trade stood in 1897 and 1901 in the chief lines of agricultural products :

EXPORTS OF AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS TO GERMANY.

	1897. Bush.	1901. Bush.
Buckwheat	283,087	100,722
Oats	344 544	.....
Peas, whole	78,692	60,351
" split	.....	11,773
Rye	17,158	23,791
Wheat	20,559	28,369
Clover seed	5,848	9,071

The large increase in the exports of mine products is chiefly in metallic lead, in which in 1897 the trade was nil. The chief exports in mine products during the two years were as follows :

EXPORTS OF THE MINE TO GERMANY.

	1897. Tons.	1901. Tons.
Asbestos, 3rd class	672	1,574
Coal	460	854
Lead, metallic, contained in ore, etc	....	5,308,700
Mica	....	700

The most satisfactory feature of our export trade with Germany is that in manufactured goods. In almost every line there has been a steady growth since 1897. This will be seen on glancing over the following table :

VALUE OF MANUFACTURED EXPORTS TO GERMANY.

	1897.	1901.
Agricultural implements	$67,815	$474,249
Bicycles	14,287	.....
Drugs and chemicals	17	8,836
Cotton waste	.....	23,309
India rubber manufactures	350	2,015
Castings	23,787	33,589
Pig iron	640	7,500
Machinery	2,059	2,917
Hardware	612	355
Steel, and manufactures of	525	51,618
Sole and upper leather	10,428	15,773
Musical instruments	21,176	17,080
Manufactures of tin	60	281
Cigars and cigarettes	5	310
Tobacco—stems and cuttings	922	1,251
Matches and match splints	.....	480
Wood pulp	1 000	18,736
Other manufactures of wood	343	2,971
Miscellaneous man'f'd articles	1,169	7,246

Our imports from far exceed our exports to the German Empire, the former last year being $7,021,405, while the latter, as already shown, was $1,374,716, or about 401 per cent. less. In negotiating a treaty, therefore, with Germany we have a good case to present. Germany must know that in seeking the abrogation of the objectionable treaties we were actuated by no animosity against her, and it ought not to be difficult to convince her that our trade is worth looking after.

It is to be hoped that the Canadian Government will open negotiations through the proper channel without delay, for while our export trade with Germany is growing, it is in spite of the difficulties which the maximum tariff create.

A LARGE ORDER FOR FLOUR.

THE order received by The Ogilvie Milling Co. for 35,000 bbls. of flour for shipment to South Africa will considerably swell the flour trade of this country with that part of the world.

Heretofore, the export flour trade with South Africa can hardly be said to be up to expectations. With the war on, it was thought that there would be a large and steady demand.

During the first year of the war we did well, the trade returns for 1900 showing a total of 31,457 bbls. exported, but last year the quantity was only 500 bbls.

Now, however, with a single order for flour exceeding the total quantity that was exported to South Africa during the whole of the fiscal year 1900, our hopes are naturally in the ascendency.

Our exports of flour to all countries last year aggregated 1,269,515 bbls. This, with one exception, was the largest on record. The largest on record was in 1898, when 1,449,529 bbls. were exported.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN

CURRANTS EASIER IN LONDON.

NO improvement in the demand for currants can be said to have been manifested during the week, and the market remains in an inanimate condition. Little or no anxiety to sell has, however, been displayed by merchants, who appear content to await a revival of trade rather than accept the lower prices, which would inevitably result from an attempt to force sales at the present stage. Some parcels of medium fruit and provincial have been pushed for sale by speculators anxious to realize, and a few transactions have resulted at prices 6d. to 1s. per cwt. in favor of buyers. The ss. Cairn Ryan is in the river, and the ss. Tiber, with about 600 tons, is due in about a week. In view of the slowness of trade and this important addition to the stocks, lower prices are not unnaturally looked for, and any reduction must be regarded with favor by grocers and dealers alike, as with a general lowering of the lowest retail price the public regard for this cheap article of diet may be expected to become once more fully established.—Produce Markets' Review, March 15.

PRICES OF PEAS FIXED.

A private wire from South Jersey states that after several conferences with canners in the vicinity of Cape May the farmers have declined to accept $40 per ton for peas. Delaware packers, it is stated, have in some instances opened prices for the canned article on the basis of last year's figures, notwithstanding the fact, as reported, that prices for seed peas have advanced, owing to the scarcity, almost 50 per cent. above those of last season. Referring to the outlook a letter from a New Jersey packer says: "The crop prospects do not favor a large production in this section, and the high prices asked by growers are, to some extent, justified. These will, however, have some effect on the prices for the canned product, and as yet packers are not in a position to fix a selling basis.

"There has been some talk of a combine among the packers, but it is believed the matter has been dropped for the present."—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

Czarnikow, MacDougall & Co. say of sugar: "The vital question of beet sowings must remain unanswered for six weeks longer, but all estimates indicate a reduction of from 10 to 15 per cent. Should the reduction reach the latter figure the European beet production of 1902-1903 will be fully 1,000,000 tons less than it was in the past campaign, and for the health of the sugar markets throughout the world it is to be hoped that this will prove to be the case. Low prices for sugar compel the factories to give low prices for roots and this should cause the farmers to turn their attention to other crops. Notwithstanding this week's large receipts there has been a good demand for sugars on the spot, and a still better one for sugars for shipment and it is now impossible to buy sugars for shipment at anywhere near our parity. Last sales of Cubas include very nearly all the sugars now afloat from ports where want of warehouse facilities prevent holding, and there is, therefore, little sugar from Cuba to come immediately upon the market. Our market closes firm, with an upward tendency, owing to the scarcity of offerings. A further advance is looked for, particularly as Cuba sugars are now still more likely to be kept back, seeing that the caucus voted to recommend a reciprocal treaty with Cuba, giving her a reduction of 20 per cent. on the existing duties, this treaty to remain in force till December, 1903. Being now sure that, sooner or later, there will be a reduction in the duties on Cuban sugars, the hopes of the Cuban holders have been so strengthened that there is even less disposition than before to accept present prices, notwithstanding that stocks in Cuba are over 330,000 tons. Java refrains from offering any new-crop sugars, as prices in the Island are much above this market, nor is there any pressure to sell the balance of old crop. Egypt, too, continues holding her crop for higher prices than those now ruling. Cuba—The market in Cuba remains firm, with plenty of buyers at prices much higher than those ruling here. Very little land has been prepared for planting this spring, and unless some favorable decision is speedily arrived at in Washington, it is feared that the next crop will not be larger than the present one."

STOCK OF THE SALMON COMBINE.

CANADIAN investors and stock with a great deal of interest to brokers are looking forward the "listing" on the Stock Exchanges of the new $4,000,000 company recently formed to acquire the canning companies of British Columbia. This new concern, in which are interested some of the leading capitalists of Toronto and Montreal, is to be called "The British Columbia Packers' Association." The capital has been already over-subscribed, and inquiries from all parts of the Dominion are being received by local brokers as to when the stock is to be listed. There are 72 canning companies in British Columbia, and the majority of them have signified their intention of joining with the company. Messrs. Aemilius Jarvis, of Toronto, and Henry Doyle, of Vancouver, have been successful in getting options on the majority of the companies, and are still engaged negotiating with those outstanding. Although a few Americans are interested in the new concern, the great majority belong to Toronto and Montreal. The authorized capital of the new concern will be $4,000,000, but it will not all be issued at the present time. The stock will be of two kinds—common and preferred. Although the exact arrangement has not been positively decided upon, a private circular issued by the promoters sets forth that the preferred stock will be 7 per cent. accumulative, and the dividend on the common will not exceed 10 per cent. until 50 per cent. of the preferred has been redeemed at a figure to be decided upon by the directors.

According to the present arrangement the canners are to take common stock for their canneries, and a certain amount in cash. There will be $2,500,000 common stock and $1,500,000 preferred. The latter is to be redeemed at 115; $250,000 will be left in the treasury, and $1,250,000 will be sold, the proceeds of which will go towards working capital and cash payments for canneries.

It is stated by those on the inside that the profits are estimated at 40 per cent., and that an enormous saving will be effected by consolidation. British Columbia canned goods are known all over the world, and sold in most of the countries.

The stock will be listed on the local Exchange within a few weeks, and it is anticipated there will be some lively "fireworks" in it for a time. The shares are to be listed in Toronto, Montreal, San Francisco, and possibly Boston.—Mail and Empire.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

Buyers of Comadra figs should communicate with H. P. Eckardt & Co.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, report their first shipment of "Anchor" brand new maple syrup now in store.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report that they are offering Japan tea at low prices.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are offering California Italian prunes in bags of 100 lb. at low prices.

John Sloan & Co. are unloading a car of green Rio coffees this week and are in a position to give their trade some exceptional values.

Through an error in a recent issue, W. H. Gillard & Co.'s advertisement on page 6 read, "Gibson's" Carburet of Iron Stove Polish. This should have been "Dixon's", as it appears in this week's issue.

OFFERING TO COMPROMISE.

W. G. Dunn, spice manufacturer, Hamilton, is offering to compromise. He offers 50c. on the dollar, payable in 30 and 60 days, beginning from April 1. The liabilities are $16,706, and the assets $28,881, leaving a nominal surplus of $12,175.

Among the exports from Canada to the United States last week were 26,416 pounds of "Salada" Ceylon tea.

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, March 27, 1902.

GROCERIES.

JUST as we went to press last week an advance of 5c. took place in the price of all grades of refined sugars. This advance has been the principal feature of the week. Business, generally, is, if anything, a little better than a week ago, and is attributed to the gradual improvement in the country roads, although, as far as sugar is concerned, the improved demand that is therein to be noticed is evidently due to the firmer tone of the market. Business is fairly good in canned goods, and in vegetables, is, if anything, better than it was a week ago. The green coffee trade keeps quiet, but there is a fair business being done in roasted coffees. The spice market remains much about the same as a week ago, although in some lines there seems to be a little more firmness. A fairly good movement is to be noted in syrups and molasses, and rice and tapioca are going out well. There is quite a lull in the tea trade this week, with prices keeping firmer. Currants are still in active request. Valencia raisins are meeting with a fair demand and are rather firmer in price in the outside markets. Prunes continue in fair request.

CANNED GOODS.

There appears to be a slightly improved demand all round for canned tomatoes, peas and corn, although the feature of the market is still the strong tone in regard to tomatoes. Some fairly good lots of tomatoes have changed hands during the past week on wholesale account. The price to retailers still rules at 90 to 95c. Peas are quoted at 80c. up, and corn at 70c. upwards. French peas are offering for May shipment, but the prices show an advance of from 5 to 10 per cent. compared with last year. Canned mushrooms are stiff in price and scarce. New-pack imported sardines are being offered for later shipment; the price is about the same as that ruling last year. Very few canned fruits are moving. In salmon the demand is only moderate, and the same may be said of all kinds of canned fish. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

COFFEES.

The demand for green coffees of all descriptions is still limited, although roasted coffees continue in fairly good demand. The deliveries of Rio coffee are rather heavy at Rio and Santos, and the outside markets are dull, but without any material change. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7⅜c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Slightly higher prices are cabled from the East on pepper for April-June shipment, and in New York the market is steady on this article. Nutmegs are rather firmer. Locally, there is a moderate trade, but there is no particular feature to be noted.

RICE AND TAPIOCA

A good trade is being done in both rice and tapioca. Cable advices report slightly higher prices for pearl for shipment. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; sago, 4c.; tapioca, 4c.

SUGAR

On Friday last, after our paper was in the hands of most of our readers, there was an advance of 5c. in the price of all refined sugars, which made the basis for granulated f.o.b. Montreal, $4.03 for Redpath and St. Lawrence, and $3.98 for Acadia. This advance in price was in sympathy with the New York market, and has stimulated business quite perceptibly, which was quite welcome after the stagnation which has characterized the sugar market for some time. In New York raws have advanced 1-16c., quotations for 96-test centrifugals being 3½c. with other grades at a relative basis. Meltings in New York last week increased 3,000 tons, the quantity melted being 30,000 tons, while the receipts were 38,456 tons. Raw-beet sugars have recovered from the low point noted last week, namely, 5s. 3d., now being quoted at 6s. 5½d. At this price it is above the parity of centrifugal sugars in New York. There is much conjecture regarding the next beet campaign and reliable estimates may be looked for in about six weeks. Some preliminary estimates indicate a reduction of 10 to 15 per cent. This would mean a total reduction of about 1,000,000 tons. The Reciprocity Bill which has been introduced in the House of Representatives at Washington provides a reduction of 20 per cent. in duty on Cuban products, but it is thought that the preference will be ultimately 33 1-3 per cent. In expectation of this holders of Cuban sugars continue to ask higher prices, and the tone of the raw market has been considerably strengthened thereby.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is a good movement in both syrups and molasses. Advices from New Orleans report a firm market, particularly for open kettle molasses. The ruling quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

The local market is decidedly quiet in all descriptions of tea. About the only inquiry there is is for China greens, which, of course, are practically unobtainable. Mail advices under date of March 14, say that at the auction a generally firm tone characterized the market for Indian teas. All grades met with good attention, and sold fully up to the previous week's rates, common teas being, perhaps, in the strongest demand. With a moderate quantity brought forward and the probability of light shipments in the near future, made the market for Ceylon tea steady, and all grades met with good attention, selling up to the previous week's prices. The average price obtained at the auction for Indian tea was 7.48d. against 6.86d. the same time last year. In Ceylon teas the average was 7.02d. against 6.48d. a year ago.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is a good demand, and stocks are light on the local market. On the outside markets prices rule firm. We quote: Filiatras, 6 to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The outside markets are decidedly strong. Mail advices from London, Eng., say that they were buying on the continent for local consumption, and the outlook for the article is exceedingly strong. As we have already pointed out stocks in Spain have been exhausted for some time. As far as we can learn nothing can be laid down in Toronto from the outside markets under 6c., and wholesalers' prices are firm at 6½ to 6¾c. for selected raisins.

SULTANA RAISINS.—These are in fairly good demand and prices are steady at 8c. for dark up to 12c. for bright.

PRUNES.—The demand is keeping up fairly well and a nice business is still being done. The outside market is steady with prices unchanged. We quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—The demand for dates keeps good and the result is that stocks are quite light. Both Hallowees and Sairs are firm at 4½c.; the latter are particularly firm at the price named.

FIGS.—Tapnet figs continue in fair demand with prices firm at 3¼ to 3½c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The demand is good with prices firm. We quote, according to quality and package: Apricots, 13 to 17c.; peaches, 11 to 14c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

Bananas are selling freely, and their prices are firm. Trade in lemons is improving. Californian navel oranges still are in good demand, and another rise is expected; other lines of oranges are also moving better. Cranberries, grape fruit and Malaga grapes are quiet. Tomatoes have advanced to $4.50 per case in New York, and are scarce. This will make their price here advance $1 to $1.50 per case. There are improved receipts of strawberries, and the demand for them is good, in spite of their high prices. We quote as follows: Oranges, marmalade, $2.75 to $3 per case; Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Floridas $3 to $3.25 per box; Mexicans, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Californian navels, $3.75 to $4.25 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75; Valencias, $4.50 to $5.00 per small case, $5.50 to $6.00 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; late Jerseys, $8.50 to $9; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50 to $4.50; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3; Californian celery, $4.50 to $4 95 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $5.50 to $6 per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 45 to 55c. per qt.

VEGETABLES.

Trade for green market produce has improved with the weather and the prices are firm. The receipts of rhubarb have been large and there is a good demand for that article. Radishes are scarce. The other lines are in normal condition. We quote: Green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 75c. to $1.25 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 50c. per bag; turnips, 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 40 to 50c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 75c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Eggs—There have been liberal receipts and the price is down to 12½ to 13c. per doz. for new laid, a drop of 1 to 1½c. since a week ago. There may be a further decline.

Beans—Trade is quiet. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40, and prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

Honey—There is a fair movement from stock. We quote as follows: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9¼ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

Maple Syrup and Sugar—The receipts have been moderate; the demand is good. We quote: Maple syrup, in 1-gal. cans, 90c. to $1.10 per gal.; maple sugar, 9 to 11c. per lb.

Dried and Evaporated Apples—Trade is dull. We quote as follows: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

Butter—The quantities of poor grade butter coming in are large and jobbers are finding it hard to move, there being no market for it excepting for baking purposes. Choice dairy prints are selling good. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18½c.; large rolls, 16 to 18c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 24c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

Cheese—The export trade continues good and prices are firm at 11 to 11½c. locally. For export the prices range from 10¾ to 11c. It was reported that several shipments had been make at 11c. f.o.b. Toronto.

POULTRY.

Dressed Poultry—There are a few turkeys and chickens being offered, and prices are nominal. We quote: Chickens, 60 to 90c. per pair; turkeys, 12 to 14c. per lb.

Live Poultry—The receipts have been small. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 9c., for ducks and turkeys 12c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens and pullets, 5c. per lb.; broilers, 25c. per lb. (must be this year's hatching and under 2 lb. each). Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

Trade in fish continues brisk, and the supply on hand is becoming small. Prepared fish especially are well cleaned out. Green cod are being offered at 7½ to 8c., and green haddock at 6 to 7c. per lb. The demand for oysters is slackening off, and the season for them is about over. We quote: Fresh and frozen fish—Codfish, 6 to 8c.; whitefish, 6½ to 7½c.; herring, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7½c.; halibut, 10 to 15c., haddock, 5c. per lb.; perch, 5c.; British Columbian salmon, fresh, 20c., frozen, 11c.; Labrador herring, $3 to $3.25 per 100-lb. bbl. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 50 to 65c. per bundle. Prepared fish—Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.; bloaters, per box of 50, $1 to $1.25; kippered herring, 50 in a box, $1 to $1.25 per box; smelts, per 15-lb. box, extras, 12c. per lb.; No. 1, 6½ to 7c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $6.25 to $6.75 per large pail, or $3.75 per small pail; selects, $4.50 to $5 per pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

Grain—Prices are easy at 86c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat, 82c. for No. 1 Northern, and 78c. for No. 2 Northern. The movement from the West is small and will be until the opening of navigation. On the St. Lawrence market the receipts have been light and prices are unchanged excepting an advance of 2c. in white and red Ontario wheat. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 79c.; goose, 66½ to 67c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

Flour—There is a quiet movement with a limited demand. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.05; Manitoba bakers', $3.80; straight roller, $3.40 to $3.50 per bbl. in Toronto.

Breakfast Foods—Oatmeal and rolled oats are quiet but the demand is expected to improve after Easter. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4 85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4 60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.50 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.75; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196 lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

Hides—Trade is slack and the market is weak. We quote: No. 1, green, 7c.; No. 2 green, 6c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7c.; cured, 7¾ to 8c.

Skins—The demand is quiet. We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 80c.

Wool—The market is dull owing to the poor foreign demand. We quote fleece, 13c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

THEIR REQUEST REFUSED.

The Board of Control of the Toronto City Council was waited on on Friday, March 21, by a deputation from the butchers' section of the Toronto branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, and asked to delay the fitting up of the new St. Lawrence Market.

Should more time be given and a conference arranged between the property committee and the butchers and others interested in the market, it was claimed a plan satisfactory to all could be arranged, while at the same time the interests of the city would be preserved.

The controllers promised their support, and advised the same committee to wait on the council on the following Monday.

The same arguments were used by the same delegation on Monday, when they appeared before the City Council, but their quest was in vain, for the council decided to proceed with the fitting up of the St. Lawrence Market without delay.

A TRAVELLER GOES WEST.

These are days when young men are taking Horace Greeley's advice and going west. Among those who have recently decided to go is Mr. B. S. Blackwell, who has been with T. Galt Co., wholesale grocers, Winnipeg and Vancouver, and will leave for the latter city in a few days. Mr. Blackwell, who is young and energetic, will doubtless do well in the West. At any rate, he will if the good wishes of the many friends he has in the trade have any force.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, March 27, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE end of Lent and the now shortly-expected opening of navigation have been two reasons for a change in the grocery trade; and it is not one for the better. Business all round is very quiet, buyers waiting for the reduction in freight rates which will take place when navigation opens, and this is expected about April 1. Montreal is especially affected by this. Whatever lines are moving are for immediate requirements, and in small quantities, as a rule. Except in one or two cases the week has been an uneventful one in the grocery business. Sugar is one of the exceptions, an advance of 5c. having occurred. The agreement between jobbers in regard to the price of DeKuyper gins, in cases, has come to an end, and lower prices are consequently quoted. Violet and Green are 20c. lower per dozen cases, Red, 25c. lower, and White, 50c. lower. Chicago pork has advanced 25c. per barrel. Canadian starches are up ¼c. per lb. Friday being a holiday caused some activity in the market on Thursday, but this was only incidental and did not affect the trade of the week.

SUGAR.

On March 21 all sugars were advanced in this market 5c., following an advance in the American refineries of 10c. The market now shows considerable more strength, and at the advanced price there has been a better business, though the movement is still anything but heavy. The advance came as a surprise to most dealers, who felt convinced of the weakness of the market and did not look for a higher price. A good deal of uncertainty prevails now among all those interested in the sugar market. Dealers, who are in a position to be well informed, however, state that they are not expecting any further advance just at present. At the recent advance granulated sugar is quoted at $3.85, and yellows at $3.10 to $3.75.

TEAS.

Quietness prevails in the tea market still. Gunpowders are said to be very scarce, and what is being offered is not of a desirable quality. Japan teas and Ceylon blacks are moving comparatively well. There is a firmer feeling in Japan teas on account of the light stocks here; which are lower than they have been at this season for a number of years. There is still a scarcity of China greens, and though the movement is small, prices are firm.

SYRUPS.

The demand for corn syrups is still good, and some increase in the demand has been caused by the approach of Easter. There has been no change made in the prices. Our quotations are as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

Since the decline of 1c. in Barbados molasses last week, another has taken place of 2½c., and the price now quoted, for any quantity, or at any place, for molasses on spot or to arrive, is 24½c. This was brought about by the unanimous consent of the breaking of the agreement which had existed between wholesalers in regard to the sale of Barbados molasses. It was felt that owing to the keen outside competition it would be best to leave each member of the Guild free to act as he pleased. The primary market has rallied lately and shows some firmness, and a report to a Montreal house, on Monday of this week, stated than an advance of ½c. per gallon had taken place there. One of the causes of this has been that owing to their being heavily drwn upon, the stocks on the primary market have become much smaller, and it is also said that the crop is not as large as at first stated; being, in fact, no more than an ordinary one. Should a further advance take place in Barbados, it is likely to affect the market here, and a few dealers say that prices may go up at any moment. Quotations are as follows for Barbados, in any quantity: 24½c.; Antigua, 24c.; Porto Rico (finest grade), 38 cents.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned goods has kept up very well. The approach of Easter caused a better movement in canned fruits, and this week there is a splendid business doing in that line. Tomatoes continue to be the only changeable feature of the canned goods trade, and though our former prices can still be quoted, the tendency of the market is plainly towards higher prices, and one house has disposed of a large quantity at quite remunerative figures, 95 to 97½c., an advance of 2½ to 5c. over their former quotations. This will have its effect on the general wholesale trade, and prices to retailers are very likely to be advanced by all dealers at almost any time. The scarcity of tomatoes is now beginning to make itself felt. Other lines of canned goods remain practically the same. We quote: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. We quote: Salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

The market for almost all kinds of spices is now in a fair condition. The prospect of short supplies in peppers is having the effect of stiffening this market, and prices are now very firm. On other lines of spices there is also a firm feeling, but the market is featureless. No quotable change has occurred. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a good demand for both rice and tapioca at steady prices. Our quotations are as follows in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is a fair movement, but the market is still uninteresting. We quote: Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—This market is very firm and the demand is good. Finest off-stalk sell for 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅜c.; layers, 6⅞c.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is a steady demand and nothing new has occurred in prices. We quote: Orange peel, 11½c.; lemon peel, 10½c.; citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is a moderate inquiry, and our quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is an active inquiry for dates, but stocks on hand are very light. A few import orders for Hallowees have been given for arrival by the first direct steamer. As yet they sell for 4¼ to 4½c.

FIGS.—There is still a great scarcity of tapnet figs. On the local market only one house holds any stock at all. Tapnets are quoted at $1.20, and layers at $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Late advices from the primary market state that stocks of raisins have become considerably depleted. The demand here, however, has not materially improved, and prices for seeded raisins remain at 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—Though the stocks of these are not as light as other Californian dried fruits, yet, a recent report says that the assortment has been badly broken. Large and small sizes are about exhausted, and the stock of medium sizes remaining is not large. Packers are anticipating an advance at an early date, but they are still offering prunes of 1901 crop at a ½c. basis less than last year's crop. Quotations are as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS —These are unchanged this week in price. There is a growing improvement in the demand. Apricots sell for 14½c.; peaches, 10½c.; pears, 10c.

NUTS.

The market is still quiet, though on a few lines a firmer feeling is evident. Filberts have advanced on the primary market from 2 to 3s. per bale since the departure of the steamer for Messina, and this tends to stiffen prices here. Almonds are also firmer, but the price is unchanged. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9½c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Wholesalers report the past week to have been satisfactory, and stocks of held butter have been pretty well sold up. It has been none too soon, as deliveries of fresh-made rolls and new butter are increasing daily, and the market is bound to feel the effect of this shortly. Fresh-made creamery from the Eastern Townships is commencing to offer more freely, and the price on this store; corn, 66 to 67c.; buckwheat, 55½c.; middle freights, feed barley, 53 to 54c.

OATMEAL.—The rolled oats market has continued to decline and present quotations are 15 to 25c. lower per barrel than last week. Trade is only moderate. The price is $4.50 to $4.60 per barrel.

FEED.—There is no change in the situation of the feed market. The demand is good and prices are firm. We quote: Ontario bran, in carlots, $18.50 per ton; shorts, $22.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—There is a moderate demand at unchanged quotations. Prices, however, are somewhat unsteady. We quote: No. 1 timothy, $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9.25; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Rolled oats are 15 to 25c. per barrel lower.

Barbados molasses is 2½c. per gallon lower.

De Kuyper gins are from 20 to 50c. lower, according to the brand.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., March 22, 1902.

LAST week was exceedingly wet. The rainfall was the greatest ever known in March. This delayed trains, made the roads through the country unfit for travel, and prevented merchants from shipping. For these reasons trade was quiet. It is expected, however, the movement of goods will very shortly be large. The packets are coming out of winter quarters and beginning their regular trips to bay ports. The present outlook is that the river will open earlier than ever before. The event of the week has, perhaps, been the millinery openings. The city has been full of milliners from all over the Maritime Provinces. This has become a particular business here. In markets, cream of tartar is low, costing less than for some years. Sugar is at the lowest point ever known. Rice is low. Feed is scarce and high.

OILS.—There is rather less business in burning oils and the low prices continue. In lubricating oils shipments are now being made. The spring is the busy season. Paint oils are very firm at the higher prices. There is an improved sale. Gasoline is higher, and there is a better demand. Fish oils are high and scarce, particularly seal oil. Cod oil, for which this is a large receiving point, has been a short supply during the last two seasons.

SALT.—Regular receipts of Liverpool coarse salt are to hand by two direct lines from Liverpool, and by the Manchester line. A few weeks will see the lines running to Montreal; then the regular receipts of salt will stop. There is a fair stock held, and prices are quite high and firm. In fine salt there is an improved business. Quotations are now as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—In vegetables, the line of interest is tomatoes, and it looks as if higher prices would rule. There are just fair stocks held. Corn is easy and peas are unchanged. In fruits there is nothing new to report. Blueberries are scarce, strawberries are firm and peaches are unchanged. The sale of fruits is not large. Salmon have a fair demand but there is a wide range in quality and buyers can get goods at about any price they wish. The unfortunate side of the question is the consumer has no protection. Domestic sardines are firm and haddies and kippered herring are scarce. Meats are more in demand. The sale is still light with prices rather firmer.

GREEN FRUITS.—In apples, some fancy stock brought a very high price this week. In the retail stores you can now buy oranges and lemons much cheaper than the best apples. Trade is not large. Valencia oranges are rather firmer; they are large sellers. Californian oranges are somewhat higher; they were not in large supply during the past week, owing to the strike in Boston. Some nice Jamaica stock is still offered, but prices are rather higher. In lemons, the low prices still hold. There are fair sales reported. In bananas, the first large shipment of loose fruit was received this week. In small stuff, such as strawberries, rhubarb and cucumbers, some little are imported. The steamers make a demand for some lines of green goods.

DRIED FRUITS.—This is a quiet line. Prunes are still low. In the American market the fact that 1900 stock has been so freely sold has had this effect. Little, if any, of this old stock has been received here. It is thought the market will be higher. Evaporated apricots are higher. The sale here is small. Peaches are firmer and they also have a very light sale. In raisins, prices are rather higher, and the movement is light. The chief sale is in seeded. Currants have but a fair demand. Dates are high. Peels are scarce and the sale is light. Evaporated apples are high. Quite a few are offered.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs tend lower, though the price of choice stock at retail is still well maintained. In cheese prices are firmer. Local sales are light.

SUGAR.—There was a further decline of 10c. in sugar this week. It is now selling at the lowest price ever quoted. The sale for granulated is large. Some foreign is offered, but the receipts are small. Granulated sugar is lower in Montreal than here, particularly Acadia, which is about the only grade sold here.

MOLASSES.—There have been further arrivals of Porto Rico molasses. Prices this spring are even lower than last, and it is said less profit is being made. Stock is not moving off as quickly as usual. Retailers find it is not as much to their advantage to buy largely while stock is landing as formerly.

FISH.—Business is rather dull and prices are easy. Even fresh fish, which have been rather scarce for some time, in fact, all winter, are now plentiful. Gaspereaux are, as yet, received in very small numbers. In dry cod and pollock, prices tend rather easier; and there is just a fair sale. Smoked herring are very low. Pickled are easy. Haddies have less movement. Quotations are as follows: Haddies, 6 to 6½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2½ to 3c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.80 to $2.00 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered herring, $1 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.85 to $3.90.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, while the market cannot be called lower, there is an easier feeling. Feed is scarce and high and any offering is quickly picked up. Oats are quite firm and there is now quite a sale for extra cleaned for seed. Oatmeal is rather easier. Cornmeal is unchanged. Beans have but a light sale at even figures. Hay is quite firm, much of that for export coming from Quebec. Seeds are having some attention. Our quotations are now as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.70; best Ontario, $4 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; oatmeal, $5.00 to $5.10; cornmeal, $3.05 to $3.10; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; handpicked beans, $1.45 to $1.50; prime, $1.30 to $1.40; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3; split peas, $4.85 to $5; barley, $1.70 to $1.75; hay, $12 to $14.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., March 24, 1902.

DURING the last week the wholesale grocery trade has been in a most satisfactory condition, and, for reasons given in previous letters, will exceed corresponding weeks in other years. However, the extra amount of early spring business may bring a slacker season later on. Orders are coming in briskly from all quarters and are being filled promptly. In most lines the prices have remained firm and with only slight changes. No early changes are anticipated.

Eggs, which are coming in slowly, from conditions noted, are still quoted at 14 to 15c.—about the same as in Montreal. The retailers sell at 20 to 22c., while the country farmers, who sell from house to house, are asking 25c. for fresh-laid fancy eggs. Unless finer weather comes in this week "Easter" eggs will retail at 25c. —perhaps more.

Slight changes have been made in sugars and the latest quotations are : Granulated XXX, $4 ; Austrian, $3.90 ; bright yellow, $3.70 ; No. 1 yellow, $3.40. Declines are also noted in molasses. Present quotations are : Porto Rico, 32 to 33c. (former quotation) ; Antigua, 30c.; Trinidad, 28c.; Barbados, 28c.; St. Croix, 26c.; New Orleans, 30c. (former quotation).

Declines are also noted in some of the heavy provisions, notably in Prince Edward Island pork. Last week's quotations are : P. E. I. mess pork, $20 ; thin mess, $19 ; mess pork, $15. American pork, on which there is a duty of $4 per barrel, is quoted at $21.50 to $23.50. American plate beef is quoted at $15.50 ; Canadian, $14.50.

The flour market remains unchanged ; there is a fairly good demand, but not quite up to expectations. The demand for feeds is somewhat heavier and prices are firmer. Flour, oatmeal, and cornmeal are now practically at prices quoted at the first of the year. The hay market is somewhat weaker. Considerable quantities are held for higher spring prices, but the quantity of cheaper Quebec hay imported has had a tendency to lower prices, which will probably be no higher from this on. Fifty cents per ton is noted as the decline last week.

There is only a slight change in the fish markets, and no improvement is expected until the West-Indian market improves. The market there has been extremely dull for the last two months, but at some points is reported as slightly improved. Bank cod, which a few weeks ago was down to $2.75 to $3, has had two advances, one of which we have reported. The quotation now is $3 to $3.50, a total improvement of 50c. Heavy exportations of dry fish to the West Indies are being made, notwithstanding the low prices, as the old stock must soon be disposed of.

Fresh fish, which had hardly been coming in in quantities to supply the Lenten demand, has greatly improved. Last Tuesday three vessels arrived from the Banks bringing combined cargoes of 6,750 lb. cod, 4,600 lb. halibut, and 2,000 lb. hake. Other vessels have brought smaller quantities.

The schooner Rachel H. Boyd arrived at Halifax on Sunday from Fajardo, Porto Rico, with 190 puncheons, 26 tierces and 52 barrels new-crop molasses, the first importation of the season. George P. Mitchell & Sons are the importers.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 23, 1902.

BUSINESS of all kinds has been delayed by the storm, and, practically speaking, spring will be two weeks later than was anticipated 10 days ago. But no one is doing much growling on that head. Manitobans have come to have rather a suspicion of very early springs ; frost is liable to ensue later. Of course, the roads are in a terrible condition, as in some places there are drifts four and five feet deep, and in others the ground is bare. The snow is disappearing very rapidly with the warm south winds, and slush and slop are holding high carnival. Considering these very adverse conditions, trade has been remarkably good in all grocery lines, particularly. There have been very few changes in price. Rather an important change is anticipated before another week is out, and that is a drop in the price of canned corn. Just what this will be is not known yet.

SUGARS—The market is weak and uncertain, but no further decline has taken place. Present prices are : Extra standard granulated, $4.75 ; bright yellow, $4.05.

SYRUPS—Firm in all lines and no change of prices. Extra bright, 3 to 3½c.; glucose, 3½ to 3⅝c.

MOLASSES—Firm and without change. New Orleans, 35 to 38c.; Porto Rico, 45 to 46c.; Barbadoes, 55 to 57½c.

DRIED FRUITS — Raisins have again advanced on this market, and present srocks are quoted at : Fine off-stalk, $1.90 to $1.95 ; layer raisins, $2 20 to $2.25. Evaporated fruits have not changed for the week but they are very firm. Demand is fair in all lines.

CANNED GOODS—Demand is fair in all lines and tomatoes are holding the advance quoted and are selling regularly at $2.35 to $2.40 per case. Canned meats are higher and very firm in tone. No other line of canned goods shows any change.

GREEN FRUITS—The first car of bananas has arrived, and the fruit is in almost perfect condition. This car is through from three to four days earlier than the first car of last season, and is decidedly better quality. The price quoted is $3 per bunch. Apples—A fine car of Spies arrived during the week, and it is understood that this will be the last shipment from Ontario. The only other apples now on the market are the American Ben Davis. Price is $6.50 per bbl. for anything approaching fancy stock. Lemons are still quoted at the drop of last week, $4.50 per case. Oranges are without change, but market is firm and demand good.

BUTTER—Market is even barer than last week, and with the present condition of country roads no immediate relief is to be looked for. Commission houses are offering 19 to 22c. on commission basis, but these good prices appear to have no effect on the supply.

CHEESE—Market is practically bare, but 300 boxes of choice Ontario will arrive on March 27. This cheese will job at 13c., and is liable to speedily advance to 14c. The demand for cheese is keen.

EGGS—When the blizzard began to blow Friday week, the commission houses flattered themselves that their stocks would soon be cleared up, and prices were advanced from 15 to 18c., but when once the branch line trains got running cases of eggs again poured in, and the glut is as pronounced as ever. Prices dropped back to 15c., and will go lower before the week is out.

CEREALS—The market has been very slow and volume of business limited. Prices are without change. In rolled oats the feeling is easier, and the decline of 5c. noted in the quotations of some houses last week is now general. We quote: 80's, $2.35; 40's, $1.25 ; 20's, 55c.; split peas, $2.85 ; pot barley, $2.45; pearl barley, $3.65 ; white beans, $1.80.

FLOUR—The event of the week, so far as this market is concerned, is the placing with the Ogilvie Milling Company, by one of the leading South African firms, of an order for 70,000 bags, or 230 cars, of their flour. The first of this will be shipped out immediately on the opening of navigation. Locally trade has been limited and the country demand small, largely due no doubt to the conditions of the roads and the general dullness occasioned by the great storm. Prices are without change. Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $1.95 ; Glenora Patent, $1.80 ; Alberta, $1 60; Manitoba, $1.40 ; Imperial XXXX, $1.20 ; Nestor, $1.10 ; Lake of the Woods Milling Company Five Roses, $1.95 ; Red Patent, $1.80; Medora, $1 65 ; XXXX, $1.25 ; Hudson Bay Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Strong Bakers', $1 80; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25 ; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $1.95 ; Home Rule, $1.80 ; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $1.95 ; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70 ; Strong Bakers', $1.60; Pansy, $1.25.

GROUND FEED—Owing to the condition of the roads, this product is very dull. Prices for the week have remained without change. We quote : Oat and barley chop, $24.50 ; oat chop, $26 ; barley chop, $22 ; rolled feed, $22 ; oil cake, $27 per ton.

MILL FEED—The demand is slow but steady, and the price unchanged. We quote : Bran, $14.50 ; shorts, $16.50.

NOTES.

The C.P.R. freight offices have been burned to the ground. It was reported at one time during the fire that the bonded warehouses were going, and this caused great consternation among merchants, as there are over $250,000 worth of goods for Winnipeg merchants stored there. The alarm was fortunately false, as these warehouses escaped entirely.

Lock Bros., wholesale fruit and produce, have leased the premises lately occupied by the Rublee Fruit Co., and will move in about April 1. They will then have the advantage of being on the transfer track. This warehouse will afford them especial good storage for butter.

Last year a number of merchants complained of the Fruit Exchange charging too high prices, and a movement is now on foot to establish a new company, to be known as the Union Fruit and Produce Co., for the purpose of importing Californian fruits direct. It is stated that 45 of the leading retail grocers, produce men and butchers have taken stock in the new venture. W. R. Watson is the secretary at present.

COLD STORAGE CALENDAR.

THE calendar for 1902 that has been issued by The Cold Storage and Ice Trades' Review, 19 Ludgate Hill, London, E.C., is a little book full of useful information for those in the cold storage and ice trade business. Consisting of 72 pages, it contains a calendar, a classified directory of advertisers in Cold Storage and Ice Trades' Review, a list of cold stores and ice factories in the United Kingdom with a directory of their directors, and several tables at the back showing the Norwegian ice imports into Great Britain for 1901, and the properties of ammonia, saturated carbon dioxide and sulphurous oxide. The little book has also many other interesting features and is handy for the readers of that journal.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES SCOTT.

A man prominent in lumber circles passed away in the person of ex-Ald. James Scott, who, after an illness of about a year, died at his residence, 173 Jameson avenue, Toronto, on March 23, with pernicious anemia.

Mr. Scott had for years been connected with the Georgian Bay Lumber Company, as manager and general secretary. He was widely known through his relations with that firm. A native of Ireland, he came to Canada when quite young and settled in Brockville. He taught school for many years, afterwards entering the lumber business as a clerk in the office of the late Hon. W. E. Dodge, of New York, who formed the Georgian Bay Lumber Company out of a number of smaller concerns started by his son, A. J. R. Dodge, at different points on the Georgian Bay. When Mr. Dodge, sr., retired from business, Mr. Scott became manager, and that position he held until his retirement from active business some years ago. He was also head of the Georgian Bay Navigation Company for a considerable time. That company has recently been amalgamated with several other lines, forming the Northern Navigation Company.

Mr. Scott was an alderman for the years 1895, '96 and '97 in the Toronto City Council, representing ward six, and it was contrary to the wishes of his constituents that he retired at the end of the third year.

INDUSTRIAL GOSSIP.

MAKING GLUCOSE. The glucose, syrup and feed departments of the Imperial Starch Works, Prescott, Ont., are now in operation, and the starch department, it is expected, will shortly be in running order. At present there are 50 men employed, and in a short time a number more will be added. The manager of the concern is Dr. J. D. Reid.

NEW ELEVATOR. By the end of next summer the elevator of The Winnipeg Elevator Co., at Regina, N.W.T., will be thoroughly remodelled. New machinery of the most approved design will be installed, and a wagon dump added to the building for the convenience of the farmers in marketing their goods. They will be able to shelter themselves and their teams while their wagons are being unloaded. They also will be able to haul their grain to the elevator loose in boxes, instead of in bags. This will be a saving of considerable importance to them.

The elevator will have a capacity for cleaning and elevating 2,000 bush. of grain per hour, so that the farmers can be attended to as soon as they drive up with their loads.

The power for running the machinery will be supplied by a 30 horse power gas and gasoline engine, made by The Otto Gas and Gasoline Engine Co., Philadelphia.

This company are also planning the construction of large and up-to-date elevators in the spring at Grand Coulee and Belle Plain, N.W.T.

CAVIARE.

Away up in the backwoods of Algoma, north of the Rainy River, there is a long, forbidding body of water known as the Lake of the Woods. From this section of the Canadian wilderness, says What to Eat, comes nearly all the caviare consumed in American markets. It is Russian caviare to the general public, but it is only Canadian caviare bearing a continental label. The caviare is exported to Europe, and only the inferior grades find their way back to this country, the best of it being kept for European epicures. The general and greatly increased favor with which caviare is received has caused a great drain upon the sturgeon fisheries of Europe, and those of Canada and the United States have been called upon to meet the demand. The Lake of the Woods has supplied much of the caviare exported from America.

The Lake of the Woods has a total area of 6,000 square miles, and its waters abound with fish, the most important of which is the sturgeon. They are caught mainly for the caviare, though there is a profit in smoking the meat. After the fish is killed it is carefully cleaned and the caviare set aside in tanks. It is then taken and washed repeatedly until it is thoroughly cleansed, after which it is rubbed by hand through a series of screens until all the eggs are separated. It is then packed in kegs with salt and kept in cold storage until the time of shipment. It is an extremely simple process, requiring but little manipulation. In Europe, the kegs are opened and the caviare sorted out according to quality. It is then put up in small lead packages and tin, and put on the market as Russian caviare. The best grades find a ready sale at highest prices, but the inferior grades come back to America.

The Fraser River, B.C., fishermen have apopted a schedule of prices for spring salmon to be adhered to until April 5. These are 7c. per lb. for red spring salmon, 4c. per lb. for white spring salmon and 4c. per lb. for steelheads.

The market, license and health committee of the Winnipeg City Council have added a clause to the proposed civic by-law respecting the stamping of bread loaves, saying that all loaves weighing over 1½ lb. must be stamped with their weight.

CURRENT MARKET QUOTATIONS

March 27, 1902.

This list is corrected every Thursday, and the quotations herein given are for the cities of Montreal, Toronto, St. John, N. B., and Halifax. The prices are solicited for publication, and are of such quantities and qualities as are usually ordered by retail dealers on the usual terms of credit. For Winnipeg market report and prices, see page 82.

Goods in large lots and for prompt pay are generally obtainable at lower prices.

All quotations for staple products are under the direct control of the Editors, who call daily upon all the leading houses in the principal centres.

Cranston's Trade Due Bills.

How will they benefit my customers?

1. By giving them the standing of cash customers, while at the same time giving them the advantage of credit from month to month.
2. By giving them the assurance that the accounts of others are not, by mistake, charged to them.
3. By preventing LOSS OF CONFINENCE arising from Disputed Accounts.
4. By saving them time consumed in going to your books and making charges, and at the same time entering amount in their Pass Book.
5. By saving them the trouble of looking over their account at each settlement, or when they by forgetting many little purchases, go away inwardly feeling that you have charged them with articles they have not purchased.

WHAT USERS SAY.

"We have used the Cranston Trade Due Bills for ten years and heartily recommend them to the trade. They are economical, useful and convenient.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Economical Knife Grinders—Miscellaneous Notes.

ECONOMICAL KNIFE GRINDERS.

Do you know what it costs you to grind your butcher knives each year? A grindstone in constant use in a shop where the average wage is $12 a week will use up $600 worth of time every year. How much of this can you save by using the right stone, speed, water supply and mountings, and how many fewer knives will you grind up per year? A machine shop test, covering a period of six months, showed 11,000 tools ground in that time on a 3-ft. diameter stone, at a cost of 4c. a tool, counting grindstone and labor, which cost was reduced to 2c. a tool by properly speeding, mounting and watering a selected stone. The best frame for foot-power is one made high enough that one can use the treadle without stooping, for stooping over a grindstone always gives a jerky motion, and not only throws the stone out of true, but also fails to give that even, straight edge on a knife which makes it last sharp longer and so adds to its life, for the number of knives you consume in a year depends on how often you grind them. For hand-power the frame may be lower, as some one else does the turning of the stone, and the grinder can hold his knife steadily on the stone and use more pressure. A grinder should never sit down when grinding, not only because the splash from the stone will strike him in the stomach and give him a serious cold, but in a sitting position one cannot hold a knife properly on a stone.—W. Mitchell, in Butchers' Advocate.

TORONTO.

There have been larger receipts of dressed hogs this week, causing the packing houses to resume business and creating a greater demand. So the prices of Northern and Western hogs have been advanced 25 to 50c. per 100 lb. In carlots, Western dressed hogs are worth $7.25 to $7.75, and Northern $7.75 to $8 per 100 lb. There has been another general advance in beef of 50c. for carcasses and front quarters and $1 for hind quarters per 100 lb. Veal also is up 1 to 1½c. The demand for all these is good, and the receipts light. We quote as follows: Dressed hogs, $7.75 to $8.00; beef carcasses, $7.00 to $8.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.00 to $9.25 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 8 to 10c. per lb.; lambs, 9½ to 10½c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4.00 to $4.50.

There has been no change in the market for cured and smoked meats, and the prices are steady. The demand is fair. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

There has been only one change in the prices of provisions during the past week. This is in Chicago pork, which is 25c. per bbl. higher. There is only a moderate demand for pork, however. Smoked meats are about the only active lines in meats, though lard is in good demand. The inquiry for smoked meats has shown more activity with the approach of Easter, and now both local and outside buyers are placing large orders on this market. In dressed hogs, whatever movement exists is mostly of a jobbing nature. For the finest quality of dressed hogs there is a good, steady demand at current quotations. We quote: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $21 to $21.50; Chicago clear pork, $22.50 for heavy and $22.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.00 to $22.50; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Pork and beef in barrels are still dull. While pork is rather easier, beef is firm. In fresh beef, the large number of steamers coming here this season has made a large sale. Just now there is an increased demand owing to Easter week. Prices are higher and very firm. In fresh pork prices are unchanged. Pure lard is not quite as firm. Sales are but fair. Smoked meats show light business. We quote as follows: American clear pork, $22 to $23; domestic mess pork, $21; plate beef, Canadian, $13.50 to $14; mess pork, American, $21.50; plate beef, American, $14.50 to $15; fresh beef, 6½ to 9½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8½c.; pure lard, tubs, 12½c.; pure lard, pails, 12¾c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c.; pails, 10½c.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—Supply very short and demand good. Prices are very firm. Best city dressed, 8c., country dressed 7 to 7½c.

VEAL—Practically none has been received during the week. Nominal quotations, 8½ to 9c.

MUTTON—Demand slow, and supplied entirely by Ontario frozen.

DRESSED HOGS — Receipts very light. Market firm at 7½ to 8c.

SAUSAGE—Demand is light, and straight pork and bologna are almost the only lines selling. Pork sausages, 8c.; bologna, 7c.

POULTRY—There have been very few receipts this week owing to the difficulty of reaching the city. In fact, it may be said there have been no receipts of fresh killed. Demand is good and prices are firm. Chickens, 11 to 12½c.; turkeys, 12½ to 14c.; ducks and geese, 10c. Dealers are making a vigorous effort to clear out any frozen stock still on hand.

CURED MEATS—The market is weaker, and there has been a slight drop, particularly in hams. The trade of the week has not been as large as usual. Sugar-cured hams, 13¼c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8¾c.; breakfast bellies, 14c.; backs, 13½c.; spiced rolls, 11c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 12c.; backs, 12c.

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE STATES.

Tomatoes still continue to lead the market, although there are probably less of them in stock than has been known at the same time of year for a very long period. The spring development of future contracts for tomatoes has grown to large proportions during the past two weeks, and the desire of the jobbers to make contracts at 80 to 85c. for No. 3 standard seems to increase in exactly the same ratio, as packers decline to make contracts with growers at $8 per ton. This may be the natural result of commercial reasoning, but what the outcome will be is problematical. There is a danger in the situation which some packers may not be sufficiently considering. The tomato packers of Ohio and Indiana; in fact, of the whole upper portion of the Mississippi Valley, have a decided advantage over the eastern section this year; they are contracting for their tomatoes at from $1 to $2 per ton less than the eastern packer can get his growers to agree upon, and, as a consequence, have fixed a price for the canned article in the West considerably below what the Eastern man can figure out the cost. We can easily see that the struggles for the tomato market which have been impending between the East and the West for the last 10 years will reach an acute condition this summer, and the solution of it will depend altogether upon the position in which the growers find themselves. High prices for tomatoes in the field in the East will mean very heavy acreage, and this, in turn, will probably result in a reduction of the price per ton during the packing season.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

BORAX PRESERVED MEATS.

A despatch from Berlin says: The criticism made in the United States of the exclusion by Germany of meats preserved with borax is answered here by the statement that the prohibition applies to domestic and foreign meats equally, and that American exporters have nothing to complain of that does not apply to German preserved meat dealers. But the agents here of American meat exporters say that this is no answer at all, because boracic meat preserving is an unknown art in Germany, and never likely to be much used, as it is unnecessary to preserve meat that is consumed where it is produced. Besides, they declare, the regulations are aimed at America alone and can serve no other object than to prevent American exporters from competing with domestic meat producers.

The Berliner Volks-Zeitung remarks that this dispute is the first test of the newly-grown friendship between Germany and the United States resulting from Prince Henry's visit.

The merits of FAIRBANK'S
BOAR'S HEAD
Brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND lie in the following facts:

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada, or direct.

1st. It is chiefly vegetable, consequently pure.
2nd. It does not get rancid quickly.
3rd. At present it costs less per pound than hog lard.
4th. It requires one-third less than hog lard to accomplish the same results.
5th. It is more easily digested.
6th. It gives a better profit to the retailer.
7th. It is a compound that sells where all others have been failures.

A great deal more might be said, but a trial order will speak more favorably than printers' ink.

WEST-INDIAN TRADE WITH CANADA.

From The Argosy, Georgetown, Demarara.

ONE of the most hopeful signs of the times is the increased interest that is being shown by the colonies in one another's welfare. It is a manner for congratulation that British Guiana has taken a not unimportant part in the reciprocal negotiations, and the fostering of more friendly relationships. The visit of the deputation from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the various West-Indian colonies has given the commercial communities concerned an opportunity of becoming better acquainted with the products and manufactures of Canada, and has, at the same time, allowed the deputation to gather valuable information regarding the class of goods most suited to our markets. As was pointed out at the meeting of the Georgetown Chamber of Commerce on Monday, the West Indies need not trouble about the risk of jeopardizing our commercial relations with the United States. Sugar is our principal article of export, and it is true if it had not been for the good offices of the United States, we would have been in a much worse plight than we have been for years past. But, having served their own purpose as well as ours, and having now obtained sugar colonies under the flag of the "Stars and Stripes," indications are not wanting that before very long the United States market will be closed against us.

We have pointed out on previous occasions that we cannot look to Canada as a substitute for the United States ; the population is too sparse, and the consumption of cane sugar too small to dispose of a fifth of the output, even of British Guiana, not to speak of the West Indies generally. But because Canada cannot take all our sugar, that is no reason why we should not make the most of the market it has. The endeavors being put forth by the wealthy and representative Canadian Manufacturers' Association to foster inter-colonial trade are to be welcomed, as they cannot fail to have beneficial results. That such efforts are necessary is only too evident from a comparison of the volume of trade between Canada and the West Indies, including British Guiana, during the six years ending 1900, the latest period for which figures are available. In 1894 it amounted to $4,170,-989 ; in 1900 it had dwindled to $2,707,350. This falling off must be in a large measure due to the increase of our trade with the United States, in consequence of the favorable terms on which that country has admitted our sugar.

It is but natural that we should have encouraged our customers by buying largely in their market, and it is not surprising, therefore, to find that in 1900 the West-Indian imports from the United States should have reached a total of $24,000,000. Reference was also made at the meeting on Monday to the steamship service between Canada and the West Indies, and it was pointed out that one of the most clamant needs was a fast service. This has already been pressed on the attention of both the Canadian and Imperial authorities, and perhaps when the bounties have been got rid of, the matter will be taken up and carried to a successful issue.

HE ANSWERED THEM ALL.

A Connecticut merchant who applied to a New York house for goods on credit, says The Wall Street News, was met by the reply that he had failed, and paid only 10 cents on the dollar.

"Very true," he replied, "but I am the only merchant in the town who ever paid over six."

"Didn't you allow your paper to go to protest last winter ?"

"Yes, but the doctors said I couldn't live 24 hours just then, and I wasn't thinking of earthly things."

"Haven't you put all your property in your wife's name ?"

"Well, yes, but she knows more about business in five minutes than I do in half a day."

He was given credit for $200.

Actions were recently entered against two traders by the police at Montreal for keeping their stores open on Sunday. The cases have been remanded for decision.

THE EXPORTS OF TEA FROM JAPAN.

According to investigation made by the Central Tea League as to the amount and value of tea exported from Yokohama, Kobe, Osaka and other ports for the last 13 years, from 1888 up to 1900, the export of the article has increased annually, especially in the two years 1891 and 1895. In the former case, says Commerce, of Tokio, it was owing to the activity of the tea market in America which led to a large export, and in the latter it was probably due to the Japan-China War, which necessarily checked the export of the article from the Celestial Empire. Though a little decrease in the quantity of tea exported has been experienced since 1896, there has been an increase in value. This is chiefly ascribed to a gradual decrease in the export of inferior teas, and also to the entire abolition of the export duty during that period. It was, however, partly owing to the active purchases of the article made by foreign merchants. The date on which the tariff against exported teas was put into force by the American Government was June 14, 1898. The statistics stand as follows :

	Quantity. Catties.	Value. Yen.
1888	33,093,590	5,828,875,130
1889	30,851,111	6,118,174,720

BRADSTREET'S

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000. Offices Throughout the Civilized World.

Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

TO THE TRADE.

Owing to the enormous demand for Gold Soap, the manufacturers find that the fourteen thousand coins at first advertised will not be nearly sufficient to last out the year. When this number of coins was decided upon it was never expected that the sales of Gold Soap would reach anything like the figures that they have done, so it is not to be wondered at that the appropriation for "money-in-the-soap" will be exhausted much sooner than was at first anticipated. This being the case, they do not feel that it would be fair to the public for them to attempt to make this comparatively small number of coins the only inducement in connection with Gold Soap, so they have decided to supplement it by a mammoth prize competition involving over 5,000 prizes.

This competition will be carried out on such broad lines that everyone who sends in any wrappers at all will receive either a prize or a premium, thus, the small consumer will be dealt with quite as fairly as the one who buys in large quantities.

With this added attraction, we feel sure that the sales of Gold Soap will continue to keep thousands of cases in advance of our facilities, as they have been doing in the past.

Requests for circulars, hangers and further particulars of this competition will receive prompt attention.

THE VALUE OF

spread around of a dealer's stock and store is recognized by every grocer. Selling the best tea on the market can secure for any dealer a good impression of his stock. The exceptionally excelling flavor, purity, invigorating qualities, wholesomeness and cleanliness of never fail to create a favorable and lasting impression upon the mind of the purchaser. These are a few of the factors to which can be attributed the well-established and permanent popularity of JAPAN TEA and which lead people to ask for it again and again. Commendation for any article voluntarily spread around is the most valuable advertisement any article can secure, and the kind of advertising JAPAN TEA can always command. Sell JAPAN TEA and obtain the free advertising consequential upon its sale.

SOME MERCHANTS' EXPERIENCE.

Solomon said in his haste: "ALL MEN ARE LIARS!" He didn't mean it. He was simply so mad with one man that he included all the rest.

Let us not fall into Solomon's mistake. We should take out of our experience the wisdom there is in it and stop right there!

Otherwise we are as stupid as the cat who sat down on a hot stove lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove lid again, and that shows good judgment. But she will never sit down on a cold one, either.

Now, some merchants have had hard experiences lately with coupon books that were represented to be absolutely correct in count and made up just as good as any other, but they were not, and you won't know what a perfect coupon book is until you have tried either Allison's Coupon Books or Allison's Coupon Pass Books. Both are good; one book suits some, while the other fills the bill with the rest of the merchants.

We are doing a lot of special engraving work now for merchants who use books in large quantities. Our books are carried in stock by jobbers. We will be glad to send you a free sample.

Allison's name on a Coupon Book is itself a guarantee of perfection.

DISPLAYS IN THE GROCERY WINDOW.

Honey—How Best to Sell.

By R. F. Holtermann, manager honey apiaries, Bow Park Co., Limited, Brantford, Ont.

IN an article entitled "Re-liquifying Honey," on page 48 of THE CANADIAN GROCER, taken from the leading bee paper of America, Gleanings, there are some excellent points brought out. It is also pleasing to see that THE CANADIAN GROCER should seek to give its subscribers information of value in judging, handling and selling goods in their line of business.

The method given to liquify and keep liquid honey is good, still, even then it may granulate. There is a great difference in honey. Much of the Southern honey does not granulate readily, but Ontario honey granulates readily. I know no sample which left in an untreated way which will not granulate. In the article above referred to we find the following: "Now, instead of trying to teach people to accept something they do not want, why not spend less time, do less talking and make more money by giving them what they want, for, 'a man convinced against his will is of the same opinion still'; and if he asks for extracted liquid honey, and you talk him into buying a bottle of granulated honey, nine times out of 10 he will hesitate the next time, and generally go where he knows he can get what he wants."

I am sending you a photograph. It is a grocery window in Brantford, and very conspicuous in that window is a barrel of granulated honey, or, rather, a block of granulated honey which once had a barrel about it. The weight of honey was 574 pounds, and it was sold by the Bow Park Co., Limited, I having charge of their apiaries here. The idea, I believe, was original with myself, and the first barrel was sold to Hazell & Son, of Hamilton. The honey and barrel was, when solid, stripped of all the hoops upon one side. Then placed in the window the stripped end down, the remaining hoops removed, followed by the removal of staves and head. This left a solid block of honey to attract attention and sell. In the picture a portion of the barrel has been sold. It cuts with a strong wire without any trouble, and then is cut down as required. The honey is sold granulated like lard. Anyone that wants it can have liquid, but a choice article, as it should be when thus sold, sells well, and the customers do not tire of it.

Mr. Vanstone said when we were putting up the barrel, "Well, I think I have a white elephant on my hands—only one man in the world could have talked me into buying this." In a few days he was in a new frame of mind; the honey sold rapidly and customers came again. More than that, it attracted great attention. It was an unusal sight and was talked about in the city. Another barrel was added in a short time, and Mr. Vanstone said: "I am well pleased with this way of selling honey; customers like it and come again. I never sold so much honey in my life during the same time."

Hazell & Son sold three barrels in a short time and, in writing, said: "We are well pleased with the article and the way in which it sold, it was quite a little ad. for us, and we expect to do more business with The Bow Park Co. in their goods." The great advantages are:

1. It attracts.

2. The customer does not require to buy an expensive package.

3. Is of good quality, it tastes well and can be eaten granulated, etc.

4. There is less trouble to keep it in marketable shape.

Grocers make a mistake to expose and sell honey partially granulated. The honey is then not attracttve to the eye or taste, have it before the public in either one way or the other. It seems to me the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association could in connection with that Exhibition have a place to display and lecture on how to judge honey, at which, or if some other place would be more convenient, if proper arrangements were made, I would be pleased to show how to judge honey, and, although many may know this already, others do not. Many fail to please their customers because they fail to buy a good article. Such information would be of value to many.

An attractive window display of honey.

Is It a Good Investment?

After all, does it pay? The grocer who has not been in the habit of giving much time or attention to his windows, and who has, nevertheless, secured a good trade, may well be excused if he asks this question when he sees a new competitor opening up with his store front built after the most modern fashion and with a new display, which has taken time and money to arrange, in his window each week. He may have seen several attempts to open up a grocery business in this new block, each and every attempt ending in failure, whereas his own business has ever paid its way.

But, while his reason that good window dressing does not pay because these businesses have not been successful may be natural, it is none the less erroneous. If the truth were known, it would be found that the trouble was high rents, small capital or inexperience.

It is useless to expect that good window dressing will make up for the lack of sufficient capital or proper experience. But it may be expected that shrewd trimming of windows will help to bring new customers into the store. Suppose you have in your store next week an extra fine supply of oranges and lemons, or oysters. If you do not advertise them you will not likely sell any, except to your regular customers. But if you show them in your window you are bound to have several persons, who have not regularly dealt with you, in to get some. In this way you are bound to secure several new customers every year. Therefore, half a dozen regular customers secured by window dressing will more than repay for the time, trouble and money necessary for the arrangement of new displays every week. We must conclude that window dressing is one of the best means a grocer has of investing money, time and energy.

GOOD CLERKS.

Dull seasons come to all stores—seasons when more energy and push and good, hard work is required to make sales and keep up the business. Here is where the trained and permanent clerk shows his value.

Then another thing, a merchant can put his confidence in the doings of a good man, and sleep easy nights. He need not keep his eye continually on the conduct of such a clerk. He need not feel that the customer is being handled improperly. He may rest assured that the sale will be made if honest and capable salesmanship can make it at all.

Every retailer wants to feel that if a customer slips away from his clerk he would slip away from any clerk, or himself.—Good Advertising.

COFFEE CROP OF BRAZIL.

THE Secretary of the United States Legation at Petropolis, Brazil, writes: "The crop delivered from the interior of Rio from July 1, 1901, to June 30, 1902, is estimated at 5,466,000 bags; at Santos, 10,483,000 bags. This estimate is based on the deliveries made during seven months—July to January inclusive—and on the asumption that deliveries for the ensuing five months will bear the same proportion to the previous months as in past years.

"The best authority on the general situation in Brazil estimates the world's visible supply at 10,813,700 bags on January 1, 1902. Of this New York held 1,924,000 bags; Havre, 2,212,100 bags; Hamburg, 794,000 bags, and Rio and Santos, 1,681,400 bags.

"In this connection, the following statistics may be interesting as showing the relation between the Rio and Santos crops and the world's visible supply:

DELIVERIES OF RIO AND SANTOS CROPS.

	Bags.
During 12 months to June 30, 1900	9,007,000
July 1 to December 31, 1900	6,852,000
January 1 to June 30, 1901	3,810,000
July 1 to December 31, 1901	10,389,000
Estimated deliveries January 1 to June 30, 1902	5,578,000

WORLD'S VISIBLE SUPPLY.

	Bags.
June 30, 1900	5,715,000
December 31, 1900	7,457,000

"As to the crop which will begin to be gathered in May and shipped in the year following next July, information is yet incomplete. Up to the middle of December, reports were extremely unfavorable, and the opinion was that it would not be much more than 40 per cent. of the current crop—that is to say, 6,500,000 bags. Rains have been abundant of late, however, and the impression is that it will be nearly an average one and will run from 9,000,000 to 11,000,000 bags. The crop is rapidly reaching a stage where an accurate judgment can be formed by experts as to the relative percentage of an average crop likely to be produced, but the extent of new territory coming into bearing and the quantity of coffee that is being held in first hands are uncertain and render an exact estimate impossible until the autumn."

APPLES IN CHINA.

UNITED STATES CONSUL MILLER writes from Niuchwang, January 25, 1902, to the editor of an Oregon newspaper in regard to the export of apples from the Pacific Coast to the Orient. The consul instances a shipment of 50 boxes of apples, which were sent from Portland on September 28, 1901, and reached Niuchwang on November 10. They were packed in ordinary, light 10 x 22 in. boxes, cleated on both sides, and the apples were wrapped in paper. The packages held in good shape and every box arrived intact. The percentage of loss was greatest with the Red Russian variety (75 per cent.) and least with the Ben Davis (2 per cent); the Spitzenberg lost 10 per cent., the Shannon Pippin 25 per cent. and the Jonathan 50 per cent. California ships a quantity of third-grade yellow Newtons to China. Some of these, says Mr. Miller, are consumed by foreigners, but most of them go to the Chinese fruit stands and restaurants and are eaten by natives.

The Chinese appetite for fresh fruit is strong, and apples are in great favor; the only obstacle to the creation of a large market is the inability of the masses to purchase. The average Chinaman does not distinguish the different varieties of apples, and if inferior grades could be sent at low rates an extensive outlet could be created. Northern routes are the best for shipping green fruits. All shipments of apples for the Northern ports of China should be sent by October 1, on account of the danger of freezing if they arrive late in the season. If the fruit reaches North China in good condition, it will keep well on account of the dry, cold climate. The presence of the Russians in Vladivostock, Port Arthur and Dalny will increase the market for our apples, as the Russians like this fruit very much.

BUSINESS MEN'S LEAGUE.

THE Business Men's League, of Montreal, held their annual meeting on March 26, and elected officers. The officers for 1902 are as follows :

President—Henry Miles.
Vice-President—Charles Chaput.
Treasurer—J. C. Holden.
Executive Committee— Henry Miles, F. W. Evans, Charles Chaput, George E. Drummond and J. C. Holden.

The following comprise the ordinary committee : G. T. Bell, general passenger agent Grand Trunk Railway ; C. E. E. Usher, general passenger agent Canadian Pacific Railway ; H. A. Price, general passenger agent Intercolonial Railway ; T. L. Paton ; N. E. Hamilton ; A. Lalonde, Boston and Maine Railway ; Walter Paul ; W. Birks, of Henry Birks & Sons ; E. H. Botterell, of John Henderson & Co.; Hon. Louis Beaubien ; Hon. J. D. Rolland ; Ald. Ames ; W. D. Lighthall ; George Hague and C. S. J. Phillips.

President Miles, in his annual report, referred to the incorporation of the league by the Legislature of Quebec.

This year the efforts of the league towards street improvements had resulted in the making of better provisions for the looking after the streets, and it is hoped that things will appear much better within a reasonable time.

The committee had also been successful in securing several conventions for Montreal, but, owing to the deficiency of hotel accommodation, it was difficult to arrange for larger gatherings.

It was suggested that an information bureau be established for the benefit of strangers, by way of informing them of the accommodations and attractions of the city and Province. The incoming executive were advised to apply to the Quebec Provincial Government for their annual grant, and the Montreal City Council should also be approached with a similar appeal.

INVENTOR OF THE LUCIFER MATCH.

There have been many claimants to the honor of being the maker of the first lucifer match. But a recent discovery of some old account books at Stockton-on-Tees, Eng., affords, according to an exchange, documentary evidence which proves beyond question that one John Walker, a Durham chemist, was the original inventor and maker of the match. According to a diary in which Walker carefully noted all his business transactions, the first box of matches was sold for 35c., in April, 1827. It appears that they at once became popular, and people travelled from the adjacent towns to purchase them. Walker employed the poor of Stockton to split the wood, but dipped them in the phosphoros mixture himself, to insure their perfection. The inventor was pressed by his friends to patent the process ; he refused, however, affirming that he had ample means to satisfy his simple wants.

WIARTON SUGAR FACTORY.

The Wiarton, Ont., beet-sugar factory is progressing. The recent injunction issued against the Colonial Construction Co. by the Wiarton Sugar Co. to prevent the payment of $10,000 was only a precaution, as the former was reorganizing, two of its members retiring and two others, S. D. Symon and C. T. Baldwin, United States capitalists, were being admitted to take their places.

Work is being pushed on the foundations, making things ready for the masons. About 200 men will be employed on the building during the summer. Most of the stock of the company has been sold, and the capital secured now amounts to $375,000 or $380,000.

A FAILURE WITH NO ASSETS.

GEORGE A. BOOTH appeared before Police Magistrate Flint, of Belleville, on March 28, on a charge of defrauding the creditors of Booth & Co., produce merchants, Trenton, Ont. It came out in the evidence that Booth & Co. was Mrs. Booth. George A. Booth was general manager. Booth had the business transferred over to him last July, and a few days after, on July 17, Mrs. Booth made an assignment. Sheriff Hastings, the assignee, went to look after the assets, and was informed that there was none by Booth himself. Nevertheless, goods had been consigned to Booth & Co. by firms both in Toronto and Montreal up to the day of the assignment.

Last October, to satisfy the consignors of these goods as to what became of them, Booth and his wife were examined before an officer of the court, and the facts as above stated were admitted by Booth. He also gave evidence that on the day of the assignment a considerable quantity of butter belonging to Booth & Co. was stored away in his mother's cellar.

Daniel Jackson, who was employed by Booth as a clerk, testified that a considerable quantity of this butter was brought back to the store by Booth. The balance, amounting to nearly 100 packages, was sent to Ottawa last November and placed in a store opened by Booth there. The theft of this butter is the charge laid against Booth.

It also came out in the evidence that just before the assignment Booth & Co. put in a stock of furniture, and, without paying for it, sold it almost immediately to a local dealer at a discount of 15 per cent. from the face of the invoices.

Up to the present, the assignee has received no assets.

SIXTY DAYS FOR PLUMB.

On conviction in the General Sessions, on March 31, of having defrauded The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, Toronto, Charles Plumb, a Toronto grocer, was sentenced to 60 days' imprisonment.

Plumb formerly conducted a grocery store at 1146 Yonge street. He bought most of his stock from The Eby, Blain Co., and was given credit on the strength of a statement he sent out saying his business was free of debt. He got behind in his accounts and assigned. When the statement was submitted to the creditors it transpired that Plumb's father had previously advanced $1,300, and this claim it took nearly all the estate to meet. Plumb was then arrested on a charge of fraud, tried at the General Sessions by a jury and convicted.

THE EVIL OF CUTTING PRICES.

AN address on the evils of cutting prices was recently delivered before the Seattle Retail Grocers' Association by J. J. Higgins. In part it was as follows :

It seems to me, in looking over our field of operations and taking into account the multitude of notions that take possession of the average person engaged in the grocery business, that I am justified in paraphrasing the common trade expression, " the longs and the shorts," and in saying that we grocers as a class are long on ideas, but short on thoughts. It is a lamentable fact, well known to the trade, that a very small per cent. of grocers have a proper conception of what profit and expense means. All but a few never count the expense of handling the goods from the time they leave the wholesaler until they reach the consumer as a part of the original cost and as a proper basis on which to figure a profit. The legitimate expenses of business are varied and many and cover the field from the time consumed in their purchase from the wholesaler to their display and delivery, or their loss through being dumped into the waste barrel for lack of a timely purchaser. These, with rent, insurance, taxes, fuel, etc., are very deceptive items of cost that should enter into every calculation as to the possible margin of profit to be obtained from the sale of a certain article at a certain price.

The rule too often employed in figuring a profit is that if an article costs $1 and is sold for $1.25 that 25c. profit is made. Yet the sale may have taken half an hour of the salesman's time at 25c. an hour, and possibly two hours of a deliveryman and team's time to place the goods in possession of the purchaser. Subtract other contingent expenses and see your profit vanish into thin air !

Most of us, after figuring ourselves rich in this way, look over our business and find that something is wrong. Our bank account doesn't grow ; our expense bills mature regularly and the funds are not always on hand promptly to meet them ; we become nervous, dyspeptic and morose. The store don't seem as full of customers as a prosperous store should be and we resolve that something must be done to get the crowd coming our way. We look around and catch sight of some competitor who is an indiscriminate price cutter. We lack thought, we lack originality, and we are fond of confirming the Darwinian theory that men sprang from a race of monkeys and we imitate by trying to duplicate the low prices of our neighbor.

The expected rush of customers doesn't follow as promptly as our impatience demands it should, and, like the old school doctors, who knew but one remedy for all ailments, we do a little more blood letting. We draw our lance and plunge it more deeply. We are easier after the operation. We have less goods and a smaller surplus of cash. We, perhaps, have succeeded in another way. We have flaunted the red flag in our neighbor's face. He accepts our challenge and prepares for the battle. The extra special cards go out and handbills and newspapers tell the tale of the wonderful bargains to be secured. One buys from one wholesale firm and the other from another. Down each one goes and tells his little tale of woe and wants a snap with which to knock the other fellow out. To please us the wholesalers ask the manufacturer to prepare one, and thus new weapons are secured with which to prolong the fight.

It drags itself out through weeks and months, and what does it all result in ? The wholesaler has been encouraged in the bad habit of catering to the cutter at the risk of a loss which, if it occurs, must be borne by the more conservative dealers through a temporary curtailment of special discounts. Both retail buslnesses engaged in the foolish controversy have been demoralized. A large proportion of the customers of each have been converted into bargain - purchasers. They kick when prices are restored to their normal level, and go to some other dealer who is engaged in the same interesting business of giving his goods away. They have been taught to think a dealer has no claim on them unless he wlll sell his goods a little cheaper than anyone else. They deal with him as long as he will do that, and when he shows a disposition to get a fair profit they quit him.

These bargain - hunters are the most annoying pests connected with the business, and every time a grocer cuts the price of a standard article he engages directly in making more of those pests. Don't understand me to say that I am opposed to healthy and fair competition. The old saw that competition is the life of trade is still true.

There can't be too much competition in the sense of rivalry to produce the best goods, to display them to the best advantage, to sell them in the best condition, to deliver them most promptly and to render the most obliging and courteous service to customers. But ordinary price-cutting is not competition. It is suicide. Its only proper use is as a means of removing depreciated goods from a stock and demented grocers from the trade.

ANTI-PRICE-CUTTING IN ENGLAND.

From Grocers' Journal.

ANTI CUTTING is the question of the hour, and, in view of this, we thought an interview with Mr. W. S. Glyn-Jones, secretary of the P.A.T.A., would be interesting. His opinion as to the prospects of the ultimate success of the movement in the grocery trade to secure fixed and reasonable profits upon proprietaries was not a pessimistic one.

Are not the big advertisers independent of the trade ? asked The Journal representative. By no means, was the answer. The success of the proprietor depends upon his being able to secure the maximum amount of sales as the result of the minimum amount spent on advertising. The wholesale and retail distributors are the conduit pipe through which the advertisers' goods must reach the public. It is bad business for the proprietor if this channel is not kept clear. The person who has been induced to become a consumer as the result of reading the advertising announcements must be able to get the article without let or hindrance. He ought to be able to purchase it at the first shop where he asks for it. If he has to make several attempts he gives it up.

The most serious factor that a proprietor whose articles show no profit to the trade has to overcome, is that he has thousands of traders actively advertising and pushing rival goods of their own or other people's make. The ideal state is that in which the manufacturers' and distributors' interests are identical, and any departure from this state of things is bad for both—often is worse for the manufacturer than it is for the distributor. It has been suggested that the manufacturer might ignore the trade and distribute to the public direct, said the interviewer. No business could survive such an experiment, said Mr. Glyn-Jones. Direct supply through the post has been tried and has failed. Even if the proprietor is prepared for such an undertaking the public will not take the trouble to write for the article. Advertising is becoming more expensive each year, and successful advertising more difficult to accomplish, and it, therefore, is becoming more and more necessary that advertisers should have the willing cooperation of the trade. Their only way to secure this is by guaranteeing profits by means of fixed prices.

Mr. Glyn-Jones seemed fully aware of the difficulties experienced by those in the grocery trade who are working for fixed prices, and said that in his opinion the initial step should be to secure the active cooperation of the large wholesale distributors, such as Harvest, Travers, etc. Wholesalers and retailers have in the drug trade, he said, made common cause. The interests of both sections are safeguarded by the P.A.T.A., and the wholesaler's profit as well as that of the retailer guaranteed. The support of half a dozen large wholesale firms would,he thinks, leave a large number of proprietors no option but to meet the wishes of such a combination—provided the retail grocers, through the Federation, made common cause with those houses. But, he added, it is essential that those who are acting in the name of the Federation in this matter should be in deadly earnest. It would mean a struggle, and if the leaders regard their task as a forlorn hope the trade must expect no results.

A NEW COMPANY FORMED.

H. and N. E. Hamilton, grocers, dry-goods dealers, etc., corner St. Catherine and Peel streets, Montreal, are to turn their business into a joint stock company, with a capital stock of $100,000, divided into one thousand shares of $100 each. The applicants are: Henry Hamilton, Napoleon Edouard Hamilton, the two former proprietors of the business, George Hamilton, clerk, of Montreal, Henry Hamilton, merchant, and Auguste Singer, accountant, of Westmount. Notice of application for letters patent appeared in the official Gazette, and the company are applying to open branches of the Montreal business in other cities.

JOBBERS TO BOYCOTT MANUFACTURERS.

From Grocery World, Philadelphia.

THINGS seem to be coming to a climax throughout the country regarding the tight drawing of the lines between the interests of the manufacturer, the jobber and the retailer. The tendency of each class seems at present to be to hold to sharp account the class just above it, if it sells to the class just below it. For instance, the jobber is getting after the manufacturer who sells the retailer, the retailer after the jobber who sells the consumer, and so on.

This tendency is just now having a good illustration in the West, where some of the wholesale grocers are threatening to boycott large manufacturers who sell the retailer direct. Last week the jobbers of two important Western States, Iowa and Nebraska, held a meeting at Council Bluffs to lay plans to protect themselves against such manufacturers as ignore them. All the leading jobbing houses of the two States were present, and the meeting is said by those present to have been quite warm. After much discussion, it was decided to institute a boycott against all manufacturers who sell the retailers over the jobber's head. The meeting was secret, but so much as is above told is known.

When the Western jobbers start their boycott, they will have to include in it some of the biggest manufacturers in the United States. For instance, the Washburn-Crosby Milling Co., the Pillsbury-Washburn Co., W. F. McLaughlin & Co., the Chicago coffee people, and both Swift & Co. and Armour & Co., the packers, sell the retailer direct, and make no secret of it. In some cases, manufacturers, in order to get retailers interested, will make better terms with retailers than they will with jobbers. As a rule, this is done by working a scheme with retailers exclusively, which brings the net price to a point below the regular price to jobbers.

In many cases it cannot be denied that the jobber has forced the manufacturer to go to the retailer direct by refusing to handle the goods until a demand is created for them. The manufacturer then works the retail trade. Sometimes he turns the order in to the jobber, sometimes not.

EARLY CLOSING IN HALIFAX.

Halifax Chronicle.

The nights named in the Bill for closing are Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, and in order to make the Act become effective in any branch of trade, a petition signed by two-thirds of the people in that particular line must be presented to the city council. A meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association will be held on Wednesday evening to arrange for the petition. In the Bill presented to the House the number of nights were left open, as some of the merchants thought three nights would suit their lines of business better than four; and the nights adopted were suggested to the House by merchants. Those, however, who had previously signed an agreement to close four nights will stick to that agreement.

The clause exempting grocery stores assessed for less than $400 from closing may lead to some of the grocery stores being kept open, as larger stores find they would be placed at a great disadvantage. Many of them, however, will continue to close and some favor four nights instead sf three.

The Retail Clerks' Association at a meeting appointed representatives to confer with the merchants and give all the assistance they can to the early-closing movement.

Geo. C. Husband, of Husband, Bros. & Co., fruiterers, Toronto, is dead.

THE BRITISH CHOCOLATE DUTY.

In the British House of Commons the other day a member asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer whether, seeing that although foreign chocolate contained a large proportion of sugar, no extra duty had been charged upon it since the imposition of the sugar tax, which had been made applicable to all other kinds of confectionery, he would consider the question with the view of treating chocolate in the same way as other imported confectionery? Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, in reply, pointed out that chocolate, which is a mixture of cocoa, sugar, and flavoring matter, has for long been liable to a specific duty, independent of the proportions in which its several constituents may be present, and since 1853 the rate of that duty has been 2d. a pound. The sugar duty of 4s. 2d. a hundredweight on the proportion of sugar in the mixture is held to be merged in the higher specific rate on chocolate, and if chocolate were treated like other confectionery it would be admitted at a much lower duty than at present levied.

The following from the advertisement of a prominent wholesale grocer should be read and pondered by every dealer:

"Some grocers succeed where others seem to work just as hard and yet fail to achieve much—it is just as important to know what to push as it is how to push—pushing pure and pleasing products produces prosperity, but pushing poor stuff drives trade away."

It pays infinitely better to push a baking powder like "Royal," an article of known merit, whose good qualities are recognized and appreciated by all consumers.

Royal Baking Powder is easy to sell, and when sold there is always a pleased purchaser.

Royal Baking Powder is largely advertised and that helps the dealer; but a pleased purchaser is the best advertiser for your store, because she will recommend to others that dealer who has pleased her.

Royal Baking Powder is the highest class baking powder, made from pure cream of tartar, and absolutely free from alum or other harmful ingredient.

Stop the Leaks!

It is the little expenses that count--a small leak will sink a big ship. It is the quality of the ordinary staple articles of trade that a grocer carries in his stock that gives standing to his store. It is the widely-advertised goods that people are familiar with which give them confidence when they see them on a grocer's shelves.

Confidence grows slowly, the loss of it comes quickly. "Stop the leaks" that betray your weakness in carrying inferior goods. Stop them quick ! Sell Windsor Salt--it's a small thing, but remember, please, it's a staple ! It is the Salt of highest quality through and through.

OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW CANADIAN GOODS.

AN industrial exhibition is to be held at Osaka, Japan, from March 1 to July 31, 1903. It will be under the authority of the Government of Japan, and one of the features of the exhibition will be a building for the display of samples of foreign goods. The conditions under which exhibits may be made in this building are liberal. Electric power for working machines will, for instance, be supplied free.

Japan is among the world's most progressive countries. In the East, she is easily first in this respect. And it seems to us that Canada should take advantage of the opportunity to bring before the Japanese the products we grow and manufacture.

We do not know whether the Dominion Government has yet interested itself in the matter, or whether it intends to do so; but we think that it should do so. Certainly, this is the only way by which an exhibit representative of Canada and her industries can be secured.

If anything is to be done it must be done at once, for application for space must be in the Department of Agriculture and Commerce at Tokyo not later than June 30, 1902. The Trade and Commerce Department should at once take the matter up and induce the representative manufacturers of food products, furniture, textiles, machinery, etc., to exhibit, the Government, as a further inducement, agreeing to provide transportation to Osaka. In this way, and in no other way, is an exhibit representative of Canada probable.

At present, our export trade with Japan is small, being last year only $188,683. This, however, was an increase over 1900, when the figures were $112,308. The following table gives an abstract of the chief exports to Japan during the two years:

Fisheries	47 773	97,047
Forest	18,527	22,791
Agricultural	6,545	8,410
Manufactures	25,305	49,657

Although our export trade with Japan is small, the above figures show that it is growing, and growing in nearly every department of industrial activity.

CHEWING GUM LOWER IN THE STATES.

A reduction of 10 per cent. has recently aken place in the United States in the price of chewing gum. To competition is attributed the cause.

The decline appears to have had no effect upon the Canadian market. Prices in this country were reduced about a year ago, when the manufacturers wisely decided to discontinue the premium system.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

One can already scent a strong disapproval of the perfumery combination.

With the advent of spring there is usually a jump in trade.

The average politician swallows principle in order that he may the more easily digest the actions of his political friends.

When a miner goes on strike it can scarcely be said that he "struck it rich."

CANNED LOBSTERS.

MANY of our wholesale grocers seem to be under the impression that there will be much lower prices for 1902 pack lobsters than last year, and this impression is based on the fact that there have been so many outside brands of cheap goods offering all through the past fall and winter; in fact, brands that were formerly unknown.

It is true there are and have been many goods offered at large reductions, but this is accounted for in the three following ways:

1. The fish are taken from a sandy, and muddy bottom, and will be small and dark in color, and quite different from rock fish, thus rendering them useless for exporting.

2. They have been packed by small packers who know nothing about the packing or processing, this making the goods most unreliable, as they are carelessly packed and apt to be sour, or discolored from acid stains.

3. They have been packed in the "off-season," when the fish are not in proper packing condition for canning.

Now, during the past season we seem to have had a large supply of goods packed in these three different ways, and, as Canada, and possibly part of the United States, are the only markets for such goods, and, as holders are anxious to get rid of the stock, which decreases in value as time goes on, these reasons can safely be given for such cutting in prices of canned lobsters; but, if the wholesaler looks carefully into quality and takes into consideration the endless trouble these cheap goods give him, besides hurting his reputation, he will find it pays better to handle a lobster which he can thoroughly rely upon.

The prices of new pack are, and will remain, firm, as the demand is good, and we hear of large orders being booked. It is quite certain that the supply of lobsters, such as is used for packing choice goods, is not on the increase. In fact, so far this year, on the Nova Scotian coast, the fish have been exceedingly scarce.

Prices in England and on the Continent are firm at 60s. to 61s. per case for ½-lb. flats; 57s. 6d. to 58s. for 1-lb. flats, and 51s. to 51s. 6d. for 1-lb. talls, all choice quality.

FREIGHT RATES ON SUGAR REDUCED TO KEEP OUT THE IMPORTED ARTICLE.

A READJUSTMENT of the equalized freight rates on sugar for Toronto and other points in Western Ontario has been made. The change went into effect on April 1, and is designed to produce important results in the sugar trade.

As our readers are well aware, the competition of foreign refined sugar, particularly in Ontario, has been very keen during the past couple of years, in spite of the fact that nearly all the wholesale grocers in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have an agreement with the home refineries not to handle imported sugar. It is estimated that about 15 per cent. of the refined sugar consumed in Canada is of foreign production.

The following table gives the imports of refined sugar during the last three years :

CANADIAN IMPORTS OF REFINED SUGAR.

Great Britain	7,179,229	2,849,319	8,404,644
Australasia	3,591,668	.....	70
Britisb Guiana	72,568	1,600	216
British West Indies	75,716	63,163	949,053
Austria-Hungary	711,207	73,000	196,224
Belgium	.....	558,692	1,933,953
Cbina	921,194	376,202	554,983
Germany	2,281,105	1,886,939	4,461,701
Holland	1,371,114	2,549,715	5,334,575
United States	17,593,668	27,965 493	15,013,273
Hong Kong	1,535	709,364	409,411
Russia	.....	.....	254,462
Total lb.	32,809,412	37,036,841	37,514,922

The latest returns which have been issued for the present fiscal year are only for the seven months, or up to January last, but they show a large gain over the corresponding period of 1901, and compared with the imports for the 12 months of 1899, only about 1,000,000 lb. less than the total for that year. The figures for the seven months of 1901 and 1902 respectively are as follows :

IMPORTS OF REFINED SUGAR FOR SEVEN MONTHS.

	1901 (7 montbs) lb.	1902 (7 montbs) lb.
Great Britain	6,399,590	6,410,738
United States	6,464,640	9,486,071
B. W. Indies	.....	700
Germany	1,079,136	11,725,732
Holland	1,645,429	2,507,783
Total lb.	18,111,842	31,992,413

Several attempts have been made during the last couple of years to induce the Government to increase the duty on refined sugar, but they have all proved abortive. The Customs duty on sugar is based on the polariscope test and begins at $1.08 per 100 lb. on sugar testing 88 degrees. We learn from importers that the average duty paid by them on granulated sugar they bring in from the United States is $1.26 per 100 lb., or, including 2c. duty on the barrel, $1.28 per 100 lb.

Through the readjustment of the equalization freight rates, which has just been effected, it is expected to accomplish what it was desired to do by increasing the tariff, namely, curtail the importation of refined sugars from the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Holland and all other exporting countries.

The equalization freight rate under the change which went into effect on April 1 in Toronto and other Ontario points shows a reduction of 10c. per 100 lb. This makes the rate on carlots only 8c. advance on the f.o.b. price Montreal for less than carlots, and 3c. per 100 lb. on carlots. The arrangement is, of course, made between the refineries and the railways, with the cooperation of the wholesale trade, and for the present, at any rate, gives the Canadian sugar an advantage over the imported article as far as price is concerned. This appears to be particularly true as far as United States sugar is concerned.

It will be noticed from the above table that the imports from the United States last year were about 40 per cent. of the total imported, while the year before the proportion was still greater. The United States Government, it will be remembered, gives a rebate of 99 per cent. of the import duty on the quantity of foreign raw sugar contained in refined exported. What this duty is it is difficult to ascertain. It is, however, estimated by some authorities to be 2.02c. per lb., allowing for the countervailing duties, and 1.76c. on sugar other than that coming from the bounty-giving countries. We do not, however, pledge our word as to the accuracy of these figures. Besides the advantage of the refund in the duty, the United States refineries have enjoyed lower freight rates to many points in Ontario than the Canadian refineries. The proportion of the freight rate which has fallen to the lot of the Canadian railways on sugar brought from New York and consigned to points in Ontario averages only about one-third of the total.

On account of the heavy import duty in Germany, which preserves the home market to the native refineries, together with the bounties, refined sugar from that country can be laid down in Canada at about one-half the price that is paid by the dealer in Germany.

Under the new and lower equalization freight rates the chief interest, however, centres around the question as to its ultimate effect on the import trade in United States sugars. During the past two or three years the New York refineries have been making a special effort to get a foothold in the Canadian market, and, although their difficulties have been much increased by the advent of the new freight rates, we may be certain of one fact, and that is that they will still be a competitor for this market to at least some extent.

A STRONG CHEESE MARKET.

THE situation in cheese is still a strong one. Total shipments from Canada and the United States are about 400,000 boxes less than last year, which, at 80 lb. to the box, would mean 32,000,000 lb.

In spite of the falling off in the exports the Canadian market is unusually bare, and choice cheese to the retail trade is being quoted as high as 11½ to 12c.

Supplies also appear to be light in Manitoba and several hundred boxes have been bought in Toronto within the last few days for shipment to that Province, in one transaction, at least, 11¼c. f.o.b. Toronto being paid.

The Grocers' Journal, London, England, in its issue of March 22 said : "After a long period of dulness, during which buyers have been acting with extreme caution and sellers have shown an indifferent front, cheese has become quite active, and prices have consistently advanced, the wake-up being an all-round one, supported by buyers, enforced by sellers, and aided by strong cables from across the Atlantic. The fact of quotations advancing as much as 5s. per cwt. in a fortnight, with every indication of their going still higher, points to a state of things in which holders have the whip hand, and we must admit that, as far as we have been able to gauge it, the statistical position is altogether against the buyer."

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, April 3, 1902.

GROCERIES.

SUGAR has been the feature of the wholesale trade during the past week. After we had gone to press last week an advance of 5c. took place in all refined sugars, and on the 1st inst. a new freight rate on sugar went into force. By a readjustment of the equalized freight rates the f.o.b. price in Toronto is now only 8c. above the f.o.b. price Montreal for less than carlots, and 3c. on carlots. The volume of business in sugar shows some improvement both here and in the United States. In the wholesale grocery trade, generally, business is fairly good, and, if anything, rather better that at this time a year ago. There is no speculative buying, however, in any one line. In canned goods the situation is the same as it has been for the past two or three weeks; although some of the packers are beginning to quote futures we hear of no transactions. There is a good demand for currants and a fair demand for Valencia raisins, prunes, and Californian evaporated fruits. Coffees are in fair request. In syrups and molasses business is scarcely as brisk as it was a week ago. In teas the movement is fair on retail account, but the brokers report that they are doing very little business.

CANNED GOODS.

Some of the packers are offering futures in vegetables at prices slightly below those of the opening figures of last year. We hear, however, of no transactions. In spot goods the situation is much the same as a week ago. Tomatoes continue firm, and with the opening of navigation it is expected by some that there will be further shipments to lake ports in the United States. The price to the retail trade still ranges from 90 to 95c., although some of the houses appear to have nothing below 92½c. The demand for tomatoes is fairly good. Corn and peas are in light demand, the former at 70c. upwards, and the latter at 80c. upwards. A good demand is reported for marmalade, jams and jellies, and the trade in this line is even better than is usual at this time. The demand for canned salmon is moderate, and the same remarks apply to canned fish generally. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

COFFEES.

The outside markets are quiet and uninteresting. Locally, the demand for green Rio coffee is a little better than it was a week ago, and roasted coffees are in fair demand. Quotations are: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Advices from the outside markets report that there has been more activity from jobbers and grinders of pepper, mace and ginger, and that prices are firmer as a result of cable advices from the British markets. Good grades of mace and white pepper are scarce. Although the crop of pepper at Singapore is slightly larger than last year, this is more than off-set by the shortages in the crops in other producing countries. Locally, there is nothing special to note, the demand being just moderate.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A fair trade is reported in rice and the demand for tapioca is good. We quote: Tapioca at 3½c. for round lots up to 4c. for smaller quantities. Sago is quoted at from 3¾ to 4c. B rice is unchanged at 3¼, and Japan at 5½ to 6c.

SUGAR.

The most interesting feature of the sugar market is a rearrangement of the equalized freight rates on sugar for Western Ontario points. Heretofore the difference on less than carlots has been 18c. above the f.o.b. price Montreal. By the new arrangement, which went into force on the 1st inst., the difference will be only 8c., making a reduction in the rate of 10c. per 100 lb. On carlots the advance on the f.o.b. price Montreal is 3c. As we note in our editorial columns the object of this is to enable Canadian sugar to compete more successfully with foreign refined. On Friday last there was an advance of 5c. per 100 lb. in the price of all Canadian sugars. Allowing for the reduction in the freight rate the price in Toronto is now 5c. lower than a week ago, granulated being quoted at $3.98 for St. Lawrence and Redpath, and $3.93 for Acadia. Yellows run from $3.23 up. The demand this week shows some improvement over last week. The price is also 5c. higher in the United States on refined sugars and the demand there is good, with the refiners about three days behind with their orders. Since last week raws have advanced ⅛c., 96-test centrifugals being quoted at 3⅝c., at which there are buyers but no sellers. Holders there are now asking 3 11-16c. and appearances indicate that the next sales will be made at that figure. Beets in Europe, since our last, have touched 6s. 7½d., but have since receded to 6s. 6d. American refiners are believed to have bought fully 15,000 bags of beet sugars whenever they reached the parity of centrifugals. Receipts of raw sugar at the four United States ports last week were about 3,282 tons less than the meltings. Receipts have also fallen off at Cuban shipping ports, although stocks there continue heavy, being, according to last account, 350,000 tons. Central factories are beginning to cease grinding, two having closed down during the past week.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Although there is a fair amount of business doing the demand for both syrups and molasses is lighter than it was a week ago. We quote as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

The wholesale trade report a fairly active demand for teas, but the brokers appear to be doing very little business. Ceylon greens are entirely wanting on this market, while the markets abroad are above importers' ideas, so there is practically nothing doing except for the package tea-trade. There are still no China greens in first hands and very few in second hands. The last shipments of tea from Calcutta for the season have been made, and the market is now closed for two months. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of March 21, say that at the week's auction no change took place in the condition of Indian teas. The average price received for the week was 7.60d. compared with 6.82d. a year ago. In Ceylon teas the bidding was strong for anything with good liquor, but as the sale included a few invoices, which showed a falling off in quality, some lower quotations were made, although, as a general rule, prices were steady and the market practically unchanged. The average price for the week was 7.04d. against 6.65d. a year ago.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The demand for currants has been rather better during the past week than it was even before. A cable received in Toronto on Tuesday, from Patras, quoted a slightly lower figure than previous quotations. Locally, the ruling quotations are: Filiatras, 6c. to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½c. to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8c. to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Prices are firm in England and some orders have been placed by local importers during the past week. The demand, locally, from the retail trade is not large, but prices are firm at 6½ to 6¾c. for selected.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The demand is fair and prices unchanged at 8 to 12½c.

PRUNES.—There is still a fair demand, although the volume of business is not, perhaps, so large as a week ago. Prices are steady and unchanged. We quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—The demand has eased off a little, but stocks are still light. We quote 4½c. as the ruling quotation for both Sairs and Hallowees.

FIGS.—There is a fair demand for tapnet figs at 3¼ to 3½c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—A fair demand is still the feature of trade in this line. Our quotations are as follows, according to quality and package: Apricots, 13 to 17c.; peaches, 11 to 14c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

The demand for oranges and lemons continues heavy, and they still have a tendency to advance. Bananas are freely selling at prices that keep firm. Owing to the higher prices of strawberries in the the Southern markets, they are scarce on the local market this week. Tomatoes are down again to $5 per case, and at that price meet with fair sales. Californian celery is quiet. We quote: Oranges, marmalade, $2.75 to $3 per case; Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Floridas $3 to $3.25 per box; Mexicans, $2.50 to $2.75 per box; Californian navels, $3.75 to $4.25 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75; Valencias, $4.50 to $5.00 per small case, $5.50 to $6.00 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; late Jerseys, $8 50 to $9; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50 to $4.50; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.25 to $3; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $5 per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 45 to 55c. per qt.

VEGETABLES.

The market is in a healthy condition, and trade is improving. Rhubarb is 25c. per dozen bunches lower, and radishes are also a little easier. Potatoes are weaker, owing to the free offerings of this week. The other prices are unchanged. We quote: Green onions, 10 to 15c. per doz.; rhubarb, 75c. to $1 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 50c. per bag; turnips, 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 45c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 65c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 75 to 80c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—Free receipts are reported with a fair demand. Eggs this week are quoted at 12 to 12½c. per doz., a decline of ½c.

BEANS—There is a small trade doing. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40, and prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY—Trade is steady. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—There is a good demand for the genuine article, and the offerings are fair. We quote: Maple syrup, in 1-gal. cans, 90c. to $1.10 per gal.; maple sugar, 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Dried apples are quiet, the principal demand being for evaporated. We quote: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES — There have been liberal offerings in carlots, and prices are down to 55 to 60c. per bag on the track. The market is weak.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There has been a good demand for the inferior grades that has helped to clear the market. The receipts of choice dairy butter still continue small. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 18 to 18½c.; large rolls, 17 to 18c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 24c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—The local demand continues brisk at 11 to 11½c., most of the sales being made at the latter figure. The exports are heavy at 10¾ to 11c.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY — The offerings are few and prices are unchanged. Good turkeys and chickens are wanted. We quote: Chickens, 60 to 90c. per pair; turkeys, 12 to 14c. per lb.

LIVE POULTRY — There are some chickens and broilers being received. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 9c., for ducks and turkeys 12c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens and pullets, 5c. per lb.; broilers, 25c. per lb. (must be this year's hatching and under 2 lb. each). Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH AND OYSTERS.

The warm weather has resulted in the clearing out of the stocks of frozen fish, and now fresh fish are being offered instead. Shipments of large Lake Erie herring, and perch, pickerel and fresh-caught trout are being received for the spring trade. The demand for oysters is falling off. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; Lake Erie perch, 4 to 5c.; pickerel, 4c.; newly-caught trout, 8½ to 10c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c. Smoked fish—Ciscoes, $1 to $1.25; finnan haddie, 6½ to 7c.; Digby herring, 50 to 65c. per bundle. Prepared fish — Dried cod, in 112-lb. bundles, $4.75 per cwt.; flitched cod, $5.50 to $6; boneless cod, in bricks, 4½ to 5½c. per lb.; steak cod, 6½c. per lb.; shredded cod (2 doz. in box), $1.80 per box; boneless fish, loose, in 25-lb. boxes, 4 to 4½c., and in 5-lb. boxes, 5c. per lb.; bloaters, per box of 50, $1 to $1.25; kippered herring, 50 in a box, $1 to $1.25 per box; smelts, per 15-lb. box, extras, 12c. per lb.; No. 1, 6½ to 7c. per lb. Oysters—Standards, $6.25 to $6.75 per large pail, or $3.75 per small pail; selects, $4.50 to $5 per pail.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There has been a limited movement of Western and Northwestern wheat. Prices are unchanged at 86c. for Manitoba No. 1 hard; 82c. for No. 1 Northern, and 78c. for No. 2 Northern. The receipts on the local market are light, only some goose wheat being offered. Goose wheat is down 1c. per bush. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 79c.; goose, 65 to 66c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

FLOUR—Trade is quiet and prices are weak. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.70 to $3.80; Hungarian patents, $4.05; Manitoba bakers', $3.80; straight roller, $3 40 to $3.50 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is slack, and local competition has forced down the price of rolled wheat 10c. per 100-lb. bbl. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.75; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—There is a small trade doing at unchanged prices. We quote: No. 1, SKINS — The demand is slow. We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 9c.; and No. 2, 7c.; deacons (dairies) 55 to 60c. each; sheepskins, 65 to 80c.

WOOL—There has been no improvement in the export demand, and the market is weak. Fleece is quoted at 13c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

The crop of timothy, both in Europe and America last year was a failure, and the Canadian stock has been exhausted, necessitating the importation of timothy seed from the Western States. So the prices have been raised $1.25 per bush. The prices of alsike and red clover have widened. We quote out of store at Toronto: Red clover, $7.50 to $9.50; alsike, $10 to $17, and timothy, $7.80 to $8.25.

MARKET NOTES.

Goose wheat is 1c. per bush. lower.

Timothy has advanced $1.25 per 100 lb.

Eggs have declined ½c. per doz. since last week.

Rolled wheat has been reduced 10c. per bbl. of 100 lb.

The prices of Southern tomatoes have been reduced 50c. to $1 per box.

There has been a drop of 25c. per 100 lb. in dressed hogs.

MR. SYKES' ENLARGED STORE.

Mr. W. J. Sykes, who has been established at 346 College street, Toronto, for 8 or 10 years as family grocer has considerably enlarged his premises by securing the store next door to him at 344 College street, formerly occupied as a butcher shop. He has made the two into one by removing the partition between them. This gives him double the old floor space and greatly increases his accommodations for the carrying of an extensive stock.

Counters are placed along each side, leaving a space in the centre in which he is going to place marble-top tables, which will be used for display purposes.

The store is handsomely fitted up with a large plate-glass mirror extending along one side. The store has two entrances and is lighted by gas.

These alterations give Mr. Sykes greater facilities for coping with the large trade he now has to attend to, as his business has greatly increased within the last few years. Lately he had to carry a larger stock of goods than he had room for in his store. It is Mr. Sykes' intention to shortly place in a stock of provisions.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, April 3, 1902.

GROCERIES.

SINCE Easter the business in groceries has been brisk on practically the whole range of goods, though, as was expected, a few articles, like fish, which were in the greatest demand throughout Lent, have dropped off to almost nothing. The early opening of navigation and the consequent reductions in freight charges have also much bettered the trade. Wholesalers had a great many orders on hand for shipment under the new freight tariff, and these goods are now being sent out. A further advance in sugar has added an interesting feature to the market. Pearl barley has been reduced 50c. per half barrel, and is now quoted at $3.75 to $3.90 per half barrel. of 98 lb. Canadian coal oil is ½c. higher, making the price for "Silver Star," 16½c., and for "Imperial Acme," 17½c.

SUGAR.

There has been a further advance of 5c. on sugars in this market, which took place on March 27. Granulated sugar is now worth $3.90 and yellows, $3.15 to $3.80. The market has been getting into a better condition, and under the present prices there is much more confidence in the situation of sugars. Buying has shown an increased activity since the last advance, and the demand now is reported good all round.

TEAS.

The market remains quiet, but very firm. The local demand has improved considerably, but buyers from the country are still only occasional visitors. During the fine weather of last week there was evidence of a better country demand, but this has dropped off again this week. The scarcity of green teas continues.

SYRUPS.

The market for corn syrup is quiet and is becoming still quieter as supplies of maple syrup come forward. The latter is apparently in plentiful supply, and corn syrup may take a lengthy rest. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrups, 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

The position of Barbados molasses remains practically unchanged. At the reduced price there was some improvement in the demand, but the end of Lent saw a falling off in the consumption and a consequent slackening of the trade between jobber and retailer. Barbados, in any quantity, is worth 24½c.; Antigua, 24c.; finest Porto Rico, 38c.

CANNED GOODS.

There is still a good demand for canned goods, and contrary to expectations, the end of Lent did not see the end of the demand. Since Easter all lines have been moving as well as for the past month, and even an increased inquiry is experienced for some lines. Canned fruits are particularly active. Advices from France refuse to quote on French peas. The canners there have been completely sold out, and the season is not far enough advanced to say anything definite about the new crop. Stocks of sardines are also reported to be very low. We quote: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. We quote: Salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

There is a good business doing at unchanged prices. The market remains firm. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

An active market continues for both these lines. No quotable change has occurred. Our quotations are in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The primary market is still firm, though offerings have been made at 6d. less for import from Patras, owing to the better freight facilities following upon the opening of the St. Lawrence route. We quote: Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7⅜ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The Denia market is completely exhausted of fruit fit to muster for Canadian standard, and orders have been going to London. Locally, prices are firm at 5⅝c. for finest offstalk; 6⅝c. for selected, and 6⅞c. for layers.

CANDIED PEELS.—The market is steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: Orange peel, 11½c.; lemon, 10½c., and citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—The demand for these has much improved this week, buyers taking the raisins when unable to obtain Valencias. The lower grades are in the more active demand. We quote as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Spot stocks are completely exhausted. Some business has gone forward for carload lots to London. Hallowees are nominally worth 4¼ to 4½c.

FIGS.—Trade is fair. We quote: Tapnets, $1.20, and layers, $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—Trade is rather quiet at unchanged prices. Seeded sell for 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The market for prunes is firm, and at present quotations is quite active. We quote as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7⅞c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The demand is very active just now and the improvement continues. Apricots are worth 14½c.; peaches, 10½c.; pears, 10c.

NUTS.

The local market remains quiet. Advices from the primary market state that business is dull, but that holders are by no means disposed to realize on their stocks of Tarragona almonds until more evidence is forthcoming as to the probability of the new crop, and the local prices are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—The situation in the butter market has not materially changed. Nearly all the old lots have been cleaned up, and the present demand is for fresh-made stuff. Most of the supplies on this market are coming from the Eastern Townships. Large rolls are offering more freely, but there has not been any quotable change. They sell for 17 to 18c. per lb. Finest fresh-made creamery is worth 23c.; fall-made, 21 to 22c., and undergrades, 18 to 20c.

CHEESE.—The market remains quiet with exporting business reduced to almost nothing at the moment. Locally, there is some demand, but there is great room for improvement. Finest colored is still quoted at 11 to 11½c., and whites at 11c.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Since our last report eggs have declined 2 to 3c., and are now quoted at 12 to 12½c. The large Easter trade was done last week, but all buyers are pretty well loaded up, and with the heavy offerings, the trade was more divided. The Easter trade, though good, was disappointing in a way, as all dealers had some eggs to sell and prices were consequently rather irregular. Grocers are buying now for actual wants only. Pickling operations in the country will soon commence, and this will affect the deliveries.

HONEY.—There have been several advances in the price of honey. The market is quiet. We quote: Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; strained, 7 to 8c.; white clover comb, 13 to 14c.; white extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.; slightly tinged, 10 to 11c.

ASHES.—There is no change in the market for ashes. The demand is steady. We quote per 100 lb.: First pots, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.90 to $3.95; pearls, $6 to $6.25.

DRESSED POULTRY.—The poultry market is not active this week, but though the demand is light, prices are inclined to be firm. We quote: Turkeys, 12 to 13c.; choice chickens, 12 to 13c.; frozen do., 9 to 10c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 9 to 10c.; fowl, 6 to 8c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—There have been heavy offerings of maple syrups on this market, but the demand is equal to it, and prices have been well kept up. New maple syrup is worth 65 to 75c., and maple sugar, 8 to 9c.

GREEN FRUITS.

Since Easter the trade in green fruits has fallen off to a certain extent, but it is in a much better condition than two or three weeks ago and shows a gradual improvement. Valencia oranges are now 15 to 25c. per box lower. Other lines have not changed. Our quotations

FISH.

The demand for fish is over, and prices are easy on all lines. A number of reductions will be noticed, especially on fresh fish. Holders of any large stocks of these must take what they can get. Tom cods are 10c. lower per barrel. No. 2 green cod is selling at 50c. lower. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 95c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 9 to 10c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $6.75 per bbl.; No. 2, $4.50; large, $6.50; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $10 to $11 per bbl.; No. 1, Labrador salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $5 per ½ bbl. and $9 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There is a moderate demand for flour from both local and country buyers. Our quotations are as follows: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.80; straight rollers, $3.45 to $3.55.

GRAIN.—The market has continued quiet with very few changes in quotations to report. Ontario spring wheat is 1c. lower, and peas have slightly declined. We quote: Ontario No. 1 spring wheat, afloat May, 76c.; No. 2 spring wheat, 75c.; peas, 90c.; rye, 63½c.; oats, 46½c. to 47c. ex-store; corn, 66 to 67c.; buckwheat, 55½c.; middle freights, feed barley, 53 to 54c.

OATMEAL.—Wholesale houses are now quoting rolled oats to the trade at $4.90 to $5 per bbl., a decline of 30 to 40c. over their former prices. In bags, the price is $2.40 to $2.50.

FEED.—All lines of feed are selling well and prices are somewhat firmer. There has, as yet, however, been no quotable change. Our quotations are as follows: Ontario bran, in carlots, $18.50 per ton; shorts, $22.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—The demand for baled hay has much improved, and this week an active market prevails at steady prices, and our quotations are as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9.25; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Sugars are 5c. higher.

Eggs are 2 to 3c. lower.

Canadian coal oil is up ½c.

Pearl barley is 50c. lower per ½ bbl. of 98 lb.

The prices of all kinds of honey have advanced.

Valencia oranges have declined 15 to 25c. per box.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., March 29, 1902.

WITH the close of March the three quiet months of the year are past. Navigation is now fully open. The river has opened the earliest for many years. There was more than the usual damage done, though some of the larger bridges, which were at one time in much danger, were not particularly damaged. The country market has been a place of interest. Some splendid displays of Easter meats were made, and prices ruled high. In other lines, except fresh fish, which are very scarce, and which, of course, are largely in demand, prices were easy. Molasses continues a matter of interest, and prices are low. Beans continue to be quoted rather lower. In cream of tartar the market is rather firmer. Rice is quite low, particularly for late arrivals.

OILS.—There is a steady business in burning oils. While the price shows no change, the market seems rather firmer. The active competition here tends to lower prices. In lubricating oils the competition is particularly strong. Because of the great variety of grades, however, there is, as a rule, a better chance for profit. Shipments are becoming quite general. Paint oils have a good demand. The high prices are firmly held. Seal oil, which has been so firm, is now in even a stronger position, because of reports of a small catch. Cod oil is also high.

SALT.—In Liverpool coarse salt the firm prices are fully maintained. The regular boats will make but a few more trips. The tendency will then be to higher figures. In Liverpool fine salt the receipts are light. In Canadian fine there is an improved sale. Prices are unchanged since our last report. Quotations are as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; son of Mr. Huntley, late with E. D. Trueman.

C. K. Fletcher, representing J. K. Armsby Co., called on the trade this week, with the local representative, J. Hunter White.

"The Canadian Grocer" extends congratulations to Mr. E. T. Sturdee, now Col. Sturdee. Mr. Sturdee is one of the leading mercantile brokers of our city.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., March 31, 1902.

THE first three months of the new year end with to-day, and both imports and exports at this point are largely in excess of last year. Of this increase the grocery trade has had its due share. At present the wholesale trade is in a healthy condition, and the trade generally are well satisfied with the amount of business doing. No doubt, the early opening of spring business has had a good effect all round, and everything points to 1902 as likely to be a record breaker in all lines of trade.

The activity in the wholesale line has also stimulated the jobbers' and retailers' business, and there are few to be found who are not entirely satisfied with the present business, or who do not consider the outlook as entirely promising. Other lines as well as the grocery are doing a good business, and each one stimulates the other. The same healthy and encouraging state of affairs is reported by the travellers in all parts of the Province.

Prices are being well maintained, and there are very few changes of importance to note. In comparison with other years prices run about the same, or only a shade higher, except in sugar and flour—the former now being at the low record. Hay has dropped 50c. to $1 a ton; kerosine oil, American, has advanced ½c. per gallon; American mess pork has gone up 50c.; peas, both split and round, have advanced 10c. on the barrel of 196 lb. Though some other lines are very firm, no material change has been made in prices.

During the last week the dealers handled a large quantity of very fine Easter beef, some of the best of which was imported from the west. Good beef is not coming in as plentifully as usual at this season, no doubt due to the high price of feeds during the winter. Pork, for the same reason, is also scarce, and is now on the upward turn and may advance considerably.

Eggs are comparatively scarce and have upheld the price much better than in former seasons. Last week the price, wholesale, was 15c., or higher than the Montreal price. The next week, with the Easter demand over, they should drop to 10 to 15c. Butter is a little more plentiful; not, however, from our own production, but through western importations. Best-made home or dairy creamery still maintains a high price and the demand is greater than the supply.

There is no material change in the fish market, except that shore cod are now quoted 50c. a quintal higher. There is no improvement of any importance noted in the West-Indian market, except in Cuba, but as old stock must be cleared out the usual shipments are going regularly forward. The arrivals of fresh fish from the local fisheries are practically nil, while extremely good reports come in from other points, especially from the Bay of Fundy.

The export business of Halifax last week amounted to $116,972, being largely over double what it was for the corresponding week last year. Over one-third of this amount, $57,775, was sent to the West Indies, indicating a good increase in our business there. The principal of these exports were in the grocery line and included fish, hay, potatoes, butter, cheese, and flour, while a smaller quantity of other lines was also exported. The exports to England were also large, amounting to $72,136, which was also largely in the grocery line—apples, butter, cheese, canned fish—and a quantity of lumber. The shipments of apples aggregate 15,000 barrels, one steamer, the Wyandotte, taking 11,030.

Among the exports to the West Indies may be noted 150 pkgs. cheese, 350 pkgs. butter, 1,716 bbls. of potatoes, 985 bales of hay. The greater part of the butter and cheese came from Upper Canada and the West. The hay and potatoes went, for the most part, to Demerara and Trinidad. The imports for the week of West-Indian produce were also large, and included 1,355 bags sugar, 50 bbls. sugar, 82 puncheons molasses, from Antigua; 283 bags sugar, 17 hhds. sugar, 25 hhds. and 300 puncheons molasses, from Barbados; 870 bags sugar from Demerara; 154 bags sugar from Dominica; 121 bags, 172 bbls. sugar, Montserratt; 3,847 bags, 150 bbls. sugar, from St. Kitts.

The prices of sugar and molasses remain unchanged, except for changes noted last week. Porto Rico, new crop molasses, is selling here the same as old crop, the first importation being made as noted last week.

R. C. H.

CALIFORNIA ORANGES STRONG.

The Fruit World, under date of March 22, has the following on oranges: "The orange market is strong. Some shippers have all the orders they can fill and are refusing further orders. The indications are for higher prices, if the oranges carry fairly well, although the auction markets are not yet quite up to the free on board prices. Cars have arrived East which have shown considerable decay, and it develops that most of the cars that have reached destination in bad condition have gone over the Southern route instead of the Northern. Most shippers are now refusing to accept further orders for points at all distant unless navels are iced or the buyer assumes the risk of decay himself if ventilated. The trade are calling more for the medium sizes in oranges. Nearly all those markets that heretofore were eagerly asking for large sizes with no discount are now strongly objecting to these sizes unless the regular discounts are made; consequently it is likely that discounts will have to be allowed again on the large off sizes."

THE LATE MR. FRANK J. HART.

A DEATH that had an unusually depressing effect upon Montreal business and public men was that of Mr. Frank J. Hart, of the well-known wholesale fruit firm of Hart & Tuckwell, which occurred on Thursday, March 27, at Colorado Springs, where he had gone with some companions partly on business and partly on pleasure.

The firm of which Mr. Hart was the head is perhaps the largest fruit firm in Canada. The late gentleman succeeded his father in it, and, on the death of Mr. Tuckwell, continued the business under the same name. To Mr. Hart belongs the credit of bringing the first fruit vessel direct to Montreal. It took years for him to attain this object, but its result was to make Montreal the greatest distributing point for oranges, lemons and other fruits from the East. The firm are also large exporters of Canadian and United States fruit to Great Britain. Mr. Hart was a member of the Montreal Board of Trade for a great many years, representing the fruit dealers of the city in a manner that gave satisfaction to all.

Although very often offered nominations for public posts, Mr. Hart steadily refused all up to the time he was elected to the city council in 1900, by acclamation. In this office he distinguished himself. His business training had fitted him for any duty in the municipal government, and as chairman of the fire committee all parties acknowledged his ability and the benefits that had resulted from his efforts to improve the fire department. In the councils of the city Mr. Hart won the confidence of all for the straightforward, manly way in which he pronounced his views, and the disinterestedness he displayed on all occasions. No one connected with the municipal affairs of Montreal but feels that the city has suffered a very great loss.

Mr. Hart was a comparatively young man, having been born in Montreal in 1852, and his death came as a surprise to most of those who knew him, for he was generally regarded to be in the best of health.

Deceased leaves a wife, a daughter and three sons. Two of the sons, Charles and Frank, were associated with their father in business.

COLOMBO TEA AUCTION.

Dodwell & Co., Limited, Colombo, under date of February 26, 1902, write: "To-day's auction of about 900,000 lb. passed off with a firmer tone for all good leaf teas selling over 36c., more especially for the better liquoring sorts. Common to medium kinds keep firm. Good to finest brokens were in demand, and prices were fully maintained. Common to medium sorts, no change. Quality all around is about the same as last week."

AGENTS WANTED FOR BISCUITS.

Mackenzie & Mackenzie, Limited, manufacturers of high-class biscuits, Edinburgh, Scotland, are desirous of doing business with Canada. And to look after their business in this country they want a few good agents. As will be noticed by the firm's advertisement on page 16, all applicants are asked to address their letters to the Editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER, 10 Front street east, Toronto.

MR. W. BREMNER GOES WEST.

Mr. W. Bremner, who has been with the Davidson & Hay, Limited, Toronto, during the past 15 years, left last week for Winnipeg. He has been appointed manager of the Calgary branch of the wholesale grocery business of G. F. & J. Galt, and after a short stay in Winnipeg will assume his new duties.

Before leaving for Winnipeg Mr. Bremner was presented with a good watch by the employes of the Davidson & Hay, Limited, while the firm gave him a cheque for a substantial amount.

FELT FOR FLY PAPER PADS.

Mr. Archdale Wilson has purchased a carload (20 tons) of specially made felt for the manufacture of Wilson's fly pads, and Smith's fly poison squares.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Chas. Zwicker, general merchant, Crediton, Ont., was in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Larkin and family are spending a few days in New York and Boston.

ROWAT & CO.'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Mr. John Fullerton, a partner of the firm of Rowat & Co., pickle manufacturers, Glasgow, Scotland, arrived in New York a few days ago. He is visiting his different agencies in the United States and Canada, and is in Montreal this week, where Snowdon & Paterson, 449 St. Paul street, represent his firm.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

WINNIPEG, March 31, 1902.

THE business of the week has been very much broken, owing to the unsettled state of the weather. Floods in some districts and bad roads everywhere, and finally the holiday, have all tended to disturb the usual flow of business. Nevertheless, a considerable amount of trade has been done, more especially in the line of mail orders. Saturday being fine, business in the city was active, and the buying for Easter heavy in nearly all lines. Grocers have been considerably delayed by the destruction of orders and bills of lading in the recent fire at the C.P.R. freight sheds.

SUGARS—Prices remain unchanged for the week, quotations being $4 80 for granulated and $4.10 for bright yellow.

SYRUPS — An advance is reported in syrups. Present quotations are 3⅝ to 3¾c. in barrels and 3¾ to 2⅞c. in half-barrels.

CANNED GOODS — Tomatoes continue firm, and the demand is good at $2.40 per case. Gallon apples have advanced from being $1.65 to $1.75 per case to $1.85 to $2. The anticipated drop in corn has not yet been declared. Other lines of canned goods are without change.

COFFEE—The tone of the market is not quite so firm as it has been, although no decline is yet quoted.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS--The demand is nominal, and no change of price has been noted for the week. There is considerable inquiry for dried apples.

FLOUR—Very great interest has been created in milling circles by the announcement of the Ogilvie Milling Company with Mr. Hosmer as president and F. W. Thompson, of Winnipeg, as vice-president and managing-director. During the week there has been considerable export movement in flour, and millers report prices rather better. Shipments have left the city this week for South Africa, Australia and the West Indies. Locally, trade has been merely nominal and prices are without change.

GROUND FEED—The demand has increased during the week and trade is now active. Prices, however, are without change. We quote: Oat and barley chop, $24.50; oat chop, $26; barley chop, $22; rolled feed, the same prices as ground; oil cake, $27 per ton.

MILL FEED—There has been more inquiry for both bran and shorts this week, and trade in both is fair. Prices are without change. Bran, $14.50; shorts, $16.50.

CEREALS—The week has produced more inquiry in almost all lines, but more particularly in rolled oats. Prices are the same as last week. We quote: 80's, $2.30; 40's, $1.20; 20's, 50c.; split peas, demand limited, and price $2.85; pot barley, $2.45; pearl barley, $3 65; white beans, $1.80.

BUTTER—There has been practically no market all week, for the simple reason that there has been no supply. Probably Winnipeg has not been as bare of fresh butter at any time in the past 10 years. There have been no receipts of strictly-fresh dairy reported this week.

CHEESE—The demand is good and the supply of choice Ontario cheese very fair.

EGGS—The market has remained glutted all week, and prices are very low for Easter, fresh case eggs selling freely at 13c. per doz. The state of the country and the roads at present prevents the receipt of additional supplies for some days, at least, and dealers are hoping to clear up present stocks and advance prices a little.

VEGETABLES—Many lines have advanced with the season. Carrots, $1.20 per bush.; parsnips, 90c.; beets, 50c.; cabbage, 3 to 3½c. per lb. Potatoes, on the contrary, are lower in tone and with light demand. Quotations are 25 to 30c. per bush. on the track for carlots. In celery, the market is supplied almost entirely with Californian, which is worth from 70 to 90c. per dozen, according to size. There is a liberal supply of lettuce, radishes and parsley, all of which are quoted at 40c. per doz. Onions are firm at 4 to 5c. per lb.

GREEN FRUITS—Oranges have advanced 25 to 50c. per case in sympathy with the Californian market. No other change is to be noted.

NOTES.

A general meeting of the shareholders of the new fruit company mentioned last week is called for this week, when, it is understood, that organization will be completed.

Hilton, Dingman & Co., manufacturers' agents, have dissolved partnership, and in future the business will be carried on under the title of Hilton, Gibson & Co. The chief line of this house is "Sunlight" soap.

Many travellers reaching the city complain of the difficulty of getting sample-rooms. Some have to wait as long as four and five days before getting an opportunity of displaying the lines carried.

A WAREHOUSE SOLD.

The warehouse at 90 Grey Nun street, Montreal, occupied by Mr. A. W. Grant, has been sold by Mr. Hugh Watson to The Gould Cold Storage Co. It adjoins their premises at the corner of William and Grey Nun streets, and will make an important addition to their storage-room. The price paid was $16,500.

LAWSUIT OVER FISH.

THERE was a lawsuit in the Division Court, Toronto, on April 1, over four casks of fish. Cleghorn, Smith & Co., Toronto, sold Ostrom, McBride & Co., also of Toronto, five casks of salt sea herring. One cask was taken away and the other four were left in the car. The weather was warm, the fish began to spoil and had to be destroyed, on the orders of the Government inspector, who said the public health was endangered. The goods thus destroyed were valued at $38 07, and the Cleghorns sued the purchasers for that amount. The defendants claim the contract stated that the plaintiffs were to keep the fish in their warehouse until wanted. If this had been done, the goods would not have spoiled. It is further claimed that the fish in the cask over which there was no dispute were "rusty." Sea herrings would be "bright" if they were in good condition. The greater portion of this cask had to be dumped by the defendants.

Mr. Cleghorn produced books to show that consignments of the same shipment had been sold to other dealers, and these had turned out satisfactorily.

Judgment was reserved by Judge Morson on technical grounds. The lawyers will put in authorities.

ARRIVALS OF SALMON IN ENGLAND.

London mail advices report the arrival of salmon of the 1901 pack as follows: Blythewood, from New Westminster, B.C., 65,488 cases into Liverpool; the Glenfarg, with 14,834 cases from Tacoma into London, the remaining portion of the cargo — 22,484 cases—having been discharged in the northern entreport on March 1, and the Glenshiel, with 20,000, in transit. Importers, however, do not seem inclined to place these supplies uureservedly on the market.

DEATH OF GEORGE C. HUSBAND.

One of the best-known fruit merchants of Toronto, Mr. Geo. C. Husband, of Husband, Bros. & Co., wholesale fruiterers, died on Saturday, March 29, at the age of 39 years. He was carried off with pneumonia, which he developed from a severe cold.

A native of Halton county, deceased came to Toronto when young to take a position with Rice & Davis, fruit merchants. He left their employ in 1890 to go into partnership with his brother, Cameron Husband, and later H. M. Mulholland was taken into the firm.

The deceased leaves a widow and two sons. His funeral took place at Oakville, last Tuesday.

DEATH OF EX-SENATOR OGILVIE.

A MAN who took no mean part in the development of Canada has passed away in the person of ex-Senator A. W. Ogilvie, who died at Montreal on March 31, with pneumonia.

For over half a century his life was connected with the history of this country, which owes him much for his services in extending its commerce. He, with the assistance of his younger brothers, built up The Ogilvie Milling Company, a concern that has now huge mills in Montreal, Seaforth, Goderich and Winnipeg, and elevators in every part of the great West. Several of the largest financial concerns of Montreal number him among their organizers and directors. He was president of The Western Loan and Trust Co., vice-president of The Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, vice-president of The Montreal Loan and Mortgage Co., vice-president of The Dominion Burglary and Guarantee Co., vice-president and chairman of The Montreal Board of Directors of The London (Eng.,) Guarantee Co., and a trustee of the Mount Royal Cemetery. He was also a member of St. James Club, and manager of the John Ogilvie estate.

He took part in the political affairs of this country for many years and his personal popularity and genial qualities made him a man hard to beat in the political field. The party to which he belonged was rendered valuable assistance by his great administrative powers. He was a Conservative and was a member of the Senate from 1881 until last year, when he resigned.

Alexander Walker Ogilvie was a native of St. Michel, Que., being born on May 7, 1829. His father was the late Alexander Ogilvie, who came with his parents from Stirlingshire, Scotland, to Canada in 1800, settling on the Chateauguay river, and afterwards at Point St. Charles, in the Province of Quebec. He was educated at the local schools and in 1852 formed a partnership with his uncle, the late James Goudie, in the flour business. Two years later Mr. Goudie retired and A. W. Ogilvie & Co. was formed to engage in business as grain merchants and proprietors of the Glenora Mills at the Lachine canal. He later on took in with him as partners his younger brothers John and the late Wm. W. Ogilvie, and retired from the firm in 1871. He first entered public life as alderman in the Montreal City Council and was a member of the Provincial Legislature from 1867 to 1878, excepting for the period between 1871 and 1875. He was afterwards appointed a Senator in 1881.

The deceased is survived by a widow, who is a daughter of the late William Leney, one son, Mr. Shirley Ogilvie, of Ottawa, and three daughters, Mrs. Playfair, of Midland, Ont.; Mrs. Gemmell, of Ottawa, and Mrs. S. A. McMurtry, of Montreal.

CURIOUS INDUSTRIES THAT YIELD INCOMES.

(From Answers.)

TWO thousand eight hundred live frogs were recently sent by one steamer from Hull to Cleveland, Ohio. They were packed in grass, and most of them arrived at their destination safe and well. They were collected in the Fen district, where about a dozen families live for some months in the year by frogs. Although the large bullfrogs are not native to England, yet the smaller varieties are found to be perfectly eatable; and a number are also sold for fish-bait. They are shipped to France as well as to America; and a family of five persons can add from 15 to 25s. a week to their income in this fashion.

Around Nottingham some 300 people live on worms. The soil is particularly suitable for these creatures, which are sent all over the country for fishing purposes. The yearly income from Nottingham worms is about £12,000. The work is not difficult, but entails very early rising during the summer months, in order to gather the worms when they come to the surface at early dawn. They must also be protected from hungry birds.

Norwich and its neighborhood sends 50,000 canaries away yearly to all parts of the world, and receives back from £10,000 to £11,000 in payment. Very few families depend entirely upon canary-breeding as a means of livelihood. The women look after the birds, while the men pursue other employments. But, as Sir S. Hoare said recently, when opening the All-England Cagebird Show at Norwich, "canaries pay the rent of some hundreds of small homes in and around the city."

Many acres in the West of England and the Midlands are devoted to ash-beds, planted for the growth of walking-sticks. For this purpose the young plants are set not vertically, plantations for hop and pea sticks, but are laid horizontally. Many of these plantations belong to small farmers, or are leased by men employed in other work. The only work necessary is to keep the ground well hoed, and clean from weeds; and in four years the sticks are ready for cutting. An acre will then yield from £30 to £50 worth of sticks, which are cut, tied in faggots, and sent to a stick-factory. The rent of land suitable for stick-growing is about 30 shillings an acre; the outlay is small, as there is no need of enriching the soil; and the work is done by the lessee or his children. A large number of families add £10 to £120 a year to their incomes in this fashion.

AS THEY ARE IN

Ladies who have a taste for cooking are finding that sweet-making is a most profitable occupation for spare hours at home. Some are clever enough to work out recipes unaided; but, as a rule, a course of training at about £5 is necessary. The necessary implements will cost and for cooking a gas or ordinary kitchen stove is sufficient. A thermometer, a marble slab, a copper saucepan, moulds and a caramel-cutter are all the implements needed. As a rule, home-working sweetmakers get up a private connection, and find no difficulty in getting eightecnpence a pound for their wares. Many make as much as a sovereign a week profit in this way.

Amateur photography is all very well if the amateur is a first-class worker, and sells his or her pictures to the illustrated papers. But an enterprising girl in Leeds has lately discovered photographic work which pays her far better. This is cleaning old photographs. Almost everyone has old and valued photographs yellowed by age. These, this young woman collects, and renovates. It is quicker and cleaner work than photography, pure and simple, and, according to her experience, pays far better. In one month recently her accounts show that she cleaned 187 photographs, and got £7 10s. for the work. Material cost only five shillings, so her profits were some 35 shillings a week.

Women, indeed, seem far more clever than men at finding new and paying industries at which they are able to employ themselves at home. There is a London lady who spends every morning of her life scanning the advertisement columns of the daily papers. Any of her friends who want a house, a servant, rooms in town, old oak furniture—anything, indeed, that can be chosen by a third person—have only to let her know, choose the article for them, or send them such advertisements as she may deem suitable. Of course, she charges a small commission; but, small as it is, it is a bad year that she clears less than £200.

AND SHE WILL EITHER

Another lady, who also lives in London, makes a specialty of disposing of, by sale or exchange, duplicate wedding presents. She will also choose wedding presents for those who reside at a distance. This enterprising woman also makes a sufficient income in this manner.

Brass—the soft kind known as French metal—costs about 1s. 3d. a pound. Ladies with artistic tastes can get a few months' teaching in repousse work, and then, by the aid of a few punches and hammers, convert these plain sheets of metal into trays or platters, worth five to ten times the cost of the material. A Bournemouth lady has prospered so greatly at this brasswork that she has always more work on hand than she can do unaided, and has been forced to obtain help. She has, therefore, trained several others to assist her, and all find this a most

PAYING HOME INDUSTRY.

Copying medals or casts is found profitable by a family of Irish ladies ruined by the land agitation. The prime cost of the necessary materials for this work is very small, being simply oil, cardboard, sealing-wax, and fine plaster-of-paris. Paraffin, too, and some sulphur, may be found useful.

Many collectors, unable to afford rare originals, are yet glad to have copies for their collections; and the ladies in question have a large private connection who take their wares. One of the sisters also makes brackets of plaster, taking castings from real fruit and flowers. There are four sisters, and between them they make some £250 a year, all out of easy, pleasant homework.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Adulterated Lard—Miscellaneous Notes.

ADULTERATED LARD.

AT Durham County, England, Petty Sessions, Ralph Harrison, of Kelloe, was charged with selling lard which was adulterated with beef or mutton fat.

Mr. Scott Elder stated that on January 3 his assistant, George Wilson, purchased 12 ozs. of lard from the defendant, for which he paid 5d. The public analyst had certified it to contain 7 per cent. of beef or mutton fat. When the case came before the bench a month ago, a portion was ordered to be sent to Sumerset House, whose analysts certified it to contain approximately 3 per cent. of beef or mutton stearin. Mr. Elder pointed out that although the percentages differed slightly, the adulterant itself had been found.

Mr. Mawson, for the defence, said that unfortunately the defendant had not a written warranty, but had taken a verbal statement from the wholesale people, who had purchased the lard from another firm with a written warranty. The wholesale people themselves had been deceived. They had actually had a sample analyzed by an eminent analyst, who had found it genuine, and, with the difference between the analysts, he thought there was considerable doubt in the case.

Mr. Elder objected to the last-named certificate, as it was not from a public analyst, and, therefore, inadmissable.

The chairman (Rev. Dr. Greenwell) said although the defendant probably was an honest man, he would inflict the full penalty of £20 and costs, and allow £1 1s. for the Somerset House certificate.

COLD STORAGE RECOMMENDED.

On March 27 a report was presented to the Nova Scotia House of Assembly by a special committee in regard to the transportation question. The following is an extract from that report, and explains itself :

" The establishment of bait freezers has helped to develop the fishing industry, and, in order that the people of Central Canada and the Central United States may be reached with our fish products, we require certain advance steps to be taken. From the facts before us we are of the opinion that the following improvements are required :

1. The establishment of refrigerators at the different railway terminals, to which fish could be sent for shipment at all times.

2. The adoption of improved cold storage cars, and better attention paid to icing cars in transit.

3. Government assistance for experimental carlots of fresh fish to be sent direct to Chicago or other western points, under the supervision of an expert.

4. The establishment of a large freezer or freezers at different points to provide bait for bankers.

A BIG MEAT BILL.

In the British House of Commons the other day, in reply to a question, Mr. Brodrick said that the amount paid to the Cold Storage Co. for supplying meat to the army in South Africa from April 1, 1899, to December 31, 1901, was about £4.773 000

PORTABLE REFRIGERATOR.

A portable refrigerator is the new invention of a New York man, who recommends his peculiar icebox as a receptacle for milk and butter delivered daily at residences. There is a compartment for ice, a second for milk and a third for butter. The box is watertight, lined with zinc, and with an escape provided for water from the melted ice. Such boxes are designed to be supplied with ice when the milk and butter are put into them at the dairy, and the quantity of ice will be sufficient to last at least 24 hours—i.e., until the boxes are taken up by the driver when leaving a fresh supply of butter and milk.

TORONTO.

No Western hogs are being received. Northern hogs are quoted at $7.50 to $7.75 per 100 lb., a drop of 25c. from last week. Their receipts have been moderate. Beef is still high, and the demand for it is good. Lamb continues high, while live hogs and export cattle are unchanged. We quote as follows : Dressed hogs, $7.50 to $7.75 ; beef carcasses, $7.50 to $8.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.00 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 8 to 10c. per lb.; lambs, 9½ to 10c. Live hogs : Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4.00 to $4.50.

There is a brisk demand for barrel pork. The sales of all the other lines continue good. The prices are unchanged, and the market is steady. We quote as follows : Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c. ; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22 ; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The demand in general for provisions is reported good by all dealers. The best trade is still for smoked meats, and the price is steady. Lard is also selling well. Another advance has taken place in Chicago pork, and an advance is also noted in Canadian pork. Live hogs are firmer, and higher prices have been obtained this week. We quote as follows : Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00 to $22.50; Chicago clear pork, $23.50 for heavy and $22.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails ; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails ; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20 lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—The demand has been keen all week and the supply rather scanty. Prices are firm. Best city dressed, 8 to 8⅛c.; country dressed 7½ to 7¾c.

VEAL—A few odd carcasses are offering. The quality is poor and the price high, being 8½ to 9c.

DRESSED HOGS — Receipts are very small and prices firm at 7½ to 8c.

POULTRY—There has been a lively demand all week for freshly-killed chickens and a very limited supply. Prices are firm at 11 to 12½c. The only turkeys and geese offering are frozen stock. Turkeys, 12½ to 14c.; ducks and geese, 10c.

CURED MEATS—The market is reported very slow and unsatisfactory, with prices unchanged but weaker in tone. Sugar-cured hams, 13¼c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8¾c.; breakfast bellies, 14c.; backs, 13½c.; spiced rolls, 11c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 12c.; backs, 12c.

LARD—Very little doing and prices unchanged since the drop of last week. Tierces, 12½c. ; 50 lb. pails, $5.85 ; 20-lb. pails, $2.40 ; American ditto, $2.50 ; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.35; 5 and 3 lb. tins, $7.50.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled goods higher prices rule. Pork shows the advance rather more than beef. Boston prices are rather under western figures. Smoked meats are still high, and there is but a limited business. Lard is unchanged, and sales are not large. This market sells pure lard very largely. In fresh meat, the market has been particularly well supplied. The veal offered has been very fine. Spring lambs are small. Beef is good. The Easter display is always a feature of the year. We quote: American mess pork, $22.50 to $23.50; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $14.50; clear pork, American, $22.50; plate beef, American, $15 to $15.50; fresh beef, 6 to 7½c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8½c.; pure lard, tubs, 12½c.; pure lard, pails, 12¾c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c.; pails, 10½c.; Ontario fresh beef, 7½ to 8c.

A. Saunders, of Calais, representing Armour & Co., was in the city this week.

Perhaps the finest display of Easter meats was made by S. Z Dickson.

LUSCIOUS CANADIAN BACON.

The London, England, correspondent of the Toronto Telegram says:—"The remark of the Lord Mayor when referring to the exhibit of Canadian bacon at the Colonial Exhibition now being held at the Royal Exchange, "Luscious as best English," is just as applicable to Canadian ham, but though it is so it is a fraud in this country to represent a Canadian ham as English. At the Oxford Police Court on Friday last Edward Radbone, grocer, and an assistant named Souche, were summoned for a breach of the Merchandise Marks Act by selling a Canadian ham and representing it to be English. A fine of £25 was the penalty for so doing. The prosecution was directed by the Treasury."

Pure Gold Baking Powder

is the one good all-Canadian thing which has stood the test of time against all fast and furious outside competition. It is here to stay. It has undoubted merit. It has hosts of friends. It is a pure thing. It has a reasonable price for its purity. It has a good profit for you. Why not stand by your own Canadian goods?

HONOR TO AN OLD GROCERY TRAVELLER.

LAST NIGHT, Mr. James Dickson Stewart, J.P., Russeldale, Ont., who acted as superintendent of the food products section in the exhibit from Canada at the Glasgow International Exhibition, 1901, was entertained at dinner in Messrs. White & Smith's and presented with an illuminated address. The address, which was signed by the Lord Provost (Mr. Samuel Chisholm, LL D) and over 30 other leading merchants, referred to their indebtedness to Mr. Stewart for the courtesy and the kindness with which he had discharged his duties. The enthusiasm he had displayed and the interesting explanations he had given regarding the exhibits in his section convinced the signatories that in Mr. Stewart Canada had found a staunch, a loyal and a true subject. The address was presented by Mr. John MacLeish, and Mr. Stewart suitably acknowledged the compliment.—Glasgow Herald, February 4, 1902.

Mr. J. D. Stewart is one of the oldest grocery travellers in Canada, and was for several years with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

The address, a copy of which has been forwarded to THE CANADIAN GROCER, reads as follows:

To James Dickson Stewart, Esq., J.P.,
Russeldale, Ontario, Canada.

Honored Sir, — Recognizing your worth, the alacrity you displayed, the attention you paid and the gentlemanly manner in which you performed your duties while acting as superintendent of the food products in the Canadian section of Glasgow's 1901 International Exhibition, we, the undersigned, representing many merchants and friends of Canada, desire to express to you our indebtedness for your courtesy, your kindness and your unswerving attention.

The enthusiasm you displayed and the interesting explanations you gave convince us that in you Canada has found a staunch, a loyal, and a true subject, and that your life is devoted to her interests.

Knowing you to be a Glasgow man, and one who knows—and, in fact, is in himself a link between—the past and the present, we rejoice to see you again amongst us, and take pleasure in hereby placing on record our highest appreciation of your worth as a Scotchman, a Canadian and a lover of the Mother Country.

Our best wishes go with you to the home of your adoption; our fondest hopes follow you, and may the blessings of God, which is above the treasures of earth, abide with you and yours for ever and ever.

Samuel Chisholm, Lord Provost of Glasgow; Henry Steven, J.P.; John Davis; John MacLeish, J.P.; Robert Stewart; Walter Macfeat; Robert Williamson, J.P.; John Horn; John Richmond & Co.; A. W. Jeffrey, H.M. Board of Trade; Geo. Gilmour, Capt. R.R.; Robt. Wilson, T.C. & P.C.; Andrew Clement & Sons; John Myles; Walter Shearer; Thomas Reid; J. & R. Ramsay; Bruce & Wilson; Wm. Gilchrist & Co.; Ninian Johnston; T. P. Bolden; Alex. Osborne & Sons; Simons, Jacobs & Co.; John Allan & Co.; J. & J. Pollock; Stevenson & Pae; Thomas Russell; Fulton & Weir; James Lang & Sons; Moses Forsyth; D. & J. Parker; Alexander Fraser; Thomas Clement, Pres. Prov. Ass. of Glasgow.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN GOODS.

THE following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London:

1. The agent in London for French colored roans (sheepskins colored in various shades) and bends (stout sole leather) asks to be referred to Canadian importers of such goods.

2. A Lancashire firm manufacturing cotton main driving ropes, cotton bandings, cotton twines, etc., desire to get into communication with Canadian users and dealers in these goods.

3. Inquiry is made by an Irish house for all classes of timber, spruce sheetings, floorings, mouldings, etc.

4. A first-class house in Leith, Scotland, is desirous of getting in touch with a reliable firm in Canada exporting grain, pease, wheat, barley, etc.

5. A London agent has a demand for birch, maple, oak and pitch pine wood blocks for flooring, c.i.f. any port in the United Kingdom; also for furniture wood and coffins and caskets in shook.

6. A correspondent at Castellanza, Italy, inquires for Canadian manufacturers and exporters of acetate of lime.

7. A Glasgow firm asks to be referred to makers of casein or lactarine in Canada.

8. Inquiry is made by a wholesale stationery firm for Canadian mills turning out large quantities of manila folding box boards.

9. A Birmingham firm of carriage-lamp makers are desirous of doing a business with Canada in this line, and request to be placed in communication with suitable firms.

10. The names of Canadian fishing-rod makers are asked for by an English importer.

11. A firm in the Midlands is desirous of arranging for direct consignments of Canadian apples, either on commission or at so much per bbl. advanced against bill of lading.

12. A London firm of wholesale and export cabinetmakers ask to be referred to Canadian shippers of chair stock, seats, backs, legs, etc.

13. Inquiry is made for the names of one or two parties in Canada open to represent an exporter of groceries—jams, pickles, sauces, etc.

14. An Irish exporter of sponge cloths which can be woven to any pattern and used where cotton waste is employed, at less cost, and of Irish moss, is desirous of finding a market for these goods in Canada and of being referred to buyers in the Dominlon.

15. A commission agent at Newcastle, with good connection, wishes to hear from Canadian manufacturers desiring representation in that quarter.

16. The manufacturers of certain table dainties are desirous of doing a business in Canada in these goods.

17. A North of England house manufacturing quilts and towels make inquiry respecting the opening that exists for their goods in the Dominion.

18. The agency for a Canadian exporter of wood pulp is desired by a Brussels firm who could take up the representation for Belgium and Holland.

HORSERADISH.

Horseradish has nothing to do with the quadruped so called. The word is really the Welsh "gures," meaning hot, fierce, or pungent. So, too, the phrase horseplay is derived.

TO THE TRADE.

Owing to the enormous demand for Gold Soap, the manufacturers find that the fourteen thousand coins at first advertised will not be nearly sufficient to last out the year. When this number of coins was decided upon it was never expected that the sales of Gold Soap would reach anything like the figures that they have done, so it is not to be wondered at that the appropriation for "money-in-the-soap" will be exhausted much sooner than was at first anticipated. This being the case, they do not feel that it would be fair to the public for them to attempt to make this comparatively small number of coins the only inducement in connection with Gold Soap, so they have decided to supplement it by a mammoth prize competition involving over 5,000 prizes.

This competition will be carried out on such broad lines that everyone who sends in any wrappers at all will receive either a prize or a premium, thus, the small consumer will be dealt with quite as fairly as the one who buys in large quantities.

With this added attraction, we feel sure that the sales of Gold Soap will continue to keep thousands of cases in advance of our facilities, as they have been doing in the past.

Requests for circulars, hangers and further particulars of this competition will receive prompt attention.

My two leading and most popular brands of 5 and 10c. Cigars are the well-known "Pebble" and "Pharaoh." They are "popular" because unequalled in their large sale which increases steadily from month to month.

They are widely advertised. Grocers whom I have never met write me that they can't stand the pressure—that the demand for them has become so great that they must have one of my trial orders to include one or two hundred each of the "Pharaoh" and "Pebble" out of the assortment of a thousand or more which I send them at my own expense. Let me send you that trial order.

INCOMES OF SUCCESSFUL INVENTORS.

IT is generally understood that inventors are an unfortunate class of individuals who struggle through life surrounded by an unsurmountable barrier of penury and misfortune, writes Ansley Irvine, Liverpool, Eng., in Scientific American. This, doubtless, is true of many cases, but the obverse of the picture is gratifying and full of encouragement. Innumerable instances could be given where comparatively large fortunes have been made out of a simple article, which necessitated neither elaborate design nor great initial expenditure, and, when judged from a strictly utilitarian point of view, did not possess any practical value.

Some of the largest fortunes appear to have been derived from the invention of trivialities and novelties, such as the once popular toy known as "Dancing Jimcrow," which for several years is said to have yielded its patentee an annual income of upwards of $75,000. The sale of another toy—"John Gilpin"—enriched its lucky inventor to the extent of $100,000 a year as long as it continued to enjoy the unexpected popularity that greeted it when first placed upon the market. Mr. Plimpton, the inventor of the roller skate, made $1,000,000 out of his idea, and the gentleman who first thought of placing a rubber tip at the end of lead pencils made quite $100,000 a year by means of his simple improvement.

When Harvey Kennedy introduced the shoelace he made $2,500,000, and the ordinary umbrella benefited six people by as much as $10,000,000. The Howard patent for boiling sugar in vacuo proved a lucrative investment for the capitalists, who were able to remunerate the inventor on a colossal scale. It is estimated that his income averaged between $200,000 and $250,000 per annum. At first the process proved an entire failure and had to be laid aside as useless. It was not until an old German workman casually made a suggestion for a possible improvement that it was once more tried. The suggestion was improved upon and the invention rendered successful. All sugar refiners who used the new method allowed Mr. Howard a royalty of 24 cents per hundredweight on the raw material passing through the process.

Sir Josiah Mason, the inventor of the improved steel pen, made an enormous fortune, and on his death English charities benefited by many millions of dollars. He was one of the most generous of men, and during his life gave enormous sums to hospitals and industrial schools. The patentee of the pen for shading in different colors derived a yearly income of about $200,000 from this ingenious contrivance. It is stated that the wooden ball with an elastic attached yielded over $50,000 a year. Many readers will remember a legal action which took place some years ago, when, in the course of the evidence, it transpired that the inventor of the metal plates so often used for protecting the soles and heels of shoes from wear sold 12,000,000 plates in 1879, and in 1887 the number reached a total of 143,000,000, which realized profits of $1,150,000 for the year.

Women seem also to possess the inventive faculty, and, indeed, they must find plenty of scope for new ideas, as there are hundreds of little things waiting to be superseded by simple appliances that will minimize handwork and obviate the necessity of so much toil being daily expended in the household. The lady who invented the modern baby carriage enriched herself to the extent of $50,000; and a young lady living at Port Elizabeth, South Africa, devised the simple toilet requisite, known as the "Mary Anderson" curling iron, from which she derives royalties amounting to $500 a year. It was the wife of a clergyman who designed an improvement for the corset and made a fortune out of it. Instances of ladies bringing forward inventions which have added to personal comfort and general utility could be given ad infinitum. They occupy all ranks of society, from the poor, struggling seamtress to the Empress of France, who, by the way, invented a dress improver, which years ago developed into the then fashionable crinoline. The gimlet-pointed screw, the idea of a little girl, brought many millions of dollars to the clever little inventor. Miss Knight, a young lady of exceptional talents, was gifted with wonderful mechanical powers, as will be seen by the complicated mechanism of her machine for making paper bags. We are told she refused $50,000 for it shortly after taking out the patent.

The history of the wire-wound gun, which was invented by Mr. J. Longridge, the famous engineer, throws some light on the insouciance and apathy that formerly enveloped the British War Office. Longridge invented the gun in 1854, and did all in his power to place it before the authorities, but they would have nothing to do with it. Thirty years afterward, however, the Ordnance Department at Woolwich subjected one of the guns to exhaustive tests, and so satisfactory were the results that they declared that nothing could equal it for heavy ordnance. Unfortunately, the inventor died from a broken heart before this end was attained. Another case illustrating the treatment sometimes meted out to inventors by the English War Office is that of Dr. Conan Doyle, the popular author of "Sherlock Holmes," who recently discovered a way to insure approximate accuracy in high-angle or dropping rifle fire, the need of which has so often been felt in the present war in the Transvaal. The inventor states that the apparatus would be fitted to the rifle and would weigh comparatively nothing, cost but a few cents, take up very little space, and interfere in no way with the present sights. The novelist communicated with the officials in London and received the following reply: "With reference to your letter concerning an appliance for adapting rifles to high-angle fire, I am directed by the Secretary of State to inform you that he will not trouble you in the matter." As Dr. Doyle remarks, the invention might be absolute rubbish or it might be epoch-making, but he has been given no chance of either explaining or illustrating it.

The machine with which the Brothers Morley, in the latter years of the 18th century, made their enormous fortune was the stocking loom, invented three generations earlier by the Rev. William Lee, a Fellow of St. John's College, Cambridge, England. Lee's life-story is full of sadness. According to one account Lee, falling in love with and marrying an innkeeper's daughter, lost his Fellowship, and was consequently reduced to extreme poverty. The wife knitted stockings for a living, and the husband, sitting by her side as she worked, watched the intricate movements of her hands, and was thereby led to speculate on the possibility of constructing a machine that would do the work more expeditiously. Lee came to grief, because his machine was believed to be a device for throwing people out of employment. He went ultimately to France, where he died poor and friendless, a disappointed man. Many years afterward English legislators so appreciated the value of the stocking loom that they prohibited its exportation; and so jealous was Parliament of foreign competition that it seems to have been doubtful, even as late as the middle of the 18th century, whether it was lawful to even publish a technical description of the apparatus. When the frame was introduced it completely revolutionized the stocking trade, producing 1,500 loops per minute as against the 100 loops in skilled handknitting.

It is difficult to realize that the art of perforating paper was unknown 50 years ago. Prior to 1854 postage stamps were issued in sheets, the purchaser having to cut them up in the way he found most convenient. In 1848, an Irishman named Archer introduced a machine for cutting small slits round each stamp. This was tried by the English postal authorities, but for some unexplained reason it did not work to their satisfaction, and, notwithstanding that Archer went to great trouble and expense in altering the machine so as to meet the objections, it was refused by the Government. Archer then constructed an entirely new machine which cut out circular holes. He received sufficient encouragement to induce him to still improve his invention, when, in 1851, after three years' continual labor, the Treasury proposed to buy the patent rights for $3,000. This parsimonious offer was, of course, refused, as Archer had spent considerably more than this on his various experimental machines. Eventually the matter was placed before the Select Committee of the House of Commons, and the pertinacious inventor was awarded $20,000, which, considering his apparatus in a few years saved the Government many thousands of dollars, was not excessive.

LABOR CONDITIONS IN ROSSLAND.

Acting United States Consular Agent Ohren writes from Rossland, B.C., March 8, 1902:

"Rossland is recovering from the effects of the recent labor troubles, which caused disastrous depression. At some of the mines, the miners have not yet arrived at a settlement with the owners, and those mines are worked by what the unions here call 'unfair labor.' The merchants inform me that business is steadily increasing. Commercial travellers whom I have questioned say that Rossland is the most prosperous town in this section of the country, in spite of the fact that labor troubles have for several months caused an almost complete cessation of labor at the mines. The Le Roi mine, on February 27, 1902, added 42 men to its workers, who are to engage in sinking new shafts and drifts. The shipments from the mines have increased wonderfully, and I expect that those for the year ended June 30, 1902, will far exceed the exports of the previous year. The exports from this consular agency during the past month were valued at $424,541."

DEATH OF MR. J. D. MOORE.

St. Marys, Ont., is mourning the loss of one of her most important business men in Mr. J. D. Moore, who died on April 1. Mr. Moore's death, though sudden, was not unexpected, but it caused sorrow to many of his friends. His funeral took place on Thursday, April 3 and was largely attended.

James Douglas Moore was 63 years of age and he was born in Waterloo county. His father was born in England and his mother in Scotland. He did not have the opportunity of going to school much after he was 12 years of age as he had to help his parents in clearing their farm.

In 1865 he commenced growing hops in Waterloo county. He removed to St. Mary's in 1867 and commenced in the egg business. It was he who built the first cold-storage warehouse west of Montreal. Afterwards he added to the egg business the cold storage of cheese, and then he came into possession of an oatmeal mill and a planing mill. He was a councillor of St. Marys for eight years, but refused the mayoralty when it was offered him by acclamation. He leaves behind him a wife and two children, Mrs. Turnbull and Mrs. Hunter, both of St. Marys.

WHOLESALERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Philadelphia advices state that at the regular annual meeting of the Wholesale Grocers' Association of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware, held on April 3, at the Bourse, Philadelphia, B. W. Andrews was reelected president of the organization. By unanimous vote the members passed a resolution of thanks to the president for his efficient efforts in behalf of the Association. Other officers of the Association were chosen as follows: First vice-president, Robert G. Bursk; second vice-president, J. H. Blackwell, Trenton; treasurer, Francis B. Reeves. Directors—John T. Porter, Scranton; Holstein Harvey, William C. Riggs, William T. Kirk, Jr., and J. H. Lippincott, Philapelphia. John E. Poore was reelected secretary for the 12th consecutive year.

SEEKING A COMPOSITION.

F. W. Foster is a general merchant of Clinton and Ashcroft, B.C., who has failed with liabilities of $76,900 and assets of $132,199. A statement of his affairs has been sent out to his creditors with a proposition that they should accept 10 cents on the dollar every three months until the entire amount is paid. Mr. Foster proposes to retire from the active management of the business and a new manager will be appointed.

Mr. Foster has been in business in the West for 41 years and his principal place of business is Ashcroft. He runs a branch store at Clinton, B.C. Besides these he conducts a ranch which is included in his assets. His failure is attributed to overpurchasing and a recent illness.

ROTTEN APPLES FOR EXPORT.

Mr. George Vroom, Provincial Fruit Inspector, was in Halifax last week looking after the shipment of apples by the steamer Wyandotte. He reports that a great many apples even in reaching Halifax are slack in the barrel and could not help but come out slack and wet when placed on the London market, giving the shipper nothing for his perhaps good but poorly-packed fruit. By his looking after the shipment he saved eight or 10 barrels of rotten apples, from which the juice was running, from being placed on board and ruining five tiers of apples upon which they would have to be placed. These apples evidently had never been examined by the speculator who purchased. When opened the apples were nearly all rotten.—Acadian Orchardist, Wolfville, N.S.

THE PRICE OF SALMON.

The Seattle Trade Register commenting on salmon has the following: "The Alaska Fishermen's Union of Bristol Bay recently notified the managers of the canneries that before signing contracts for the coming season the price of raw fish must be advanced 50 per cent. The prices asked are 3c. for red salmon, 15c. for king and 1½c. for dogfish and chums. No trouble is anticipated, as both sides have agreed to abide by the decision of The Alaska Packers' Association and the Union at San Francisco. Fraser river fishermen have agreed on 7c. per lb for salmon for the spring salmon season. The Willapa hatchery expects to release this year about 3,500,000 salmon fry, of which about 600,000 will be fall chinook salmon and the remainder silversides and steelheads."

A NEW SUGAR AGREEMENT.

From N.Y. Journal of Commerce, April 5.

BY an agreement on contract formally ratified yesterday all refiners throughout the United States will sell sugar on uniform terms. This does not mean they will name uniform prices, but that whatever the price, the terms shall remain unchanged. In future, therefore, a price of 5c. for granulated will mean the same whether quoted by The Sugar Trust, The National Company, or the Arbuckles, and it will not be complicated by any special or extra discounts. During the last year or so there has been considerable irregularity, so far as discounts have been concerned, and refiners have charged their rivals with making secret discounts while apparently maintaining list prices.

The new terms will go into operation on all sugar sold on and after April 15. They follow :

List price, less 15c. per 100 lb., 30 days.

Discount 1 per cent. cash 7 days. Extra discount of 5 points to be paid at end of 60 days to all who have lived up to agreements.

The present terms are list prices, less 1 per cent. trade discount, less a second 1 per cent. for cash 7 days, and less a third 1 per cent. special discount. The last-named 1 per cent. special discount was the result of an alleged secret cut by the Sugar Trust which was openly met by the Arbuckles and subsequently put into operation by The National Company.

It is not a fact that the refiners have agreed among themselves in regard to the new terms. The agreement has been entirely between the individual refiners and the National Wholesale Grocers' Association. In other words, the grocers have themselves first agreed upon the terms they believe they can live up to and enforce. It is well known that for some years past the wholesale grocers have had great trouble in carrying out what is known as the equality plan for the sale of sugars. In some portions of the country they have been able to maintain the profit they agreed among themselves should be the minimum, namely, 15c. per 100 lb.; but in many other sections of the country the plan has not been successful. The sections in which they may be said to have been successful are the New England and Eastern States and also some of the Northwestern States, but beyond these sections any maintenance of prices have been irregular and the sugar business which constituted so large a share of the business of the wholesale grocer has, in many instances, been carried on at an actual loss, on account of the encouragement to use it as a leader for the sale of other merchandise.

The wholesale grocers of the country through their National Executive Committee have for a year or more been at work upon a plan for remedying this unsatisfactory and unprofitable condition, and they this week completed it and yesterday secured formal promises of co-operation from the refiners. It will, they believe, enable them to effectually carry out the equality plan and enable all grocers to secure a moderate profit on sugar. The grocers' committee secured the co-operation of the refiners on the direct assurance that the equality plan would be honestly maintained. The equality plan, in brief, is one by which grocers at various jobbing centres throughout the country are placed on equal terms. In other words, the refiners sell at list prices less the discounts ; and add to the bill an amount for freight which will give grocers the sugar at a delivered price as low as any other grocer, though he be in some other jobbing centre, who may supply their national territory.

The grocers of the West and in some sections of the South feel satisfied that the new plan will prove effective. These are the sections in which the sugar business has been most discouraging. It is generally understood that sugars from New Orleans refiners will, in sections where equality prices are in effect, also co-operate.

With the possible exception of New England the wholesale grocers' associations will have no financial control over the operations of their members with the various refiners—not even in the instance of the five-point rebate that is to be allowed after 60 days in the event of the agreement being honestly maintained. The New England Association has in the past, however, distributed discounts among such of its members who have not been proved to have cut prices, and it is possible this association may also, at the request of all its members be the distributor of the special five-point, 60-day rebate. It is not probable, however, that refiners will refuse to forward this rebate direct to any grocer who may request it to be sent direct.

DECLINE IN PRICES.

"DUN'S" index number of the course of prices, with due allowance for the relative importance of each commodity, was $99,222 on April 1, compared with $101,593 a month previous and $94,910 a year ago. The fall of 2.3 per cent. during March was the logical result of the advancing season which brought higher temperature and expanding production of many articles of food. Consumptive demand continued heavy, even when supplies were procured with difficulty, owing to the prosperous condition of the people, so that quotations were sustained at an unusual position. As stocks return to a more normal figure it is natural that prices should do likewise.

The feature of most extensive influence on the index number appears in the division embracing dairy and garden products, where the decline amounted to 11.4 per cent. Most of this change was due to the fall in eggs, amounting to 13½c. a dozen, since the per capita consumption is heavy. Milk and butter also became cheaper, though fluctuations were less violent, and a decline occurred in the average of potatoes, apples, hay, and some minor articles.

Coal was also sharply reduced on April 1, and its large use made a drop in the metals class of nearly 3 per cent., notwithstanding the moderate advance in the list of iron and steel products. An advance in tin was about balanced by a fall in copper, while petroleum remained unchanged. Breadstuffs lost 3.3 per cent., the largest decline being supplied by oats, while both wheat and corn reacted slightly. The latter, however, is still stubbornly supported at a position that is abnormal, and until the new crop begins to move the index number must reflect the exceptional scarcity of this cereal. Barley, rye and peas are strong, while a decline is recorded in the price of beans.

Meats advanced 6 per cent. during March, a somewhat exceptional occurrence considering the easier level of fodder. Live hogs and beef, mess pork, bacon, ham and lard all secured a materially higher position, and the change is doubtless due to the fact of earlier hasty marketing in order to avoid feeding stock during the winter and the resultant diminished arrivals of full-weight animals. Cured meats have also had the further support recently of large purchases for use by the British army.

A slight net decline appears in the miscellaneous food products, due to lower figures for tobacco and spices, but hops and malt both advanced a shade. None of the changes in this class were important, and no alteration at all was recorded in sugar, coffee, whiskey, tea, fish or salt. A small appreciation in the miscellaneous department was due to the strengthening tendency of building materials, as the open weather greatly facilitated outdoor work. Turpentine, soap and drugs were also higher, while hemp declined. All clothing items averaged slightly lower, without any alterations of importance. A further decline occurred in crude rubber, making the reaction almost without interruption since May 1, 1901, but cotton and wool rose slightly, while hides, leather, boots and shoes all averaged lower.

MONTREAL RETAIL GROCERS MEET.

THE regular monthly meeting of the Montreal Retail Grocers' Association was held on the evening of Thursday, April 3, in the Monument National. Ald. R. Turner occupied the chair. There were a good number present and the meeting was an interesting one.

Almost the first thing that came up was the matter of trading stamps. Mr. O. Champagne moved, seconded by Mr. A. Dionne, that trading stamps be wholly abolished as far as the grocery trade of the city was concerned. To this resolution a general assent was given by the members present, several of whom spoke strongly against the use of trading stamps, considering them particularly harmful to the grocery trade, while the opinion of all seemed to be that they were a decided nuisance to their business.

The subject was fully discussed, and the result was that the secretary was instructed to write to the Association's legal representatives to find out how far the power of the city council can go in the matter of abolishing the trading stamps.

Some differences of opinion existed as to this, but if it comes within the scope of the city council to deal with the matter, the energies of the Association will immediately be exerted to bring about the suppression of the trading-stamp system. As there are prominent representatives of both the wholesale and retail trade in the council, the Association is in a pretty strong position. If, however, it turns out that the city council has no power to do away with the stamps, other legal means will be employed to try and bring it about. At all events, the Association is determined upon its course, and a strong effort will be made.

The treasurer's report was read, and showed the finances of the Association to be in a good condition, and a considerable balance on the right side.

It was then decided to have a photograph taken of the members of the Association, the collection to be made up into a group, and instructions were given to the secretary to notify every member to call at J. A. Dumas' photograph studio, corner of St. Lawrence and Vitre streets, to be photographed.

The meeting was the first since the closing of the Quebec Legislature for the session, and that body has made changes in the liquor license law which were desired by the retail grocers of Montreal, so that now a grocer holding a license is allowed to sell ten ounces of liquor in sealed bottles. The Association's delegates to the Legislature were Ald. N. Lapointe and Mr. J. P. Dixon, secretary of the Association, and their well-conducted efforts on behalf of the Association resulted in obtaining the petitions of the trade. Messrs. Lapointe and Dixon were congratulated by the members on the success of their mission.

The meeting then adjourned.

GROCERY JOINT STOCK COMPANY.

Letters patent have been issued incorporating J. J. McGaffigan, Limited, St. John, N.B., into a joint stock company. The incorporators are James J. McGaffigan, merchant; Lizzie McGaffigan, wife of James McGaffigan; Ella T. McGaffigan, spinster, and Elizabeth McGaffigan, spinster, all of St. John, N.B.

The capital stock is placed at $15,000, divided into 30 shares of $500 each. The objects of incorporation are to take over the business at present conducted by James J. McGaffigan; to buy and dispose of tea, groceries and general merchandise; to lease, hold and sell lands and chattels; to deal in stocks and bonds and to take and hold shares, stocks and bonds in other companies having objects altogether or in part similar to this company.

WANT PREFERENTIAL TRADE.

AT a meeting of the St. John, N.B., Board of Trade, on April 5, a resolution was passed in favor of preferential trade within the Empire. The resolution is as follows:

As there are indications that it is the intention of the Imperial Government to make important changes in its tariff in consequence of the heavy expenditure in connection with the war in South Africa, it is therefore

Resolved, that in the opinion of this board any tariff made by the Imperial Government would be productive of the best results for the Empire by being so levied as to give a preference to products and manufactures within the Empire, such preference to be reciprocal and to be applied to the colonies as they enact legislation granting the same preference to British and colonial products.

This action on the part of the Imperial Government would, in the opinion of this board, also have the happiest effect in knitting more closely the ties binding the colonies to the Motherland and give increased impetus to the patriotic sentiment within the Empire, which, this board is glad to record, is already existing, the wonder and admiration of the world.

Copies of this resolution will be sent to the Premier of Canada; the Governor-General, for transmission to the Secretary of State for the Colonies; Lord Strathcona; the Premiers of all British colonies; the Chambers of Commerce in Great Britain, and the Boards of Trade in Canada.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. R. K. McIntosh, of P. McIntosh & Son, wholesale flour and feed merchants, Toronto, was in Alliston, Ont., on April 8, on business in connection with his firm.

Mr. W. P. Downey, of Montreal, the Canadian representative for the manufacturers of Hires Root Beer, has just returned from a business trip to Europe. While away he secured several good agencies.

Mr. Alex. McCullough, Montreal, Can., is spending a few days in the West Side market. Mr. McCullough was introduced on the floor of the Mercantile Exchange today.—New York Journal of Commerce, April 8.

USE PRICE TICKETS FREELY.

THERE exists in the minds of many merchants a genuine aversion to the use of the price-ticket. But that aversion is as needless as genuine. Sometimes it isn't even genuine.

Now, when a man makes up his mind to become a seller of something, he can't become a seller unless there's a buyer. Buyers of that "something" which this man proposes to sell must be told of his intention in some form or other. Perhaps it's only by hanging out a sign. Perhaps by opening a store. In some way or another those who buy must be told of things to be sold before any sale can result.

It's the part of the seller, therefore, to inform the buyer that he's ready for business. That part is recognized to a degree by every seller of things, but there are mighty few of them who realize how far to go in this matter. Some seem to think that a beginning is all that's necessary. After that, the buyer must find out for herself what the seller has and what his prices. In other words, the seller sits and waits in greater or lesser degree.

If every buyer was an anxious seeker after goods from your own store, there'd be no use, or but little use, spending much time to inform her of things and prices and descriptions. But, since there are other stores from which similar goods may be purchased, it's plain enough that if you are to have trade, increasing trade, much trade, some means must be used whereby prospective buyers shall imbibe a favorable opinion of your store and goods.

Among the various ways of giving information, price-tickets are worth more attention than many merchants give them. How many there are who make attractive displays in windows and store interiors, but who seldom or never dream of making those attractions more than eye-pleasers. The very attractiveness of some window and store displays makes people think that the goods there displayed are high-priced. Queer, perhaps, but true. One naturally inclines to the notion that things are good if nicely packed, arranged, put-up, displayed.

If you don't believe it, just try it for a while. And why not search yourself and see if you are affected by price-marks at all? Haven't you often seen an article which caught your fancy but yet didn't buy because you didn't care to ask the price, or because it looked so good that you jumped at the conclusion that it would probably cost more than you cared at that time to pay? And, upon the other hand, haven't you seen other articles with prices attached, and those prices seemed so small that you bought at once? The price caught you. You thought the article good for the money, and you bought because the price-mark was a silent salesman. I'll warrant that the same thing has happened to lots of folks who never stopped to reason regarding the process of the selling. They simply saw; liked; learned price; bought.

Every day there's somebody in your store. Every day somebody sees the same displays and pays not a particle of attention to them. Or, if ever, but little. You've made the display for her benefit, but you've left out the most important item—information. I've nothing to say against good store attractions. As a whole, and looked at in their entirety, good displays are pretty. But they're never of great interest unless they vouchsafe information in some form or other.

The wide-awake dealer not only shows what he has to sell, but tells its price. He can do it through the newspaper; the storepaper; the booklet; through price-marks. They should all be used, and the latter never disregarded. They cost next to nothing; are standing ads.; can be changed frequently; appeal to the eye; sell goods. One likes to shop where there's something to read—if it's nothing but little cards on goods. It looks like business; it helps one fill in the time during a wait; it makes trade for the merchant; it often keeps the customer so busy that she forgets she's waiting—that means a good deal sometimes.

I can't think of a single unanswerable objection to the placing of prices on goods. I've heard one man say that it "looked cheap." Rot and tommy-rot! So long as the price-cards are neat, they simply can't be "cheap-looking." It doesn't appear cheap at all. It appears businesslike. Appears as if the merchant desired his customers to have as much information as he could give them. That's a point which, if not openly appreciated, will bring business.

Besides which, it rather makes an onlooker believe that the merchant isn't afraid to quote his prices. Makes one think that such a merchant knows the worth of his goods; has nothing to hide: wants everybody else to know it. If a price is high, it won't spoil a sale, because folks will have to learn the price in some way or another and won't buy if price doesn't suit; while, if price seems low, as it frequently is, there's a great positive advantage in having that price known.

So, give your prices. Never leave them out of a window display and always have them pretty thoroughly scattered around the store's interior.—W. Woodhouse, jr., in American Grocer.

TO WIND UP A CIGAR COMPANY.

An application was made at Osgoods Hall on April 5 for the winding-up of The National Cigar Co. by Alexander Livingston, president of the company. The firm is a stock company with head offices at 11 Francis street, Toronto. Mr. Livingston declares in his affidavit that the secretary, Alexander Clinton McGregor, has been absent from Toronto since February. He left at that time for Kingston and has not since returned. It has also been learned that Clinton is in the United States. The company was incorporated on June 24, 1901, to acquire the business of the late William Adams and James Wilson, who had conducted it under the style of The National Cigar Co. The capital stock was $20,000 in $100 shares. Seventy-six shares were paid up. Mr. Livingston had nine shares; Robert J. Hannah, the vice-president, 10 shares; secretary McGregor, 4; Mrs. Lizzie Adams, 52, and the estate of William Adams, 1. Mr. Livingston claims that Mrs. Adams only held 17 shares of her own right, the balance being held in trust.

The Frances street factory was closed last February and the auditor's report showed a deficit of $1,787. The assets are stated to be $3,000 and the liabilities are placed at about $5,500, as far as can be ascertained. A correct statement cannot be secured owing to the absence of Clinton.

LEBEL & CO. WON.

Lebel & Co., general merchants, Pincher Creek, Alberta, who were defendants in a suit brought by one Senten for recovery of damages for alleged illegal seizure of his ranch property, have been declared not guilty of the charges brought against them.

The jury declared that the defendant had not by false and fraudulent representation induced the plaintiff to sign any documents, and that the plaintiff was aware, on the occasions of signing both chattel mortgages that they were chattel mortgages he was executing. That at the time the defendant seized under the mortgages he honestly deemed himself unsafe. That the plaintiff suffered no damage by seizure or stoppage of business. On the malicious prosecution part of the case the jury found that the defendant honestly believed in the charge he had laid before the justice of the peace, and was not actuated by malice in the proceedings then taken, and that no damages should be given the plaintiff.

FAILURES FOR THREE MONTHS.

FAILURES in Canada during the first quarter of 1902 were 363, according to Dun's figures. This is the smallest number since 1899, when the number was exactly the same, although the liabilities were much larger. During the same three months of 1901 the number was 424.

Trading concerns make up the great bulk of the failures, the total in that branch of commerce being 308, against 345 for the three months of 1901 and 318 for 1890. In manufacturing concerns the number of failures was nearly 50 per cent. less than in 1899.

The liabilities of the 363 firms which failed during the three months was $3,439,992 and the assets $2,359,427, while in 1901 the figures were $3,333,722 and $2,740,649 respectively. In other words, the percentage of assets to liabilities was 68.58 in 1902 against 82.21 in 1901. This is the most unsatisfactory feature in connection with the figures. As the failures were heavier in Ontario during the past three months than the same period a year ago, this is probably the explanation of the decrease in the percentage of the assets to the liabilities.

Whatever may be the explanation, it is rather surprising, in view of the active condition of trade, to know that the failures during the past three months of 1902 were more unsatisfactory than those during the same period of 1901.

FLOUR EXPORTS TO THE B. W. INDIES.

GORDON, GRANT & CO., Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, in their circular just to hand, say: "Canadian flour of all grades has arrived freely, and the superfine descriptions command a preference. We have recently disposed of large quantities of these."

The official trade returns of Canada do not give the exports of flour in separate form to each of the British West India Islands. We therefore cannot give the figures for Trinidad alone. It may, perhaps, however, not be out of place to give them for the whole of the British West India Islands. They are as follows:

EXPORTS OF FLOUR TO B. W. INDIES.

	Barrels.
1897	199
1901	33,722

Although the quantity is not yet large, it is evident from the above figures that the growth of the trade during the past five years has been most gratifying.

BUSINESS MEN FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

It is probable that before many weeks the electors of Ontario will be in the midst of a general election campaign.

It is to be hoped the business men in the Province will not forget the business men who are in the field.

The greater the number of practical business men that are returned to the legislature the better it certainly will be for the commercial interests of Ontario. And whatever accrues to the advantage of the commercial interests will certainly not be without benefit to the whole Province.

A legislature that is not businesslike is lacking in the chief essential to good government. It follows, therefore, that the only way to get a businesslike legislature is to elect to it businesslike men.

A GENERAL AWAKENING.

THERE is an undoubted awakening throughout Canada in regard to tourist travel and its importance. And this awakening is peculiar to no one part of the country. The Atlantic Provinces, the Pacific Provinces and the inland Provinces are all more or less affected.

The Maritime Provinces were the first to recognize the importance of tourist travel. At any rate, they were the first to take an active interest in it. And this spring they seem to be more aggressive than ever in preparing ways and means to attract the tourist and to make his stay among them during the summer months pleasant.

The awakening which is so evident throughout Canada in regard to tourist travel is particularly gratifying to THE CANADIAN GROCER, this journal having for years been impressing upon the business men of the country the importance of tourist travel to them.

While the awakening is so evident, there are yet a good many towns and cities in Canada in which there still appears to be a lack of interest in the matter, and it behooves the business men in such places to try and bring them into line with those that are already up and doing.

THE NEW SUGAR FREIGHT RATES.

The new equalized freight rates on sugar, particulars of which were given in our last issue, appear to have so far put a stop to new business in the product of the United States refineries. And those who represent the latter inform us that they have now no hope of doing business except occasionally when a turn in the market permits it.

With the representatives of the German and Austrian refineries, however, the outlook is not so gloomy. They claim they will still be able to sell in the Canadian market. And during the past week they have done some business.

As our readers will remember, the new equalized rates on points in Western Ontario are in excess of the f.o.b. Montreal rates 8c. on less than carlots and 3c. on carlots.

When a clock is wound up it goes; when a business is wound up it stops.

SHOULD MANUFACTURERS SELL TO RETAILERS?

MEETINGS of wholesale merchants have recently been held in Iowa and Nebraska, at which steps have been taken to boycott all manufacturers who sell over their heads to the retailer.

This draws attention to a most interesting and difficult question, namely : Should the manufacturer sell to the retailer? As our readers are well aware, those who essay to answer the question are usually influenced in their yea or nay according to the direction in which their self-interests lie. And, as a matter of fact, no general answer, either in the affirmative or in the negative, can be logically given.

There are a good many people who confidently assert that the wholesaler will in time be a thing of the past. We do not for one moment believe it. He is a necessary part of the machinery of trade and commerce. And, as long as he is such, he will be found regularly doing business. At present, there are no signs that he is becoming a sinecure.

There are manufacturers, and among them some of the most important in the country, who are doing business direct with the retailer, and they are successful. But there are many others who have tried it and failed, being only too glad to again resort to the jobber as a medium through which to reach the retail trade.

It is obvious, therefore, that, while some manufacturers find it most profitable to deal with the retailer direct, there are others whose experience is the very opposite. And, as long as this is so, it is equally obvious that the wholesaler is a necessity.

There is no business principle involved in the manufacturer going direct to the retailer. Neither is there if he chooses to confine himself to the wholesaler. The question resolves itself into this : Which is the better way for him to do business? Not for the wholesaler or the retailer, but better for himself.

The greater number of manufacturers, especially in a country like Canada with its "magnificent distances," find it to their advantage to do their business through the wholesaler. The wholesaler is the distributor. Each traveller he sends out has in his "grip" samples of the products of a score or more manufacturing concerns. By this means not only is the manufacturer's expense of selling goods much reduced, but he is enabled to have them distributed over a greater area of the country than, as a rule, would be the case were he dependent alone upon his own travellers. Where one of his own travellers would call on a score of customers, the travellers of the wholesale house would call on several scores.

Wholesalers sometimes turn manufacturers in the direction of the retail trade when, on a new line being shown them, they refuse to give an order until the manufacturer has sent representatives among the trade to get customers and then turn the orders in through them (the wholesalers). We know of no greater complaint on the part of the manufacturers against the wholesalers than this.

One of the most difficult things for a manufacturer is to do business with both the wholesaler and the retailer ; and especially when he refuses to sell to the former at a figure which will allow him a fair profit for handling the goods.

As a rule it is more satisfactory for the manufacturer to confine himself wholly to either the wholesaler or the retailer. Between two stools it is usually difficult to remain comfortably seated.

The boycott, aside altogether from its illegal character, is rather likely to aggrevate than to remedy the alleged evil. We believe that in the long run the employment of legitimate schemes for meeting the competition of manufacturers who sell to the retailers will be found much more profitable.

DROPS FROM THE EDITOR'S PEN.

It is only by doing something that a man can be something.

One does not reach the highway to success by turning aside from the pathway of duty.

A good many people are doubtless hoping that competition will be able to generate sufficient heat to melt the ice combination that has been formed in the United States.

A VIEW OF CEYLON TEA.

MR. P. C. LARKIN, of Toronto, has just returned from a visit to the branches of the Salada Tea Co. in Boston, Buffalo, Pittsburg and Detroit. "Ceylon tea," he said, in reply to a question from THE CANADIAN GROCER, "is making wonderful progress all over the parts of the United States I visited. As you know, the consumption of Ceylon tea increased in America about 3,000,000 lb. last year. When I speak of America, I mean Canada as well as the United States. Strange to say, the consumption of Indian tea has actually decreased during the period, showing positively that the advertising campaign carried on by the Ceylon Association is good business. About two years ago the Indian tea people ceased their efforts here with the result mentioned.

"Ceylon green teas are making great headway at all our branches. It is, however, hard up-hill work and an expensive fight to get at the consumers of Japan tea, but every month increases our sales, and I feel that it is only a question of time when Japan and China green teas will disappear. Our manager in Boston, Mr. McQuane, formerly our representative in Toronto, after three years' experience in Boston, is most sanguine in regard to the prospects in his neighborhood, as there is scarcely a hotel in Boston that has not Ceylon tea on its bill of fare as prominently as Oolong, and ventures to predict that inside a year or two Ceylon will be producing Oolong tea that will displace Formosa's."

BUSY KENTVILLE.

A despatch from Kentville, N.S., says : "This energetic town is fast recovering from the depression caused by the epidemic of last year. The plucky storekeepers are hustling for business and are recovering their trade very rapidly. Prospects for the summer are particularly bright. The new court house will give work to quite a number of men, and it is expected that the D. A. R. will commence shortly to build the new station house. About $20,000 is the estimated cost of the improvements and enlargement of the railway station. There is also talk of the erection of a building for the double purpose of an agricultural show and skating rink."

NEW FAST ATLANTIC ROUTE.

PROPOSALS have recently been made to the Newfoundland Government to have St. John's, Nfld., form one of the ports of call for the projected turbine steamship line across the Atlantic. St. John's is the nearest point to Europe in the Western Hemisphere, and this fact is influencing the company promoting this venture.

It is noteworthy that Marconi in his experiments in wireless telegraphy was one of the first to perceive the advantages of that Island. He received his first wireless signals from Europe at St. John's. This has probably influenced the promoters of this scheme in choosing that place as a port of call.

The time by this project that will be saved in crossing the Atlantic will be of especial benefit to Chicago and the Western States. They will have three opportunities of joining or leaving the ships—at New York, Halifax or St. John's, Nfld. The memorandum forwarded to Premier Bond of Newfoundland by the representatives of the company is as follows :

"I am requested to inform you that a proposal is being submitted to the British Government on behalf of the Berehaven Railway and Pier Company to run a line of 30-knot an hour ships twice weekly from Berehaven via St. John's, Nfld., and Halifax, N.S., on to New York, the time through from Berehaven to New York (including stoppages at St. John's and Halifax) being 110 hours, and vice versa—actual time, not local time, the running period at sea to be as follows :

	Hours.
Berehaven, s.w. of Ireland, across Atlantic to St. John's	60
St. John's to Halifax	20
Halifax to Sandy Hook Lightship, for New York	20
Stoppages at St. John's and Halifax	10
Total from Berehaven to New York	110

"It is proposed, in connection with the scheme, for the mails to leave London every Tuesday and Friday nights, leave Berehaven every Wednesday and Saturday at 1 p.m., and reach New York every Monday and Thursday mornings. Returning, steamers to leave New York every Tuesday and Saturday at 1 p.m., mails reaching London every Monday and Friday mornings (local time), the ships calling en route at St. John's and Halifax for brief periods, to transfer mails and passengers."

A subsidy for the carriage of the colonial mails outward to Europe or America is wanted from the Newfoundland Government. There will also most likely be subsidies from Canada, the United States and Great Britain. The company state that they intend furnishing twice weekly the greatest possible postal and passenger facilities between the United States, Canada, Newfoundland and Europe, and faster to the Dominion and Newfoundland than to the Republic.

The steamers for the service are to be six in number, each 700 ft. long and 70 ft. wide, with a maximum draft of 29 ft. The turbine principle is to be applied to them for the development of the highest speed, and they are to be fitted up in a style exceeding even that of the finest of ocean liners now in commission. The promoters of the venture count with confidence on being able to divert a great deal of the present passenger traffic to their new line, because of the higher speed and superior accommodation which these ships will afford, and the great strength of their position lies in the fact that, even after allowing for the delays at St. John's and Halifax, they will still be able to make the journey between Berehaven and New York in about 24 hours less than the speediest liners now cover it. The ships of the proposed line are liable to be assumed by the British Government for use as auxiliary cruisers in the event of England's naval or military necessities calling for them, and any contracts closed with the several Governments named would be subject to that arrangement.

From Berehaven the ships will twice weekly proceed, via Boulogne and Dover, on to Flushing (Holland), the full running time at sea and schedule of ports being :

	Hours.
Flushing, for North German traffic, to Dover.	3
Dover, for London traffic, to Boulogne	1
Boulogne, for French traffic, to Berehaven	17
Berehaven, for British traffic, to St. John's	60
St. John's, for Newfoundland traffic, to Halifax	20
Halifax, for Canadian traffic, to New York	20
Total running time	121

That this project is well under way is evident from a recent press despatch from London announcing that the contract had been closed for the building of a pier 1,000 feet long at Rosslair, near Wexford, Ireland. This is for a new Irish Channel ferry service, a link of the whole line. The Southern Railway of England is laying a track to Fishguard in Wales. Here a channel steamer would rapidly transfer passengers and mail, speed them across to Rosslair, and thence they would travel by rail throgh Ireland to Berehaven, making practically an air line and joining the ocean steamers at that point. A decided saving in time and comfort would, it is claimed, be effected by this arrangement. Furthermore, this new ocean route via Berehaven promises to provide the quickest way for general transport between London and New York, as was emphasized last spring when the Bill for incorporating the company was brought before the Imperial Parliament.

The capital of the company is to be $30,000,000, and this figure would not only provide for the building and fitting up of the six steamers, but also for suitable stations at Berehaven, which would be the most important terminal in that respect.

The six ships would cost $2,500,000 each, and a seventh would be needed as a reserve, at the same cost. This would aborb $17,500.000 of the capital. The annual outlay —interest, depreciation, upkeep, insurance, operating, wages, coal and other details— would amount to about $5,000,000, but as against this it is estimated that the cargoes alone would more than offset this item. In such a steamship line the cargoes carried would be only of the lightest and most costly class of freight, and heavy charges can be levied thereon.

WILL CULTIVATE TOBACCO.

The Similkameen District, British Columbia, looks as if it would be the centre of a rich tobacco-growing area. Water power in that locality has been bonded by J. C. Ryan, the operator of the Soho mine in the McGuigan District for San Francisco parties. They will irrigate extensively and go into the production of tobacco.

The success of the growers in the Kelowna country has had most to do in influencing these capitalists in undertaking this scheme, and the outcome is being eagerly watched by a number of parties with a great deal of interest.

INDUSTRIAL GOSSIP.

A 960,000 BUSHEL ELEVATOR.

A new steel tank, fireproof elevator of 960,000 bushels capacity will be erected at Montreal at a cost of $604,000. The contract has been awarded to J. F. Webber, of Buffalo.

The plans show a building 84 ft. wide and 189 ft. long, equipped with four inside legs and one marine leg. The lower part will be cement resting on strong pile foundations, rising from the harbor bottom. It will be finished with a track for railway cars running under the first floor. From this floor rise the tanks holding the different kinds of grain. There will be 36 circular tanks stretching from the first floor to the top. Each of these will have a capacity of 20,000 bushels. There will also be 24 interspaces of 7,500 bushels capacity each and 22 of 2,750 bushels capacity each.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, April 9, 1902.

GROCERIES.

LITTLE that is new has developed in the wholesale grocery trade during the past week. The volume of business is, on the whole, fairly good for this time of the year. There has been a slight improvement in the demand for sugars, but the easier turn which the raw markets have taken is scarcely likely to help business. In canned goods the situation remains much the same as it has been during the last few weeks, although, if anything, tomatoes continue to gather strength. Coffees are just in moderate request, and prices are fairly steady. Teas continue quiet, with prices steady. In spices, the most interesting feature is the continued firmness in peppers. Rice and tapioca are meeting with a fair demand, and the latter is somewhat stronger. A fair trade is being done in foreign dried fruits and particularly in currants, raisins and prunes.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in canned tomatoes is, if anything, rather stronger than a week ago, as more wholesale houses have joined those who had previously marked their prices up to 92½c. as the minimum quotation. There has been a little inquiry from the Coast for canned vegetables, but we hear of no transactions as a result. It is understood that most of the packers have agreed not to quote prices on canned vegetables until the 20th inst. We hear, however, of one or two packers who are quoting prices for futures, although little or no business appears to have so far resulted. Corn is dull and weak and some low offers are reported. Wholesalers' prices still rule at from 70c. upwards. There is a fair demand for canned peas at 80c. upwards. Canned fruits are in moderate request only, and there is a fair business doing in jams and marmalade. Canned salmon is in fair demand for this time of the year. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

COFFEES.

The outside markets are dull but steady in Brazilian coffees while the finer invoices, suitable for the Canadian trade, are still being held for the usual premium. There has been some demand from local importers for Santos and Maracaibo coffees; the latter, however, are scarce, although there have been quite a few transactions in them during the past few weeks. The political troubles in South America are evidently the cause of the scarcity. Locally, the demand for green Rio coffees is just moderate, and we quote to the retail trade as follows: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

Latest cable advices report pepper firm and unchanged. Cloves appear to be holding their own. Although there have been some reductions in the price of ginger, quotations are still high, and on standard cochin gingers are still about 10s. per cwt. above the average figures. Locally, the demand for spices is just moderate.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Advices from the primary markets say that tapioca is holding firm with the prospect of advancing markets. There have been quite a few transactions locally on importation account lately, but at very low prices. According to mail advices prices on imported rice are rather higher. Locally, there is the usual steady demand for both rice and tapioca. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c., and sago, 3¾ to 4c.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

SUGAR.

The raw market has unexpectedly developed some weakness during the past week. The refiners in the United States have assumed an independent tone after their heavy purchases of last week, which are reported to amount in the aggregate to 40,000 tons, 25,000 tons of which were cane sugar bought by the independent refineries, and 15,000 tons of beets bought by the Trust. It appears that the United States refineries went in heavily for beet sugars, whenever the price of 80 per cent. beets and 96 per cent. centrifugals were on the same parity. But as the holders of beets were willing sellers weakness developed later in the cane market. Holders dropped their indifferent tone, and from asking 3 11-16, released sugars at 3⅝c., afterwards at 3 9-16c., and still later at 3½c. There are rumors of business having been done at 3 7-16c., or a decline of 3-16c. from the highest point. The meltings of sugar in the United States last week were 28,000 tons, while the receipts were 23,290 tons. Cane sugars in London are again down to 6s. 6d. per cwt.

The demand for refined sugars both in Canada and the United States is light, although, after the recent advance, there was a slight improvement in business. The price of refined sugar is without change. It is expected that the consumption of refined sugar will materially increase shortly, and one strong feature of the situation is the fact that stocks in United States refiners' hands are only about sufficient for about three weeks' supply. The price of granulated sugar in Toronto is still $3.98 for Redpath and St. Lawrence, and $3.93 for Acadia. Yellows run from $3.23 up.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business is moderate in both syrups and molasses. Advices from New Orleans report the market steady with offerings light. Quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

There has been no material change in the situation during the past week. The demand for Ceylon and Indian black teas is light. Fine black teas of Ceylon growth are firm, while low grades are fairly steady. There is some inquiry for Ceylon green teas, and for spot goods rather better prices can be obtained than those which ruled a short time ago. Spot teas of this description are still very light, which, of course, is largely due to the fact that the planters will not make these teas except under contract. China green teas are also scarce, as before, and are netting premiums of at least 5c. per lb. above the prices ruling in average seasons. There have been quite a few transactions in Japan teas during the past week, principally in fair mediums at firm prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The movement continues fairly brisk and prices steady and unchanged. Locally, the ruling quotations are as follows: Filiatras, 6c. to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½c. to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8c. to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—There is a good demand for Valencia raisins and the tone of the market is becoming stronger. The ruling prices for good standard selected fruit is 6¾c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The demand for prunes is fair and prices rule as before. We quote: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—Business is only light and prices rule at 4½c. for both Sairs and Hallowees.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS —Business is moderate. We quote: Apricots, 13 to 17c., and peaches, 11 to 14c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There are more strawberries on the market this week. Tomatoes are also plentiful and 50c. lower than last week. Californian naval oranges are still advancing, and the season for them will soon be over. Mexican oranges can still be had, but they have advanced 50c. per case. Bananas and lemons are selling freely. Cranberries are becoming scarce, and the season for them is about over. We quote: Oranges, Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Mexicans, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian navels, $4 to $4.50 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75; Valencias, $4.50 to $5 per small case, $5.50 to $6 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; cranberries, Budd's long keepers, $9 to $10 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Spanish onions, large cases, $3.50 to $4.50; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.25 to $3; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $4.50 per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 45 to 55c. per qt.

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable market is inclined to be dull, but there is some demand for lettuce, radishes, green onions and rhubarb, the last-named of which is becoming scarce and has advanced 20c. per doz. Potatoes are down 5 to 10c. per bag. We quote as follows: Green onions, 10c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.20 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 50c. per bag; turnips, 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 40c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 65c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 65 to 75c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The receipts are good and the prices are steady at 12½c. per dozen. A number of shipments have been made to Montreal, clearing the market of any surplus stock that might be on hand in Toronto.

BEANS—The demand is slack. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40, and prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY—There is a quiet trade doing. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—Receipts of this season's make have been liberal, and the demand continues brisk. We quote: Maple syrup, in 10-lb. tins 90c., and 90c. to $1.10 per imperial gallon. Maple sugar is quoted at 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Both in dried and evaporated apples trade is dull and the market is weak. We quote: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES — The receipts have been moderate, and the market is weak. Potatoes are quoted at 55 to 57c. per bag on the track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The demand for choice butter is good and prices are firm. Some houses are asking 19c. per lb. for choice pound prints of dairy butter and 18c. for large rolls. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 18 to 19c.; large rolls, 17 to 18c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 24c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—The market for cheese is strong and the exports continue large. The local trade is brisk at 11 to 11½c., most of the sales being made at the latter figure. The export prices for large lots are 10¾ to 11c. per lb.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY — There have been small receipts of chickens and no turkeys. Chickens are worth from 60c. to $1 per pair for young birds.

LIVE POULTRY — The receipts are small and prices are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 9c., for ducks and turkeys 12c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens and pullets, 5c. per lb.; broilers, 25c. per lb. (must be this year's hatching and under 2 lb. each). Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH.

The oyster season is over with the warm weather. Smoked and prepared fish are no longer in stock, and there are now only fresh fish for sale on the market. The latest arrivals are whitefish, which are quoted at 7c. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; Lake Erie perch, 4 to 5c.; pickerel, 4c.; newly-caught trout, 8½ to 10c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7c.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There has been a little drop of 2c. in Manitoba No. 1 hard and 1c. per bush. in No. 1 Northern. These are now quoted at 84 and 81c., respectively. No. 2 Northern is worth 78c. The movement from the West is not great, but large quantities are in store awaiting the opening of navigation for shipment. On the local market there have been small receipts, and the prices are nominal. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 79c.; goose, 65 to 66c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

FLOUR—There has been a decline of 10c. per bbl. in flour all around, owing to the weaker tone of the wheat market. Prices are recovering, however, this week, and the market is firmer. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4.00; Manitoba bakers', $3.70; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Trade is dull, and the prices are steady. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4 60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.75; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.50, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—There has been a decline of ½c. in hides all around. We quote: No. 1 green, 6½c.; No. 2 green, 5½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 7½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 6½c.; cured, 7¼ to 7½c.

SKINS—There are fair receipts of sheep and calf skins and the latter have advanced 15 to 20c. per skin. This is on account of the skins being larger now than formerly.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, April 10, 1902.

GROCERIES.

SINCE the Easter week business has been going along at a good pace. The demand, however, has been steady, and the market has called for no unusual interest. As the roads improve, trade with points in the country is gradually increasing, but as yet, the state of the country roads has not been conducive to any great improvement in the demand. Sultana raisins show an unusual degree of firmness, but there has been no advance in the price. French mushrooms have advanced considerably on the primary market and still show a higher tendency, while French houses are refusing orders at present. Morton's pineapples have declined in sympathy with the primary markets and are now quoted at $2.25 to $2.40. A limited quantity of fried smelts have again made their appearance on the market. They sell at 40c. per dozen.

SUGAR.

Since the last advance sugar quotations have been stationary, and this week are still quoted at $3.90 for granulated and $3.15 to $3.80 for yellows on the local market. There is still a moderate demand, just about what is expected now, and this is expected to improve along with the continued betterment of the roads.

TEAS.

The tea market, speaking generally, is still very firm. Green teas of all kinds are as scarce as ever, and the market is continually rising. Importers give it as their opinion that the tea market will be firm for next year as well. Gunpowders and lower-grade Japan teas have been in fair demand, but the market for Japans generally is dull. On the other hand, there has been a good demand for Ceylon and China green teas, and prices are firm. Black teas of this class are not very active. Country buying is still small, though a slight improvement is experienced over last week.

SYRUPS.

There is very little interest shown in the market for corn syrups. The demand is light, and prices are stationary. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrups, 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

The condition of the market for Barbados molasses is puzzling to most exporters. Reports obtained from the primary market are not always to be relied upon, and at the present time definite knowledge of the state of things there is possessed by few, if any, outside of that market. Since the breaking up of the combination, however, molasses have been selling from importers at all prices, and it looks as though low figures will prevail for a while yet. A recent cable from Barbados states that the crop is already half marketed. It is also stated that everything points to a dry season, which, though improving the quality of molasses, reduces the quantity to some extent. Wholesalers are still quoting 24½c. for Barbados molasses, and appear by no means anxious to sell at that price. Antigua molasses is worth 24c., and finest Porto Rico, 38c.

CANNED GOODS.

The situation in the canned-goods market is not very satisfactory to any branch of the trade. There is little demand, as in the present weak state of the market the trade expect to obtain their goods at lower prices. The canners will certainly lose money on their goods, and jobbers who have had any stock on hand must also lose on it. There is a better demand for canned fruits. In tomatoes there is no change and it is still very difficult to obtain supplies. We quote as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. We quote: Salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

The New York market is still characterized by a firmness which is likely to continue for some time. The demand for all classes of spices is good, and stocks are not by any means heavy. Pepper is still firm. Penangs on the primary market, however, are thought to be somewhat easier, as the crop is reported to be in a better condition than was at first stated, but on account of the unusually light stocks held on the New York market and here there is not likely to be a decline. Our quotations are now as follows: Nutmegs, 30c. to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a moderate demand, mostly from local buyers. There is nothing new in prices to report. We quote in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 5 to 5¼c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The market is unchanged. Quotations are as follows: Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—There is a moderate inquiry for Valencia raisins though the supply is very light. The market continues very firm, but at our former prices. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅜c., layers, 6⅞c.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There is a good demand and the market is firmer. The price is 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is nothing new in this line. A fair inquiry prevails. Orange peel sells for 11¼c.; lemon, for 10¼c., and citron for 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—An active market continues, and business in the lower grades is unusually brisk. Quotations follow: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Hallowee dates are quoted at a shade lower this week. The demand is very light. The price is 4 to 4¼c.

FIGS.—There is a moderate inquiry at steady prices. Tapnets are worth $1 and layers $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—A better demand prevails this week, but the volume of business is still light. Seeded raisins are worth 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—There is a very good inquiry this week, and the market in general continues firm. There has been no quotable change. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The market is active at steady prices. Apricots sell for 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS.

The demand for nuts is reported to be better than is usual at this season of the year. Advices from Tarragona state that almonds advanced 25c. per bag on April 1. Otherwise there is no change. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

There has been a new feature during the past week in the butter market. Owing to the scarcity of all classes of butter in the New York market several dealers have entered this market, and a number of inquiries for medium and low grades resulted in business. In consequence, nearly all the low-grade butter has been picked up for American account, at 13 to 14c. This will tend to produce a healthy market for the coming season's trade. There is little western creamery coming to this market, many of the factories having commenced to make cheese, and as the make is increasing the price ranges around 22c. per lb. There is not much undergrade butter, but sales are made at 19 to 20c. Large rolls are in good demand at 17 to 18c. per lb.

CHEESE.—The market is still quiet, and the trade is altogether with local buyers. What stock is held here is quoted at as firm prices as ever; 11 and 11½c. is quoted for finest colored, and 11c. for white.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Owing to the large deliveries of Easter week it is thought that the supply will continue, but a number of egg packers who looked for a heavy delivery after Easter commenced pickling operations, with the result that the large consuming centres have been neglected. The supply became short, and this week 13c. has been obtained in some instances. It is likely, however, that deliveries will be freer next week and 12c. be the general price.

HONEY.—The demand for honey is very light, as is usual at this time of the year. Quotations follow: Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; strained, 7 to 8c.; white clover comb, 13 to 14c.; white extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.; slightly tinged, 10 to 11c.

ASHES.—The market rules steady, with a light demand. We quote as follows per 100 lb.: First pots, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.90 to $3.95; pearls, $6 to $6.25.

DRESSED POULTRY.—Deliveries have continued very small, and, as a consequence, prices are firm, in spite of a light inquiry. Ducks are 1c. higher, but otherwise there is no change. We quote: Turkeys, 12 to 13c.; choice chickens, 12 to 13c.; frozen do., 9 to 10c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 10 to 11c.; fowl, 6 to 8c.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—There is a moderate business doing. Syrup, in large tins, is worth 70 to 80c., and in small tins, 50 to 60c.; in wood, 5 to 5½c. per lb., a decline of 1c. since last week. Maple sugar is still selling at 8 to 9c.

GREEN FRUITS.

There is still but a quiet market for green fruits, though the demand ex-store for a few days of warm weather was much improved. Neither oranges nor lemons are in very good demand, dealers awaiting the spring sales. Our quotations are as follows: Jamaica oranges, in bbls., $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Florida oranges, $3.50 to $3.75; Californian "Sunflowers," $3.75 per box; other marks, $3.25 to $3.50; Valencia oranges, 420's, $4.00; 420's Jumbo, $4.75; 714's, $5; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box; pineapples, 20 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $4.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2.00, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $6; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.75 to $10.50; red onions, $3.50 per barrel; yellow, $3.25; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12½c.; Florida tangerines, $3.50 per box; grape fruit, $4.25 to $6 per box; Florida tomatoes, $3.50 to $4.50 per crate; fine spies, $5 to $5.50; radishes, 45c. per dozen; spinach, $3.50 per bbl.; No. 1 cucumbers, $2 per dozen; strawberries, 45c. per box.

FISH.

The fresh-fish business has practically ceased, and it is stated that most dealers had to dispose of their goods at very unprofitable figures towards the last. Salt fish are in fair demand. On all others prices are nominal, and our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 95c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 9 to 10c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $6.75 per bbl.; No. 2, $4.50; large, $6.50; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $10 to $11 per bbl.; No. 1. Labrador salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $5 per ½ bbl. and $9 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There has been no change in the price of flour. Outside of a jobbing business, which is only fair, the market is quiet. Our quotations are as follows: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.10; winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $4; strong bakers', $3.50 to $3.80; straight rollers, $3.45 to $3.55.

GRAIN.—The market is quiet. Ontario spring wheat has declined 1c. Peas are ½ to 1c. lower; oats are ½c. lower, and feed barley 1c. lower. Manitoba wheat is quiet and unchanged. We quote as follows: Ontario No. 1 spring wheat, afloat May, 75c.; No. 2 spring wheat, 74c.; peas, 89c. to 89½c.; rye, 63½c.; oats, 45½ to 46c. ex-store; corn, 67c.; buckwheat, 56 to 56½c., middle freights; feed barley, 52 to 53c.

OATMEAL.—Business is reported fair this week, and prices are unchanged. Rolled oats are worth $4.90 to $5 per bbl., and $2.40 to $2.50 in bags.

FEED.—The market remains firm at unchanged prices. There is a good, steady demand. We quote as follows: Ontario bran, in carlots, $18.50 per ton; shorts, $22.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—An active inquiry continues. The market is steady and no quotable change has occurred. We quote as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9.50 to $10; No. 2, $8.50 to $9.25; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in earlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Ducks are 1c. per lb. lower.

Morton's canned pineapples are 15 to 25c. lower.

Ontario spring wheat has declined 1c., and is now quoted at 75c. for No. 1, and 74c. for No. 2.

Fried smelts are again on the market in a limited quantity, the price being 40c. per dozen.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, Man., April 7, 1902.

TRADE in almost all lines has been considerably handicapped by the bad state of the country roads, washouts and floods, but this is only a temporary check, and has had no real effect on the bright outlook for spring trade. Many of the jobbers have not mourned over the delay in getting out freight, as many of them were considerably in arrears with their orders, and in this way they have had time to catch up. General conditions considered the trade of the past week has been good, and prices in almost all lines have been steadily maintained.

CANNED GOODS.—The movement is very light. Ever since the reported split in the association buyers seem shy and will not make any movement towards stocking largely. The price of tomatoes is too high, and the lower price of corn is causing more movement in that line. The supply seems to be plentiful, and, comparatively speaking, it is better value than tomatoes. Peas appear plentiful and are fair value at the prices offered. Owing to the shortage of the apple crop there has been an increased demand for gallon apples, but the price is too high to encourage the buying of large stocks. Peaches, pears, and the smaller fruits are in fair demand. The canners who have left the association are looked upon as likely to make a considerable change in the situation next season.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS.—Cooking figs are growing scarce on this market and are very firm. Dried apples are slightly easier, but the quality this season has been such that dealers here do not seem willing to buy in any large quantities. Currants and raisins are in nominal demand and without change in price.

SUGAR.—The situation is without change for the week. There has been considerable trading done. Granulated is worth $4.80, and bright yellows, $4.10.

SYRUPS.—Corn syrups are higher and jobbers here are asking 3¾c. in barrel lots, and the indications are for further advance. Genuine new maple syrup is on the market, and the price is high, running from $1 to $1.50 per gallon, according to grade. The supply at present is limited, but further shipments will arrive early in the week. It is not anticipated, however, that prices will be any lower, as the demand is keen.

TEA.—Dealers here who handle China teas are forwarding their requisitions this week as the buyers leave the Coast for their various fields about the 10th of the month. The crop this season is reported of excellent quality. The amount of China tea consumed on this market is small compared with the Indian and Ceylon teas.

COFFEE.—Rios are in fair demand at present and the figures are somewhat easier. No. 5 Rio is quoted at 9½ to 9¾c.

FISH.—The increasingly warm weather is having the effect of clearing up the fish stocks, and from now on there will be no further shipments received. The trade of the season has been a fair and satisfactory one.

SALT.—Stocks in the city are low and dealers are looking somewhat anxiously for new supplies to arrive, which, of course, will not be until navigation opens.

CEREALS.—The demand in all lines of cereals is fair. Rolled oats are more called for than they were ten days ago, but the price is weaker. Eighties to-day are worth $2.20 in earlots; 40's, $1.15, and 20's, 40c. Cornmeal has dropped sharply this week and looks as if it might go lower. The decline is from $1.90 to $1.75 per sack of 98 lb. Beans continue weak and uncertain; price, $1.70 per bushel for prime medium. Split peas are little called for, and the price is unchanged at $2.85.

FLOUR.—Locally, the flour market has been very dull all week. Export trade also has not been satisfactory as the quotations offered were too low for profitable handling by shippers here. In spite of this fair shipments have gone out to Australia and the West Indies. On the latter market there has been more call for Canadian flour of late. Prices for the week are without change. Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Glenora Patent, $1.80; Alberta, $1.60; Manitoba, $1.40; Imperial XXXX, $1.20; Nestor, $1.10; Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Five Roses, $1.95; Red Patent, $1.80; Medora, $1.65; XXXX, $1.25; Hudson Bay Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Strong Bakers', $1.80; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $1.95; Home Rule, $1.80; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70; Strong Bakers', $1.60; Pansy, $1.25.

BUTTER.—The supply of butter seems to have reached the vanishing point. The receipts of the week have been the smallest yet recorded. The worst feature of the situation is the poor outlook for any improvement until creameries are opened. The opening of creameries will be considerably delayed by the large quantities of water in the country. The retail price has gone up to 30c. per lb., and the amount of strictly fresh to be had at that price is very limited.

CHEESE.—The market is still working on Ontario cheese and there is no large stock in store here. The present price is 13½ to 14c.

EGGS.—As anticipated the receipts have fallen off materially, but although this is the case the price has not advanced to any extent. People seem to have suddenly tired of eggs, and the trade is dropping back to the ordinary consumptive demand. Jobbers are quoting 13 to 14c. to the city trade.

with an aggregate cargo of 458 puncheons, 66 tierces and 29 barrels from Porto Rico. As already noted, the expected advance in the primary market did not materialize. Other importations are firm at lately noted declines. There is still the steady importation of raw sugar from the West Indies as well as Germany. There is now discharging, for the Acadia sugar refinery, the steamer Nordlwalen, which brought 43,000 bags from Dantzic.

Hay has declined somewhat. but is still comparatively high. Good hay can now be bought at about $12. The grass has about commenced to grow, and another month will tide over the season when cattle must be stall-fed. Unless the South-African demand continues, hay may soon be on the market at $10. In this connection it is worth noting that the Trade and Navigation Returns show that for the last 20 years, with a total production of about 7,000,000 tons, Canada has had less than 100,000 tons for export. During the last year or two three or four times that quantity has been exported, principally to South Africa, but the shortage in feed has been made up with other feeds—which has had a tendency to keep up the price of both.

Eggs are still scarce and are now higher than in Montreal, Saturday's quotations from that point being 12½ to 13c., while Halifax quotes 14c., and during the week past 15c. was paid. The butter market is unchanged. The same report as given for any week of the last six will represent the market—prices high, with best creamery very scarce.

Oats are still firm. There are no heavy holdings here and importations have not been large in expectation of a decline in the market. Ontario oats are quoted at 54 to 55c., and Prince Edward Island at 55 to 56c. Considerable shipments of potatoes have lately been made, and the price has remained firm for the last month at about 45c. Turnips, carrots, parsnips, and other field produce are in fair demand and supplies are coming in in sufficient quantities to meet the demands of the trade.

The people of Canada, when they pay 25 to 30c. for a dozen oranges or bananas envy the people where these fruits grow, and where they should apparently be cheap. But what shall be said of Nova Scotia—the great apple growing country—when the prices of apples are noted? A bbl. of good apples cannot be bought in Halifax to-day less than $4.50 to $5. In a retail store, a few days ago, I paid 25c. for 15 Northern Spys—none of which were either totally firm, or would be considered No. 1 for shipment. I have many times recently bought 2 for 5 cents—almost the price of oranges. It does not seem that the country of production is always the cheaper country to buy in.

The fish market remains practically unchanged. Regular importations are being made by steamer from Halifax to the West Indies, to Boston and New York and thence to the same market, and by sailing vessels from Lunenburg, Shelburne and Yarmouth, these vessels also carrying cargoes of lumber. The market there, however, instead of becoming better, has declined. In Porto Rico the price has dropped 25 to 50c. on codfish. Cuba is not much better.

A considerable quantity of fresh fish is coming in from the banks and the shore fisheries, but the price is low, except for table fish. Halibut last week was retailing at 15c. per lb., and a few salmon at 75c. per lb. Extremely good reports are coming in from the fishing stations on the South Shore and on the Bay of Fundy. At Yarmouth last year a steam trawler was fitted out, and a second one this season. The local papers report both of these steamers—the Harbinger and the Messenger—bring in large fares. A Digby schooner was reported a short time ago as bringing in a $1,750 fare for two days' fishing. The lobster fishing—principally for canning—will commence on the north shore of Nova Scotia and on Prince Edward Island on April 20. The grounds there have been gradually decreasing in catch for some years, although an expensive hatchery has been maintained at Pictou. R.C.H.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE CANADIAN GROCER.

St. John, N.B., April 5, 1902.

THERE has been an active business during the past week. The winter-port business is drawing to a close. This has been the most active season we have ever known. The regular winter-port business has been larger than ever. The great number of steamers which have loaded hay for South Africa has greatly added to the number of boats arriving here, and now, at least once a month, one of these steamers takes a large amount of general cargo, including manufactured goods of all kinds, and as these boats had in nearly every case to be fitted up here, they left a large amount of money. Then, we have had the regular West Indian steamer and lately the direct Jamaica service. In markets there is little change. Cream of tartar is rather firmer.

OILS.—In burning oils there is a steady business at continued low prices. Lubricating oils are unchanged in price. Dealers are very busy shipping out orders which were booked ahead. Paint oils are very active, particularly with the retail trade. The prices this spring are high. In cod oil the stock is very light, and prices are firmly held. Seal oil is high, but the reports from Newfoundland in regard to the catch of seals is much better than earlier advices.

SALT.—Arrivals of coarse salt from Liverpool have been quite heavy, as dealers have been getting supplies forward previous to the stopping of the regular winter-port boats. Receipts will, after this be more irregular. Prices are firmly held. The high figures have been largely the result of the high freights charged by the steamers. In fine salt, the Canadian supplies the market and with the opening of the dairy season there is an increased demand. Our quotations are as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 doz.; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per doz.; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—There is an improved business. In vegetables, tomatoes are the only firm line, and it is difficult to get full prices even for them. In fruits, strawberries are somewhat scarce. Prices are firmly held. There are few blueberries. In peaches the market is quite well supplied with three's, but two's are a light supply. Prices show little change. Gallon apples have not been as high as in the west. There is not a large stock here. Salmon are unchanged. The different qualities prevent a steady market. Meats have a free sale, but it is difficult to get full figures, though the market is firm. Lobsters are a slow sale. Domestic sardines are firm. The season for packing is now here. In kippered herring and haddies stocks are fair.

GREEN FRUITS.—Oranges have been cheap this week owing to damaged stock by salt water of Valencia fruit offered. Sound stock is rather firmer. In Jamaicas, box stock is chiefly sold, and though the season is getting late, the quality is fine. In Californian fruit, owing to price, few are imported. Lemons have a fair sale, but the price is rather higher. In bananas, large supplies have been received and prices have been low, though, for strictly choice stock full figures are asked. New cranberries are sold. The season for apples is about done. Best stock is high. Very few strawberries are brought here.

DRIED FRUITS.—Prunes are very low. They have less sale than one would expect, particularly as evaporated apples are high and scarce and some offered are not really choice. Raisins find a fair sale. Some Malaga loose muscatels have been received. They cost less than the Californian fruit. Seeded have some demand, but seedless are not sold here. Currants to import are rather lower, but there is only a limited sale. The demand is principally for cleaned in cartons. Peels are scarce, particularly citron, and full figures are asked. Dates are high. In dried apples there is a limited sale at full figures. Egyptian onions are now freely received, and lower prices rule.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Eggs are quite low and there is but a fair sale. Rather lower prices are looked for. Butter is dull. There is a large stock held. For medium and poor stock only low prices can be obtained. Very little new is yet received. In cheese, few are here. Small are scarce and the market is higher.

SUGAR.—The slight advance of last week continues, but prices are still very low. It is thought that the market is rather firmer. The low price results in large sales of granulated. There is general satisfaction with the method of selling on equalized rate basis.

MOLASSES.—There has been some very nice Barbados received. The demand is, however, for Porto Rico. The price is kept at a low figure, and retailers have the advantage, as they maintain prices better in this line than some others.

FISH.—Prices of fresh fish are now rather lower. The market has been well supplied with cod and haddock. Gaspereaux have been very scarce, but are expected to quickly drop off in price. Halibut are quite firm. Pickled herring are also quite firm. Dry cod and pollock are rather easier. There are fair supplies. Smoked herring are very low. Kippered are easy. Haddies are low, and there is just a fair business reported. Quotations are as follows: Haddies, 5 to 5½c.; smoked herring, 6 to 7c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.90 to $2.00 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered herring, 75c. per box; Shelburne $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.75 to $3.90.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, prices are rather easier and a fair business is being done. Oatmeal is quoted rather lower and the demand is light. Cornmeal is slightly lower, and there is but a fair demand. Feed keeps high and scarce. Beans are rather lower, but there is a fair sale. Barley is easier, but peas are high, with good quality hard to get. Seeds are beginning to be sold. Timothy is very high this season, and the tendency is upward. Clover is more reasonable. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.50 to $4.60; best Ontario, $4 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; oatmeal, $5.00 to $5.10; cornmeal, $3.00 to $3.10; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; handpicked beans, $1.40 to $1.50; prime, $1.30 to $1.40; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3; split peas, $4.85 to $5; barley, $4.60 to $4.65; hay, $12 to $14.

PROVISIONS.—In barreled pork there is a rather slow business. While the market is firm there is not an advance equal to the west. Beef is dull. This is a very firm line and a further advance is expected. In fresh pork there are rather better receipts, but the price keeps quite high. The market is supplied with domestic pork. Fresh beef is high. There are large quantities of Ontario beef used here. In smoked meats rather lower prices have been quoted. Lard is held firm, both compound and pure. The sale is rather dull. We quote: American clear pork, $22 to $23; domestic mess pork, $21; plate beef, Canadian, $13.50 to $14; mess pork, American, $21.50; plate beef, American, $14.50 to $15; fresh beef, 6½ to 9c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12½c.; pure lard, pails, 12¾c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard, compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¾c.; pails, 10½c.

ST JOHN NOTES.

Kane & McGrath are large importers of Ontario beef.

Mr. Potter, representing The N. K. Fairbank Co., was in the city this week.

A. L. Goodwin received a large shipment of bananas this week. There were some 1,100 bunches.

Mr. S. S. de Forest, for many years connected with the wholesale house of Hall & Fairweather, retires from the company on May 1. William C. Crass is now managing director. Mr. S. S. Hall, the founder of the original firm, is president of the company.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN

VALENCIA RAISINS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

THE demand for Valencias continues on a very satisfactory scale, and the market displays considerable firmness. Parcels which show any size and quality are rapidly disappearing, and even small, poor fruit, such as continues to arrive in moderate shipments, finds buyers at 28s.—Produce Markets' Review, March 29.

CURRANTS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

The market for currants continues fairly active, but prices so far do not show the improvement which the statistical position would seem to warrant. At the same time the outlook is probably more promising than at any time since Christmas, as the cloud over the market, caused by the failure of a Greek firm of shippers, is now removed. The consequence has been that the Provincial currants, which have caused the late depression, and generally endangered the level of prices, have now passed into the hands of strong holders who recognize the position of the market, and seem inclined to take advantage of it. There is a good general demand, and any accession of firmness on the part of the merchants can hardly fail to operate against any further decline. Demands from the continent and colonies also show an inprovement.—Produce Markets' Review, March 29.

CANNED SALMON IN LONDON.

There is practically no change to report in the salmon market, the business continuing of a very disappointing character. Up to the present arrivals have been light, and it is now very evident that buyers generally intend to wait until the larger shipments arrive, in the hope of some pressure to sell. At the same time, it must not be overlooked that this article in all grades can be bought and sold at very attractive prices, and it is questionable whether it is not unwise on the part of buyers to wait in the anticipation of lower quotations, which appear very doubtful, rather than sell all they can on the present basis, as business lost is very difficult to make up afterwards.—Produce Markets' Review, March 29.

PRUNE COMBINE AFFAIRS.

Private mail advices from San Jose, Cal., dealing with the matter of the prune combine state: "No one here doubts that the association is a thing of the past and growers are going ahead with their plans for the coming season as though the organization never existed. It would be very hard to convince a majority of the growers that the organization has benefitted them in the slightest; indeed, many maintain that but for the association and its hold-over of prunes the results this season would have been more favorable. In a long, open letter just issued, Mayor W. A. Coulter advocates the immediate winding-up of the affairs of the combine. He estimates that it is costing the growers over $2,200 per month to pay salaries and miscellaneous expenses. He declares that the only safe plan for those who hold certificates of membership is to dissolve the organization and to let those who want a co-operative association incorporate on a new basis."

THE COLOMBO TEA AUCTION.

Dodwell & Co., Limited, under date of Colombo, March 5, write "The Canadian Grocer" as follows: "Yesterday's auction of 860,000 lb. showed a very firm market for all teas except common broken pekoes, for which there was but a moderate demand. Medium kinds met with better competition and prices have slightly advanced. All tippy teas fetched good prices. Quality, no material change."

CANNED CORN EASIER IN THE STATES.

A somewhat easier feeling is reported in some quarters on spot State corn. Business is reported at 65c. for standards. In futures a prominent holder says: "The buying interest is light and late advices from packing quarters up the State indicate that there is a decided disposition on the part of some packers to sell. Offerings are available at 60c. f.o.b. factory and 62½c. delivered here. According to advices received the outlook is favorable for a large acreage in this State, Maine, and in the West. Packers in the West, it is said, have sold rather freely in the territory supplied by them."—New York Journal of Commerce.

ABOUT THE SIZE OF IT.

(From The Weekly Sun.)

"Is it true you didn't turn up at the Governor's ball?" was asked an Eastern M.P.

"That's so, I am sorry to say."

"Not unwell?"

M.P.: "Oh, no; but I have had to give up that sort of thing here."

"Sounds like doctor's orders."

M.P.: "It's business orders. Between letters, committees, the House, and the Departments, I've all I can do."

"Do you mean to say you can't even spare a couple of hours in dining out occasionally?"

M.P.: "That's what I mean, and it's explainable. Those dinners start between seven and eight, and it's well on towards 10 before one gets away. The whole of that evening, then, is gone. Next morning the chances are I am slack, and that feeling lasts pretty well through the day, and puts me behind in my work."

"How do those manage who are out at something every second or third night?"

M.P.: "I can't tell you. I've a strong suspicion they manage by skipping half their work and skimming the other. I'll give you an instance. An Ontario member, one of those who are too sociable to refuse an invitation, ran up against one of his constituents here. The pair made off for a quiet corner, and after a chat over home news, the member proposed a move for lunch. The constituent was willing, but thought, since he was to be off on an early train, they had better settle the affair he had been writing to the member about.

"'That's the first I've heard about it,' remarked the M.P.

"'How can that be?' asked the astonished constituent; 'I wrote you four letters in regard to the matter.'

"'Well, my dear fellow, I never got them,' was all the jovial member could say.

"Later on he found the four letters unopened and forgotten among a pile of papers."

"But, supposing you were, what doubtless you will be, a Cabinet Minister, wouldn't you conform to the custom of giving dinners?"

M.P.: "I'm too old a bird to say what I would do. All I know is that to get through the work of an ordinary member, which is little enough compared with the calls on a Minister's time, keeps me on the stretch so that I think myself lucky to get half-an-hour's stroll during the day."

"I'd infer from what you say a member's duties at Ottawa are so exacting as not to justify a night off now and again."

M.P.: "That's rather an extreme way of putting it. My point is: A representative has his hands full to get through what he should; he requires to be in the best of trim; and, for that reason, should eschew heavy evening meals and late hours."

"Do you go, then, so far as to say the entertaining done by the Governor, Ministers, Speakers, and others takes out of the members too much of the energy that ought to go into Parliamentary business?"

M.P.: "That's about the size of it."

EBEN JAMES APPEALS.

Upon the ground that the evidence does not disclose any offence against the Fruit Marks' Act, Eben James, Toronto, is appealing against his conviction by the Toronto police magistrate for having in his possession and unlawfully selling and offering for sale 18 packages of apples falsely faced, so that what appeared on the outside was not a true representation of their contents.

On April 7 D. J. Montgomery, for Mr. James, moved for a rule nisi before the Divisional Court, Toronto, and this was granted.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN GOODS.

INQUIRIES regarding Canadian goods received by the Canadian section of the Imperial Institute, London, England :

1. A Liverpool firm desires the names of Canadian producers of black ash and basswood boards, also of birch chair seats.

2. An inquiry has been received for the names of Canadian manufacturers of excelsior.

3. A London house wishes to hear from Canadian lumber manufacturers who can contract for regular supplies of basswood boards cut to lengths and glued together.

4. A North Country firm of manufacturing confectioners desires information as to the particular kinds of confectionery in demand in Canada and also the names of the leading importers of these goods.

5. A house in Hamburg, Germany, wishes to be supplied with the names of Canadian exporters of pigs' heads in pickle and feet in salt ; also various kinds of bacon.

6. A manufacturer of vulcanite pens, nibs and other stationery lines is prepared to appoint capable Canadian resident agent.

7. A firm claiming a large connection in all parts of the United Kingdom with the trade wishes to secure a first-class Canadian agency in white mouldings for pictures, hardwood mouldings, mouldings for mantels, etc.

8. A manufacturer of all sorts of deed and cash boxes, etc., seeks Canadian resident agent to introduce their goods.

A MEETING OF FRUITERERS.

The Fruiterers' Section of the Toronto Branch of The Retail Merchants' Association held their regular monthly meeting in their rooms, 153 Bay street, on Monday night, April 7.

This section is one of the latest to enter into amalgamation with the The Retail Merchants' Association. Previous to the first of the present year they existed as an independent organization. Their officers are as follows :

Chairman—P. N. Judah, 272 Queen street west.
1st Vice-Chairman — H. S. Hope, 292 Queen street west.
2nd Vice-Chairman — T. H. Scott, 430 Yonge street.
Treasurer—P. Massie, 464 Queen street west.
Secretary—W. Armstrong, 784 Yonge street.

RESOLUTIONS ENDORSED.

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Kentville N. S. Board of Trade the secretary was instructed to write the Maritime Board to the effect that the resolutions adopted by that board re preferential trade, tourist travel and the development of trade between Canada and South Africa, had been adopted and incorporated in the minutes of the board.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Advance In Dressed Beef—Miscellaneous Notes.

ADVANCE IN DRESSED BEEF.

A DESPATCH from Chicago under date of April 2, says: "An advance of a half cent. per lb. on dressed beef went into effect at the stock yards to day, when all the packers responded to the repeated advances that have taken place in the last week in cattle on the hoof. To-day's top price for cattle, $7.50 per 100 lb., is the highest April price since 1882. Hogs sold at record price for the year, $7.05."

AN INSOLVENT BUTCHER.

F. C. Duffy is a butcher who conducted his business at the St. Lawrence market, Toronto. He got behind in his accounts, his goods were seized by the city for rent, and he was forced to assign to J. A. Howell. This was on April 2. A meeting of his creditors was held on April 8 at the office of Montgomery, Fleury & Montgomery, barristers, Toronto, when a statement showing a bad state of affairs was issued. His liabilities are about $1,800, and his assets, consisting of a horse and cart and about $30 in book debts, amount to only $70. The assignee was instructed to realize what he could out of the estate.

AN ENTERPRISING FIRM.

Rutherford, Marshall & Co., wholesale produce and commission merchants, 68 Front street east, established themselves in Toronto in 1892. The growth of the firm has been rapid, and their trade extends from Halifax to Vancouver. Last year, an export branch was opened in Montreal under the name of The Jones, Marshall, Rutherford Co., Limited, 27 William street, with Mr. Arthur Jones, formerly of The Imperial Produce Co., Toronto, as managing director.

This spring they have opened an egg emporium in Belleville, Ont., having leased a cold-storage premises and have had the same fitted up for their special use, where they purpose putting down about 250,000 dozen eggs. This branch is under the Montreal supervision, and is managed by Mr. J. W. Curts, formerly of Port Perry, and, judging from their shipments last season, a bright future is predicted for this firm.

The capacity of the Toronto branch has also been increased, concrete vats having been put in. They have now one of the most complete egg-pickling cellars in Toronto.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

There is a limited number of hogs being received by the butchers for their local trade. The pork-packing business for this season is over. Dressed hogs have advanced 25c. per 100 lb. Beef continues high and firm. Veal is in good demand and the market for lamb is strong. We quote: Dressed hogs, $7.75 to $8.00; beef carcasses, $7.50 to $8.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.00 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $5.50 to $6.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 8 to 10c. per lb.; lambs, 9½ to 10c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4.00 to $4.50.

There is a good outlook for a big season's trade in provisions, and quite an active demand is already experienced for barrel pork. Lard continues firm, and the demand for it is steady. We quote as follows: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c.; smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The provision market, generally, has been quiet, lard and smoked meats being the only lines that moved well. In lard, both pure and compound makes have been in good demand, although some scarcity is noted in the latter, in the "Anchor" brand. The demand for pork is not great. Canadian short cut mess pork is quiet, as is usual at this season of the year. Dressed meats are steady, under a moderate demand. Dressed hogs are quiet but steady. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00 to $22.50; Chicago clear pork, $25.00 for heavy and $23.00 to $23.50 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over, Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—The supply for the past week has been rather under the demand, and prices are firm. Best city dressed, 8 to 8½c.; country dressed (practically none offering), 7½ to 7¾c.

VEAL—Supply entirely confined to immediate vicinity of Winnipeg. Very little good veal in the city at the moment. Prices are firm at 8½ to 9c.

DRESSED HOGS — Very few have been received this week, and the trade for the season is about over. Prices are without change, being 7½ to 8c.

POULTRY—Demand is active but supply of fresh-killed limited indeed. The only fresh-killed poultry on the market are chickens. Prices are very firm at 11 to 12½c. For frozen turkeys and geese the demand is limited.

CURED MEATS—Dealers report a slow and unsatisfactory week, due largely to the slowness of country trade. Prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Hams, 13¼c.; shoulders, 10¼c.; picnic hams, 8¾c.; breakfast bellies, 14c.; backs, 13½c.; spiced rolls, 11c.; dry salt long clear, 11½c.; shoulders, 9½c.; smoked long clear, 12c.; backs, 12c.

LARD—The market for lard has been, in sympathy with cured meats, dull all week. No change of price is reported. We quote: Tierces, 12½c.; 50 lb. pails, $5.85; 20-lb. pails, $2.40; American ditto, $2.50; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.35; 5 and 3 lb. tins, $7.50.

THE HOG SITUATION.

It rather looks as though the excess of the larger hog crop than last season had been marketed, and that the hog supplies on the whole would not be a distributing factor to views over prices for a while at least. Moreover, the farmers are about beginning their spring work, and if hogs are back in the country in freer volume than apprehended, they are not likely to be for a little while marketed liberally. From statistical positions of the products, the possibilities over near future hog supplies and the outside speculative sentiment over corn and hog products, it would appear as if the leaders could have it all their own way for a time at least. But there is a feeling that the temper is most too uniform, that the interest is too much one way, that with the outside investors all on the "long" side, and the packers as well bullish, that the effort will be made more to sell at the prices and that ultimately there may be some sharp reactions. There do not appear prominent "shorts" anywhere, and the late upward movement has not had the significance of the January deal. The late temper has had really positive features, in the exhibition of good consumption at the prices, the shortened supplies of corn and merits otherwise generally more favorable than in the fall months. It is not believed, however, by the traders that however justified the prices may be from statistical positions that there is likely to be other than feverish conditions, aud reactions from them. With a specula tive market more largely there are naturally spasmodic declines in taking profits, and it is probable that fluctuations will be frequent both for corn and the hog products. Nevertheless, there seems to be a feeling among cash buyers of more security over values, and it extends to taking associated products rather liberally. The pure lard, while bought freely, has not interfered with a large general display of buying interest over the compounds, which latter have been advanced latterly ¼c., and are now quoted 8c. for carlots.—National Provisioner.

CURING BACK PORK.

I shall fell favored if you will send me a recipe for curing back pork.

For from 35 to 40 pieces use 10 lb. rock salt, coarse, and 8 ounces saltpetre. Fill your bbls. with 90 degrees proof pickle, which will cure clear pork or back pork, and can be handled and sold as family pork or back pork. Cut the pieces square and uniform. A short rib about 35 to 40 average makes back and belly. The bellies go for sweet pickled bellies, and the back into backs or family pork. Shoulders should be cut off with two shoulders left on the square.—Butchers' Advocate.

Remember there is no taste or smell to FAIRBANK'S

BOAR'S HEAD

Brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND in cooking.

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada, or direct.

Some people have been using lard so long, the odor of which has penetrated everything they have cooked, until they would not recognize the true food flavour. Their taste is distorted. Lard does not taste strong to some people because they have become addicted to it. Anything fried in lard the lard flavour predominates. Potatoes, steak, fish and chicken all have a similar lard taste. Try FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND and you will find that steak tastes like steak, chicken like chicken, each retaining its characteristic flavour not contaminated with any foreign grease taste. Tell your customers to surprise their stomachs and learn what good frying is by using FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND.

BOUND TO HAVE HER SUNDAY MEAT.

Charlie Weisbecker, the big marketman at 125th street and 8th avenue, sold a woman some meat on Saturday. By some mishap it was not delivered that night. As Mr. Weisbecker did not deliver the meat on Sunday, and refused to violate the Sunday closing law by giving the meat to the lady's servant on Sunday, on her order, her attorney sent the marketman the following lawyer's letter the next day (Monday, March 24):

"A claim has been placed in my hands against you by Mrs. Rose Maguire for $11.60. Mrs. Maguire ordered some articles from you on Saturday, which were not delivered, and which you refused to deliver when a messenger called at your place on Sunday morning to inquire into the delay. As the goods were for a Sunday dinner and supper and breakfast on Monday, the failure on your part to deliver the same caused unlimited worry and annoyance, also an expense of $11.60 for the following: Dinner in restaurant for family consisting of eight persons, $7.50; supper in restaurant for family, $3; buying articles for Monday breakfast, $1.10. As the articles ordered from you would have answered for the above, you are liable for the above amount."

The much fussed-about purchase only amounted to 79 cents in the beginning. It all shows how far a woman will go for 79 cents, and how much she will pay to back up her own senseless bullheadedness even when the law is "again' her."—National Provisioner, New York.

THE OUTPUT OF EGGS.

A census report shows that of the 5,739,657 farms in the United States, 5,096,255 reported poultry. The total number of fowls three months old and over reported were as follows: Chickens, including guinea fowls, 233,508,085; turkeys, 6,599,367; geese, 5,676,863; ducks, 4,807,358. The number of nearly all these classes of poultry are smaller as reported in 1900 than in 1890 owing to the fact that in 1890 they reported all fowls of whatever age, while in 1900 only those three months old and over were reported. The eggs produced in 1899 were 1,293,819,186 dozens, against 879,722,916 dozens in 1899. An increase in the number of eggs produced, rather than an increase in the number of different kind of fowls, marks the progress of this branch of the industry. The value of poultry on hand June 1, 1900, was $85,794,996; the value of poultry raised in 1899 was $136,891,877, and the value of eggs produced in 1899 was $144,286,158. The total income derived by the farmers from their poultry industry in 1899, representing the total value of the eggs produced as well as the poultry raised, was $281,178,035. This total makes the poultry industry one of the largest connected with agriculture. The foregoing figures do not include any statistics on poultry and eggs raised outside of the farms and ranges.

The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

No. 1

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000. Offices Throughout the Civilized World.

Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

Each of the next 3,000—A handsome piece of Silverware—Silver Sets, Cream Jugs, Novelties, Ladles, Sugar Bowls, Salts and Peppers, Buttter Knives, etc., etc., etc.
Each of the next 2,000—A copy of the famous picture, entitled "King of the Forest," designed especially for Gold Soap. This picture cannot be procured elsewhere.
All those that do not win a prize, will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers.

CONDITIONS

All wrappers sent in must have contained soap; we have a secret process for detecting bogus wrappers. All wrappers (or centres) must be plainly marked "Competition," and must contain the name and address of the sender, and be mailed to Gold Soap, Toronto, on or before November 15th, 1902. Those that receive prizes will not receive a Premium as well, but all those not winning prizes will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers. In case two persons send in the same number of wrappers, the prize will be divided. Persons giving information leading to conviction of anyone trying to defraud Gold Soap will be liberally rewarded.

INDUSTRY'S MAGIC STORY.

How Some Successful Business Men Started in Life.

AN event long to be remembered was the great dinner given to the "Captains of Industry" in New York. It was a high honor to the 100 distinguished Americans whom the German Prince Henry had expressed a wish to meet. Among them were men who had begun life at the forge, bench or desk, and worked their way up to wealth and fame.

For the first time since a blacksmith sat with King Solomon on his throne the "iron-worker" was again at the right hand of royalty, among the honored of the land. Royalty crosses the sea and banquets with the Captains of Industry — all because of the power of the artisan, the inventor and man of affairs. Among the men called to that dinner to meet a Prince were those who had begun life with nothing but their genius and their hands.

When Graham Bell, who is a Canadian by birth, reached London in 1878, with his newly-invented telephone, he met discouragement on every hand. It was called an amusing scientific toy of no commercial value. He even found difficulty in getting his instruments repaired. First in London, then in Sheffield, he vainly tried to get a finger length of steel fashioned for some vital part of his apparatus. None would attempt it. "We have no patterns for such work," said the head mechanic.

"What is your weekly pay?" asked Professor Bell of a Sheffield expert.

"Thirty shillings," he said.

"I'll give you two pounds to work for me an hour, and I will tell you how to do it," said Professor Bell.

"Thanks, but I must decline. You see, sir, we do all our work by patterns. I'd rather not try it."

Much annoyed, Professor Bell exclaimed: "It is an easy job. I could do it myself in half an hour were I at home."

"Oh, sir, you are welcome to use our ools as long as you please," replied the foreman, relieved. Mr. Bell went to the bench, and in half an hour had his telephone repaired and in working order. He was then a poor man. To-day he is worth millions and his fame encircles the globe.

Among those Captains of Industry, modest and silent in the presence of the Prince, was a man whose career began on the eastern slope of the Alleghanies — at Altoona. They are discussing it to this day. A railroad problem was perplexing the superintendant one morning, when an employe offered a suggestion. It was followed by silence, then exclamations.

"Who told you that? Do you think i will work? It's a bright idea. Try it." And he did. They called him a genius, and he went to work for himself and won. His name is George Westinghouse, and that was the beginning of his air brake and his great fortune that enabled him to pay Tesla a million dollars for inventions in electricity.

Next, the story of Charles Schwab, who now controls the nickel mines at Sudbury, Ont., reads like a chapter of magic in the Arabian Nights. He began as the humblest worker in Pennsylvania's greatest steel mills. From an apprentice he rose to the presidency of the American Steel Trust, capitalized at more than $1,300,000,000, and employing—Napoleon's army—150,000 men, receiving more than $150,000,000 in wages annually. From his visit to the crowned heads of Europe this Yankee Captain of Industry returned to join his fellow workingmen and meet the Prince and the learned professors at the Sherry dinner.

And so one might go on, finding inspiration and wonder in each man's career. In view of this—the general interest and the lesson of it have been asked for a brief account of how these men of science and industry made their first start in life, of the difficulties met, how they were encountered and to what particular endeavor they attribute their success. From the answers received the following extracts are given.

George F. Baer, Reading, Pa.

The corporate representative of the largest anthracite coal interests of Pennsylvania and prominent in financial matters there and in New York City. He was born in Somerset county, Pennsylvania, 1842. He graduated from Franklin and Marshall College. At 13 he began work on The Somerset Democrat, and in 1861, with his brother, became owner of the paper. When his brother went to the war he still ran the paper, yet studied law, principally at night. In August, 1862, he raised a company of volunteers, was elected captain and went to the front. Joining the army at the second battle of Bull Run, he participated in all the engagements up to and including Chancellorsville, when he was detailed as adjutant-general of the Second Brigade.

After the war Mr. Baer resumed his legal studies and was admitted to the bar in 1864. In 1868 he removed to Reading, and rapidly gained prominence at the Berks County Bar, and was an active practitioner for many years. His connection with the Reading companies dates back to 1870, when he became counsel for the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad. He subsequently became a director of that company, but, being unable to agree with the policy of President McLeod, he resigned.

For years he has been the confidential legal adviser of Mr. Morgan in Pennsylvania. When the Reading Railroad was reorganized after the receivership of 1893 he took a prominent part in it, and, in April 1901, was elected president, and also of the Central Railroad Co. of New Jersey.

Eliphalet W. Bliss, New York.

President of the E. W. Bliss Co., inventor and manufacturer of presses, dies and special machinery for working sheet metals; also the sole mannfacturer of the Whitehead torpedo and appliances for the United States navy, and president of the United States Projectile Co., manufacturer of shells for the army and navy. In response to inquiry, he says:

"My start in business was by serving five and a half years as machinist apprentice; was afterward connected with the Charles Parker Gun Company, in Meriden, Conn., for seven years; then came to Brooklyn to manufacture what were known as Campbell printing presses. Working for a percentage produced an envious feeling on the part of my employer, owing to my making more money than he had thought possible. That forced me into the press and die business, of which I was almost the pioneer, and resulted in my building up a business considered the largest of its kind in the world.

"The difficulties I encountered were very great, having no capital, no one of whom I could ask favors, depending on my word with the bank and my customers.

"Securing the confidence of one's customers and of the bank with which you do business, never failing in your promises to pay, and striving to fulfil all promises to customers, will approach as nearly to a successful stage as anything."

Charles F. Brush, Cleveland, Ohio.

Scientist and inventor, awarded the great Rumford medal for the practical development of electric arc lighting. He is the founder of the American arc-lighting industry, and is a life member of the British Association and of many engineering and scientific societies in America and Europe. He writes:

"I was educated as a mining engineer, taking my first university degree in 1869. Believing there was a bright future for the professional chemist and metallurgist in the industrial arts, I followed this line of effort for several years. Time has long since proved my belief well founded, but its realization was too slow to warrant waiting.

"In 1877, after some years of study, thought and experiment, I gave up all other business and thereafter for many years devoted my time entirely to the invention and development of electric arc lighting on a commercial scale. This was an entirely new industry, and the attendant difficulties were great in consequence.

"The necessary inventions had to be made, patented and defended against piracy; the machinery had to be designed, experimented with and modified until it was reduced to the simplest and most efficient form, and the public had to be educated to the new light in the face of strong opposition from the gas companies everywhere.

"It was in the practical development of electric arc lighting that I achieved business success, and I attribute that success to the selection of a congenial and promising field of effort, followed by years of study and hard work, intelligently directed to a definite end."

Alexander Cassatt, Philadelphia,

President of the Pennsylvania Railroad system, located in 13 States, with more than 10,000 miles of railroad, about 152,000 employes, and with gross earnings of more than $200,000,000 a year. Of Huguenot-Scotch ancestry, Mr. Cassatt was born in Pittsburg in 1839. Educated at Darmstadt, Germany, and the Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y. He is fond of horse racing and with his family and friends comes frequently to the Ontario Jockey Club races at Toronto.

After "locating" a railroad line in Georgia the young man entered upon his career.

Here is his career in a nutshell. In 1861 Mr. Cassatt shouldered the rod of under surveyor and began the real work of his life. He rose to be general manager—the office was created for him—became vice-president and is now president of the Pennsylvania's great system.

Under his administration the soft coal territory of Pennsylvania was secured; also control of the Baltimore and Ohio, the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Norfolk and Western systems, and, more important than all, the Long Island Railroad, with tunnels under New York and its two great rivers, with stations in the heart of the city. With these properties $175,000,000 was added to the capital stock of the Pennsylvania road.

Among the achievements of Mr. Cassatt related as characteristic of his Napoleonic ability is the story of how he snatched a $14,000,000 railroad property from Mr. Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio Road, in a single night.

Charles F. Clark, New York.

Organizer and president of the Bradstreet Company, international commercial credit organization, with 140 offices distributed throughout the civilized world. He was born in Preble, Cortland County, New York, son of a Presbyterian clergyman. "I am indebted to my father," said Mr. Clark, "for my early education and to my mother for whatever executive ability and virility I have since shown. Her character, capacity and executive ability could have controlled and made successful any business enterprise."

Mr. Clark went to Detroit, entered the service of Senator Zachariah Chandler; next studied law with a firm that made a specialty of commercial and real estate transactions. While there he became correspondent of J. M. Bradstreet & Son, who published Bradstreet's book of commercial ratings, and aided in compiling the names and credit of Detroit firms.

Mr. Clark studied the system and resolved to make it his life's profession, but it did not then pay. To meet living expenses he pulished the Detroit directory, and step by step rose to the management of the Bradstreet enterprise, and finally became president of an organization with standing and credit in every part of the civilized world.

John H. Converse, Philadelphia.

General business and financial manager of The Baldwin Locomotive Works, now finishing its twenty-thousandth locomotive. He was born in Burlington, Vt., on December 2, 1840. Went from college to The Burlington Times newspaper office as editorial writer; next entered the service of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad, and later went to the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona, when Dr. Edward H. Williams was superintendent at that point. Later, that gentleman became one of the owners of The Baldwin Locomotive Works, in Philadelphia, and Mr. Converse was soon taken into the firm. As business and financial manager, Mr. Converse has achieved great success, expanding the output of locomotives from 200 to 1,000 per annum.

Mr. Converse is also director in many of the leading banks and trust companies of Philadelphia. He is a philanthropist, and has liberally endowed universities, churches

Francis B. Crocker, New York.

Chief instructor and professor of electrical engineering in Columbia University. He is the founder of the Crocker-Wheeler Electric Company, and was the president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in 1897 and 1898 ; is the author of several books and numerous papers on electrical engineering subjects.

He says: "In the first place, I believe a man should take up the profession or business he is most interested in and for which he possesses some talent. I believe this plan should be followed, even though it conflicts with family or social prejudices. A man should also prepare himself very thoroughly for his life's work, particularly if it is professional.

"Perhaps the most important quality is the ability and willingness to work hard. This does not necessarily mean an incessant grind from one year's end to another, but it does signify that one must be keen after his duties and not in the slightest degree inclined to shirk them. It is only by doing the work of the man ahead of you as well as your own that one can be promoted. It is almost always foolish to avoid responsibility. This is bound to come to one and it is impossible to dodge it."

Clement A. Griscom, Philadelphia.

Founder and president of the International Navigation Company, which owns and operates twenty-six transatlantic steamship lines, and also president of the American Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers. Identified as director with important railroad, manufacturing and marine insurance companies.

As an employe in the shipping firm of Peter Wright & Co., Philadelphia, Mr. Griscom, of a distinguished family, studied marine architecture, and arose to found steamship lines ; was first president of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, and has been reelected each year. As president of the International Navigation Co., he bought the Inman Line and added it to the fleet, and later the New York and Paris.

Through his energy special Congressional legislation was secured permitting these ships to sail under American register. Then he contracted with the Cramps for the two home-built ships, the St. Louis and St. Paul. In the Spanish War many of the company's ships were used by the Government, winning historic fame. Mr. Griscom has been specially honored and decorated by foreign Governments, belongs to the principal clubs and commercial organizations, and is at the head of leading banks, insurance companies and great industrial corporations.

Henry O. Havemeyer, New York.

Prominently identified with the sugar industry and influential in every branch of enterprise. He says :

"I started at the refinery in Brooklyn to learn the technical part of the business at the age of eighteen ; was there until I was transferred to the Wall street office, to learn and attend to the mercantile part, at the age of twenty years and six months, succeeding in the department of my brother-in-law, who died. When I became twenty-one I was admitted to the firm, and, of course, went into the Trust at its formation, so that I became connected with the sugar refining business at eighteen, was a partner at twenty-one, and have been identified with it ever since.

"The so-called Trust has carried the business on profitably since its formation at a less margin between raw and refined than for the corresponding period previous thereto, an achievement for the share in which I have anticipated I am proud.

"I have nothing more to add."

Frederick Pabst, Milwaukee, Wis.

A brewer, one of the prominent men of the West, public spirited, identified with many financial interests. He writes:

"To start a business enterprise on a small scale at this stage of the commercial world's history, and to build it to proportions of national and even international repute; to do the work of manufacturing in a small room to which materials for the finished product are hauled by a yoke of oxen, and, sixty years later, to possess a plant which covers seventeen acres, and whose supplies each day equal what was used in ten years by the original establishment, that is called business success."

Edwin Reynolds, Milwaukee, Wis.

Inventor of the Reynolds-Corliss engine, president of American Society of Mechanical Engineers and chief engineer of the Allis-Chalmers Company, the constructors of the largest stationary steam engine. Born in Mansfield, Conn., in 1831. Went from farm to machine shop at 16; became foreman, then superintendent and finally was engaged by George H. Corliss, of Providence, R.I., as chief engineer and salesman. He reached the highest position with the then greatest engine works in the country.

Then he went to the Allis-Chalmers works, in Milwaukee, and under his management the force was increased from 300 to 2,500 men. He revolutionized engine building. The Reynolds-Corliss engine has grown from the 80 to 100 horse power of 1877 to the 10,000 to 12,000 horse power monster of to-day.

About 1880 he designed a blowing engine for the Joliet Steel Company of so radical a departure from existing types that it caused a sensation. It attracted Andrew Carnegie, who saw the machine and ordered one built, resulting in $5,000,000 of still more business from that company. Even to-day, after 20 years, its principal features are unchanged, and it is the accepted type of this class of engine.

Elihu Thomson, Lynn, Mass.

Electrician, founder of the Thomson-Houston Electric Company, which was consolidated in 1892 with the Edison interests as the General Electric Company; inventor of electric welding and working. He claims he is not a business man, so called, but a professional engineer and scientist.

His inborn tastes shaped his course from early childhood. Unless such compelling tastes existed, coupled with good judgment and energy in overcoming obstacles, success would not have been possible.

"Publicity," he has said, "interferes with study, with work, with usefulness in a large measure when it concerns careers" such as his. He does not seek and never has sought it, and says the same of "honors" and "awards." He repeats the saying that "when a man does anything of value, attracting public notice, all the world seems to conspire to prevent his doing more of it."

"Some credit me with being what I certainly am not — a typical American millionaire, etc.—under a mistaken notion that a man only becomes known by his financial or business success."

George Gray Ward.

Vice-president of The Commercial Cable Co., also of The Postal Telegraph Co., was born at Great Hadham, Hertfordshire, Eng., December 30, 1844. Educated at a private school at Cambridge.

Mr. Ward learned telegraphy at 10, and received a prize for his knowledge of the art. Entering the Electric Telegraph Co.'s service, and passing the various grades at different stations, resigned in 1865 and joined the Egyptian Government Telegraph Service and was three years at Alexandria. Mr. Ward was one of the few who stuck to their posts during the cholera of 1865. His valuable services were especially acknowledged by Ismail Pacha, the late Viceroy. Next he was with the first French Atlantic Cable Co., in 1869, and sailed on the Great Eastern as a member of the electrical staff during the laying of the cable.

Mr. Ward was stationed at St. Pierre, Miquelon, five years. He was next superintendent of the Direct United States Cable Company, and organized its system in the United States. Up to that time it had been considered a great feat to receive an answer to a cablegram from London inside of thirty or forty minutes. Mr. Ward reduced the time to a minimum, and it is now a daily occurrence to receive replies in less than five minutes.

This accelerated service created the Stock Exchange arbitrage business between New York and London, which has assumed such large proportions. He made the Direct Cable Company popular with the public and rendered valuable aid to the press. He also introduced the system of registered addresses, now adopted throughout the world.

In 1884 Mr. Ward became secretary and general manager of the Commercial Cable Company. In 1890 he was elected its vice-president, and in this position has achieved great success in perfecting an up-to-date, unique, unexcelled transatlantic service.

Mr. Ward's skill and diplomacy have more than once brought delicate and important negotiations to a successful issue. Mr. Ward is also vice-president of the Postal Telegraph Company and director of several other companies.

Charles D. Walcott, Washington.

Director of the United States Geological Survey, and organizer and leader in scientific and higher educational institutions, and member of many scientific organizations, was born in 1850, at New York Mills, N.Y.; began collecting rocks and fossils at 13, and soon decided to follow geology as a profession. Unable to attend college, he learned the steel and iron business, and studied alone. In 1876, he became a member of the New York State Geological Survey, and two years later was appointed to a position on the United States Geological Survey.

BACK WITH IMPROVED HEALTH.

Ald. H. Laporte, Montreal, head of the firm of Laporte, Martin & Cie, returned from Atlantic City on Friday, April 11. Ald. Laporte had gone to that place about a month ago for his health, and has greatly benefitted by the visit.

SUNDAY CLOSING IN MONTREAL.

The attempts of the Montreal City Council to enforce the Sunday closing by-law are not favored by the small storekeepers of that city. A largely signed petition was presented the other day asking that no interference be permitted with the trade. The petition showed that they energetically protested against the movement to close small stores on Sundays, for the following reasons:

1. Because such an act would be untimely and vexatious for a majority of the people of Montreal who, on Sundays, are in need of newspapers, cigars, refreshments, etc.

2. Because that modest trade is easily kept under control and threatens in no way whatever the public morality.

3. Because the people in the said trade, bona fide and for a long time have, most of them, heavy obligations towards their landlords, which obligations they would not meet if their stores were suddenly closed.

4. Because most of them are widows or sick or crippled men who make a living out of that trade and would be reduced to begging through such by-law.

For the said reasons the undersigned sincerely hope to see your Council rejecting every proposition tending to prohibit the small Sunday trade and repealing without delay the by-law already in force.

This petition will be considered when the question of enforcing the existing by-law comes up.

FLOUR MILLS REMOVING.

Mr. John White is preparing to remove his roller mills from Guelph to London, Ont., where they will be located on the C.P.R. east of Adelaide street. Some of the old buildings at Guelph will be torn down and removed to London, where they will be reerected and have additions put to them, which will make quite an extensive plant. The cost of removing and rebuilding these mills is placed at $55,000.

Most of the time, night and day shifts will be run, but when the work is not pressing the night shifts will be taken off. With double turns, 135 men will be employed.

WEST INDIES SUGAR INDUSTRY.

Upon his return from a trip to Barbadoes William C. Calkins, an agent of the United Fruit Company, of New York, said that the sugar industry in that West-Indian island is at present in a critical condition. "The island," Mr. Calkins said to a reporter, "is entirely dependent for the support of its population upon its sugar plantations, and at the present price of sugar the best of them are working at a loss. The owners of most of these plantations are in the hands of the merchants, who make advances to them for carrying on the plantations against shipments. The merchants now, however, have agreed among themselves to make no further advances after the present crop is cut, the result of which will mean that the estates will be thrown out of cultivation and the mass of the people will be without work.

"Even the abolition of the sugar bounties will not save them. If they are to get back any portion of their old prosperity, the only thing for them to do will be to combine and support central factories. Individually they cannot afford the machinery necessary for the complete extraction of the juice from the cane and the manufacture of the superior kinds of sugar, such as we get from Cuba, if their estates are to pay."

STATISTICS OF UNITED STATES CEREALS

A report issued by the United States Census Bureau on statistics of the most important cereals shows that 2,053,912 farms in the United States during the census year 1900 produced 658,584,252 bushels of wheat, of a farm value of $369,945,320. This wheat is raised on 52,588,574 acres. Of the 5,739,657 farms in the nation, 272,913 farms raised barley, cultivating 4,471,228 acres, upon which were produced 119,632,827 bushels, of a farm value of $41,630,846.

Buckwheat — 209,460 farms cultivated 807,136 acres, producing 11,237,005 bushels, of a farm value of $5,748,371.

Corn—4,697,799 farms cultivated 94,916,866 acres, producing 2,666,438,279 bushels, of a farm value of $830,258,826.

Oats — 2,114,559 farms cultivated 29,639,597 acres, producing therefrom 943,387,375 bushels, of a farm value of $217,098,584.

Rye—295,108 farms cultivated 2,054,269 acres, producing therefrom 25,570,350 bushels, of a farm value of $12,291,258.

The Bureau estimates that the total wheat exported, kept for seed and ground in flour and grist mills aggregated 666,436,141 bushels.

For seven years past, W. M. Berwick has been with John Sloan & Co.. latterly on their travelling staff—but he has just accepted an engagement with G. F. & J. Galt, of Winnipeg, to cover the ground between the "'Peg" and Klondyke, and, on this account, before leaving to take up work in the new territory, he was presented with a beautiful locket, appropriately inscribed, which his business associates wished him to carry away as a little tribute of esteem. His fellow-travellers also entertained him at dinner, when a good many nice things were said about him by his friends, and good wishes were showered on him in "bunches."

RAISING THE RETAIL PRICE OF BEEF.

AT THE regular meeting of the butchers' section of the Toronto branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, in their rooms, 155 Bay street, on Tuesday night, April 15, the question of raising the retail price of meat was taken up. This step is necessitated by the highness of the prevailing wholesale prices of meat. Henry Puddy was in the chair and about 65 members were present.

It is proposed to raise the price of choice cuts of sirloin beef from 17 to 20c.; round steak from 15 to 17c.; prime ribs to 15 and 16c., and shoulder cuts from 8 and 10c. to 10 and 11c. The butchers aim at a profit of 20 per cent. all around. There will be no hard and fast rules set down, but the butchers will fix their own prices, being guided by the foregoing figures.

These prices affect beef, which forms about 80 per cent. of all the meats sold. The prices of other meats they will probably advance in the same proportion.

The butchers pay the wholesalers about $9 per 100 lb. for first-class beef. The cost of the front and hind quarters is 7 and 11c., respectively. There is a good deal of waste besides. Suet in common with the other parts of the carcase costs the butcher 9c. per lb., but he can only sell about 30 per cent. of it at a profit of 1c per lb. The other 70 per cent. has to be sold at an actual loss of 6c. per lb. And also a large portion of the bone is dead waste, so the cost of the beef to him is much higher than 9c. per lb.

As many of the butchers do not realize what they pay for their meats, a circular is being sent out to all the members of the section, giving them the actual cost of the different cuts.

This question will come up again and be finally settled at the next meeting of this section, on Tuesday night, April 22, when it is hoped that a large number will be present.

RETURNS WELL PLEASED.

Mr. J. Fullerton, of the well-known firm of Rowat & Co., Glasgow, Scotland, manufacturers of pickles, sauces, etc., has just completed his usual trip through Canada and returns home well pleased with the increased sales and improved prospects of this market. Rowat & Co.'s goods are becoming more popular yearly from the fact of their being a high-class article at a reasonable price.

KENSINGTON CREAMERY BURNED.

The Kensington Creamery, Woodstock, Ont., was burned on April 13. The fire started in the vicinity of the boiler some time during the night, and before the brigade could arrive the flames had gained such headway that they could not be put out. The building and plant are the property of H. Smith, of the City Dairy Co., Toronto, who bought them three years ago, and when coming to Toronto two years ago, leased them to Messrs. Neilson. The creamery had been idle all winter, but was being put in shape to begin operations for the spring.

A NEW FIRM IN ST. JOHN.

The W. H. Hayward Co., Limited, St. John, N.B., is applying for incorporation. This company proposes to purchase the crockery business of Harvey P. and Augusta M. Hayward, in St. John, N B., and conduct in future a business of buying and selling of china, glassware, jewellery, hardware, cutlery and fancy goods. The capital stock is placed at $80,000, in 800 shares of $100 each. The incorporators are Harvey P. Hayward, Frank S. Parlee, David Churchill, Augusta M. Hayward and Annie E. Hayward, all of St. John, N. B. The first three named are the provisional directors.

OTTAWA RETAIL ASSOCIATION.

THE regular meeting of the Ottawa Retail Grocers' Association was held on Monday night in the rooms of the Ottawa Fruit Exchange Building, Nicholas street. There was a good attendance. President Provost was in the chair.

The notice of motion from last meeting regarding wholesalers catering to the consuming trade was discussed at length, and, as there was only one instance in which it was proven, a motion was passed to the effect that the Association was opposed to strictly wholesale houses selling to other than retail merchants and manufacturers.

It was also moved, seconded and carried that such dealers who are both wholesale and retail be asked to protect the prices of the commodities they sell to the retail grocers in their retail department. The Association was strongly in favor of encouraging home industries, but felt they deserved every consideration from firms who do a wholesale and retail business.

Resolutions of condolence to the family of Mrs. Martin, whose death occurred a few days ago, and to Mrs. Savage, in the death of her husband, Mr. Wm. Savage, who was so well known to the grocers of Ottawa, having been in the employ of H. N. Bate & Sons for a number of years, were also adopted.

The offer from the Ottawa and New York Railway of July 1, Dominion Day, as a date for the second annual excursion of the Association to Stanley Island, was received, and it was decided to hold an excursion on that date, provided satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Last year's committee were appointed again, consisting of Messrs. Booth, McVeity, York and Ellis, to attend to it.

Strang & MacPherson have opened a general store on the corner of Price street and the Esplanade, Sydney, C.B.

U.S. MANUFACTURERS AND PROTECTION.

SIGNS of doubt and hints of heresy, on the subject of protection, have long been multiplying among its supposed beneficiaries in the United States, but few declarations in favor of a modified confession of protectionist faith have been more frank and decided than those lately made public in a number of letters from manufacturers to the editor of The American Machinist. They embody the views of some 58 leading makers of machine tools, and may be taken as the fruit of the business experience of men employing over 21,000 artisans, and with more than $35,000,000 of invested capital. Of the 58 who were willing that their views should be put into print, no less than 38 endorsed, without qualification, the opinion as to the necessity of reciprocity treaties laid down by the late President McKinley in his last speech at Buffalo; seven approved it with some qualification, and none disagreed. Thirty-four openly acknowledged that on their own products they need no protective tariff, while only two asserted that there is still such a need. On the question whether to modify or do away with the present tariff on machine tools, there were 42 for and but three against a change. Thirty-eight expressed the belief that the tariff now in force restricts the foreign trade of the United States in machinery.

Hardly less revolutionary are the reasons assigned by the manufacturers for their present belief. Conditions, they make bold to pretend have changed. "We have largely outgrown the need of protection," says one; "it is already beginning to hamper and injure our industries by retarding the growth of our foreign trade." Another adds; "We are out of our infancy as a manufacturing country, and have very few industries that cannot stand alone. What we want is markets, not protection." Protection is but "a course of training for that industrial and financial battle for the world's supremacy, which it is our determination to win." Says one letter: "The alarm about the tariff is an inheritance which became rooted at a time when conditions were almost directly the reverse of what they are to-day." Labor is no gainer from protection, believes a Philadelphia manufacturer of gear wheels. "Tariff can protect only investors of capital. Labor cannot profit by it, for it tends to increase wages only in the measure in which it tends to increase prices." So the comments run. Gentle or harsh, the criticisms passed on existing laws are manifestly not the result of any idle web-spinning, but rather the product of long and often costly experience in broad commercial fields.

The deduction for Canadians from these views is that, with protection to nurse infant industries that use our own raw material, they can, by the time they have attained the strength of manhood, not only hold their ground against all comers, but cross our borders or go over the seas, and contend with them for the markets of the world.

PARIS TEA SHOPS.

MR. OWEN M. GREEN writes in The Morning Leader, as follows: "In one of the Paris papers there appeared the other day a delightful 'feuilleton,' at the end of which two ladies, who had been quarrelling violently throughout the tale over the inevitable young man, become reconciled, and the story closes with one lady saying to the other:—'Then, remember, dear, tomorrow at five sharp. "petits fours" (trout cakes) and tea "a l'Anglaise."'

"What became of the disputed young man I forget. But the moral of the story comes in the final words, and, considering the change which has come over Paris in the last two years, I suspect that the invited dame only forgave her rival because she made tea so splendidly 'in the English style.' For Parisian society has awakened to the charms of 'la boisson nationale Anglaise' and at every 'swarry' and reception day your hostess no longer offers you a cup of chocolate, a glass of Madeira, or, worse still, syrup (ugh!), but 'une tasse de the.' Indeed, it is very good, too, for your Parisian hostess, quick to adopt a new fashion, is quicker still to know it should be observed, and the 'boisson nationale Anglaise' transplanted to the Faubourg St. Germain has lost nothing in the transit. Tea, in the old style, was a truly terrible decoction. Originally, I believe it was supposed to come from China, but the hold of the ship that carried it must have been very dusty, the water which made it never boiled, and I, myself, have seen ladies, fearful that the servant had not made the tea strong enough, call for the caddy and throw in a couple of spoonsful on the steaming brew. But now there are English grocers to sell good Indian or Ceylon tea, and our hostesses have learnt to heat the pot and see that the water boils.

THE "FIVE O'CLOCK."

"In short, the English Pegasus has struck his hoof on the fair land of France, and from the imprint has welled a fount of Lipton, undefiled. The Briton abroad is an imperious beast, as he has often been told by foreign writers. He demands British comforts wherever he goes, and in Paris, at least, we try to supply him with them. The increase of tea shops in Paris within the last year has been extraordinary. They began in the Rue de Rivoli, tentatively, shyly. Here and there a librarian opened a reading room upstairs where tea was served. Then the movement spread into other streets, and whole-hearted tea rooms opened in the Rue St. Honore, the Rue de l'Echelle, on the Boulevard Haussmann, round the Arc de Triomphe, everywhere, in short, where English and Americans might pass. Hotels in prominent positions followed suit, and lastly, some of the more daring cafes have learned how to make tea, and advertise the 'five o'clock,' with an orchestra. And then, like the jury in Charles Lamb's essay, who on tasting roast pig acquitted Ho-ti and Bo-bo for 'improving upon the good meat which God had sent them,' one or two Parisians tasted 'the a l'Anglaise,' and now the tea shops, the hotel drawing-rooms, and the five o'clock cafes are crowded with French tea-drinkers. It is true that they put much sugar in the cup, but as they have taken most kindly to the faithful buns, muffins, cut bread and butter, and tea cakes which have followed in the wake of the pot, there is hope of their eventful emancipation.

OF INTERNATIONAL VALUE.

"The movement, however, is not confined to Paris. Along the Riviera are scattered numbers of old Anglo-Indians, soldiers and civilians, on the retired list, who eke out their pensions by selling Indian tea, and I was told only yesterday of one firm of English forwarding agents who had received orders for £400 worth of Ceylon tea for the present season. In Paris it is difficult to obtain trustworthy figures, because so many French grocers make a specialty of ordering their tea direct from the East without having recourse to English grocers. But a visit to any of the packed tea rooms towards the end of the afternoon convinces one that the consumption of tea must be very great.

"Surely this should be a point of sympathy between the two nations. Do you not, oh beautiful fur-clad Parisienne, feel your sisterhood with the smart typewriter, who is enjoying her 'pot of tea, roll and butter,' in Queen Victoria street at the precise moment that you are sipping your the l'Anglaise in the swell tea-shop on the Avenue Victor Hugo? Two days ago I saw the editor of Intransigeant, that most redoubtable of England's foes, taking his five-o'clock tea in a real English shop. And after that, may one not feel that Anglophobia will soon have been drowned in the best Ceylon, and 'strained relations' swept away with the leaves that the housemaid scattered on the carpet!"

TORONTO RETAIL GROCERS' ASSOCIATION.

Amalgamation Discussed — Fixed Price on Shredded Wheat — Entertainment.

THE Toronto Retail Grocers' Association held their regular monthly meeting in St. George's Hall, Elm street, on Monday evening, April 12. Business combined with pleasure was a feature that made the event enjoyable and everything passed off without friction, although an important question came up when the report of the committee appointed to confer with the Retail Merchants' Association regarding the proposed amalgamation of the two bodies was presented.

The president, W. J. Sykes, was chairman, and D. Bell acting-secretary, Edward Hawes the regular secretary being absent.

A letter was read from the grocers' section of the Toronto Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada. This communication stated that they had made an agreement with the Natural Food Company, the makers of the shredded wheat biscuit, whereby that firm agreed to sell their biscuits to everyone at a uniform price. In turn the retailer had to sign an agreement not to sell any of these biscuits to his customers below a price that was stated in the agreement. The co-operation of the Retail Grocers' Association was asked in this matter.

In the discussion of this question that came up afterwards it was explained that unless a grocer signed the agreement he would not be sold any biscuits by The Natural Food Co. Already a large number had agreed to the conditions therein stated.

Many doubted this, but nothing definite was done. It will come up again at the next meeting.

It was in receiving the report of the committee that had been appointed to confer with the Retail Merchants' Association regarding amalgamation that things grew lively. Everyone wanted to express his views on the subject, and nearly everyone had something to say.

Messrs. B. Panter and T. Clark reported for this committee. They stated that they had conferred with Secretary Trowern and other representatives of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada and had the constitution of that body explained to them. The fees would be $2 per annum, one-half of which money would go into a central fund and the other $1 to the general expenses of their section. There was a central executive committee elected at the annual meeting of the whole Association, before which matters affecting the whole trade could be brought. There was a president and a general secretary for the whole Association, whose services were always at the service of its members.

They had also an efficient system for collecting debts. The fee for securing the benefits of this system was $2 per year, and, if the collector had to be sent, an additional 10 per cent. of the amount collected would be charged.

The funds the Grocers' Association have now on hand would not prevent them from amalgamating, it was stated. They should themselves decide what to do with their money.

F. C. Higgins, chairman of the grocers' section, who was present, explained that only those matters needing the assistance of the whole association of retail merchants came before the executive. Matters of purely local interest were settled by the sections themselves.

On motion that this matter be left over to the next meeting a number spoke.

A. R. Williamson was in favor of amalgamating with the other association. The abolition of trading stamps, he said, was mainly due to the action of the Retail Merchants' Association. The Government had listened to the voice of the merchants from all over Canada. He proposed leaving the question over.

J. Bond also liked the idea of uniting with the grocers' section of the retail merchants. They would then be a much stronger body, and hence would have more influence in legislative and other matters.

J. Butcher wanted a written report of the committee handed in and a copy given to each member. He also urged that legal advice should be obtained.

B. Panter did not want to see a question like this rushed through in a hurry. All the members of the Association would have to be consulted.

A number of others joined in the discussion, but the motion to refer it over to the next meeting was carried.

Notice of motion was laid on the table by J. S. Bond, that at the next meeting he would move "that the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association amalgamate with the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada."

The auditor's report showed a surplus of $562.11 in the treasury.

The meeting then adjourned.

ENTERTAINMENT.

After the adjournment the grocers set themselves out for a social evening. T. W. Johnston had his graphaphone there and made things pleasant with selections therefrom. Cards were brought in and euchre, pedro or whist was played until late in the night. Refreshments were served and everybody did his best to make the evening a pleasant one for all the rest.

A number of representatives of wholesale houses were the guests of the Association, and amongst them we noted: J. Patterson and S. S. Richardson, of T. A. Lytle & Co.; J. Mortimer, of the Christie, Brown Co., Limited; H. E. Trent, of Fleischmann & Co.; Fred Gooderham and C. Thaubern, of the Dawson Commission Co; J. F. Smyth, of the United Factories; John Anderson, of the Ogilvie Milling Co., Limited; Thomas Vance, of Vance & Co.; Charles Kempton, of the Kempton Fruit Company; W. R. Henry, of F. W. Humphries, and Charles Shields, of Davidson & Hay, Limited.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN MERCHANT.

Joseph Kerr, who for many years conducted a business as general merchant at Aultsville, Farran's Point and Wales, Ont., died at Wales on April 11, at the age of 64 years.

Mr. Kerr was born in County Fermanagh, Ireland, in 1838, and removed a few years later to Canada with his parents. In his earlier days he worked on the Grand Trunk Railway, becoming a conductor. He afterwards formed with his brothers the firm of Kerr Bros., general merchants, and had charge of their business at Wales.

In 1879 he was elected as Conservative member for Stormont in the Provincial Legislature and continued to be their representative until 1886.

MAPLE PRODUCTS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

The season opened up well in Nova Scotia for maple products, and at the beginning it was thought the yield would be exceptionally large. The soft mild days and frosty nights with frequent light snowfalls caused the sap to run freely, but this condition was soon succeeded by rain which had a bad effect. On the whole the conditions were none too favorable, but there does not seem to be any diminution of the supply of maple products on the market.

The practice of adulterating and boiling over does not appear to be on the decline, judging from the quality of much of the maple sugar being offered. — Maritime Merchant.

Stop the Leaks!

It is the little expenses that count--a small leak will sink a big ship. It is the quality of the ordinary staple articles of trade that a grocer carries in his stock that gives standing to his store. It is the widely-advertised goods that people are familiar with which give them confidence when they see them on a grocer's shelves.

Confidence grows slowly, the loss of it comes quickly. "Stop the leaks" that betray your weakness in carrying inferior goods. Stop them quick ! Sell Windsor Salt--it's a small thing, but remember, please, it's a staple ! It is the Salt of highest quality through and through.

THE CHEESE SITUATION.

THE cheese market continues firm. The ruling prices for export this week range from 11¼ to 11¾c., and from 11½ to 12c. for local consumption.

The scarcity of cheese on both sides of the water is an important factor in maintaining the high prices and the present conditions are likely to continue for a considerable period as it will be two months at least before Canadian full grass cheese can be placed on the British market.

Last week's shipments of cheese from the ports of St. John and Portland to Liverpool, London and Glasgow were 8,154 boxes, as compared with 19,809 boxes for the same week last year.

Already a quantity of fodder cheese of this season's make is being offered to the cheese men in Toronto and Montreal, at prices ranging from 10⅜ to 10½c., but as yet little has been contracted for. For the same date last year the prices were 9 to 9¼c. for this kind of cheese, and many doubt if the prices will be maintained throughout the season.

The earlier opening of the spring this year will greatly increase the make of fodder cheese, and it is estimated that in the districts of Ingersoll and Belleville the April make will be from 20,000 to 25,000 boxes. In April 1901 the make was about 15,000 boxes.

AN ANALYSIS OF FAILURES.

IN last week's issue we gave briefly a synopsis of the commercial failures in Canada during the first three months of the year. We are now able to give an analysis of these failures as prepared by R. G. Dun & Co., showing the number in the different branches of trade and the liabilities of each :

It will be noticed that while the total number of failures is less than during the same period last year the liabilities were larger. The increase in the failures among manufacturing firms was more than accounted for by the failures in one branch, namely, clothing, which in turn can be accounted for by the insolvency of one well-known concern.

The increase in the number of failures of general merchants and grocers cannot with certainty be accounted for. As the total increase in the failures of all kinds was largely confied to Ontario it is possible the increase in the general and grocery trades is a reflex of the short grain crops in that Province last year.

The condition of the trade in iron, tools, and leather is satisfactorily reflected in the above record.

A CONCRETE EXAMPLE.

IF any of our readers are interested in the merits of advertising there is an object lesson in the state of the Ceylon and Indian tea trade in America during the past couple of years.

Previous to that time Ceylon and India were carrying on an active advertising campaign—Mr. Blechynden representing the India Tea Association and Mr. Mackenzie the Ceylon. Up to that period both teas had made great progress, the consumption rapidly increasing. India then determined to cease the expenditure on this continent, and stopped all her advertising, Mr. Blechynden's visits to Canada at that time ceasing.

Mr. Mackenzie continued the Ceylon campaign vigorously, and what has been the result? Indian tea in America has since actually fallen off 1,460,997 lb., but the consumption of Ceylon tea has, during the same time, increased 4,000,000 lb., thus positively proving that the cessation of Mr. Blechynden's efforts has had a most detrimental effect upon the consumption of Indian tea in America.

THE LATE MR. GEORGE MOFFATT.

Mr. George Moffatt, one of Montreal's old-time merchants, died in Rochester, England, on March 15. Mr. Moffatt was a member of the firm of Gillespie, Moffatt & Co., wholesale grocers, who did business on St. Paul street, Montreal, over a quarter of a century ago. The firm afterwards became Gillespie & Co., which it still remains. He was the son of Hon. Geo. Moffatt, at one time a member of the Legislative Council of Quebec.

ADVANCE IN COTTON CORDAGE.

An advance of 1 to 1¼c. per lb. took place on Thursday, April 10, on cotton cordage, and of 7½ to 10 per cent. on cotton clothes lines.

Cotton twine is also very firm, and an advance in it in the near future is not unlikely.

The advance is in sympathy with the appreciation in the raw cotton market, which is fully 1¼c. above the prices ruling in February.

CANADA AND THE NEW BRITISH DUTIES.

THE new British Customs tariff naturally excites a great deal of interest. This interest is of a two-fold character. The one connects itself with the duties themselves; the other with the departure from an economic principle to which a great many people thought Great Britain eternally wedded. The new duties, therefore, have a particular interest both to the business man and to the politician.

In Canada our chief interest is, of course, centred around the duties on grain, flour and meal. These duties are 3d. per hundredweight on grain and 5d. per hundredweight on flour and meal. A later cable says the 3d. tax falls on the following:

All cereals, including maize, buckwheat, peas, dholl beans, haricot beans, locust beans, lentils and rice.

And the 5d. tax falls on the following:

All the flours and meals from the above-mentioned products, as well as macaroni, vermicelli, starch, farina, arrowroot, mandioca flour, semolina, cassava powder, mancacroup, potato flour, tapioca, sago, sago meal, rice meal and rice dust, shredded wheat, and preparations containing any of the foregoing products.

It will be noticed therefore that the effects of the new tariff will be far reaching, like that of the sugar tariff brought down a year ago.

Of the cereals which are affected by the new duties Canada produces about 285,000,000 bushels. These figures are based chiefly upon official reports to which we have access, and what actual figures are wanting we have supplied by a moderate estimate. The total is made up as follows:

GRAINS PRODUCED IN CANADA.

	Bushels.
Wheat	90,000,000
Barley	25,000,000
Oats	127,000,000
Peas	11,000,000
Buckwheat	3,500,000
Corn	25,000,000
Beans	1,000,000
Total bushels	285,000,000

In view of these figures and the fact that Great Britain is our best foreign customer, we as Canadians can scarcely fail to be concerned in the advent of the new duties.

The total exports in 1901 to all countries of grain and its products were valued at $19,000,000, and of this 78 per cent. went to Great Britain. This will be seen from a glance at the following table:

GRAIN AND ITS PRODUCTS EXPORTED IN 1901.

Taking into account that which goes in the shape of flour, our exports of wheat to Great Britain last year were a little over 12,000,000 bushels.

The duty of 3d. per 112 lb. on wheat is equal to a little over 3c. per bushel. At this rate it is not likely to materially affect our export trade in wheat. We cannot, however, speak with the same confidence in regard to flour; and, in fact, in regard to meal as well. It takes 270 lb. of wheat to produce a barrel of flour, and the duty on this at 3d. per cwt. is equal to about 16.20c., while the duty on a barrel of flour is equal to 19.60c. This, it will be readily seen, gives the British miller a preference of about 3½c. per barrel. This, while small, is sufficient to endanger the Canadian export trade in flour with Great Britain, for exporters often work on a smaller margin of profit than 3½c. per barrel. So small is the margin of profit that it would not pay Canadian millers, as a rule, to run their mills wholly on export trade account. What they export is the surplus over and above the requirements of the home market.

There are some who speak of the new duties as a restoration of the old Corn Laws. This is scarcely accurate. The Act abolishing the Corn Law was, it will be remembered, passed in 1846. The Repeal Act provided that the duties on wheat were to cease in 1849, and that, in the meantime, the duties to be levied on wheat were reduced to 10s. per quarter, when the market price was 48s. per quarter. At every rise of 1s. per quarter in the market price the duty was to be 1s. per quarter lower, until wheat should be at 54s. and the duty at 4s., after which the duty was not to further change. When the Corn Laws finally disappeared, a registration fee of 1s. was retained. This, in turn, was wiped out 20 years later, when, in 1869, Mr. Lowe declared the last vestige of protection had been removed. The present duty of 3d. per cwt. is equal to about 1s. 1d. per quarter.

The glue combination in the United States is sticking together.

GROCERIES AND LIQUORS.

AT A MEETING of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Benefit Society, of Montreal, which was held on Thursday evening, April 10, a resolution was adopted in favor of separating the liquor from the grocery business in that city. This is, in a measure, opposed to the wishes of certain of the grocery trade, among whom there is a movement to secure the privilege of selling liquor in small flasks.

Recently, Ald. S. D. Vallieres and Mr. A. D. Fraser placed themselves on record as being against the selling of liquor by grocers in small flasks or quantities, and the members of St. Patrick's Total Abstinence and Benefit Society gave their hearty approval to this course.

It was finally resolved that the president should call a meeting of the presidents of the different Catholic temperance societies to discuss the question, and decide what steps to take toward opposing the petition of the grocers to handle liquor in small flasks.

While the society may be able to gain its ends as far as limiting the sale of liquors by grocers, it is thought that they will not be successful in having the grocery and liquor business separated if such an attempt should be made. Many of the most prominent grocers do a large business in liquors and would fight strongly against giving it up, or being compelled to run a separate store. And what advantage it would be either to the public or to the cause of temperance is not clear.

Mr. Frank Munsey, no doubt, intends that his chain of grocery stores shall be a good line of profit.

KNOW THE GOODS YOU SELL.

IT is a good thing when a merchant can speak with authority in regard to the quality of the goods he has in stock. His customers will look upon him as a man who knows his business and whose word can be relied upon.

It follows, therefore, that the merchant, in order that he can speak with authority, must himself have knowledge of the goods he buys.

Frequently one house will offer at a much lower price an article which is held to be just as good as that offered by a competitor. It is possible that it may be just as good ; but in these days of keen competition the chances of this being true are more often to the contrary than otherwise. But, granted that all asserted be true, the merchant should take every means to satisfy himself upon this particular point before he purchases.

He cannot afford to run any risks. A customer, when offered a new line of goods, usually questions the merchant in regard to quality. If the quality subsequently turns out to be inferior to the recommendation, the merchant's reputation is sure to suffer. And, if a merchant's reputation is injured, the keystone in the arch of his business career is impaired.

There are merchants in some lines of trade who make it a practice of putting to their own use new goods that come upon the market before they offer them to their customers. And where it can be practised it is certainly a safeguard.

NEW JAPAN TEA CROP.

A CABLE received from Japan by Mr. S. T. Nishimura, the representative of The Japan Central Tea Traders' Association, on April 14, read : "Heavy frost all over country spoilt tea ; arrival will be late. High market anticipated." About a week before, Mr. Nishimura received a cable in regard to the new crop of an entirely different character, stating that the crop would be good and would arrive five days earlier than last season.

Speaking to THE GROCER in regard to these advices, Mr. Nishimura said : "According to the latest cable, the first crop will be higher this year than last, which seems to be the opinion held by the interior tea holders. But there are a coulep of weeks, at least, yet before the new tea-picking operations commence, and, if the weather is favorable from now out, I do not think the crop will be affected by the recent frost as much as anticipated.

"However, we are awaiting further and more certain news. I have made inquiries whether the eastern part of Japan has experienced the same weather as the western part, where this advice came from, although it states that the whole country is affected. These reports are not always to be relied upon, especially at this stage of the growth of the plant."

A P.E.I. TOBACCO FACTORY.

The new tobacco factory of Hickey & Nicholson, Charlottetown, P.E.I., is a three-storey building, 40 x 80 ft., built of wood. The first floor is used as a pressroom and raw-leaf warehouse. There are six hydraulic presses on this floor, besides the engine that supplies the power to the whole factory. At one end is the bonded warehouse, 21 x 40 ft., in which 70 hogsheads of leaf can be stored at a time.

On the second floor is a wringer, driven by steam. There are also two drying-rooms and a large storeroom, where both Canadian and American tobaccos are manufactured. The law states that these tobaccos are to be manufactured in two separate factories. This can be done under one roof.

On the third floor is the plugroom, 22 x 40 ft., fitted with extra ventilation from two large skylights. In the centre of this room are the work tables, and on one side are the stem racks. Besides the plugroom, there is a storeroom, 22 x 40 ft., on this flat for keeping the smoking tobacco made. About 30 hands will be employed in this factory when in running order.

COMMERCIAL DEPOT FOR LONDON.

The committees of the Toronto Board of Trade and the Canadian Manufacturers' Association held a joint meeting in the Board of Trade rooms on Tuesday afternoon, April 15, and considered the establishment of a commercial depot in London. Those representing the board of trade at the meeting were J. F. Ellis, J. D. Allan, Peleg Howland, R. J. Christie, Noel Marshall, W. J. Gage ; while those representing the manufacturers were W. K. McNaught, G. H. Hees, J. O. Thorn, James P. Murray and P. W. Ellis.

After discussing at length the above proposition, a sub-committee was appointed to draft a report and submit it to the general committee. J. D. Allan, J. F. Ellis, P. W. Ellis and G. H. Hees constitute this sub-committee.

MR. EDGAR WILLS RESIGNS.

Mr. Edgar A. Wills, formerly secretary of the Toronto Board of Trade, has severed his connection with the Iron Ox Co., of Walkerville, of which he was appointed manager a few months since.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are selling a very fine Porto Rico and also a Barbados molasses.

Clark's pork and beans with Chili sauce to retail at 5c. a tin is in stock with T. Kinnear & Co.

T. Kinnear & Co. are offering a 40-ounce bottle of Rowat's pickles that can be retailed at 30c. There are white onions and mixed pickles.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. are offering canned fruits in gallon tins at prices that will interest all dealers.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie. report a very large demand for "Provincial" plums and pears, which they advertised in "The Grocer" a couple of weeks ago.

A. P. Tippet & Co. find a steadily increasing demand for their "Wheat Marrow," which is getting into more hands every day. It is a Canadian product for Canadians, and is apparently highly appreciated by dealer and consumer.

A SPECIAL BRAND OF CHEESE.

The Richmond, Que., Board of Trade held a meeting on April 11 and considered a proposition made by Mr. Wherry, cheese inspector of that district, to start a factory at or near Richmond to manufacture a special brand of cheese, providing a company be formed to subscribe $2,000, the capital required. Another meeting of farmers and citizens interested was held on April 14.

THEY TOOK CARE OF THE SICK.

Mr. James R. Rosser, grocer, Appin, Ont., and his wife, are the recipients of an arm chair and a letter of thanks from the Commercial Travellers' Association.

J. W. Boyd, a member of the association, was taken ill in Mr. Rosser's store last January, and was taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Rosser for two months. And this presentation is in recognition of this kindness.

ENLARGING THEIR TRADE.

Dundas & Flavelle Bros., produce merchants, Lindsay, Ont., are going largely into the business of shipping eggs, butter and cheese to the English market this year. They are establishing an agency in Belleville and placing it in charge of John Hart, and that city will be the centre of operations extending to all the neighboring villages. The produce collected will be shipped to Lindsay, where it will be placed in cold storage.

A GIGANTIC TEA-BLENDER.

The "Salada" Tea Co., Toronto has just put into position a gigantic tea blender. It is said to be the largest in the world. It was made specially for The "Salada" Tea Co., and weighs six tons, and has a capacity of 60 chests of tea. In order to get it into the building it was necessary to remove the wall between two of the windows on the fifth storey. W. R. Dell & Son, London, Eng., are the manufacturers.

Mr. J. Christenson, of The Imperial Syrup Co., Montreal, was in Toronto last week in the interest of his firm.

"The man with ancient ideas" who says I "can't" sell a packet tea "can't" because he "can't" make himself believe that he can .... But one little experiment with an assorted sample case of "SALADA" Ceylon Teas completely upsets the "can't" theories.

Many a dealer has found this out to his pleasure and profit.

"Just as" Ceylon Black Teas have displaced China Congous

"So is" Ceylon Green displacing Japans.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Toronto, April 17, 1902.

ONE of the features of the wholesale grocery trade this week is the weakness which has developed in the outside sugar markets. This has, so far, had no further effect upon the local market than to depress it. Another feature of the local wholesale market is the strength of the canned tomato market, a further small advance having taken place during the week. In canned goods, generally, the demand is fair, and, if anything, better than it was. Coffees are in fair demand on retail account, but the outside markets are dull and easy. Spices are fairly steady. A little more interest in being taken in nuts, owing to an advance in Tarragona almonds in the primary market. Valencia raisins are held rather firmer in sympathy with an advance in London, Eng. Tapnet figs are scarcer and slightly dearer. Prunes continue in good demand.

CANNED GOODS.

The feature of the canned-goods trade is the increase in strength on the tomato situation. Most of the wholesalers are this week marking their prices up another 2½c., making the ruling price 95c. We hear of transactions in round lots to the wholesale trade at 90c. The demand for tomatoes is improving, although no one is buying speculatively, purchasing only for requirements. Corn, on the other hand, appears to be just as weak as ever. It is understood, however, that some efforts are being made to formulate a scheme whereby the pack next year will be decreased. At present the ruling price to the retail trade is 70c. Peas appear to be in fairly good condition, stocks in wholesale hands becoming low, while there is a fair demand at 80c. upwards. Canned fruits are also in little better demand, with prices steady and unchanged. Business appears to be a little better in canned salmon, and, in fact, in most lines of canned fish, such as herring and lobster. We quote: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

COFFEES.

Brazilian coffees are a little weaker although fine Rios are still netting a premium over undescribed coffees. Supplies of these are becoming scarcer. Maracaibo coffees are scarce and dear, and buyers are looking to New York in the meantime for supplies. Wholesalers report a slight improvement in the demand for green Rio coffees, and a fair business in roasted coffees. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c.

SPICES.

According to cable advices ginger is reported to be getting firmer, owing to reports of the failure of African crop. Peppers are holding fairly firm, and in other descriptions of spices the conditions seem to be much about the same as a week ago.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Locally, there is a fair trade being done in both tapioca and rice. We quote B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c. The first arrival of new crop fancy Japan rice has arrived in New York. The shipment consisted of 250 lb., and came from Kobe.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

NUTS.

A few orders on importation account have been taken during the past week for filberts and Tarragona almonds. Stocks of almonds in Spain are in small compass. One important Tarragona firm, replying to orders for 200 bags, said they could only accept an order for 100 bags. Mail advices received this week report an advance in Tarragona almonds. As this advance was announced shortly after some of the orders had been sent forward, those ordering are somewhat concerned as to whether they will be able to get the goods at the figures at which they bought. Filberts for October shipment have advanced 2s. per bag, but Ferd. Baller & Co. write that they do not think that much attention need be paid to general reports of frost, etc., claiming that it is yet too early to speak intelligently in regard to the future of the crop.

SUGAR.

A good deal of weakness has developed on the raw-sugar market during the past week. Raw sugar in New York has receded to the lowest point, and they are again quoting centrifugals there on the basis of 3⅜c. The net price of granulated in New York is unchanged at $4.50, making the margin between raw and refined 1⅛c. per lb., which is the highest for the season. It is, however, believed that the refiners are handling dearer sugar at the moment. If this is so the margin is not as large as it appears. Beet sugars have declined and are now on the basis of 6s. 4½d. f.o.b. Hamburg, but this figure is still above the parity of centrifugals in New York. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were 28,166 tons, and the meltings 30,000 tons. The stocks of sugar in Europe and America were 3,396,643 tons against 2,632,853 tons a year ago. On the local market no changes have taken place in quotations, but the demand is exceedingly dull. It is, however, thought that an improvement in the demand will soon take place.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Nothing particularly new has taken place in this line; the demand is only moderate, and prices are unchanged. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in bbls. and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for medium, and 45 to 50c. for open kettle.

TEAS.

There has been a fair movement in Ceylons at 6½ to 7¾d. for peckoe souchongs and pekoes, and 9½ to 11d. for pekoes and orange pekoes. In Congous, there is a little demand for fine-liquoring monings. There is a little inquiry for Japan teas, and some nice little lots have changed hands. The Japan market appears to be strong. Quite a number of samples of standard teas are being shown preparatory to taking orders for new season's teas. Ceylon greens are still wanted, but stocks continue almost nil, and the little that is here is bringing full figures. China green teas are, of course, as scarce as ever.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—There is a fair trade being done, and prices rule firm. Locally, we quote as follows: Filiatras, 6c. to 6¼c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8c. to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—Advices from England report that the market there is higher. On the local market prices are more firmly held in sympathy with the reports from the outside trade centres. The ruling price for selected raisins is 6⅜c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The demand for prunes continues good with prices steady and unchanged. Our quotations follow: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—There is not much doing, and prices are unchanged at 4½c. for both Hallowees and Sairs.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Business continues fairly good in Californian evaporated fruits. Peaches, 11 to 14c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

FIGS.—There is a steady demand for tapnet figs, and prices are slightly higher at 3½c. There are very few tapnet figs on the market, and layer figs have been practically cleaned up.

GREEN FRUITS.

The largest sales are in bananas and oranges and the market for these is firm. Valencia oranges have advanced 50c. per case and are in good demand, as are also strawberries. Southern tomatoes can be bought for $3.75, but some houses are still selling them at $4 50 per case. Pineapples have advanced 50c. to $1 per case. Egyptian onions are now on the market and are offered at $3.25 per sack. We quote as follows: Oranges, Tangerine or kid glove, $3 to $4 per small box; Mexicans, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian navels, $4 to $4.50 per box; Californian ruby blood oranges, $2.75 per ½ box; Valencias, $4.50 to $5 per small case, $5.50 to $6 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $3.50 to $5 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $5 to $5.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Egyptian onions, $3.25 per sack; small crates, $1.10; Californian lemons, $3 to $3.25 per case; Messina lemons, $2.25 to $3; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $3.75 to $4.50 per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 30 to 50c. per qt.

VEGETABLES.

The demand for carrots, parsnips and turnips is slack with the warm weather and the market for them is weak. The trade in rhubarb, lettuce and onions is fair. We quote as follows: Green onions, 10c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.20 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 40 to 50c. per bag; turnips, 25 to 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 35c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; celery, 40 to 65c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bag; potatoes, 65 to 75c. per bag; artichokes, 60c. per bush.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The receipts are good, and produce merchants have started to pickle their eggs for the export trade in the fall. Prices are quoted at 12 to 12½c. per dozen for fresh eggs.

BEANS—Trade is dull. We quote as follows: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40, and prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY—Business is dull and prices are steady. We quote: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.; dark honey, 5 to 5½c. per lb.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR—The demand is slackening off, the first rush being over. The prices are firm. We quote: Maple syrup, in 10-lb. tins 90c., and 90c. to $1.10 per imperial gallon. Maple sugar is quoted at 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is some trade doing in evaporated apples, but dried apples are dull. We quote: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The demand is moderate and receipts are fair. The prices are unchanged at 55 to 58c. per bag on the track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The receipts are still small, but larger arrivals are shortly expected. The demand for choice dairy is brisk, and some merchants have advanced their prices 1c. per lb. for prints and rolls. Creamery butter continues firm. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 18 to 20c.; large rolls, 17 to 19c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—The market for cheese is firm with an advance over the prices of a week ago of ½c. per lb. The local prices are 11½ to 12c. per lb. and 11¼ to 11¾c. for export.

POULTRY.

DRESSED POULTRY—There are small receipts of chickens for which there is a good demand. Chickens are quoted at from 60c. to $1 per pair.

LIVE POULTRY—The arrivals are light and trade is dull. Prices are unchanged. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 9c., for ducks and turkeys 12c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens and pullets, 5c. per lb.; broilers, 25c. per lb. (must be this year's hatching and under 2 lb. each). Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

FISH.

There is a brisk demand for newly-caught trout and whitefish. A shipment of these is expected next week. Trout have declined 1½c. per lb., and whitefish have advanced ½ to 1c. per lb. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; Lake Erie perch, 4 to 5c.; newly-caught trout, 7 to 8½c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—Manitoba hard wheat is being sold at 84½c., No. 1 Northern 81½c., and No. 2 Northern 78½c. per bushel. The movement is greater, and the market is firm on account of the rise in the Chicago markets. On the local market things are quiet. We quote what is paid on the street: White and red Ontario wheat, 71 to 79c.; goose, 65 to 66c.; oats, 48c.; rye, 59c.; barley, 54 to 63c.; peas, 80 to 85c.; buckwheat, 60c.

FLOUR—Trade is improving, and the prices are steady. We quote: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4.00; Manitoba bakers', $3.70; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—Business is good for this time of year. Cornmeal has declined 15c. and pot barley 25c. per bbl. This is owing to the weakness in the market for peas and barley. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.85; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.60; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—The supply is small, but the demand is slack. The market is steady. We quote: No. 1 green, 6½c.; No. 2 green, 5½c.; No. 1 green, steers, 7½c.; No. 2 green, steers, 6½c.; cured, 7¼ to 7½c.

SKINS—Calfskins have advanced 1c. per lb. This is owing to local competition, the foreign market being still unchanged. Lambskins are coming in now, and the WOOL—The market for coarser wool seems to be in a hopeless condition, and prices have declined ½c. per lb. We quote: Fleece wool, 12½c., and unwashed, 7 to 8c. per lb.

SEEDS.

The prices of red clover and alsike have weakened slightly, but timothy remains firm. Trade is a little slack owing to the lateness of the season. We quote out of store at Toronto: Red clover, $7.50 to $9.50; alsike, $10 to $17, and timothy, $7.80 to $8.25.

MARKET NOTES.

Tapnet figs are scarcer and dearer.

Cornmeal has declined 15c. per bbl. and pot barley 25c. per bbl.

Whitefish have gone up ½ to 1c., while trout have gone down 1½c. per lb.

Calfskins have been raised 1c. per lb., and fleece wool has gone down ½c.

Wholesalers are, as a rule, marking their canned tomatoes up another 2½c. per doz.

Valencia oranges have advanced 50c. per case, and pineapples have gone up 50c. to $1 per case.

GALT BEET-SUGAR FACTORY.

The beet-sugar factory of the North American Beet Sugar Co. will not be erected at Galt this year. It is announced, however, that it will be in operation by the fall of 1903.

This course was taken because the cost of securing a plant for this year would be considerably more than it would be if built for 1903. By waiting and preparing for building next year they hope to be much in pocket. They are advising the farmers of their decision, and requesting them not to make contracts with other firms for more than one year.

DISAPPROVED OF THE PROTECTION.

"I got no use for Congress," asserted Mr. Lemuel Higgins, proprietor of the Bowersville Grocery and Dry Goods Emporium. "Why, here's 'Si' Simpkins and 'Joe' Skinner has been owin' me $10 apiece fer sugar for six year, an' they jest won't pay up, an' now Congress is goin' ahead an' makin a law to pertect people like that. I don't see why sugar beats is entitled to any better show than any other rascals."—Baltimore American.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, April 17, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE market for groceries has not been disturbed by any extraordinary occurrence during the past week, though a few changes in quotations will be noted, which have added some interest to an otherwise uneventful week. The opening of navigation has had its effect, and the marked improvement throughout the country roads has also stimulated the trade. Among the quotable changes are cotton and sisal rope, both of which have advanced ¼c. New Patna rice is lower, being now quoted at 4½ to 5c. per lb.

SUGAR.

The price of sugar remains at our last quotations, viz.: $3.90 for granulated, and $3.15 to $3.80 for yellows. The demand is no more than fair, most buyers having filled their requirements. Recent advices from New York show the market there for raw sugar to be in rather a weak state, and it is further stated that refiners are by no means anxious buyers, even at the low figures.

TEAS.

Local business in teas is improving, and this week a fairly good trade is reported, mostly in gunpowders and Japan and Ceylon blacks. Green teas are very scarce and retain all their firmness. Cables from Japan show the market there to be in anything but a good condition, though it is doubted if this applies to the whole country. There is not a great demand, though several orders have been placed with the price limit stipulated, and such orders, of course, may not be filled.

SYRUPS.

The demand for syrups is now very light, and prices are little more than nominal. Some business in corn syrups is passing, however, at current quotations. We quote as follows: Corn syrups, 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

There is a better demand this week for Barbados molasses owing to lower prices, and buyers are obtaining their goods at bargain prices in some instances. The primary cost is about 8c., a slight advance. About 5,000 puncheons are reported to be on their way to this market. The cutting of prices is not confined to this market but prevails also in the Maritime Provinces. Held stock is said to be selling as low as 22c., but Barbados molasses, to arrive, is this week quoted at 23 to 24c., in any quantity; Antigua, 24c.; finest Porto Rico, 38c. per gallon.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for all lines is good, and in some cases a firmer feeling is noted. The demand for canned fruits is also good. Salmon appears to be in smaller supply, and it is becoming scarcer. An agreement among the canners has been arrived at whereby they will keep all the stock carried now for export, and in consequence the market for all salmon has become much firmer. Red sockeye salmon is now noticeably higher than a few weeks ago, and it is the opinion among some dealers that the end of the advance is not yet. Our quotations are as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn, (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1. We quote: Salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for Clover Leaf talls.

SPICES.

No important news has been received this week from the foreign markets, and locally the position of spices is much the same as last week. There is a good demand, and prices, in general, are still quite firm. Our quotations are now as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Owing to the recent arrival of a few parcels of new Patna rice on this market, there has been an easier feeling in that line, and prices can be quoted at ¼c. lower, being now 4½ to 5c., according to the size of the package. Other brands of rice are in fair demand at our former quotations, which are in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-lb. lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags; and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½ to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—These are selling freely this week, buyers apparently feeling safe on the present low prices, and, besides, they are in need of the fruit for the trade of the summer months. We quote: Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅜c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—There is an active inquiry for Valencias, but supplies are exceedingly light, and the market is firm. An advance has taken place on the London market. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅛c., and layers, 6⅞c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There is a moderate trade doing this week at 9c. The market remains firm.

CANDIED PEELS.—The demand is fair. No quotable change has occurred. Orange peel sells for 11½c.; lemon for 10½c., and citron for 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—The wholesale houses report an excellent demand for Malaga raisins, due to the difficulty of obtaining Valencias. The demand is stated to be mainly for the lower grades. We quote: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25: ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There is a very light supply of these on the local market, but the demand is small. The price for Hallowees is nominal at 4¼c.

FIGS.—The demand has not greatly improved and business at present is not active. Tapnets are quoted at $1.20 and layers at $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—The market is quiet. Seeded raisins are worth 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—There is a good demand at unchanged prices. The market, however, is still firm. We quote as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's, 8c. for 50-60's, 7¾c. for 60-70's, 7½c. for 70-80's, 6¾c. for 80-90's, 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—These are in good demand, and the market is in a good, healthy condition. Apricots sell for 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS.

There is a satisfactory trade doing in nuts, considering the season, which is usually not as good as the present. No change has been made in the price of Tarragona almonds, and our quotations are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—For the first time in many years dealers here have cleared up all their lines of cheap butter, and the trade is now working on fresh-made creamery. The greater part of the supplies are being received from the Eastern Townships, and costs about 22c. delivered in Montreal, but it is expected that lower prices will rule before the week is out. It is difficult for dealers to obtain more than 22½c. from the grocers, and they are not very willing to operate on such a small margin. A few shipments of large rolls are now on the market, costing about 17½c. in Montreal, and 18 to 18½c. is being obtained for them by the jobbers. There is still some inquiry from the United States for butter, but the trade here have little, if any, to offer. This unusual demand from the States, principally from the New York market, has taken about all the cheap grades of butter to be had here, and owing to conditions in the United States markets nearest to us, the inquiry will likely be kept up for about a month yet, though it will hardly be possible for American buyers to have their orders filled. It has had, however, a very beneficial effect upon this market, and the riddance of all their old lines has placed dealers in a position to devote their energies to fresh-made creamery entirely.

CHEESE.—The cheese market is unchanged. The local price for finest colored remains at 11 to 11½c. There is not much demand, everybody waiting for the arrival of new stuff.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Deliveries of eggs are being made freely, and a continuance of the present bright spring weather should result in an increased production. The ruling price is 12 to 12½c. now, a decline of ½c. since our last report, and with the expected larger receipts, another ½c. is likely to be knocked off. Pickling operations have commenced, but as yet they have been conducted on a small scale only. The buying price in the country is 10 to 10½c.

HONEY.—There has been no improvement in the market, which is still quiet under steady and unchanged prices. Our quotations are as follows: Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; strained, 7 to 8c.; white clover comb, 13 to 14c.; white year. Quotations follow: Buckwheat extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.; slightly tinged, 10 to 11c.

ASHES.—The demand for ashes is fair, and the market is steady. We quote per 100 lb. as follows: First pots, $4.40 to $4.45; seconds, $3.90 to $3.95; pearls, $6 to $6.25.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—There is a good business passing in both maple syrup and sugar. Syrup, in large tins, is worth 70 to 80c.; in small tins, 50 to 60c. The best sugar is quoted at 9 to 9½c., and ordinary, from 8 to 9c. per lb.

DRESSED POULTRY.—There is an advance of 1c. in ducks, but otherwise prices are the same. The market is active, although some difficulty is experienced in obtaining supplies. Prices are firm, and our quotations are as follows: Turkeys, 12 to 13c.; choice chickens, 12 to 13c.; frozen do., 9 to 10c.; geese, 7 to 8c.; ducks, 10 to 11c.; fowl, 6 to 8c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The trade in green fruits is commencing to brighten up, almost all lines offered being in better demand. Several reductions in prices will be found, owing to the arrivals of several lines of vegetables. The steamer Fremona, which left Messina with a cargo of oranges and lemons for this port on March 20, did not arrive in Montreal as early as expected, owing to the absence of buoys in the river. She has on board some 60,000 boxes of lemons and oranges, most of which are lemons. A large quantity of oranges are now on the way here by the steamer Jacona. It is expected that the first fruit sale will take place about April 24. The present indications are that there will be few oranges this year. At present the only stock in the city is composed of Californian navel oranges, and there are not many of these. The last carload has arrived for the year. Other brands are not obtainable. The demand for apples is not very good at present. It is thought that evaporated apples will be high on account of the scarcity of apples. They are now quoted at 11 to 12c. per lb., an advance of 1½c.

The demand for green vegetables is good. Asparagus is now on the market, offering at 50c. per bunch. Boston lettuce and Canadian lettuce are both in comparatively good supply, the former selling for $1 per dozen, and the latter at 10c. per dozen. Californian "Sunflower" oranges have advanced from 25 to 50c. per box. Pineapples are 5c. higher. Vineland's sweet potatoes have declined 50c. Florida tomatoes are 50 to 75c. lower; spinach is 50c. lower per barrel, and cucumbers, 25c. per dozen lower. There are no more Florida tangerines on the market. We quote: Jamaica oranges in bbls., $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Californian "Sunflowers," $4 to $4.25 per box; Valencia oranges, 420's, $4; 420's Jumbo, $4.75; 714's, $5; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3 per box; pineapples, 25 to 30c.; Canadian apples, $4.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2.00, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $5.50 to $6; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.75 to $10.50; red onions, $3.50 per barrel; yellow, $3.25; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12½c.; grape fruit, $4.25 to $6 per box; Florida tomatoes, $3 to $3.75 per crate; fine spies, $5 to $5.50; radishes, 45c. per doz.; spinach, $3 per bbl.; No. 1 cucumbers, $1.75 per dozen; strawberries, 15c. per box; asparagus, 50c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, $1 per dozen; Canadian lettuce, 10c. per dozen.

FISH.

The fish market is dull all round. On a considerable quantity of frozen fish there was a total loss. Our quotations are now as follows: Haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 95c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 9 to 10c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $6.75 per bbl.; No. 2, $4.50; large, $6.50; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $10 to $11 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 B.C. salmon, $5 per ½ bbl. and $9 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gal.; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gal.; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per doz.; Canadian kippered, $1 per doz.; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per doz.; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per doz.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—The flour market has been rather unsettled during the week, and several changes have been made in prices. Manitoba spring wheat patents, winter wheat patents, and strong bakers' are all 15c. lower, and straight rollers, 10c. lower. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $3.75 to $3.95; winter wheat patents, $3.75 to $3.85; strong bakers', $3.35 to $3.65; straight rollers, $3.35 to $3.45.

GRAIN.—The market is steady and active in most lines of grain. The business done in Manitoba wheat was fairly satisfactory. Exporters are buying a good deal of oats, and in this line prices have resumed their original places. We quote: Ontario No. 1 spring wheat afloat May, 76c; No. 2 spring wheat, 75c.; peas, 88½ to 89c.; rye, 63½c.; oats, 45c. ex-store; corn, 67 to 67½c.; buckwheat, 57c. middle freights; feed barley, 53 to 54c.

OATMEAL.—The demand for rolled oats is not large, being confined mainly to business in small lots for immediate wants. The price is unchanged from $4.90 to $5 per barrel, and in bags, $2.40 to $2.50.

FEED.—The deliveries of feed have been light throughout the week, and the market keeps firm. We quote as follows: Ontario bran, in carlots, $18.50 per ton; shorts, $22.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—Trade is fair. No. 1 timothy is quoted 50c. lower this week been quite a large movement this week, and the poorer grades are being quite well cleaned up. Prices are rather firmer. There is need of better stock. Some little new is coming in, but the quality is indifferent. Eggs are very much lower than at this time last year. There is but fair receipts. Cheese is rather higher, and the market is poorly supplied.

SUGAR.—The low price continues, and the sale is fairly large. It is thought the market is rather firmer. The sale is for granulated. Further shipments of foreign were received this week.

MOLASSES.—Some particularly nice Barbados is being offered. Even in regular stock the quality is good this year. Porto Rico is having a fair sale. Prices are kept low. There is little of other grades offered.

FISH.—In fresh fish there have been fair receipts, particularly in cod and haddock. In halibut, there was not more than enough for the local demand. Gaspereaux are still a small catch, but the coming week may see much improvement. Prices are lower. In dry cod the market is somewhat easier. There is quite a range in the quality. Pollock are dull. Pickled fish have but a limited inquiry at this season. Prices are quite easy. In finnan haddies business is now largely local. Prices are low. Boneless fish have regular sale. Smoked herring are very low. Quotations are as follows: Large and medium dry cod, $3.60 to $3.80; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 5 to 6c.; smoked herring, 5½ to 6c.; fresh cod and haddock, 2½ to 3c.; boneless fish, pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; Gaspereaux, 75c. to $1.00.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—The agreement among the wholesale trade to sell flour at an advance of 25c. above millers' prices at the time of sale makes a firmer market, though prices are quite low. Formerly, little or no profit was made on this line. Oatmeal shows little change. Oats are rather lower. Feed continues scarce and high. Cornmeal is rather lower. Peas are also easy. The sale is for handpicked. Peas are scarce. Barley is a little lower. In seeds, sales are quite active. Timothy seed is rather higher. Clover is rather easier. We quote as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.75; best Ontario flour, $4.00 to $4.15; medium, $3.65 to $3.90; oatmeal, $5.20 to $5.25; cornmeal, $2.90 to $3.00; middlings, $22 to $23; oats, 50 to 55c.; handpicked beans, $1.10 to $1.45; prime, $1.30 to $1.35; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $4.95 to $5; barley, $4.50 to $4.65; hay, $12 to $14.

ST JOHN NOTES.

Jones & Schofield are receiving shipments of Egyptian onions by each Liverpool steamer.

John McIntosh, a large and successful general dealer from Glassville, was in the city this week buying spring supplies.

A. S. Bowman, one of our local brokers, distributed a car of evaporated apples to the trade this week. The stock here has been very light.

Sixteen new members were elected at the last meeting of the board of trade. There were almost as many elected at the previous meeting. There will be further additions at the next. It rests with the members to make this the best year in the history of the board.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, Man., April 14, 1902

BUSINESS has been good all week in spite of the roads and the interrupted railway traffic, and wholesale houses report very satisfactory sales. There a few changes of price to note, but nothing of a startling character.

SUGAR.—A drop of ¼c. per lb., to come into effect with the first lake and rail shipments, has been announced. This is so heavy and so sharp a decline that although it will not come into effect until the 23rd of the month, it is paralyzing trade, as every dealer is holding off for the reduction. Sales this week have been light.

CANNED GOODS.—There is no change in the situation. Packers are offering freely, but there are few buyers. It is not thought here that there will be much change in the market until they begin to put up the new pack.

EVAPORATED FRUITS.—Prunes have advanced about ¼c., and present quotations are: 100 to 120's, 5c.; 40-50's, 8½c. One house in the city is showing a line of 20's that are unquestionably the finest prunes ever shown on this market. They are as big as small saucers and retail at 17½c. Apricots have again advanced, and anything fancy is worth 13½c. The demand is fairly active. Evaporated apples are offering rather more freely, but much of the stock this winter has been so doubtful that jobbers seem shy of purchasing heavily and the same may be said of dried apples which are really a shade easier.

SALT.—Jobbing houses have placed very large orders this week and some shipments are expected forward with the first Beatty line steamer. There has been a slight freight reduction between Fort William and Winnipeg, but it is so small it will not affect the prices, which will be practically the same as last year, that is: Common fine, $2.05; duck bags, 50 lb., 50c.; dairy, 100-3, $3.30, and 5-lb. bags, $3.20.

CEREALS.—Trade has been steady all week. Rolled oats are in good demand and considerable quantities are going east. Prices for the week are unchanged. We quote: 80's, $2.20; 10's, $1.10; 20's, 55c. The drop in cornmeal has been maintained, and $1.75 is the present quotation. Split peas are in limited demand at $2.85. White beans are again weaker and prime mediums are only worth $1.70.

FLOUR.—Trade has been steady all week and there have been some fairly heavy export shipments, but there is nothing specially new to report in connection with this commodity. Prices are without change. We quote: Ogilvie's Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Glenora Patent, $1.80; Alberta, $1.60; Manitoba, $1.40; Imperial XXXX, $1.20; Nestor, $1.10; Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Five Roses, $1.95; Red Patent, $1.80; Medora, $1.65; XXXX, $1.25; Hudson Bay Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Strong Bakers', $1.80; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $1.95; Home Rule, $1.80; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70; Strong Bakers', $1.80; Pansy, $1.25.

BUTTER.—The situation has not improved, but there are indications that the coming week may bring about a better state of things, and if the fine weather continues no doubt the whole situation will speedily right itself. The supply of creamery from city factories is small indeed, as the condition of the country roads and delay of railway traffic has prevented even what cream there was in the country reaching the city in fit condition for churning. So far as dairy butter is concerned there has been no increase of supply and prices are firm, jobbers paying from 22 to 23c. for good, fresh dairy in tubs, rolls or bricks.

CHEESE.—Nothing to report in this connection. The small supply of Ontario now on hand is jobbing at 14c.

EGGS.—Although from shortage of receipts eggs jumped to 15c. during the early part of the week, the partial adjustment of railway traffic and the heavy supplies received during the last few days have again dropped the price to 12c. Some heavy shipments have gone out to British Columbia this week, where there is now a fair demand for Manitoba eggs. The Ova factory is also preparing to commence operations for the season, and these two factors will help to sustain the prices for a time at least.

GREEN FRUITS.—The consignment of apples sent up here by an eastern house, packed in boxes with cardboard trays, has not been a success. The apples were not of good quality and the style of packing did not appear to give superior results to the ordinary barrel packing, while the price was, of course, higher. Florida tomatoes are arriving in limited quantities and find ready sale at $5.50 for the four-basket crate. Bananas are coming forward regularly and are in good demand, the present price being $3 per bunch. Oranges maintain the advance of last week, and there is some complaint that recent arrivals of navels are not quite up to the mark, being too thick in the skin. Seedling oranges are offering but do not meet with much demand at present. Navel oranges run from $4.25 to $5.25 per case, according to size. Seedlings, $3.75 to $4.75. The first consignment of Messina lemons is due to arrive May 15. Californian lemons are still quoted at $4.50. Grape fruit is in good demand at $6 per case.

NOTES.

R. R. Scott, of The Macpherson Fruit Co., has just returned from a trip to the South and east where he has been looking into fruit prospects for the coming season. Mr. Scott reports the outlook very bright at present for all classes of fruit.

A new match is being offered on this market which will, in a great measure, take the place of the "Eagle" match. It is to be known as Eddy's "Headlight." The matches are put up 500 in a box and 144 boxes in a case which will sell for $4.10.

Harrington & Co., general grocers, who have for years done business in the market have recently removed into commodious and modern premises on the corner of Graham avenue and Main street, where they have some 2,000 feet of floor space besides a large basement. The stock carried is a strictly up-to-date line of family groceries and supplies.

Mr. H. R. Hunt, of Hunt Bros., tea importers, Montreal, was in the city on his semi-annual trip this week. Mr. Hunt usually spends a week in Winnipeg on his way to Japan, where he goes yearly to superintend the picking, curing and packing of the tea handled by his house. He reports the trade in Japans increasing in the West, where, heretofore, black teas have reigned almost supreme.

Among the events of the week has been the banquet tendered Mr. F. W. Thompson, of The Ogilvie Milling Co., at the Commercial Club. The gathering was thoroughly representative of the business and professional interests of the city, and if Mr. Thompson entertained any doubts of the high esteem in which he is held by the citizens of Winnipeg, that doubt must have been forever laid to rest. There were but two toasts on the list, "The King" and "Our Guest." After the first had been appropriately honored His Honor Chief Justice Killam proposed the toast to "Our Guest" in a speech of more than usual brilliancy. Several others spoke to the toast and Mr. Thompson's reply showed fully his appreciation of the honor done him.

Regarding dried fruits, San Francisco mail advices say: "The spot market is quiet: there are always some goods moving, though not quite so much as would be desirable: but a greater amount of activity is looked for within a week or two. Prices are unchanged, though prunes are easy at the quotations. New apricots for delivery on July 15 are offered by some Vacaville growers at 3c. in the sweat-box. This is thought too high for actual business, presuming that the crop will be a large one. Some say, however, that in some districts the fruit has not set so very thickly. With several months of active consumption still ahead of us and very limited stocks the position of Californian products is generally regarded as safe for an advance, especially in apples, peaches, and pears."

JONAS'

are genuine.

A man cannot always be judged by the clothes he wears. You wouldn't care to deal with a man simply because he dresses extravagantly. There are extracts put up in handsomely-labelled bottles—well dressed—but, oh dear, the contents are of a quality that is in objectionable contrast to the appearance of the bottle. It's the bottle containing the pure, strong, rich, genuine flavoring extract that the careful housekeeper seeks. She doesn't buy the attractively-dressed bottle.

JONAS' FLAVORING EXTRACTS

are the kind that can be depended upon. Their unequalled purity, strength, richness are the leading factors about them. The progressive grocer does not consider his stock complete without Jonas' Extracts. They are reliable goods for reliable grocers. Our thirty-two years' experience as extract manufacturers is a sufficient guarantee for quality. No other line of extracts is as profitable or popular for the dealer to handle as Jonas'.

LAING'S ABATTOIR.

An abattoir and packing-house is being built at Point St. Charles, Montreal, for The Laing Packing and Provision Company that is similar, and in some respects superior to like institutions in Chicago, Kansas City, San Jose, and other points in the United States.

The plant includes stock yards and a cattle barn with runs leading to it from the entrances. The runs, and also the floors of the barn, are built of brick with pitch fillings. The floors are always washed down after the day's supply of animals has been handled. Water is freely used in washing the floors and formalin also to destroy any odors that might arise. Cattle are handled on the first and hogs and other small animals on the upper floors. The barn and the yards are large enough to hold from 100 to 200 cattle and 2,000 to 3,000 hogs and sheep daily.

As they arrive on the ground floor the animals are weighed and afterwards distributed to their pens. When the time for killing comes the hogs are taken to another building, slid over a graded platform to the stickers by the aid of a wheel and a chain, scalded, the hair removed, singed if for the export trade, slit and the carcass sent to the hanging or chilling-room. The blood is collected in vats below for future use. From the chilling-room the carcass is sent to the coolers, chilled and brought into the cutting-room, and then it goes into the curing-room.

The cattle are driven from the lower floor of the barn into a pen, killed by being struck on the head and the carcass dragged out, when its hide is removed. The beef is treated in about the same way as the pork.

The steam and power plant and the refrigerating machines are in separate buildings adjoining the packing-house. Electricity is extensively used both for lighting purposes and motive power, and many labor-saving devices are utilized.

THE W. G. DUNN ESTATE.

On April 10, a statement was submitted to the creditors of W. G. Dunn & Co., spice manufacturers, Hamilton, showing assets amounting to $6,187 ; preferred claims, $1,017 ; ordinary claims, $15,568, making the total liabilities $16,585. There was a $5,000 mortgage on the premises.

Mr. Dunn offered to pay the preferred claims and expenses and 25c. on the dollar on the unsecured claim. The assignee and inspectors were instructed to sell the estate and wind up the business, if the debtor did not arrange a compromise with his creditors. The inspectors are J. J. Morrison, manager of the Bank of British North America, John J. Gould and A. C. Beasley.

THE AUSTRALIAN TEA STANDARD.

A Brisbane telegram states that tea merchants have adopted a resolution approving of the tea standard set up by the Federal Government, but expressing sympathy with tea merchants in Victoria in the threatened destruction of certain condemned teas. They are strongly of opinion than an opportunity should be given to re-export the teas, as importers were not aware at the date of the shipment of the provisions of the Act regarding the standard of purity.—Planting Opinion, Madras.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., April 14, 1902.

THE longshoremen's strike, which was in force for nearly two weeks, had the effect of retarding foreign shipments, and the exports were considerably reduced. The strike was amicably arranged through the intercession of W. L. Mackenzie King, Deputy Minister of Labor, concessions having been made on both sides, and the strikers returned to work on Saturday morning. The fish-handlers and coopers also went out last Wednesday in sympathy with the longshoremen, and also the coal-handlers. Considerable work was done by non-union men, but this week, had the strike continued, the whole water-front business would have been tied up. Though the export business and delivery of imports, was materially interfered with, general business was but slightly affected.

Both wholesale and retail grocery business has been exceptionally good for the last week, and the outlook ahead is promising. Payments are being met promptly, which denotes a good state of affairs throughout the Province. So early has the season opened that summer freight rates on the I. C. R. went into force on April 1 instead of on May 1 as usual. This change was brought about by the early opening of navigation and the consequent competition between rail and water carriage.

Travellers still report great activity in spring business from all parts of the Province. With some curtailment of credit time the travellers are going over their territory more frequently, and their orders, though smaller proportionately, are being sent in more regularly. This is of great advantage to the wholesaler, as it prevents great rushes of business, and the work is more evenly distributed throughout the season. It will also prove beneficial to the jobbers and retailers.

There are no material changes in the price situation. Flour is still firm at late quotations, and the business at present is not very heavy. No great change is expected in prices until the coming season's crop of wheat is reckoned with. Round and split peas have advanced slightly, and a slight decline is noted in oatmeal and rolled oats. Hay is somewhat firmer, but very little business is doing, though certain quantities have been exported. Oats are firm at 54 to 56c., and in considerable demand. Potatoes are also firm at about 15c.—the prevailing price for the last two months. Bran has declined under a lessened demand. Hams and roll-bacon, barreled beef and pork, are all very firm, and with a rising tendency. Any advances or declines have been very slight—not enough to affect the retail market.

There is very little good cheese in the hands of holders, who are asking 11 to 11½c. Creamery butter is still scarce, but the supply is improving; western butter is still being imported to supply deficiency in the local supply, and it is of fairly good quality. Creamery is still holding the price quoted for the last month—23 to 24c.; imported, 17 to 22c., according to quality. Eggs are now coming in fairly active, and as reshipments to outside markets have stopped, the price has declined to the normal rate of 12 to 13c.

There is no change in the fish business of importance. Nearly all the last season's catch has been bought up by the wholesalers, who are making regular shipments to the West Indies and to Boston and New York. Prices in the West-Indian market have not materially improved, though the South-American market is still good, and remunerative prices are being obtained. The local fish markets are dull, as there is little fresh fish arriving. Extremely good reports, however, are still coming in from the South-Shore district and the Bay of Fundy. Lobsters are also being freely taken in some districts, and the steamer Boston last week took some 1,500 crates of live lobsters from Yarmouth, which brought from $12 to $13, late prices having declined. It is now a question with the wholesalers here if they have enough in store to carry them through the season until the new-season fish come in about July 1.

The provision dealers and grocers in general are elated at the prospect of the sailing of the new contingent for South Africa, which will create an expenditure of a very large amount beyond the usual season's trade, all of which will benefit every line of business.

Among the exports for the week may be noted 822 bbls. of apples to London; 700 bbls. of potatoes to New York; 750 bbls. of potatoes, 250 boxes of cheese, 100 lb. vegetables, 500 bags oats, to various ports in the West Indies, besides the general cargo of fish and other regular exports.

R. C. H.

ATLANTIC STANDARD TIME.

AT last it seems the Provinces of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are within measurable distance of securing the adoption of a uniform time standard. The use of Eastern Standard time by railways is about to be abandoned and Atlantic or Halifax time substituted therefor. The new C. P. R. time table employs the latter, and the Minister of Railways states that a similar change for the Intercolonial is under consideration. The use of Eastern Standard has been a source of great annoyance to the travelling public. Its employment in the first instance was warranted only by the assumption that it would come into general use. Now that its failure to do so is evident, the railways do well to adopt a more rational and correct system. Atlantic Standard time has long been uniformly used throughout the entire Province of Nova Scotia, and at the recent session, the New Brunswick Legislature introduced a Bill for its adoption in that Province also. This Bill will not come into force until proclaimed by the Governor-in-Council in the event of its adoption by the I. C. R.—Maritime Merchant.

MOCK MOCHA.

IT is thought by a writer in The Times of India, that the diminishing importance of Aden as a port of export for Arabian coffee is likely to have some effect upon the coffee market. At Hodeida and Jeddah no precautions are taken to render impossible an admixture of Java and other coffees, and the re-export of it as genuine Mocha coffee. In Aden such frauds are practically impossible, as special precautions are taken to prevent them. Every ounce of coffee that comes into Aden, both by land and sea, is inspected and tabulated, and regular returns are issued to all coffee merchants. To the general public it may not be known that genuine Mocha coffee is never imported except in certain specified and never-changing external wrappings, which are made in the coffee districts of Arabia. Most of the Mocha coffee goes to Marseilles, and consignees will not accept any coffee that does not come in these covers as genuine Mocha coffee. Attempts have been made to establish a regular trade in these wrappings, and to export them from Aden to Hodeida and Jeddah, so that Java and Abyssinian coffee may be shipped to Europe as genuine Mocha coffee. The Port Trust at Aden, detrimental to the interests of trade as it is said to be, will not allow ingenious enterprises of this nature, and in consequence the attempt has failed for the present. But if all Mocha coffee is to go to Hodeida and Jeddah, its purity may be in danger of being systematically diminished by admixtures.

Canada's Share Increases!

The British Board of Trade returns for January, February and March this year show that imports of Canadian wheat, flour, bacon, butter and hams during that period increased $1,000,000.

For several years THE EXPORT NUMBERS of THE CANADIAN GROCER have been advertising Canadian products amongst the Colonial merchants, produce importers and commission men in all parts of Great Britain with a view to bringing supply and demand in close touch with one another.

This year's EXPORT NUMBER (to be published May 30th) will enable us to circulate almost 5,000 copies amongst the best and largest importing houses in all the buying and distributing centres in Great Britain and Ireland. Exporters cannot go wrong in having their advertisement in this number. No better medium has ever been offered.

Rates and any other information sent wherever requested. Forms close May 20th, but early advertisements receive best attention.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Eggs and Egg Cases—Miscellaneous Notes.

EGGS AND EGG CASES.

THE following circular, which explains itself, has been issued by the Winnipeg Fruit and Produce Exchange :

EGG CASES.

There has been so much trouble and loss in the handling of egg cases by the produce trade of this city, that it is necessary, if we are to remain in the egg business, to have some different and more satisfactory arrangement than that now in force.

At a meeting of the Produce Exchange, held at their office on March 20, it was decided by the members present that on and after April 1 all cases containing eggs will be credited up to the shipper at 30c. each, the same to be returned to the shipper at once or when asked for at a similar price plus a charge of 10c. each for keeping them in proper repair. Unless the fillers are being continually replenished and the cases kept up to the proper standard, the shrinkage through cracked and broken eggs is large. White wood fillers will also be used, instead of the old brown straw, which are not only stronger and sweeter, but less liable to absorb moisture. We feel that the change spoken of will prove a direct benefit to both shipper and receiver.

CRACKED EGGS.

We would ask country traders to be more careful in handling eggs and in that way reduce the percentage of cracked. Cracked eggs in hot weather are more or less unsaleable and have to be disposed of for almost anything that can be gotten. On and after April 1, cracked eggs will be credited at 4c. per dozen less than the price of regulars, provided they are found to run more than one dozen to the case. Eggs during the summer months are handled on such close margins that we cannot assume shrinkage of this nature.

We respectfully ask your cooperation in introducing these changes.

Yours truly,

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The market for dressed hogs is strong, and they have advanced 75c. per 100 lb. The receipts are small. Beef also is scarce and has gone up $1 per 100 lb. Lambs are 1c. per lb. higher, but veal is weak, owing to free receipts thereof. We quote: Dressed hogs, $8.50 to $8.75 ; beef carcasses, $8.00 to $9 00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.00 to $10.00 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $6.50 to $7.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 9c. per lb.; lambs, 10½ to 11c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.00, lights, $5.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $5.75; choice export cattle bring $4.75 to $5.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $4.00 to $4.50.

The demand for all sorts of provisions is good, and the market is steady. Barrel pork is firm, and lard is strong. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c. smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22 ; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

There is a fairly good business doing in provisions. Smoked meats and lard continue to move well. In pork, however, the movement is still slow. There is a steady demand for dressed hogs at the unchanged prices, $8.50 to $9 per 100 lb. for fresh country killed. Live hogs are in fair demand. Laing's "Anchor" brand lard cannot be had, and no further supplies can be obtained until May 1. Fairbank's refined lard compound was advanced ¼c. in tin pails. The prices are now $2, $1 98 and $1.97, according to the quantity. We quote as follows : Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $23.00; Chicago clear pork, $25.50 for heavy and $25.00 for medium ; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00 ; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail ; refined lard compound (Fairbank's) ; $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails ; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails ; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail ; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—Trade is good, and prices are firm and without change. Best city-dressed, 8c.; second-grade, 7 to 7½c.

VEAL—The supply is limited, and the quality, though better than some two weeks ago, still leaves much to be desired. Prices run from 8½ to 9c.

MUTTON—Small amount selling, with price at 7c. Lambs are in greater demand at 8c.

DRESSED HOGS—The season is over, and, though 7½c. is still quoted, there has been no business done in dressed hogs this week.

POULTRY — The market is quiet, for, although the demand is fairly active, the supply is very limited. Prices are without change for the week. Fresh-killed chickens are worth 11 to 11½c. delivered Winnipeg. The only turkeys and geese offering are frozen stock, for which there is little demand.

CURED MEATS—The rapid advances in the American market and the keenness of demand have advanced prices here ¼c. per lb. on all grades of cured meats. There has been a great change in the tone of the market since last writing, when for 10 days it had been dull. Now all is activity, and the large number of settlers coming in is creating a brisk demand. We quote: Sugar-cured hams, 13½c.; shoulders, 10½c.; picnic hams, 9½c. ; breakfast bellies, 14¼c. ; backs, 13¾c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt long clear, 11¾c.; shoulders, 9¾c.; smoked long clear, 12¼c.; backs, 12¼c.

LARD—The market has not yet followed the upward tendency of other pork products, and prices are just where they were a week ago. We quote: Tierces, 12½c. ; 50-lb. pails, $5.85 ; 20-lb. pails, $2.40 ; American ditto, $2.50 ; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.35 ; 5 and 3 lb. tins, $7.50.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork and beef, there is rather an improved sale, the demand being from fishermen. The market is firm. Very little Canadian beef is sold. In pork, local-packed stock is in light supply. In lard, there is a fair sale. Prices show no change. In fresh beef, the market is higher, and a further advance is looked for. Pork seems easier. There is a good supply of particularly-good veal. Lamb is still high and scarce. Receipts of mutton are light. We quote : American mess pork, $21.00 to $21.50 ; domestic mess pork, $20.00 ; plate beef, Canadian, $13 to $13.50 ; clear pork, American, $22.50 ; plate beef, American, $14 to $15.50; fresh beef, 6 to 9c.; round hogs, 7 to 8c. ; pure lard, tubs, 12c. ; pure lard, pails, 12c. ; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¼c. ; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10½c.; pails, 10¼c.

THE CARTON.

"Knowledge comes, but wisdom lingers"—too true. Yet we are learning some things at a fair rate of speed, the result of which cannot but add to our stock of wisdom. The grocers, for example, are learning that the carton, or small package, is not only labor-saving and ornamental, as well as economical, but is a preserver of goods, preventing the destruction of color, flavor, etc., which is liable to ensue when bulk goods are uncovered in the somewhat frowsy atmosphere of the smaller class of grocery stores, which outnumber the big stores two to one.

"God bless the man who invented sleep," cried honest Sancho Panza, and the grocers might well echo the invocation with a blessing on the inventor of the carton.

BRITISH COLUMBIAN FRUIT GROWERS.

THE first quarterly meeting of the British Columbian Fruit Growers' Association was held in Victoria on a recent date, and several items of business were transacted. J. C. Medcalf, of Port Hammond, was in the chair.

On the recommendation of the executive, an exhibit of British Columbian fruit will be made at the Winnipeg Exhibition ; the appointment of an inspector under the new Fruit Marks Act will be asked from the Dominion Government ; an expert fruit packer from the United States will be engaged to instruct the fruit growers of the Province in the proper methods of picking and packing fruits, and J. C. Medcalf, of Port Hammond, will again be sent to Manitoba and the Northwest to endeavor to develop a market for the fruits of British Columbia.

It was pointed out that the increased settlement of the Northwest this year was expected to reach 50,000, but that the increased shipments of fruit would not feed more than 5,000.

For the purpose of holding local exhibitions of fruits, the Province was divided into four districts, in which shows might be arranged.

To ship fruits to outside points ventilated cars are necessary, and so this question occupied the attention of the association for a time. Mr. Kirby, of The Dominion Express Co., was present, and he promised to try and have these cars introduced in British Columbia under conditions that would be favorable to both the fruit growers and the Express Company.

FISH WEIRS SWEPT AWAY.

Many of the valuable Canadian weirs in Passamaquoddy Bay have been swept away and others badly damaged by the severe storms, and the loss will reach several thousand dollars. They had the weirs in good condition for the catch of herring that was looked for in a short time, and the loss will be seriously felt by most of them, who have not the material to start in on repairs necessary before the opening of the sardine-canning season. While no new permits were issued to the Dominion islanders to erect other weirs this season, they can build and repair those already damaged, but some have been washed away by the undertow and may not be replaced this spring. The Sea Coast Packing Co. is said to have contracts for the larger number of the weirs on the Canadian islands, but the loss of the weirs will probably not affect the catch of herring when the canning season comes around again.—Fishing Gazette.

PLANNING TO ATTRACT TOURISTS.

A GREATER number of tourists from the United States are expected to visit the summer resorts of the different parts of Canada this summer than ever before. The large number who annually come to the Dominion from the Republic on pleasure each year go away impressed with the beauties and pleasures of this country and advise their friends thereof. The owners of resorts are becoming aware of this and on the Georgian Bay the summer hotelkeepers are preparing to do a big season's business.

Down in St. John's, N.B., and Halifax, the Tourist Associations have done much to attract visitors, both by their extensive advertising and their efforts to improve the conditions of the towns in which they are located. Much has already been done in the latter way in the Maritime Provinces, and the local Legislatures are beginning to encourage these societies by their annual grants, which help much in the successful carrying out of the projects of these associations.

In Montreal a similar association exists in the Business Men's League, which last year was instrumental in causing strong efforts to be made towards street improvement in that city. This year the league is endeavoring to have an information bureau established for the accommodation of strangers in Montreal and the Province of Quebec generally. It will also continue its efforts to secure the holding of conventions in that city.

In Ottawa, the old Ottawa Valley Tourist Association has reorganized and is appealing to the city council and Ottawa business men for grants of money to assist the association in advertising the city and improving its appearance, making it more pleasing to the eyes of visitors.

On the Pacific Coast, the business men of several cities have taken hold of the idea this year and are forming tourist associations. In Victoria, the Tourist Association has been organized and has set to work with enthusiasm. It has established an information bureau for tourists, and is engaging a travelling representative to visit several States in the Republic, distribute literature, give lectures illustrated with limelight views of the many beauties of the Pacific Province. The Association is also sending out small folders briefly setting forth the attractions of the city. Large numbers of these folders will be distributed.

Nelson has also taken hold of the scheme and has formed a Tourist Association. How enthusiastic the business men of that city are over the project is shown by the fact that, although only recently organized, over $800 has already been subscribed towards the work of the Association, and more is being donated every day.

The railways and steamship lines have done much to advertise the country. The advertising department of the Grand Trunk Railway recently sent a special advertising car with photographs of views on the Georgian Bay and Muskoka Lakes to all the principal cities of the Western and Southern States. The Northern Navigation Co. is making efforts to attract tourists from the West to Canada this year, and is preparing to put on a new line of steamers between Parry Sound and the West.

The Canada Atlantic line of grain steamers between Parry Sound and Chicago is this season to carry passengers. This new feature in transportation will no doubt attract a great many tourists from Chicago and Western cities to the Muskoka Lakes and Georgian Bay.

That the value of tourist business is considerable will be gathered from the following excerpt from an article published in a late issue of The New York Sun dealing with the remarkable growth of touring to Alaska. After dealing with the magnitude of the tourist business to Alaska at the present time, as compared with a few years ago, the article says :

"It was estimated that in 1898 the tourists who visited Switzerland to enjoy its incomparable mountain landscapes, waterfalls and glaciers left $38,000,000 in the country. Scenery is Switzerland's largest source of wealth. Many of the tourists, particularly Americans and some Englishmen, spend a great deal of money, but the larger part of the sum left annually by tourists is derived from the excursion parties from France, England and central Europe. These parties are numerous, are organized on a cheap scale and the expenditure per capita is not very large. These tourists remain among the mountains only a short time, but there are so many of them that though each person spends only a comparatively small sum the aggregate is enormous.

"The tourist business in Switzerland, however, is by no means clear profit, for Switzerland does not begin to raise food enough for her Summer visitors. She has to buy from other lands, chiefly Austria and Italy, about 50,000 head of cattle every year. She imports from Russia, Hungary and the United States nearly three times as much wheat as she produces. She is compelled to buy a great deal more wine from the countries than is grown in the Swiss vineyards. As Switzerland thus imports a large part of the supplies she sells to tourists, a great deal of the money she receives from them is sent out of the country."

The Board of Trade, of Wolseley, Man., is issuing a pamphlet descriptive of that district for immigration purposes.

H. W. de Forest, tea merchant, St. John, N.B., has purchased a store at the corner of Mill and Union streets of that city and will move there about May 1 ; these premises are at present occupied by the James Robertson Co., Limited.

POPULARITY is the proof of merit, and no brand has ever achieved popularity so quickly as

"BOBS"

CHEWING TOBACCO

In 5 and 10c. Plugs.

BOBS costs you only 36 cents, and pays a good profit.

BOBS is well advertised.

BOBS is selling well in almost every store from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

BOBS is A BIG PLUG FOR LITTLE MONEY

Made by

THE EMPIRE TOBACCO CO., LIMITED

MONTREAL, QUE.

It is your object to get business.

——Isn't that right ?

In order to command your share of it, it is absolutely necessary to keep up the established reputation of your store.

——Isn't that right ?

By the verdict of the people who trade with you, you must abide.

——Isn't that right ?

It is your aim to make that verdict a favorable one.

——Isn't that right ?

In order to deserve the confidence and patronage of the public sell them teas of sterling merit, and you'll get your share of trade.

——Isn't that right ?

The winning qualities of the delicious, healthy assist the grocer with the business-getting aim.

——Grocers selling them will attest to this fact.

When you sell such teas of undeniable merits you are consulting the interests of your store.

THE MORE THE PUBLIC BUY CEYLON TEAS THE MORE THEY LIKE THEM—this fact is proven by the increased demand being felt for them in every section of Canada.

WHY ARE

Southwell's

Jams

superior to all other Imported Lines ?

Because each Jam has the individual flavor of its own fruit.

Many imported Jams taste all alike.

Southwell's Don't.

THE TRUTH

Of The Matter!

Quality counts, and there is no use trying to dodge the question. If you build on "Quality" you build on a rock foundation; if you build on "Price" your structure will fall with the first hard blow. It pays to be honest and true to yourself as well as to your trade. It pays to make "Quality" your watchword.

Let's look the matter squarely and fairly in the face and be satisfied with moderate profits—satisfied to build on the strong foundation rather than the shifting one. Stop for a moment and think of the truth of the matter—the truth in a nutshell is "Quality"!

Wheat Marrow

is the one "totally different" Cereal Food whose quality has been tried, tested, trusted. Its sales have been far beyond the fondest expectations of the makers.

Quicker and more easily prepared for the table than any other. Sterilized. A mental and physical strengthener. Easy to digest—equally good for infants, children and those of weak digestion as for well folks.

Stephens' Pickles.

Crisp, sound, piquant, appetizing. Packed in absolutely pure Malt Vinegar—brewed by The Messrs. Stephens. Always the same reliable quality - tried, tested, trusted.

Packed in bottles with very showy labels. The outside of the bottle is as attractive as the inside. Quick, steady sellers. That's "the truth of the matter."

Maypole Soap.

The English Home Dye of highest quality that never streaks or fades. Brilliant colorings. Quick, easy to use, and without mess or trouble. It dyes to any shade.

The Dye of quality through and through—tried, tested, trusted. Once a woman uses Maypole no other Dye ever takes its place in her affections.

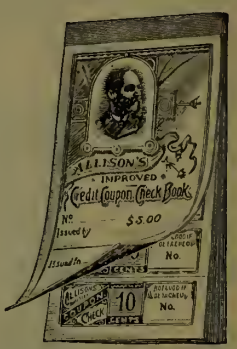
A Safety Buoy



For your guidance, should he the experience of others. Bright husiness fellows usually regard these signals—THEY PROFIT BY THEM. Merchants doing business in the old way—hy use of pass books, will assure you that their losses are no inconsiderahle sum, that in the rush and hurry of selling many items are omitted, and very often throughout the year such losses are occasioned that the results measureahly affect the profits. Perhaps this very leak may have occasioned the shrinkage in YOUR profits last year.

With Allison's Coupon Books mistakes are impossihle. There are never any losses through failure to charge goods—THEY EFFECTUALLY BLOCK THE LEAKS. Easy to use, and like this:

IF A MAN WANTS CREDIT

For $10, give him a $10 ALLISON COUPON BOOK, charge him with $10 and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for 10 cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all, and so on for all his purchases up to limit of the hook. No Pass Book. No Writing. No Time Lost. No Kicking. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? Let us send you a free sample.

GROCERY WINDOW DISPLAYS.

A Maple Syrup Window.

A WINDOW in the grocery store of J. W. Sanderson, Toronto, was recently dressed to give people an idea of the way maple syrup is made. By means of a kettle suspended over some logs, a hut, a vinegar barrel, and a trunk of a tree, the small space, 7 x 7 feet, of the window, was made to represent in a realistic way a sugar-making scene in the maple bush, when the sap is running freely in the spring. There was also a wild rabbit in the window, and he was busy thrusting his nose amongst the maple leaves that thickly covered the floor. He was eating anything that he could find suitable to his taste, and he made his home in the hut. There were also several bottles af maple syrup in the window, lying in rows of three or four on their sides near the glass, so as not to interfere with the display, and yet advertise.

The window was at the corner of the store and was 7 x 7 feet square and 12 feet high. It had glass on the two sides, facing the streets. The tree, barrel, and bark hut were in a row along the back, with the hut in the far corner. In front of these and in the outer corner of the window, about three feet from the glass, was a tripod by which a kettle was held over some logs arranged ready for lighting. The legs of the tripod were three poles or limbs of trees, five or six feet long, and formed a framework four feet high. The capacity of the kettle was about a gallon and a half, and it was filled with maple sugar. The logs were sticks of wood four inches in diameter and two feet long. Beside the tripod was a small pile of half-a-dozen sticks of wood and an axe.

The hut, in the remote corner, was about five feet from the front of the window. It was made of a framework of boards, three feet long, two feet broad, and two-and-a-half feet high, with another framework for the roof, and the whole was covered with strips of hemlock bark, openings, of course, being left for a door and windows.

To collect the sap a barrel was standing beside the hut, and on top of it was piled some maple sugar. It had once been a vinegar barrel.

The maple tree was on the left of the barrel, next the glass, at the side of the window, being only a foot away from it. It was a trunk of a tree two feet in diameter and 12 feet high, the top being cut off to allow of it being placed in the window. It was fastened to the floor by scantlings and strips of wood, and to the ceiling in much the same manner. A small hole about $\frac{1}{8}$-inch in diameter was bored through this trunk at a point about three feet from the floor. At the back, where nobody could see, this hole was connected by a hose to a tap in the cellar. This allowed water to be conveyed from this tap through the opening in the tree and caught by a spile driven into the front just below the vent. The water dropped off the spile into a sap trough below.

This sap trough had been hewn out of a log, and was about 24 inches long and eight inches in diameter.

The floor of the window was covered to the depth of three or four inches with maple leaves over which some sticks and small decayed pieces of wood were scattered and everything tended to give the display a natural appearance as if some corner in the woods had been transplanted and placed in the window.

Some Window Dressing Examples.

With low-cut windows the display can be large without barring out much of the light, and a dark store is a drawback in any business. There was a dealer dressing his window in an up-town street this morning, as the writer passed, and the work had not proceeded beyond the preliminary stages. Enough had been done, however, to show the superiority of the trim which admits plenty of light, for, in the past, this window has always been dressed high and the interior of the store has thus been barred from the gaze of the passer-by. This morning only a single layer of goods had been laid, in addition to a centrepiece of salad dressing and olive oil in bottles, and the contrast with the usual trim was refreshing.

We could have prayed the dresser to withhold his hand. But, no: he went on piling up the goods until finally the interior looked like the wall of a house with groceries stuck on it, or a section of shelving from the interior, and the blind look of the window, coupled with the knowledge that the store must have been sadly darkened, impressed the writer unfavorably. Were the window cut quite near the sidewalk level, fully as many goods could have been shown without making the window look like the embrasure of a fort, or the lattice of a jail or insane asylum.

There is a drug-store window in town, previously mentioned by the writer, which is a model of what a single show window ought to be. It is cut low, and as the store window is several feet below the street level the window seems to invite the public to fall into it. It is dressed this day with rubber goods, to-morrow with cigars, next week with sponges, and whatever the article may be it has a monopoly of that window space. Say it is sponges. Then all kinds, sizes and colors of sponges are shown, with price tickets. There is always some blue or crimson drapery at the top or back, and, perhaps, a handsomely-dressed doll, half size or life-size, poised in the background and moving round and round by clock-work.

Maybe a plant or two, or a Japanese vase helps out the display, but whatever may be shown it draws. That is a double-leaded, copper-bottomed, concrete fact. Always somebody is staring into it, and at night the glare of the brilliant electric lights and the rich color effects produced quite simply cause dozens of people to stop and gaze. As the thoroughfare is a very busy one, until a few minutes past 6 p.m., the prices quoted are usually very close, on the principle of quick sales and small profits, and they thus become an attraction in themselves. When a window is situated in a quiet neighborhood, where trade is bound to be limited, the policy of cutting prices in window displays might be productive of disappointment.—N. Y. Merchants' Review.

THE HAMILTON RETAIL ASSOCIATION.

At the meeting of the Hamilton Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada held on April 16 it was decided to send a petition which had been gotten up by Secretary W. O. Menger, to the Inland Revenue Department, Ottawa, asking that the merchants should be relieved of the fee charged for the inspection of weights and measures. As this inspection was for the good of the general public as well as the merchant, the former, it was urged, should help to bear the cost.

The secretary was instructed to get up a petition asking the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific railways to grant reduced fares to members of the association when they were visiting manufacturing and wholesale centres. This petition will be circulated among the retail merchants of Hamilton, signed, and with a number of similar documents from other branch associations, will be forwarded to the headquarters of the railways.

The Hamilton branch of the association has about 40 members and it will take at least 150 to run the association properly and pay expenses. The executive is considering the advisability of having General Secretary Trowern, of Toronto, canvass Hamilton for members.

President Adam Ballantyne was in the chair.

TEA DUTY AND CONSUMPTION.

A correspondent of Spice Mill discusses in the last issue the effect of the United States duty on tea consumption. He says:

"The teamen are feeling rather jubilant over the fact that the duty is to go off that article. They were jubilant when it went on because they thought that the duty would keep out the lower grades and increase the consumption of tea, but the facts have not warranted any such belief. The following table showing the total importations of tea and coffee in each fiscal year from 1890-91 and for the eight months ending with February, 1902, may prove interesting to your readers:

THE CANNED SALMON COMBINE.

D. J. Munn, of New Westminster, B.C., and Aemilius Jarvis, of Toronto, are in Vancouver in connection with the proposed combination of the canneries of British Columbia. Sixty per cent. of all the canneries, in their opinion, will be secured for this combine, which is claimed to be formed for the mutual protection of the interests of the canners in that Province.

The company was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey, as the laws governing corporations registered in that State are very liberal and moderate, and so every large company now seeks to be incorporated there. Canadian capital is in control of the company, but there is a large amount of United States money behind it. The company was capitalized at $4,000,000.

At present a valuation is being made by the various canneries entering into the trust, and the success of the combine seems to be assured.

THE INDIAN TEA CESS.

(From The Home and Colonial Mail.)

AS many of our readers are fully aware, but some at home may not know, the Viceroy of India has been petitioned by owners of tea estates in India with regard to imposing a small export duty on tea for the purpose of providing, as in Ceylon, funds for developing the popularity and increasing the consumption of Indian tea in countries other than Great Britain. The petition bears the signatures of individuals, firms, and companies representing the large proportion of 380,600 acres out of the 520,000 acres under tea cultivation.

The memorial sets out, as motives for the proposed duty, that, as a result of the cess sanctioned by the local Government, Ceylon annually collects a sum amounting to nearly Rs.3,00,000, as against a comparatively poor sum obtained in India by the present system of voluntary contributions, which sum does not reach half that amount.

The supply of Indian and Ceylon teas in Great Britain has considerably exceeded the demand, as a result of the large production of late years. One consequence of this is seen in the steady falling away in prices and the selling of a large percentage of Indian tea at a figure below the actual cost of production. It is under these conditions that funds are urgently needed for the exploitation of new markets. It is submitted that it is to the interest of the Government of India to render assistance to the tea industry, in order to maintain it on a remunerative basis, as it is the means of keeping in cultivation large tracts of land yielding a direct revenue to the Government, and providing a large number of the native population of India with employment.

The memorialists conclude by praying that the necessary measures be adopted to provide for levying an export duty at a rate not exceeding one-fourth of a pie per pound for a limited period of five years on all tea exported from India, such duty to be applied towards increasing the consumption of Indian tea in India, as well as in countries outside the United Kingdom, and otherwise as may from time to time be desired and determined by a committee to be approved by the Government of India. The duty would be paid by the tea growers themselves, the proceeds being expended for the benefit of the industry at large.

It may be mentioned that India has a production of 190,000,000 lb. of tea, of which only 33,500,000 lb. are exported to foreign countries; whereas Ceylon, producing 150,000,000 lb., exports as much as 49,000,000 lb. The exports to the United Kingdom, of course, are excluded from the above figures. The area of land under tea in India represents a capital investment of about £25,000,000.

One of the foremost authorities on tea in this country supplies The Financial News with the following:

The proposed tax, it appears, is trifling. The idea is to raise about £10,000 annually, to be spent on pushing Indian teas in new markets, corresponding to the cess sanctioned by the Government of Ceylon. For some time past most of the owners of tea estates in India have voluntarily contributed small sums for the purpose; but a certain section refused to join in. It was felt that as all equally benefited by the spending of the money, all should contribute their fair share; hence the proposal of an export tax as the fairest way of insuring that each should contribute pro rata on his production.

There is plenty of scope for employing usefully the funds to be raised. Confident views are taken of the good work which might be done. It is necessary to find new markets for tea, and it is to the exploitation of the Indian market itself that efforts are now being directed. Lord Curzon, in a speech a few months ago, urged upon the planters the value of the market lying at their doors. The great difficulty of caste prejudice has been to a large extent broken down, and nowadays natives freely use articles of European origin, or not produced in strict accordance with the rules of their caste. Even such things as cigarettes and English biscuits are dealt in in bazaars. It only requires the native taste to be educated, and tea would soon become popularized. The employes on the plantations already patronize the leaf as much as they are able, and its use would spread rapidly if encouraged.

India has a population of 300,000,000. If, say, only 10 per cent., or 30,000,000, purchased a pound of tea per head per annum, it would completely alter the situation of the tea trade. The consumption of such a quantity would remove depression and bring back prosperity to the hard-pressed industry. If the native races of India could be induced to take to tea-drinking, the habit would quickly extend to the other great Mohammedan countries of Persia and Turkey. An association already exists for advertising and pushing the sale of tea in India, and it only requires that the proceeds of the suggested tax should be skilfully utilized for a new and enormous demand to be created for "the cup that cheers but not inebriates."

SUGAR CONSUMPTION IN THE STATES.

According to the Treasury Bureau of Statistics at Washington, the sugar consumption of the United States has grown from 1,272,126,342 lb. in 1870 to 5,313,987,840 lb. in 1901; or, from 33 lb. per capita in 1870 to 68 lb. per capita in 1901. Of the 5,313,987,840 lb. consumed in 1901 985,568,640 lb., or more than one-sixth, were produced in the United States; 852,205,760 lb, or about another sixth, were produced in the insular possessions, while the remainder, amounting to 3,476,213,440 lb., or about two-thirds of the total consumption, represented imports for consumption. Of the total imports during the calendar year 1901, 1,302,860,514 lb. were from Cuba; 686,676,954 lb. from the East Indies, chiefly Java; 1,122,855,887 lb. from other cane-sugar countries, and 599,774,613 lb. from the beet-sugar countries of Europe.

Of the 985,568,640 lb. of sugar produced in the United States about one-third was from beets and two-thirds from cane. Of that withdrawn from the insular possessions all was from cane as was also all of that from Cuba and from the other tropical territory, while of the 599,774,613 lb. of beet sugar imported 184,344,004 lb. came in the unrefined condition, and 115,430,609 lb. refined.

The following table shows the total sugar consumption of the United States, stated in tons, from 1880 to 1901, and the quantity supplied by beet and cane production in the United States:

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Victoria B. C., Tourist Association held on April 14 it was decided to attempt the inauguration of a regular naptha launch service on Victoria Arm during the summer months, and to establish a four-in-hand or tally-ho to make regular trips every day over the city and suburbs.

The association is also proposing to issue a booklet for the fishermen, and has secured the services of an experienced angler to write an article, describing the haunts of the fish, the seasons most favorable for angling, and the particular flies to be used in their capture. This book will be followed by another descriptive of the game of Vancouver Island, with full instructions to hunters.

MR. E. B. NIXON RESIGNS.

(From Our Winnipeg Corrospondent.)

MR. E. B. NIXON, for the past 16 years grocery buyer for the Hudson's Bay Co., Winnipeg, has resigned from that company to go into business for himself. Mr. Nixon is known throughout the Dominion and in many cities of the United States as one of the most shrewd and successful buyers of the day, and one of the best posted men on all branches of the trade. Before being on the staff of the Hudson's Bay Co., Mr. Nixon was with the wholesale firm of Lyon, Mackenzie & Powis, which is still doing business as Kenneth Mackenzie & Co. Mr. Nixon has always taken a keen interest in legitimate sport, and it is largely due to his efforts that the Victoria Hockey Club occupies the position it does to-day.

The new premises will be in a handsome brick and stone building on the corner of Main and Graham streets. Mr. F. W. Sprado, formerly manager of the Manitoba Hotel here and now manager of the Manitoba Club, will join Mr. Nixon, and together they propose running a strictly high-class retail grocery store. They will open the new business on the first of May.

THE ANTI-TRADING STAMP LAW.

The Court of Appeal has decided in a test case that the Ontario Legislature has power to pass an Act giving municipalities the right to prohibit trading stamp companies operating within their own boundaries. The Trading Stamp Act of 1901 is legal according to this.

Toronto City Council took advantage of this last year and trading stamp concerns in the city were closed on January 1 last. Announcements were made by the companies that they had closed down temporarily until the Court of Appeal had given its decision as to the power of the Legislature to pass the Act.

INDUSTRIAL GOSSIP.

SOAP FACTORY SEEKING EXEMPTION. The Marsh Manufacturing Co., Toronto, is proposing to enlarge its castile and mill soap factory at Preston, Ont. F. T. Weir, general-manager of the company, and T. Hamilton, of the Grant-Hamilton Oil Co., a company controlled by the Marsh Manufacturing Co., appeared before the Preston Town Council on April 16, and asked for a loan from the town of $6,000 after the factory has been equipped and in operation, and that the town discharge $600 per annum of that amount for 10 years. The applicants also want tax exemption for 10 years, but are willing to pay school taxes. It was explained to the council that the company proposed to build a two-storey brick extension to its works at Preston, 30 x 50 ft. in size, and costing no less than $6,000. Not less than 25 hands will be employed.

After some discussion, the council proposed a counter proposition, reversing the company's offer, namely, that instead of the town discharging $600 per annum for ten years, that the company repay the loan yearly on that basis.

It is probable that the matter will be submitted to the ratepayers.

PROSPEROUS CHEESE FACTORY. The Lynden Cheese Factory, Lynden, Ont., has just completed its tenth year since it commenced operations in 1892. Its total output for that time was over 883 tons of cheese, for which it has received the sum of $153,400.99. The factory was built by the Patrons of Industry, and is controlled by a joint stock company. It has recently been improved by the addition of lining in the curing-room, giving extra air space and now has a capacity of about 150 tons of cheese per season.

The factory is under control of the following board :

Alex. Ironside, president and salesman ; G. N. Harris, vice-president ; Directors—Joseph Betzner, William Thompson, Samuel Lemon, A. H. Krampart, and G. A. Howard ; Henry Howard, secretary and treasurer.

MR. GRANGER REELECTED PRESIDENT.

At the annual meeting of the shareholders of The Auer Incandescent Light Manufacturing Co., Limited, Mr. A. O. Granger was reelected president. The directors, Messrs. John Murphy, S. Carsley, C. A. Duclos, J. G. Ross, F. E. Nelson, A. O. Granger, T. W. Boyd, Hugh Glassford and W. R. Granger were reelected for the ensuing year. Other officers elected were Mr. W. R. Granger, general-manager and secretary, and Mr. Thomas Sutton, treasurer.

The annual statements and the report of the board of directors were unanimously adopted.

At another meeting a resolution of sympathy was passed for the death of Father Quinlivan, whose support and cooperation were very much appreciated by the members of the company.

COLOMBO TEA MARKET.

Odell & Co., Colombo, Ceylon, under date of March 22, say : "About 25,800 packages have been offered since our last of which 21,000 packages passed the hammer at an average of 37 cents. The market is firmer for all kinds, more especially for flavory leaf teas and tippy brokens. Rain is still wanted up country. Shipments to the United Kingdom for the first half of March were 3¼ millions, and we estimate the whole month at 8½ millions. TOURIST TRAVEL IN NEW BRUNSWICK.

The Tourist Association of St. John, N.B., is preparing for a larger influx of tourists into that part of the Dominion this summer than ever before. It will send out 35,000 copies of its annual book, and issue a handbook of St. John, similar to that of last year. The Association has opened a bureau of information in the Board of Trade rooms, and has made arrangements with a number of lecturers to include references to that district in their course. It will furnish the lantern slides for this work. An effort is also being made to induce capitalists to build summer hotels, as the accommodation for visitors is at present inadequate.

CHARTERING SALMON SHIPS.

ANOTHER salmon ship is reported chartered, and if the rate at which the second carrier has received for loading this fall is any criterion, it seems that charterers feel that the freight rates must increase within the next few months. The latest salmon carrier said to be chartered for loading on the Fraser is the Glenmark, which arrived here from Chanarel on March 19, and left for Tacoma, where she is now loading wheat. The Artenies was chartered some time ago at 32 shillings. The Glenmark returns to this port after discharging her wheat cargo. The Glenmark is taken up at 35s. for London, and 37s. 6d. for Liverpool, which, when the fact is considered that wheat carriers are being paid 22s. 6d. to 25s. to take wheat to the United Kingdom from the Sound and Portland, is a high rate. A large grain crop is looked for, however, and as many carriers have been diverted from this Coast in consequence of the low rates, it is expected that tonnage will be scarce, and high rates will prevail.

Another coal carrier has been also added to the fleet bound around the Horn to Victoria, making the eighth loading ship en route to Victoria. The latest addition to the fleet of droghers bound this way is the Cambrian Hills. She left Cardiff on April 5, bound to Esquimalt, with a full cargo of coal for the naval storekeeper. The Ladakh is now out 116 days with a similar cargo for Esquimalt. The Cambrian Hills is a ship of 1,632 tons, commanded by Capt. Evans. The Holywood is the first of the cargo ships expected to moor at the Outer Wharf, she being now fully due, having been out 136 days from Liverpool. With the Kate Thomas, which is out 113 days for Victoria, she is bringing large consignments of tinplate in her cargo for British Columbia canneries. Other cargo ships en route are the Carnarvon Bay from Glasgow, Pengwen, Celtic Chief, and Yola, the latter coming via Honolulu, for which port she has cargo.

The Scottish Hills, which was ordered to this port from San Francisco, to which port she put back in distress after encountering one of the February gales, and which arrived at Port Townsend a few days ago, was taken up there to load lumber at one of the Puget Sound mills for Melbourne, at 42s. The Invermay, one of the fleet en route from Hong Kong, will load for the same port at Burrard Inlet, and is being paid 2s. 6d. more than the Scottish Hills.

The freight and shipping report of R. P. Rithet & Co., an advance copy of which has been received, shows in its quotations of freight rates a further reduction of freights, the grain rate being cut from 25s. to 26s. 6d., the figures given by the last report to 22s. 6d. to 23s. 6d., usual options. The report says: "The decline in grain freights noted in our last circular was followed by still lower rates, and several charters have been made at 22s. 6d. to 23s. 3d., usual options. The indications of a large grain crop are favorable and there is a feeling that the lowest point has been reached.

"Lumber freights show a general decline. The usual salmon supplement accompanies the circular, from which it is seen that the total British Columbia pack for 1901 amounted to 1,236,156 cases, being 220,000 more than put up in 1897. Owing to the increased consumption of the article, and also to a well-organized canners' association, the market has not suffered to the same extent as in previous years, and although dealers are not yet purchasing extensively, there is a fair prospect of stocks working off at satisfactory prices."

MR. McBRIDE IN NEW YORK.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says: "Mr. J. Arthur McBride, representing Geo. Vipond & Co., fruit and produce dealers, of Montreal, Canada, is spending a few days in the West Side fruit market en route for the berry sections of the South. Mr. McBride, in referring to the market conditions in Montreal, with particular reference to lemons and prospective arrivals of fruit from the Mediterranean, expressed the opinion that the outlook favored a buyers' market on the fruit. Receipts there arrived and in prospect figure 152,000 boxes, compared with a total of 97,700 boxes last year. A portion of the fruit due on the Forest Holme he said, will be landed at Quebec for the Quebec Fruit Exchange, this proceeding being a departure from the custom in former seasons. Mr. McBride will visit the Charleston Exposition while in the South."

U. S. TOBACCO CROP OF 1899.

The Census Bureau has issued a report on the tobacco crop of 1899, showing that the 308,317 farms which reported a production of tobacco had an acerage of 1,101,483, with a total production of 868,163,275 lb., valued at $56,993,003.

The principal States producing tobacco are as follows:

States.	Acres.	Pounds.	Value.
Kentucky	384,805	314,288,050	$18,541,982
North Carolina	203,023	127,503,400	8,038,691

TRADE CHAT.

THOMPSON BROS., general merchants, Listowel, Ont., have dissolved, and the business is being continued by Wm. and John Thompson. Robert Thompson, the retiring partner, is opening a grocery store in the same town.

A new creamery is being built at Tara, Ont., entirely of cement.

Strang & MacPherson have opened a general store on the corner of Price street and the Esplanade, Sydney, C.B.

The codfishing season this spring has already opened up at Halifax three weeks earlier than ever was known before.

A tourist association has been formed at New Denver, B.C., with a membership of 50, and the president is Henry Stege.

The contract for the new 2,000,000 bush. elevator at Fort William, Ont., for the Canadian Pacific Railway has been awarded to F. J. Weber.

The president of the Board of Trade of Carlyle, Assa., is offering a bonus of $2,500 to the man who will build a 100-barrel grist mill in Carlyle.

The business men of Midland, Ont., have signed an agreement to observe Monday, May 26 as Victoria Day, instead of Saturday, May 24.

Captain Gattis and John Clark, of Thedford, Ont., are preparing to open a grocery and flour and feed store on the Hamilton Road, London, Ont.

C. Harrington & Co., general merchants, Winnipeg, have removed their business at the market to new quarters at the corner of Main and Graham streets.

The stores of J. D. Tobey & Sons and C.B. Trelford, general merchants, Tara, Ont., were entered recently by burglars and robbed of the change left in the cash drawers.

The Norfolk County Barn Co., Limited, has been incorporated to carry on a live stock and general feed business; it is capitalized at $10,000, and the head office is at Simcoe, Ont.

CHANGE IN AN EGG FIRM.

Scott & Hogg, egg merchants, Galt and Peterborough, Ont., have sold out their branch in the former place to George Moore, of Waterloo, who will run it in connection with a similar business of his in Waterloo, his son, Robert Moore, being placed in charge. Scott & Hogg have been established at Galt for 27 years, and during that time have built up an extensive trade. They will continue their Peterborough business.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

CANNED TOMATOES IN ENGLAND.

STOCKS of canned tomatoes in England are rapidly diminishing, and there is no chance of their being replenished before the autumn; prices of American packs are so high as to be prohibitive, and spot business is practically confined to Italian goods.

CANNED SALMON IN ENGLAND.

There is no pressure to sell salmon; in fact, the feeling is that prices are already too low, and a few weeks' good demand would have a marked influence on values; meantime, dealers order most sparingly, and the idea that prices are bound to decline is difficult to dispel, though there is no sound reason to support it. The regrettable part of this want of confidence is the loss of trade, which can never be overtaken. The article is good and cheap, and pays the retailer well to push. Produce Markets' Review.

VALENCIA RAISINS IN GREAT BRITAIN.

Valencias are well maintained, and really fine fruit is almost unobtainable. Medium fruit in quarter-boxes has recently experienced a good inquiry and is also exceedingly scarce. Similar fruit in half-boxes is obtainable at many shillings less in price, having been neglected in favor of the smaller package, and should now obtain a larger share of attention. Seedless fruit is by no means plentiful; attractive parcels are in fair request.—Produce Markets' Review.

CANNED SALMON PRICES FIXED.

Two packers of Columbia River salmon have named opening prices for new pack. They are on a basis of $1.50 for talls, $1.65 for flats, and 95c. for half pounds on Chinook fish f.o.b. the Coast. The packers in question are F. M. Warren & Co. and The Pillar Rock Packing Company. The season on the Columbia River opened for packing to-day. A private telegram from the Coast stated that the Fishermen's Union has fixed a price to packers on raw material of 5½ and 6c. per lb. On this basis, according to packers' representatives here, the price of $1.50 f.o.b. for talls is the lowest at which packers can pack at a profit.

SITUATION IN CURRANTS.

A fair business in currants continues, subject only to the actual interruption of the Easter holidays. There is no quottable alteration in prices, but here and there buyers are able to obtain some slight advantage in point of quality. This is due, principally, and probably entirely, to the policy of closing the previous year's accounts, invariably adopted at this season by some of the most important merchants; as, so far as London is concerned, stocks, from the monthly returns lately published are statistically unfavorable to a reduction in price, and no shipments for England are at present taking place from Greece. In that country the weather is reported to be cold and damp, thus impeding cultivation, and having a more or less unfavorable tendency as regards the now rapidly developing growing crop. Greek prices for Provincial currants are now about 1s. per cwt. above the parity of London, and the quality of the fruit still existing for shipment is somewhat unfavorably spoken of.—Produce Markets' Review.

SHIPMENTS OF CURRANTS.

Under date of April 4 private mail advices from Patras, Greece, state that the frost reports of the middle of March created quite a sensation among currant interests, and prices were appreciably affected, but later favorable weather intervened and there is again an optimistic feeling as to the results of the new crop. Prices have, the advices state, lost more than the gain recorded as a result of the frost news. Continuing, the writer says: "The only grade offering now is the Provincial fruit, and the bulk of the stock still available in Greece consists of this grade.

"The demand is exceedingly slow from all parts, and financial needs at this period compel some of the weaker holders to come to terms. This has permitted a few sales to South Germany and to America. The price for Provincial to-day is 15s. in half cases c.i.f. London." The official list of exports to the end of March compares as follows with exports of previous seasons:

CANNED SALMON PROSPECTS IN THE STATES.

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce says:

"In the opinion of leading authorities in canned salmon the market, despite the present quiet interest shown, gives promise of considerable improvement. It is claimed on what is believed to be excellent ground that the higher cost of meats will throw more trade toward canned salmon because of the relative cheapness of the latter. In this connection a leading broker said to-day: 'Salmon is at present one of the cheapest food products on the market to day. I have it from leading jobbing grocers that already they note an increased demand for salmon, a large share of which is attributable to the higher cost of fresh meats. This increased demand and naturally firmer feeling among retail distributors will be reflected in the market from first hands, and we look for a stiffer disposition among holders.'

"Coast mail advices say: 'There is a light demand, chiefly for Alaska red and pink, at 95c. and 70c. from first hands, with medium red at 85c. Sockeyes are neglected for the time being. It is said, in fact, that they will not do more than secure a preference over red Alaska at same price. It is calculated, however, that there must have been a large consumption of them at present prices, and that they will yet prove an excellent investment on that basis, especially in the event of the next pack proving a disappointment, as seems likely on the doctrine of probabilities.'"

THE PRUNE SITUATION.

Private advices from San Jose say: "From reports received from all sections of Santa Clara County, it is apparent that prospects are good for a most bountiful season. The orchards in every section of the county give indications of a heavy yield. The frost has done very little damage. It is generally believed that the season is too far advanced for any serious damage to come to the crop. C. A. Hall, of The Inderrieden Co., says: 'There are not more than 400 carloads of the 1901 crop left. There are four months of brisk trade and the few prunes still in the hands of the packers will be disposed of. There will be no prunes on the market when the crop of 1902 comes along. It has been stated that certain packers in the Valley were holding out thousands of carloads to unload on the market with the 1902 crop. This fear was realized last year when the crop of 1901 was placed on the market in competition with 3,000 carloads of old prunes, which greatly injured the growers. This cannot be repeated this year.'"

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

Czarnikow, MacDougall & Co. say of sugar: "Mr. Licht has announced that he finds that in his earlier forecasts he had overestimated the reductions to be made in sowings in Germany and France. This has probably had something to do with the weakness of the market. The statement that Germany might take steps for the immediate removal of all bounties granted on sugar exportations is now said to be incorrect. The imports of sugar at the Atlantic ports since January 1 amount to 401,855 tons, against 566,602 tons during the same period last year, the deficiency this year being 164,747 tons. This arises chiefly from the retention of sugars in Cuba, from whence receipts so far this year are about 90,000 tons less than up to this date last year. The imports from Europe also show a large falling off. Nothing has yet been done in new crop Javas. Planters are not willing to sell at current quotations and shippers who had bought from planters at higher prices than they can now obtain prefer to wait developments before selling their sugars at a loss. There are sellers of sugars for June-July or later shipment at 8s. 6d. c.f., but United States buyers are holding off. There is, however, some inquiry from the Far East. In recent years there has been a rapid development in the consumption of Java sugars in China, Japan, Australia, etc., and as the demand from this country diminishes, owing to the renewal of production in Cuba, planters in Java are looking more and more to the outlet offered by those nearby markets."

MOVING THE GRAIN CROP.

With the opening of navigation the work of moving the balance of the grain crop of the Canadian Northwest has begun. It is estimated that there are still 20,000,000 bushels of last year's crop to move. Some 13,000,000 bushels are along the lines of the C.P.R.

At Fort William great activity has commenced, and every day vessels clear with loads of grain for the lower-lake ports. The freight traffic department of the Canadian Pacific is showing great activity and is loading cars at the rate of 196 per day, and sending them down to the Fort William elevators. The farmers who have been holding their grain are now marketing, and a large movement has commenced all along the wheat belt. On the 10th inst., 72 cars were moved; on the 11th, 117, and on the 12th, 196. This volume will be increased in a day or two, but, notwithstanding this, it is estimated that both the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern will be hauling last year's wheat up to the time this year's wheat begins to move.

USEFUL SURPLUS PRODUCTS.

A HIGHLY interesting article in the March Engineering Magazine, entitled "The Fallacy of Over-Production," maintains that it is impossible to produce too much of any useful article, the argument being that systematic storage of supplies will take care of any temporary surplus. This is indicated by the following brief extracts from the article:

"The fact that most people believe that the accumulation of unsold goods is caused by 'over-production,' or that twin absurdity, 'under-consumption,' is not to be wondered at. On its face the theory seems to be self-evident, just as it seems to be self-evident that the sun rises and sets. But there is no more truth in one than in the other. This plausibility is what makes these terms so deceptive and mischievous, and probably no other popular error has done so much harm in the industrial nations of the world.

"By creating the modern systems of transportation, and by inaugurating the present system of cold storage, two long strides have been taken. Neither of these advances would have been possible but for the existence of one of nature's greatest gifts to man, temporary surplus production. Yet another long stride forward will be taken when the producers of staple commodities like coal, iron, steel, tin, copper, lead and rubber clearly understand that the present systems of storing these products are wholly inadequate. In the case of perishable agricultural produce, Nature long ago made it necessary for the merchants and bankers who handle them to adopt scientific systems of negotiable warehouse receipts for their safe storage. But in the case of the less perishable staples of manufacture, we are still hobbling along with the antiquated methods of our grandfathers—every producer for himself, and the devil take the hindmost. The result is shown in the violent fluctuations of market values which we have lately seen in coal, iron, steel, copper, and rubber—extreme fluctuations which are wholly needless, and which are certain to be rendered impossible so soon as producers, merchants, bankers and brokers can be brought to see the demoralization and waste that spring from mere lack of system in storing and carrying temporary surplus supplies of materials which form the very basis of all industry and all wealth.

"Is there anything in nature or history which does not teach man that if he would have anything when needed, he must gather it when it can best be produced? Is it not good business to gather surplus products when they are plenty and cheap and hold them until they are scarce and high? Have any 10 years passed in the recollection of men now living, in which the people of the foremost manufacturing nations have not suffered for the want of an adequate supply of some of the great staples—coal, iron, steel, tin, copper, rubber—which might have been stored up in times of dull trade? Has anyone ever heard of useful manufactured products being destroyed for want of a market? Have they not all been consumed in time? Is not this proof that each one of the overproduction claims put forth during the last two and a half centuries has been rank nonsense? Has not modern society simply failed to grasp one of Nature's great truths?"

ENLARGING BEET-SUGAR PLANT.

The Ontario Sugar Company have decided to enalrge the plant they are building at Berlin, Ont. It will have a daily capacity of 600 tons instead of 400 as was first proposed, and will be able to slice 800 tons of beets in 24 hours under favorable conditions. This enlargement will entail an additional cost of $150,000 to be met by a fresh issue of stock.

E. H. Dyer & Co., who have the contract for the building of this factory, are the builders of several successful sugar-refining plants in the United States. The company was formed in 1890.

PRODUCE EXCHANGE FORMED.

A PRODUCE EXCHANGE has been formed in Toronto. It consists of a number of wholesale produce dealers of the city, chiefly around St. Lawrence Market, and has for its object the regulation of the trade and attending to matters of general interest to its members. The Association was formed on Wednesday, April 16, when almost all the local whole sale produce firms were represented, amongst them being the following: Rutherford, Marshall & Co.; Gunn Bros.; The McLean Produce Co.; The Wm. Ryan Co.; James E. Baillie; Smith & Carmichael; The King, Darrell, Walker Co., Limited, Robert Thompson & Co.; J. J. Fee; Love Bros.; Park & Thompson, and Willard & Co. The first thing done was the formation of the meeting into an association, called the Toronto Produce Exchange.

The following officers were then elected: President, J. T. Madden (The Wm. Ryan Co.); vice-president, Andrew Gunn; secretary-treasurer, A. J. King; board of directors, W. J. Marshall, Robert Thompson, J. A. McLean, J. J. Fee and the three executive officers.

The following committees were formed: Transportation, finance and trade, complaints and arbitration, collections and credits.

This Exchange has for its objects the promotion of good-will and a better understanding amongst all its members and the members of the trade generally; to settle differences and prevent litigation from them; to collect and distribute reports and information relative to business generally, and to further the general interests of the Association and the social and business interests of its members.

The finance and trade committee will have for its duty the registration and establishment of uniformity in the various branches of the trade in their methods of buying and selling. The transportation committee will endeavor to secure better and cheaper transportation from the different railway and steamboat lines leading into and away from Toronto.

The members of this Exchange hope by so organizing that their interests will be greatly promoted and the trade benefited by the regularity and system that will be introduced in the transaction of business.

Weekly meetings will be held in rooms which a committee is at present securing.

CANNED MEATS LIKELY TO ADVANCE.

Mr. William Clark, manufacturer of canned and prepared meats, etc., Montreal, in allusion to the increasing price of meat, advises dealers to place their orders immediately for canned meats. He declares that just as soon as the present stock is exhausted, manufacturers will be bound to increase their prices.

LARGE ORDER FOR FLOUR.

Following the large order placed with The Ogilvie Milling Co. for Manitoba flour for the soldiers in South Africa, another comes from Australia, which is said to be one of the largest orders ever given to a single firm in Canada. The Lake of the Woods Milling Co. are in receipt of it. The order is for 31,036 sacks of 200 lb. each, and another has been received for 12,500 bbls. for South Africa. Together these amount to 43,536 bbls., and it is doubtful if any other Canadian milling firm has ever been called upon to fill so large an order.

FIRST FRUIT AUCTION.

THE cargo of the fruit steamer Fremona, from Messina, has now all been landed on the Montreal docks, and preparations have been completed for the sale on Friday, April 25. The cargo consisted of about 62,000 boxes of lemons and 1,389 boxes and half-boxes of oranges, and all the fruit is said to be in the best of condition. Buyers and brokers from many points in Canada and the United States will be at the auction, which is expected to be one of the most important ever held in Montreal.

Montreal is a fruit-distributing centre not only for almost every city in Canada, but also for a great part of the United States, going in that country as far west as Missouri. Formerly, fruit from Montreal went much farther west in the United States, but California now has that trade in hand, and since lemons have been grown there the Western States are nearly all supplied by California.

The late Frank J. Hart had probably more to do with making Montreal a great fruit-distributing point than any other man. He was the means of bringing the fruit vessels direct to Montreal, after years of labor spent in this direction, and, until his death, was the most important figure in the business.

What was about the commencement of the Mediterranean fruit business was the chartering of small ships by the old firm of Gillespie, Moffatt & Co., which began in 1857. These brought out principally wines from Sicily, but a few packages of oranges and lemons were generally included in the cargo. These seldom amounted to more than 1,000 packages. The auctions were then held at Quebec.

In 1862, the Thompson Line began to send a couple of sailing ships to the port of Montreal every spring laden with Mediterranean fruits and wines. After them, small steamers began to arrive, and, as the trade increased, so did the size of the ships, until the present vessels were put into use.

A BIG COMBINATION'S EXPANSION.

THE expansion of the Atlantic steamship combination is easily the subject of most general interest in the financial and commercial world this week.

Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, who was the chief factor in bringing about the combination last year, has been equally as active in promoting the present scheme, which enormously increases the magnitude and importance of the organization of last year.

Full details of the undertaking have not yet been made public, but enough is known to give one an idea of its importance.

The White Star Line, with its steamers aggregating 133,675 tonnage, has certainly been taken over by the combination. The White Star Line is noted for having the largest steamers plying between America and Europe, namely, the Oceanic of 17,274 tons and the Celtic of 20,900 tons.

Negotiations are apparently pending with other lines. But it remains to be seen whether they will be successful or not. It is well known that the efforts to secure the Cunard Line have so far proved abortive. The Cunard Line, in fact, appears to have got up a little combination on its own account, having, it is said, secured working agreements with such Transatlantic companies as the North German Lloyds, the Hamburg-American, Generale Transatlantique (French), and the Allan and Anchor Lines.

Mr. Morgan's steamship combination now controls about 840,077 of Atlantic tonnage, made up as follows, counting the steamers of the absorbed companies now being built :

Leyland Line	110,607
West India and Pacific Fleet	158,659
American Line	44,871
Red Star Line	131,173
White Star Line	133 675
Atlantic Transport Line	185,343
Dominion Line	73,749
Grand total	840,077

The new combination is to be incorporated under the laws of New Jersey. The exact capital stock has not yet been decided upon, but it is expected to be from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000. The money necessary to carry out the deal has already been subscribed.

The underwriting syndicate is practically the same which underwrote the Billion-Dollar Steel Trust, as it is called, and it is understood that each of the different lines comprising the steamship combination will conduct its own affairs, subject to supervision by the head centre, just as is done by the different companies which compose the steel trust.

The fact that some of the steamers which have become the property of the combination are on the British Admiralty list has caused some concern as to whether, if Great Britain was at war, she could secure these vessels if required for service. Upon this point Mr. Perkins, one of Morgan & Co.'s partners, in an interview in a New York paper says : "There will be no change in the status of steamers sailing under the British flag. In case of war Great Britain has the right to call upon these ships for service, notwithstanding they are under control of an American company."

If this is true it will greatly reconcile the British—and the Canadian public as well—to the gigantic combination which has just been effected by Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan and his associates.

An effort is being made in the Congress of the United States to "roast" the beef trust.

A FEATURE OF YOUNG HYSONS.

Ordinary terms in applying strength in Young Hyson teas hardly at present convey the position of all grades of these teas.

Third Young Hysons, which last season were quoted at 12½ to 13c., are almost unobtainable on this market to-day at 16½ to 17c. Good liquoring points which were offered three months ago at 18 to 19c. are practically cleaned up, and are not to be had here at any figure. What is left of these teas in shippers' hands are held at 24 to 26c. Good makes of firsts, and sifted are proportionately scarce and dear. In gunpowders, Pingsueys appear to be absolutely out of the market, and cheaper Moyunes are very much in the same position.

There will be nothing to relieve the position of Young Hysons and gunpowders until the arrival of new-crop teas, which, coming upon a bare market, both here and in the United States, will, no doubt, bring higher prices than those prevailing last season.

WHY TILSONBURG HAD ONE "L."

A good many people have no doubt wondered why the name of Tilsonburg has been spelt with one "l" when the name of the founder, George Tillson, was spelt with two "l's."

During the last session of the Ontario Legislature a Bill was introduced to spell the word with two "ll's," and it then came out that the cause of the word being spelled with one "l" was an error on the part of a clerk. But, although it was an error, the town had to get along with one "l" until an Act was passed at the last session of the Ontario Government to spell it as it was originally intended, with two "ll's," after the founder of the town, whose son, Mr. E. D. Tillson, died in January last at an advanced age.

Such are the ways of red-tape.

PRICE OF PORTO RICO MOLASSES.

Advices received on Wednesday from Ponce, Porto Rico, say that the market is firm with the good demand from the United States showing no signs of abatement. Lots offering find ready buyers. Choice grocery is quoted at 20c.; extra choice, 21c.; fancy, 23c., f. o. b. per wine gallon. Stocks are small. The advices express the opinion that prices will not be sustained, but think, nevertheless, that they may possibly experience slight advances during the remainder of the crop.

On the basis of the above, Halifax prices are 31 to 33c. per imperial gallon.

ANDREWS, BELL & CO. DISSOLVE.

Andrews, Bell & Co., Montreal, have dissolved. Mr. J. B. Bell, the resident partner in Montreal, has joined with his father, Mr. Thomas Bell, and his brother, Mr. Thomas Bell, jr., in forming a new company, carrying on business in Montreal and Liverpool. Messrs. MacGilchrist and Hobson, partners of the old Liverpool firm, are forming a new and separate company under the style of Andrews, Gillespie & Co., which will also do business in Montreal as well as in Liverpool.

HOUSE CLEANING HELPS IN THE WINDOW.

With the coming of pleasant weather house cleaning will be on with a rush, says Grocery World, and a display of articles needed for such work will help keep the grocer making such a display in the minds of the public and his store a subject of conversation. First prepare a platform from empty boxes of equal depth. Starch boxes or others equally as deep will answer best. This platform should fill the entire floor space of the window, with the exception of a space about five inches wide between the front and sides of the window and the same parts of the platform. Take a sample broom and fasten it with a couple of wire nails to the blank side of the window close to the glass in front. Fasten the broom in a horizontal position with the bottom of the corn about three inches above the top of the platform.

The broom in front should be a sample of the finest grade carried in stock, and samples of every other grade of brooms sold should be fastened in the same manner all the way across the side of the window. Place the brooms close enough to permit the spaces between the handles to be not over 10 inches wide, and if the variety of brooms carried in stock is not large enough to cover the side of the window with a sample of each kind repeat the samples.

The spaces between the handles of the brooms are to be filled with scrubbing brushes, each space to be occupied with one kind of brush only. Brushes should be arranged alternately, with backs to the wall and brush to the wall; this arrangement will help the novelty of the display and at the same time show both sides of the brush. A word here about brushes in general. When buying stock always select brushes of neat, and even attractive, finish, keeping in mind, of course, wearing quality also. Women are influenced to buy more quickly, and even at advanced prices, brushes which are attractively finished when placed in comparison with others just as good for wear and which cost about the same wholesale, but which are not well finished. There are many grocers who pay no attention to this important point. In the arrangement of brushes, another feature to introduce is to place one end of each brush about three inches higher on the wall than the other end. In the first row have the right-hand side of the row of brushes higher than the left, and in the second, have the left side the higher, and keep this up across the side of the window. Each brush can be held in position by three wire nails, two at the bottom and one on the lower side of the brush near the top fastened in the side of the window, and the brush laid on them. Of course, the brushes must be kept in line and an equal distance apart in the rows to make a neat appearance.

Next take the dust brushes and make strings of each kind sold in the store by fastening the handles of one to the brush end of the other, making each string as long as necessary to reach from a circle in the centre of the window, about six feet above the platform to the edges of the window ceiling, all around, forming a graceful curve with each string of brushes. The circle above referred to can be made from a piece of hoop or wire, and should be about one foot in diameter, and supported from the ceiling with a strong cord well fastened. Where the window lights are from fixtures in the centre of the window ceiling this plan will have to be modified so that the hanging brushes will not interfere with the light or cause danger of fire.

The vacant space around the platform can now be filled with washing soda, high enough to come over the edges of the platform. In the centre of the platform, build a four-step pyramid from empty boxes and cover with clean manila wrapping paper. This pyramid should be filled with bottles of ammonia and liquid insect killers, and the space on the floor of the platform divided into as many sections as desirable to display the variety of soaps and washing powders that are on display. The various soaps and powders can be separated with thin strips of board, two inches high, and the soaps and powders dumped right in without any attempt at placing packages in regular order. The back of the window can be finished with buckets placed across in a row, and as many rows built as there are varieties. Each broom, brush and bucket should have a price card. This may seem foolish, but those who have never seen a display where every single article has a separate card do not know how much the attractiveness and usefulness of the display is increased by this way of marking when the cards are all one size and placed in regular order. The soda and other materials should also have plenty of price marks. If they are too bothersome to make, they can be bought cheap enough from printing establishments which make a specialty of them.

BEST RESULTS IN ADVERTISING.

The merchant who, having built up a successful business on a certain plan or business method, is adverse to accepting new ideas for his store management and advertising, and in staying with the ship which carries his business safely through the channel and frequent squalls near shore, says Marshall W. Dorsey in The Saint Paul Trade Journal, finds new and even greater dangers facing his business ship in the mid-ocean of commercialism.

It is with justifiable pride that a retail merchant who has so successfully managed his business as to build up a large trade and store refuses to adopt new ideas or change his plan of advertising in the least. But when he balks at the hilt of progress he falls into the one-idea rut which will sooner or later relegate him to the class of has-beens—moss-backs. New and more progressive business methods adopted by some other store will capture his customers' trade; draw the trade from his store just as his method and plan of doing business pulled trade from others when his were new.

The business methods and advertisements which attract buyers to a store to-day will be antiquated in a few years hence and called fogyism. Business men who doubt this would confer a great favor on and place the young business man of to-day under lasting obligations to him if they would explain the reason or reasons for the comparatively short life of so many retail stores to-day; many concerns which prosper for a short period, two, five or 10 years, and then their trade begins to wane until closed out or absorbed by a rival with new business ideas and methods.

Think a minute, Mr. Merchant, see how many firms were in business and successful. Jot down the names of those who have quit for various reasons; make a list of the most successful and progressive stores in your town to-day and the number of years each have been in business under its present ownership or management. You'll be surprised at the figures in the three columns. Why is it? I say we all fall in a rut when we get stuck on our own business ideas so much that we refuse to listen to others and use the knowledge thus gained in improving our system and keep our business methods abreast of the times.

There are many merchants who fear to change their plan or way of advertising because it proved successful five years ago and built up their business, and although they realize that their trade is not as good as it should be—that several thousand new people have moved into their town or city, many of whom have seen business conducted on more modern methods—still cling to the old way and find fault with the new ideas suggested. It is a good plan for one member of the firm or one of the managers to take a few weeks vacation once or twice a year and visit larger cities, or at least get away from your locality and see how the most successful stores are conducted, get new ideas, pointers, and utilize them for the betterment of your own store.

The advertising methods of the average successful advertiser undergo decided changes after success has crowned the earlier campaign. To advertise successfully and make it pay you must study the trade conditions, people's wants, whims, modes, and the new goods you have to offer; study all the time, there's no resting place. The advertising manager and writer who is successful is always at the highest tension—the most strenuous life of all professions.

The world is full of schemers who plan to get rich quickly, and who rely on advertising to do the trick, but they do not understand the advertising business or they would devote their attention to some other field. Advertising is not the soft proposition many imagine it to be.

Many advertisers hamper their advertisement writers with their own ideas to such an extent that the material turned out is directly opposite in character to that which would have resulted without any interference. If you have a good ad. writer let him do the writing. Suggest any good ideas that may occur to you, but do not pester him with your views on phraseology or the use of individual words. If he is a good ad. writer he knows what he is doing, and it is a waste of time and grey matter to grasp at fancied flaws in his work. They may be his strong card and if he always submitted his copy to you and changed it to conform with your ideas of grammar and correct phraseology, your advertising would fall into old ruts. That's why he needs your ideas and you need an ad. writer.

The only way to avoid it is to read your trade journals. Every wide-awake merchant should take at least one or more good trade journals, and the ad. writer will find good brain food, new ideas, get other progressive merchants' opinions, will have an opportunity to criticize and compare theirs with his own, and if he is not too narrow gauged he'll avoid the ruts.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Toronto, April 24, 1902.

GROCERIES.

IF anything, the wholesale grocery trade is not as brisk as it was a week ago. Business, however, is usually characterized by a lull at this time of the year. Trade, however, is not what might be termed dull. What business is being done is of a steady sorting-up character, as a rule. Prices rule much about the same as they did a week ago. The outside sugar markets are again demoralized, but no change has taken place in Canadian up to the time of writing. Canned goods are meeting with a fair sorting-up demand and prices are fairly steady, except for corn. Canned meats are particularly strong, and higher prices are almost certain. Teas are, as a rule, quiet. If anything, the demand for coffee is a little better on retail account than it was. All foreign dried fruits are meeting with a fair demand at steady prices. Prices rule steady. Tapioca is firmer in the primary markets this week.

CANNED GOODS.

The chief feature of the canned goods market is the strength of meats. The packers are firmer in their views and are refusing to duplicate orders except at an advance. It is quite likely that within the next few days higher prices all round may be expected. Canned tomatoes are keeping steady, the ruling quotations being 92½ to 95c., with some brands held at 97½c. The demand is fair. Peas are in fair demand at 80c. Corn is weak and nominally unchanged at 70c. Fruits are in little better demand, and a moderate sorting-up business is being done. For the season there is a fairly good business being done in canned salmon. We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

COFFEES.

The Brazilian coffee market was a little higher early in the week, but the market has been, as a rule, weak and irregular since our last review. The statistical position is not one, however, to inspire confidence in the market. Local importers are indisposed to operate while the market remains in its present position. The demand from the retail trade has been rather better during the past week. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

SPICES.

The pepper market is firm and a further advance in prices is anticipated. Ginger is firm. Cloves are a little higher in the primary market. Other kinds of spices appear to be much about the same as a week ago.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

Advices report Patna rice 6d. per cwt. higher. Tapioca, on the other hand, is lower. Local wholesalers report a fairly good demand for both tapioca and rice.

See pages 37 and 38 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c.

NUTS.

Filberts have advanced 2s. 6d. per cwt. in the primary market, and Tarragona almonds are firmer with an upward tendency.

SUGAR.

The outside sugar markets are demoralized. Beet-root sugars have again made a new low-price record. They declined 4½d. during the week, and the quotation at the time of writing, is 6¾d. f.o.b. Hamburg, or 2¼d. below the previous lowest price. In New York raw sugars were firmly held, and sellers were unwilling to accept less than 3½c. for 96 test centrifugals. Some sold at 1-32c. advance or 3 13-32c. But since then prices have reacted on a small sale to 3⅜c., leaving the price unchanged for the week. At this figure 96 test centrifugals in New York are still above the parity of beet sugars.

The demand for refined sugar on the local market is, perhaps, a little better, buyers' necessities having made themselves felt. At the same time, however, there is still much to be desired.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrup is now in fairly-good demand. The demand for maple syrup this spring has been excellent. A fair trade is being done in molasses. Advices from New Orleans say that sales of fairly-large quantities of molasses have been made there at prices indicating an advance of 1c. per gal. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle,

TEAS.

There have been a few inquiries for Japan teas of standard grades, but there are not many of the description wanted offering. The representatives of Japan tea houses are looking for a fairly good trade this season, as stocks are pretty well cleaned up. A cable despatch received a few days ago said that the Japan tea crop was expected to be late, and about 20 per cent. less in quantity than last year. There are not many Ceylon greens offering, and transactions have been few.

In flavory Ceylon black teas there has been quite a little business doing by the brokers during the past week.

Mail advices from London, England, under date of April 11, say that the market opened with a comparatively small sale. Buyers showed more disposition to operate and the depression ruling before the holidays was not so apparent. Good liquoring teas were well competed for, although medium and common were slightly irregular. In Ceylon teas the auction passed somewhat irregularly. Medium teas were slightly easier; common about maintained rates, while better class teas sold at good prices.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—Business is good. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. The market in Greece is unchanged.

VALENCIA RAISINS—Prices are a couple of shillings dearer in London. Supplies there are practically exhausted, and the probability is that prices will go still higher. Prices have advanced this week in New York. On the local market the demand is fairly good and stocks are getting light, while prices are firm. The ruling quotation is 6¾c. per lb.

PRUNES—A good steady trade is being done. Prunes appear to be rather easy in the United States, where old fruit is pressing for sale. We quote as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's., 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES—The demand is fair at 4½c. per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—Peaches and apricots are going out well. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 14c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

FIGS—Figs of all kinds are getting pretty well cleaned up. Tapnets are in fairly good demand at 3½ per lb.

GREEN FRUITS.

Oranges are scarce and Californian navels have advanced 25c. per box, and Valencias 50c. per case. Pineapples are more plentiful, but the samples arriving are mostly small and green. The demand for bananas is good, but their prices are kept up by a trust. Tomatoes are plentiful, and their prices are 50 to 75c. per case lower than last week. Strawberries are also easier. Californian lemons are out of the market, and Messina lemons have advanced 50c. per case. We quote as follows: Oranges, Mexicans, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian navels, $4.25 to $4.75 per box; Mediterranean sweets, $4 00 to $4.50; Valencias, $5 to $5.50 per small case, $6 to $6.50 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $4 to $5.50 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; bananas, $1.50 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $5 to $5.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Egyptian onions, $3.00 per sack; Messina lemons, $2.75 to $3.50; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $3.50 to $4 for fancy and $3 for choice per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 15 to 20c. per pint, and 30 to 40c. per quart.

VEGETABLES.

There is a good demand for rhubarb and lettuce. Cabbage also ls selling well. Potatoes are 10c. per bag higher. We quote as follows: Green onions, 10c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.00 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 40 to 50c. per bag; turnips, 25 to 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bush; potatoes, 75 to 85c. per bag.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The prices of eggs in the country are still high and the arrivals are moderate. Eggs are quoted at 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

BEANS—There is but little trade doing. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40; prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY — The demand is slow. We quote as follows: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.; dark honey, 5 to 5½c. per lb.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR — Trade is becoming quiet. We quote as follows: Maple syrup, in 10-lb. tins 90c., and 90c. to $1.10 per imperial gallon. Maple sugar is quoted at 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—Trade is slack and prices are steady. We quote: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—The receipts are small, the farmers being busy with the seeding, and prices have advanced 5 to 7c. per bag. They are quoted at 60 to 65c. per bag on the track.

POULTRY.

LIVE POULTRY—There is not much trade doing. The Canadian Produce Co., Limited, 36 and 38 Esplanade street east, Toronto, will pay, until further notice, for live chickens, 9c., for ducks and turkeys 12c., for geese, 6c. per lb. All must be young birds. For hens and pullets, 5c. per lb.; broilers, 25c. per lb. (must be this year's hatching and under 2 lb. each). Dressed poultry, dry picked (except hens), ½c. lb. higher. These prices are for weight on arrival. Crates for live poultry supplied free, and express paid up to 50c. per 100 lb. of chickens. No thin birds will be taken.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—The arrivals are larger and are expected to increase with the warm weather. The prices are still high. We quote: Choice 1-lb. prints, 18 to 20c.; large rolls, 17 to 19c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 22c. per lb.

CHEESE—The stocks on hand are light, and a slight advance is not improbable. Fresh fodder cheese will soon be offered for the local trade. We quote cheese 11½ to 12c. per lb. in small lots and 11¼ to 11¾c. per lb. for export.

FISH.

There have been large receipts of trout and whitefish, for which there is a good demand, and the prices of the former are down to 7c. per lb. all around. Some mullet are being offered at 3c. per lb., and some catfish at 10c. per doz. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; Lake Erie perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7c.; mullet, 3c.; pike, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c., and catfish, 10c. per doz.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There has been a boom in the wheat market and the prices of Manitoba and Northern wheat have advanced 2c. per bushel. The opening of navigation has resulted in large shipments of wheat from the West. We quote: Manitoba hard wheat, 86½; No. 1 Northern, 83½ and No. 2 Northern, 80½c. per bushel. The price of Ontario fall wheat is nominal at 71 to 79c. per bushel. The street deliveries are very small, only a few oats being received at 46 and 47c. per bushel.

FLOUR — Trade is steady, and the buyers are holding off on account of the boom in the wheat market. Prices are firm. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4.00; Manitoba bakers', $3.70; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The prices of oatmeal and rolled oats have declined 10c. per bbl. on account of the weakness of the oat market. The demand for all kinds of breakfast foods is fair. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4 75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.50; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, April 24, 1902.

GROCERIES.

A GOOD steady demand for groceries has kept up through the week, and the increase in business with country points has been encouraging. Berger's starch has declined since the breaking up of the combine, and is now selling at 9¾c. and 10¼c. for ¼-lb. and 1-lb. boxes respectively. Canadian pickles are getting scarce. The last year's crop of cucumbers has become nearly exhausted, and manufacturers of pickles are not in a position to supply as liberally as formerly. Although there has been no advance as yet in bottled pickles, if the present demand continues it will likely result in higher prices. Pickles in bulk, in wood, have advanced about 5c. per gallon. The market is firmer already. Lima beans are selling at a lower price now and are quoted at 6½ and 7c. Since the season is rapidly approaching when all dried fruits which would possibly be affected by the warm weather will have to be placed in cold storage for the summer, prices, generally, have been reduced to facilitate the demand. Our quotations are still the correct market prices, but the situation in dried fruits makes it possible to buy at almost any price. The combine on Canadian vermicelli and macaroni has come to an end, with the result of lowering prices. In boxes, the price is slightly over 4c. per lb., and in barrels, a little over 3½c. per lb. Cream of tartar has gone up 2s. on the primary market, and there is every prospect of a continuance of the present firm prices, if not a further advance.

SUGAR.

Granulated sugar is still quoted at $3.90, and yellows sell for $3.15 to $3.80. The market has been quiet this month, but dealers look for better prices in a few days. The raw sugar market in New York has something of a firmer tone, but prices are steady.

TEAS.

On the local market there has been some improvement in the demand from country buyers, but the volume of business is still small. A cable received from Yokohama on Saturday in regard to the new Japan tea crop says: "The market is expected to be late; 20 per cent. less (?)" This seems to support our last advice from Japan about the frost damage, and importers feel convinced that the market will open higher. At the auction of March 25 in Colombo, of Ceylon teas, 10,148 packages were sold. The general tone of the market was steady, with medium sorts somewhat irregular. Good liquoring teas were well competed for, and prices kept firm. As to quality the selection was not up to the standard of the previous week. For flavory teas and tippy brokens the market showed a firmer tendency.

SYRUPS.

There is not much interest shown in this market at present. Trade is very quiet. Corn syrups are quoted as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

The demand for Barbados molasses is good, but in spite of the cutting going on has not increased appreciably. The business doing is in small lots. Barbados on spot and to arrive is selling at 23 to 24c., according to the quality, and we hear that some large lots have been disposed of at even less than 23c. Antigua is in the usual demand at 24c. Porto Rico sells for 38c. per gallon.

CANNED GOODS.

Business in canned goods is still active in almost all lines. Gallon tomatoes are very scarce on this market at present. Morton's Singapore pineapples are selling at a lower figure now. The new stock to arrive has been quoted lower by exporters, and as this will be shipped very soon, it has had its effect on this market already. Prime white pea beans were advanced by the growers 2½c. per bushel, and following this jobbers have raised their prices by the same amount. The lower rate of freight and the benefits of the preferential duty enables English peas, packed in French style, to be imported much below prices for similar goods from France, to the best brands of which English peas are now recognized to be fully equal. The price will range from $8.25 per gross to $11.50 for extra fin. We quote: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn (ordinary) 80c.; tomatoes, 90 to 90½c.; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1.00; salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for "Clover Leaf" talls.

SPICES.

The market for spices is steady and a good demand continues. We quote as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA

Pearl and seeded tapioca and sago have been reduced on this market by some houses, who are now quoting 5⅜c. for bag lots. On the foreign market, however, medium and pearl tapioca, which have shown a continued weakness for some months, now display some firmness in prices for shipment from Singapore. No actual advance has been quoted, but the result has been that heavy forward orders have been placed. Our quotations are as follows in combine district: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags, and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½ to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The demand is moderate. Fine Filiatras, in ½ cases, 5⅝c.; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾ to 8c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The market is still very firm, and an active inquiry continues. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅝c., and layers, 6⅞c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—These are in good demand. The price remains at 9c. per lb.

CANDIED PEELS.—The market is steady under a fair demand. Prices are unchanged. Orange peel is worth 11½c., lemon, 10c., and citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—There is a scarcity of Malaga raisins, and the few holders consequently have an opportunity of considerably reducing their stocks. In the primary market there are no table raisins to be had. Our quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ¼'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—Business in dates is not active. There is still a scarcity. Hallowees are quoted at 4½c.

FIGS.—Tapnets sell for $1.20 and layers for $1.15. There is not much doing.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—There is nothing new to report in this market. Seeded raisins sell for 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The market is fairly active. We quote as follows: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—The demand for these keeps up. Apricots are quoted at 14½c., peaches, 10½c., and pears at 10c..

NUTS.

The market is about the same as last week. Trade continues fair. Almonds are still quoted at 12 to 13c., and an advance does not appear to be directly imminent. We quote: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Fresh creamery butter is quoted this week at 21c., a decline of 1c. since a week ago, though stocks held by dealers are still very light. The new butter will soon be coming in, and the market is on the verge of a decline. As a consequence buying at present is of a hand-to-mouth character. Large rolls, which are not plentiful, are still selling at 18c. Buyers from American cities are still visiting this market, but about all the butter suitable for their purposes has been already taken, and there is not much doing at present in this way. Some western dairy has appeared on this market, bringing 17c.

CHEESE.—The cheese market is in a more satisfactory condition this week. Several inquiries were received for export, and the price for best fall-made is placed at 57 to 58s. The price of new cheese at the factories is being well kept up. For finest colored we quote 11 to 11½c. per lb.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Eggs are still quoted at 12 to 12½c., the expected decline of ½c. not having taken place. This is accounted for by the small deliveries which were not by FOOLISH TALK.

Seal Brand
In 1 and 2-lb. Cans only.
(AIR-TIGHT.)

We hear a great deal of foolish talk nowadays about the possible harm from drinking coffee, and the market is full of unwholesome and cheap substitutes for coffee. If you have a customer who says coffee doesn't agree with him, ask him not to condemn all coffee. Roasted grain flavored with chicory may have patent medicine virtue, and it can be made to taste like coffee, but it has nothing of the flavor nor the wholesome value as a morning beverage which is found in pure coffee. You will be absolutely safe in selling him Chase & Sanborn's high-grade coffee.

at full figures. Best goods are all exported. Salmon seem quite plentiful, and there is quite a range in price. It is difficult to get high-grade fish, and they are held at full figures. In domestic fish, such as haddies, herring and sardines, the packing season is now on. Prices are unchanged.

GREEN FRUITS.—Bananas are the active line. There is a small war. Small bunches were retailed this week for 70c. For best stock full figures are asked. In Valencia oranges, prices are rather firmer with sales large. The demand is for regulars. Jamaicas are about the only other grade offered. They are held at quite good figures. In this fruit there is considerable waste just now. Lemons are still low and little change is expected. There was a large sale last week in Boston. Dealers are looking forward to the first sales in Quebec and Montreal. Except in a retail way, little other fruit is offered.

DRIED FRUITS.—Raisins move slowly. There is a fair demand for seeded, which are being sold low considering the Californian price. Some good Malaga loose are offered. In currants, rather lower prices rule. There is a fair sale for cleaned. In dates, full prices are asked, and the sale is light. The market is quite well cleaned up on figs and peels. There is very little inquiry. In prunes small sizes have a fair sale. The price is still low. Apricots and peaches are very quiet. Evaporated apples are well cleaned up. It has been difficult, however, to get full prices. Egyptian onions move freely. Prices on the other side are quite firmly held.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—The market is well cleaned up of cheese. Full prices rule. Our first new cheese come from Ontario. The reports are that quite high prices will rule. Butter is rather firmer, and the stock of poorer grade has been well cleaned up for export. This has very much improved conditions on our market. There are good supplies coming forward. Eggs are quite firm, though prices are quite low.

SUGAR.—In granulated the sale is very large, though there have been quite free receipts of foreign. The agreement between the refiners and the very large part of the trade is giving splendid satisfaction. Prices keep low.

MOLASSES.—In Porto Rico there is a fair supply. Prices continue low. The quality of Barbados received this season has been a pleasant surprise, and the price is well below Porto Rico. Stocks come to hand slowly, but it looks as if more would be used than for some few years. Some little Antigua is offered.

FISH.—Gaspereaux have chief attention and prices are low. The catch, so far, has been light. They have a good demand for bait. The alewives of last season are not all cleaned up. A few salmon have been caught. In dry fish rather easier prices rule. Pickled herring are dull. Prices are low. In smoked herring prices were never lower. The market is a very dull one. We quote: Haddies, 5 to 5½c.; smoked herring, 5 to 6c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered herring, 75c. per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.75.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, the market seems rather firmer, and there is a slight advance in Ontario grades. Business is not large. Oats and oatmeal show little change, although there is some range in millers' prices. Values are still quite high. Cornmeal is low, but quite firm. It is being sold at very close figures. Beans show no change. Sales at this season are light. Barley is rather lower. Split and blue peas are both scarce. In seeds, business is active. Timothy is high. Clover is, however, quite reasonable. We quote: Manitoba flour, $4.50 to $4.60; best Ontario, $4 to $4.10; medium, $3.60 to $3.80; oatmeal, $4.85 to $5.00; cornmeal, $2.95 to $3.00; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; handpicked beans, $1.40 to $1.50; prime, $1.30 to $1.40; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.50 to $4.55; hay, $12 to $14.

ST. JOHN NOTES.

James Paterson sold the first salmon of the season to the Royal Hotel last week.

Gandy & Allison receive weekly large shipments of Liverpool salt, including coarse, fine, and packing salt.

A. S. Bowman was receiving congratulations last week—the first boy. "The Grocer" extends congratulations.

Mr. Hamm, of The Maritime Spice and Coffee Co. met with a bad accident this week, and is confined to the house.

A. F. Randolph & Sons, Fredericton, have a large cargo of fancy and extra choice Porto Rico molasses about due.

Thomas Gorman is offering some selected Barbados molasses. The quality this year is particularly good and the price is low.

Mr. John Fullerton, of Rowat & Co., Glasgow, was in the city last week, and in company with the local representative, Mr. Fred Tippet, called on the trade.

Dr. W. W. White, who is connected with the wholesale house of V. S. White & Co., was last week elected mayor of St. John, N.B., by one of the largest majorities ever given to a candidate here. Among the aldermen elected were Mr. Thos. H. Bullock, one of the representatives of The Imperial Oil Co. Mr. Bullock is one of our younger business men and will be a great addition to the council. Capt. McMullen, a large retail grocer, was also elected.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only not pufls o goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

W. H. GILLARD & Co. are just in receipt of several hundred packages of very fine Ceylons and Japans, which they are offering at special prices.

H. P. Eckardt & Co. report a good demand for canned fruits in gallon tins.

W. H. Gillard & Co. have lately got on another consignment of Dixon's carburet of iron stove polish.

Buyers of evaporated apricots and peaches should get prices from H. P. Eckardt & Co.

The William Bros. Co., Limited, pickles, catsups and sauces are in good demand with L. Chaput, Fils & Cie.

Buyers of vinegar should inquire for prices from L. Chaput, Fils & Cie before placing orders. They will get a surprise.

MacUrquarht's Worcester Sauce is again on the Canadian market and the agents, A. P. Tippet & Co. report large orders. This sauce is being offered at a special price.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie report a large demand for Greenbank lye and chloride of lime, for which they are selling agents.

A car of Griffin & Skelley's Santa Clara prunes was distributed among the Montreal trade last week. The superior curing and appearance of this fruit make it a favorite with the trade.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie have just received three carloads of "Provincial" brand greengage plums and Bartlett pears. Customers who have not already bought a few cases should inquire after them.

Hudon, Hebert & Cie, have now on hand a lot of Grenoble walnuts, pure Mayettes, of the first quality and in perfect condition, which is somewhat unusual this year, as up to the present all Grenoble walnuts have been generally of a very poor quality.

T. A. Lytle & Co., pickle manufacturers, Toronto, have this week sent carloads of their goods to Montreal, Quebec, Sault Ste. Marie, Winnipeg, and other points. Night work has been a necessity in order to promptly fill their orders.

MAY AGAIN ADVANCE BEEF.

A special meeting of the Butchers' Section of the Toronto Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was held on Tuesday night, April 22, to further consider the advances in the price of meat. The butchers who had adopted the scale of prices drawn up last week found that the new prices were still too low for the present high prices of beef and live cattle.

It was also believed that the prices of beef would still advance and it was thought advisable to hold another meeting next week to decide whether they would further increase the prices or not. Chairman Puddy presided.

THE GROCERS' SECTION.

THE regular meeting of the grocers' section of the Toronto branch of The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was held in their rooms, 157 Bay street, on Monday evening, April 21. F. C. Higgins was in the chair.

A number of members spoke favorably of a price restrictive plan that is being placed before the Association. The plan calls for a contract between the manufacturers and wholesalers and the retail merchants in which the two first named agree to sell their goods at a uniform price to the retailer, regardless of the quantity he buys. The retail merchant in turn promises not to sell out the same goods below a stipulated price mentioned in the agreement. One manufacturing firm has agreed to adopt this plan, and circulars and copies of the agreement are being sent around for the retail grocers to sign. Many members affixed their signatures to this contract.

The petition now in circulation amongst the retail merchants of Canada regarding the stamping of scales it was decided to endorse. This petition prays that the Government remove the charges at present made on the merchant when his scales and measures are inspected. As this inspection is for the benefit of the general public, it is urged that the merchant ought not to defray the whole cost of having his weights and measures examined.

A communication was received from the fruiterers' section, asking the aid of the grocers' section in their endeavor to have the wholesale fruit merchants agree not to sell goods direct to the consumer. A committee consisting of F. C. Higgins, C. Simpson, and J. W. Nettleton was appointed to act with another committee from the fruiterers, and both committees will confer with a delegation from the wholesale fruiterers on this question.

CURRY POWDER.

Curry powder, says The American Grocer, is made from turmeric, cayenne pepper, ginger and various spices, all ground or pounded into a fine powder. In India the poorer natives live almost entirely on rice flavored with a few pinches of curry powder.

The word "curry" comes from a Persian word—Khurdi—meaning broth. It was originally prepared in the East Indies, where the great principle seemed to be to employ cayenne to give heat, fruit to give acid and raisins to give sweetness—sugar being also used. When prepared, it represents a kind of stew made of meat, fish, fowl, fruit, eggs, vegetables, with rice as a characteristic ingredient ; cooked with bruised spices, such as cayenne—coriander seed, ginger, garlic, fried onions, turmeric, apples and lemon juice being frequently added.

LONDON'S FIRST BAKESHOP IN 1443.

Previous to 1443 there were no bakers' shops in London, says our exchange. Before that date the inhabitants of Stratford were bakers for the whole city. They sold their bread every day except on Sundays and great festivals, which was brought in carts ; and they were ordered to stand—three in Cheapside, two in Cornhill and one in Grace Church street. The Stratford baking finally ceased in 1568.

In the year 1512, there being a great scarcity, the Stratford bakers were severely handled by the famishing populace. In the latter part of Henry VI. the citizens purchased the ancient fabric called Leadenhall, and, under the direction of Sir Simon Eye, it was converted into a public granary.

WILL SELL CANADIAN GOODS.

Mr. J. W. Walker, who was in Toronto a few months ago en route to Great Britain after having spent several years in Canada, has a general commission business at 65 Robinson street, Glasgow, under the style of J. W. Walker & Co. The firm will make a specialty of Canadian products.

NEARING COMPLETION.

The refrigerating plant that is being installed in the premises of several produce merchants on Front and Colborne streets is advancing towards completion. The boilers and engines are now being installed, and the whole thing is expected to be in operation by May 15.

WILL HELP SALMON TRADE.

"No doubt," said a Toronto wholesaler, "the high price of fresh meats will tend to increase the consumption of canned salmon. The housekeeper can get two tins of canned salmon for 25c. There is scarcely anything cheaper than that."

TO TELL THE AGE OF EGGS.

An apparatus by which the age of eggs can be immediately discovered, says an exchange, has been invented by a German. It consists simply of a glass case containing a peculiar liquid. Several eggs can be put in at a time, and each one automatically records its age on the indicator line, whether it is five days or three weeks old.

The "Salada" Tea Co. has been working three nights a week for many weeks, never having been so busy.

POOR CROP OF OLIVE OIL.

IN his annual report from Naples, the British Consul says: "It is probable that never before has the stock of olive oil in Italy been at such a low ebb. As long ago as last June it seemed doubtful whether there was oil enough on the market to fulfil the engagements entered into by merchants, and the future of the article seemed to depend entirely upon the new crop. In normal circumstances the fruiting of the trees would have led to a decline in prices for spring shipments, but the effect this year after so many disappointments was scarcely perceptible. The crop promised well and did well. In fact, in some parts of the country, a record crop was expected as late as the end of September, when heavy rains swept the fruit from the trees and rendered it so gritty that it had to be washed before it could be put into the presses. Where this did not happen the rains of October greatly delayed the ripening of the fruit and caused the crop to be about a month behind its usual time.

"The fruit, however, is well nourished and perfectly sound, especially in the interior of the province of Bari, but more particularly so on the higher lands, which have been free from the worm which has caused a good deal of damage along the seaboard, especially in the districts of Fasano, Ostuni and the Capo di Lecce. Districts where the crop has been good will produce this season oils of such a high class as have not been placed on the market for many years past, particularly since the harvesting has been favored by fine, dry weather. In respect of quality, therefore, the outturn of the crop promises to be highly satisfactory, but in point of quantity it will probably leave much to be desired, as the crop varies widely in the different districts, being, for example, very small indeed in the neighborhood of Bari. The yield of oil per ton of olives taken all around will be light, because the fruit has been so soaked with rain that it will contain a great deal of water."

500 STORES OPEN ON SUNDAYS.

The Montreal police have made a canvass of that city and have found that no less than 500 stores are kept open there on Sundays. The rental of these stores vary all the way from $30 a year to $1,000, and foreigners are found to largely predominate amongst the owners. These will be tabulated according to nationality, and the widows and sickly will be separated from those run by able bodied men.

After this is done the police will be able to decide on whether they will enforce Sunday closing or not.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, Man., April 19, 1902.

TRADE has been very good all week, and applies to nearly all lines. Collections are reported fair.

SUGAR.—The drop of ¼c. per lb. noted last week will come into effect on Tuesday. Prices then will be: Granulated, $4.55; bright yellows, $3.85; extra ground, in barrels, $5.55; extra ground, in boxes, $5.30; powdered, in barrels, $4.80; ditto., boxes, $5.05; hard lumps, in barrels, $5.15; ditto., in ½ barrels, $5.25; ditto., per cwt., in boxes, $5.15. Soft lump, 10c. per 100 lb. under hard. Some German sugar is coming into this market, and is coming to the retail trade in mixed cars, presumably, because it is cheaper. Many dealers maintain that it is not in the same class with Redpath, St. Lawrence or British Columbia refineries.

CANNED GOODS.—Factories are now offering very freely on this market, but with few resulting sales. Buyers are not tempted to buy at the present high prices. Many lines—tomatoes especially—are too high. Corn, however, is regarded as good value. Peas are steady and in fair demand. It is felt here that the combine will not work so satisfactorily for the syndicate this year as in the past. The grievance of the wholesale men here is undoubtedly a sound and a strong one. Tomatoes are holding here at $2.40, but at present factory prices it would cost nearly that to bring them in. Corn is selling at $1.65 to $1.70. Canned fruits are in nominal demand, and there is slightly more call for canned meats.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS.—Valencia raisins are hard to obtain and prices are firm. The market is a little slow. Four-crown layers are worth $2.20 and fine off-stalk, $1.95. Currants are cheap, but the movement is very slow. Prices range from 5½ to 8c., according to quality and size of package. Californian fruits are firm. Apricots are in fair demand at 13½c. for fancy stock. Prunes are firm and in good demand at prices ranging from 5c. for 100-110's, to 8½c. for 40-50's, and 11¾c. for extra fancy, 20-30's.

NUTS.—New Brazilians are offered at 10 to 11c. Walnuts here are unchanged, but eastern stocks are considerably higher. Valencia almonds are scarce, but the movement is light.

COFFEE.—Mochas are abnormally cheap, and for no reason that can be assigned. Rios are fairly firm at 9 to 10c. for Nos. 5 to 7—New York standards.

FLOUR.—The special points of interest in the flour market this week have been the imposition of the duty in Great Britain and the advance of a shilling a sack, in addition to the duty, on the Liverpool market. Later in the week has come the news that the Ogilvies have advanced their price in Montreal, but up to this writing, the other great milling concern, The Lake of the Woods, has made no change. Locally, prices have not changed during the week. The demand is large and there has been considerable export. Ogilvie's Hungarian patent, $1.95; Glenora, $1.80; Alberta, $1.60; Manitoba, $1.40; Imperial, $1.20. Lake of the Woods Milling Company, Five Roses, $1.95; Red Patent, $1.80; Medora, $1.65; XXXX, $1.25; Hudson's Bay Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Strong Bakers', $1.80; Leader, $1.50; XXXX, $1.25; Gladstone Sweet Home Hungarian, $1.95; Home Rule, $1.80; Headingly Hungarian Patent, $1.95; Favorite Family Patent, $1.70; Strong Bakers', $1.60; Pansy, $1.25.

CEREALS.—Rolled oats are in brisk demand and there is considerable export trade. Prices are unchanged. We quote: 80's, $2.20; 40's, $1.10; 20's, 55c. Granulated and standard oatmeal, $2.75. Split peas have advanced slightly and are very firm at $2.85. Cornmeal is without change at $1.75. Barleys are in fair demand and at reasonable prices. Pot, $2.35; fancy pearl, $3.25. Wheat beans are again lower and are quoted at $1.60 to $1.65. This market also shows a growing demand for package cereals, and there is always some new breakfast food seeking the favor of the consumer. Quaker Oats, $4 per case of 3 doz.; Pettijohn's Wheat, $2.85 per case of 2 doz.; Cream of Wheat, $5.50 per case of 3 doz.; Malt Breakfast Food, $3.35 per case of 3 doz.; Swiss Breakfast Food, $5.50 per case of 3 doz.; Grape Nuts, $2 per case of 2 doz.; Postum Cereal, $2.25 per case of 2 doz.

VEGETABLES.—There has been more movement in potatoes this last week, and rumors of requirements for 10,000 bushels are floating around. Certainly, carloads have been in more demand. The price on track is 25c. per bushel. Those having large holdings are trusting that there may be a good export demand as most of them bought at high figures last fall in anticipation of a shortage which did not occur. Lettuce, radishes, parsley and green onions have dropped to 30c. per dozen. Carrots, parsnips and beets are dull and without change of price.

GREEN FRUITS.—The chief interest in this market has centred round bananas. An advance of 25c. a bunch in New Orleans and the addition of 10c. per cwt. freight from St. Paul has sent the price up to $3.50 per bunch, which is, of course, decreasing the sale. Texas strawberries are offering and the sample is fine. Price, $6 for 24 quarts.

NOTES.

The Lake of the Woods Milling Company have sent Mr. Charles M. Kittson, for some years their representative at Toronto, to represent them in South Africa. Mr. Kittson will travel over the whole country and will then decide where it is best to establish headquarters.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., April 21, 1902.

THERE has been the usual activity in the grocery trade during the last week, and business is considered as in a most satisfactory condition. Previous predictions of a brisk season's trade have been verified, and the volume of businsss done is in excess of previous years. Everything now points to a continuation of the same, and this may eventually be a "record" year in all lines of trade. The promptness with which payments continue to be made is also a healthy sign and indicates that there is an abundant supply of money afloat in the Province.

Bran and middlings have declined somewhat and will probably run lower as the season advances. Oats are still firm at 54 to 56c., and some of the dealers were asking 57c. last week. Oats are remarkably high for the season, and there is no expectation that they will be lower for some time. Hay is still held at $12 to $13, and those who have any to dispose of are firm in their views as to price. Within the last 10 days a quantity of Quebec hay was brought in, which had a tendency to reduce sales of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick product. Quebec hay was sold down to about $11 for fair quality.

The sugar and molasses market is uncertain and very unsatisfactory to the trade. During the last two weeks there were imported from the West Indies, by the direct steamers and also by sailing vessels, in the vicinity of 2,000 puncheons, 150 tierces, and 500 bbls. of molasses; also some 1,500 bbls. and 15,000 bags of sugar. A considerable quantity of this went forward, however, to the Upper Canadian markets. St. John merchants also have imported largely, and between the two points there is considerable cutting in prices. In fact, no one knows just what his neighbor is going to sell for. The nominal quotations, which I have obtained for publication, are: Porto Rico, 32 to 33c.; Antigua, 30c.; Barbados and Trinidad, 28c.; St. Croix, 26c. The dealers are hopeful that prices will soon settle down to a steady basis, as the present conditions are ruinous to the trade.

There is not a great deal doing in the fish business at present, except the regular shipments to Boston, New York and the West Indies. About all the dry fish has been marketed, and those who held back to the last moment got from 15 to 25c. over prices of a month ago. The last sales of Bank cod brought $3.75 as against $3.50 a month ago. There is very little fresh fish coming in as yet on account of the recent bad weather, but a change in that respect has taken place during the last few days and good arrivals may be expected this week. The South Shore and Bay of Fundy catches are still large, and the lobster fishing has improved. To-day, the lobster fishing opens on the North Coast of Nova Scotia and around P. E. Island.

Potatoes, fresh meats, and vegetables are all unchanged in price. The supply is only about equal to the demand, and the market remains firm. Eggs are now quoted at 12 to 13c. The supply of fresh-made creamery butter is coming in more freely, but is not equal to the demand and the price is still maintained at 22 to 23c. Other grades of butter are in better supply and the market is kept well stocked by importation. The market in cheese is firm and has a tendency to advance somewhat. Importations of new Ontario cheese have lately been made.

The price situation of provisions remains without any very material changes, except in flour, beef and pork. Flour has declined slightly, and though, when asked for quotations for publication, the dealers give the old figures, yet sales are being made at 10 to 25c. less than 10 days ago. The market may be considered firm, however. There has been for some time a tendency to advance in beef and pork, and quotations are continually changing and may still keep on in the same direction. Last week American pork advanced 50c., and is now quoted at $24.50 for clear, duty paid, and for mess, $22.50. American plate beef is now quoted at $17, $1 advance, while Canadian is still at $14.

SALMON CANNERS AND FORESHORE RIGHTS.

The British Columbia Government was waited on by a deputation from the Canners' Association of British Columbia on April 17, and asked to make some definite statement regarding the recent notice of lifting the reserve of the foreshore. The deputation was introduced by Thomas Kidd, M.P.P., and was composed of D. Bell Irving, Vancouver; Alex Ewen, New Westminster; W. McPherson, E. E. Evans, G. I. Wilson, J. E. McRae, N. D. Burdis, Vancouver; and R. J. Ker, of R. P. Rothet & Co., Victoria.

A notice of lifting the foreshore leases had been given and the canners feared that the Government might lease the only trap sites available without giving the canners an opportunity to secure them. The Provincial Government was urged to take no action until the Dominion Government had decided whether fish traps would be allowed or not. If the Dominion Government favored the traps, the best way would be to put the foreshore rights up at public auction. It was further urged that fish traps should not be given away before those engaged in the canning industry were given an opportunity to secure them.

The Government promised to give an answer to the deputation in a few days.

SOY.

SOY, which is the basis of the "Worcestershire" table sauces, is made, says an exchange, from a Chinese bean, known as "pak-toh," which is boiled and then packed in earthenware jars with an abundance of salt, where the beans are allowed to remain for a fortnight or more, until fermentation takes place. Afterwards the beans are beaten to a pulp with a variety of olive, after the latter has been boiled, and the resulting paste is placed in cloth pockets and freely washed with water, the water being allowed to filter completely through the pockets and their contents. The liquid is then poured into jars where it is mixed with thick Chinese molasses. When the Chinese need the mixture for the table they thin it down with water. The "pak-toh" bean is white, but soy is always brown in color.

It is said to be often counterfeited, but even the genuine article sometimes proves a disappointment to sauce manufacturers, the manufactured sauce, for some unknown reason, occasionally fermenting in the bottles as soon as the weather becomes warm. This is caused by some mysterious defect in the soy, but, according to one authority, the fermentation of table sauce is caused by adulteration of the soy.

ALMONDS AND RAISINS AT MALAGA.

The United States consul at Malaga, Spain, under date of March 24, writes: "For the information of importers of almonds and raisins in the United States, as well as of the growers of those products, I have to report that the stock of Jordan almonds in this market is virtually exhausted. There are, perhaps, a few hundred boxes still to be had, but it would be impossible for any exporter to fill a large order for bona fide Jordans. The crop of 1901 amounted to about 80,000 boxes, and these have virtually all been marketed in the United States and London at prices ranging from $6.50 to $8.25 per box of 25 lb.

"The prices of Jordans for the past two years have been higher than ever before known, and, unless California succeeds in producing these almonds, there is no reason to believe that the prices will fall, as the demand is always steady.

"There are a few thousand boxes of Valencias on hand, but these will probably be marketed within the next 60 or 90 days.

"The comparative prices of Jordans and Valencias f.o.b. Malaga for this year and last year at the present season are:

Description.	1901.	1902.
Jordans*	$7.00	$8.25
Valencias*	4.00	3.55

* These prices are for the grade most in demand, that known as "confectioners'." They do not have reference to the fancy grades.

"In the matter of Malaga raisins, it may be stated that all the clusters of last year's crop have been marketed. There are still ample stocks of London layers, however, the current price of which is 80c. per box f.o.b. Malaga."

A NEW RECIPE BOOK.

Walter Baker & Co., Limited, Dorchester, Mass., the manufacturers of cocoa and chocolate preparations, are about to issue a new and greatly enlarged edition of their booklet of choice recipes, prepared by Miss Parloa and other noted teachers of cooking. It is a very attractive publication of 80 pages, illustrated with half-tones and colored lithographs, and contains the most complete collection ever made of recipes in which cocoa or chocolate is used for eating and drinking. Vassar College and Smith College contribute their famous recipes for making fudge. A copy of the book will be sent free by mail to any applicant in the United States or Canada. Address, mentioning this paper, Walter Baker & Co., Limited, Dorchester, Mass.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Cold Storage in Nanaimo—Miscellaneous Notes.

A NEW cold storage plant is being installed at Nanaimo, B.C., by The Union Brewery Company. The machinery is supplied by Goldie & McCullough, Galt, Ont., and the plant is being put in by The Linde Company, Montreal. Space in this building, when it is completed, will be rented at nominal charges to merchants. Everything is expected to be in running order about May 1.

A PACKING FIRM'S DIFFICULTIES.

The affairs of The Harriston Pork Packing Co., Harriston, Ont., are in bad shape. At a meeting of the shareholders recently a financial report showed a deficit of $14,000 on the business of the year, and a loss, besides, of $6,000 on the bacon and lard on hand, bring it up to $20,000. To meet this deficit and provide the capital necessary to continue the business, it was decided that subscriptions for $40,000 more of capital stock would have to be obtained. It was proposed that 40 per cent. be written off the face value of the stock already held, but that the new stock should be sold at its face value. It is hoped by this to induce people to buy the new stock.

The factory has been closed for two months, and no date for reopening has yet been announced.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The receipts of beef and veal are fair, but dressed hogs are scarce. The market for beef and dressed hogs continues strong, on account of the good demand for them and the high prices for live stock. Veal and lamb are firm and unchanged. We quote as follows: Dressed hogs, $8.50 to $8.75; beef carcasses, $8.00 to $9 00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $9.00 to $10.00 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $6.50 to $7.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 9c. per lb.; lambs, 10½ to 11c. Live hogs: Selects, $6.50, lights, $5.75 to $6.25 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.50 to $6.25; choice export cattle bring $5.75 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $5.00 to $5.50.

Smoked and cured meats are moving freely, and barrel pork is steady. Lard is in fair demand, and the prices are steady. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c. smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11c.; medium hams, 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $20.50 to $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The market in general this week has been steady, with a fair demand for smoked meats and lard, while there is still very little doing in pork. Chicago pork has again advanced 25c. In dressed hogs there is a firmer feeling, and an advance of 25c. per 100 lb.. for fresh killed country hogs took place, bringing the price up to $8.75 to $9. In live hogs the market is also firmer and higher, $6.75 being obtained now. Lard, both pure and compound, is still in good demand. Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22.00; Chicago clear pork, $25.75 for heavy and $25.25 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—Demand is good, but the supply is light and some of it rather undesirable, being underfed. Prices are firm, being 8c. for the best and 7¼ to 7¾c. for inferior grades.

VEAL—The supply has not noticeably increased, but the quality is rather better. Price is unchanged at 8½ to 9c.

MUTTON—Very little call at present.

CURED MEATS—The market is firm and although there has been no advance since last review there is every indication of there being one before long. The sole cause of the advance would appear to be the increased demand. We quote: Sugar-cured hams, 13½c.; shoulders, 10½c.; picnic hams, 9½c.; breakfast bellies, 14¼c.; backs, 13¾c.; spiced rolls, 11¼c.; dry salt long clear, 11¾c.; shoulders, 9¾c.; smoked long clear, 12¼c.; backs, 12¼c.

LARD—The market is firm with fair demand and without change of price. We quote: Tierces, 12½c.; 50 lb. tubs, $5.85; 20-lb. pails, $2.40; American ditto, $2.50; 10 lb. tins in cases, $7.35; 5 and 3-lb. tins, $7.50.

BUTTER — The situation has improved considerably so far as the receipt of additional quantities is concerned, though the present supply is far from equal to the demand. Prices, however, have dropped slightly. Dealers are now paying 18 to 20c. for the best grades, and 14 to 16c. for lower grades. New creamery is offering as yet in a jobbing way, the small output of the two local creameries going direct to the retail trade.

CHEESE—Small sales of Ontario at 14c. have been made during the week.

EGGS—Supplies are rather light on this market, the bulk of the shipments of the week going to British Columbia. Prices are fairly firm and eggs are jobbing here at 13 to 15c. according to grade of freshness.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

The barrelled pork and beef prices are very high, particularly in beef. While sales are not active there is always a fair sale at this season. Lard is unchanged. Sales rather slow. Market is thought to be quite firm. In fresh pork firm prices rule. In beef, while Western is very firmly held, domestic is rather easier, supply being quite free. Mutton is quite high. There is a good supply of veal. Lambs are still scarce. We quote: as follows: American clear pork, $22 to $23; domestic mess pork, $21; plate beef, Canadian, $14.50 to $15; mess pork, American, $21.50; plate beef, American, $15.50 to $16; fresh beef, 6½ to 9c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails, 12¼c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¼c.; pails, 10½c.

THE GROCER regrets to report the death of Mr. Frank Tufts, one of our most respected merchants. Mr. Tufts was for many years one of our largest importers of barrelled pork and beef.

A car of Fairbank's standard lard was distributed to the trade this week.

PROVISION NOTES.

UNDERSTANDING AS TO LARD PRICES.

Interests identified with the lard industry in the United States, say that there is an understanding throughout the trade as to prices. An authority in that line remarked the other day to The New York Journal of Commerce: "If you say the lard men have formed a combination you would not be correct. If you say they have made an agreement you would be exaggerating. The truth is that they have a pretty good understanding as to prices. Even this statement would probably be denied if you made inquiry at the offices of the principal lard men. It is, however, a fact."

The price of lard is now about twice what it was five years ago. Within the past four months there has been a rise in the price of from 1 to 3c. Representatives of the large packing companies and lard refining companies accounted for the rise by natural causes and insisted that there was great competition in the lard trade. A representative of Swift & Co. said: "Competition is very vigorous in the lard trade. To say that there is a lard trust would be as absurd as it is to say that there is a beef trust. The price of lard has risen for the same reason that the price of beef has risen—because there is a scarcity of stock in the West, due to a scarcity of feed—that is, corn. That is the only reason the price has gone up."

According to one report, the companies that were parties to the combination, agreement or understanding as to prices were Swift & Co., Armour & Co., N. K. Fairbank & Co., the Central Lard Co., Nelson Bros. & Co., G. H. Hammond & Co., Fowler Bros., the Southern Oil Co., and others.

FOR USING BORAX IN MEAT.

A press despatch from St. Paul, Minn., says: "The wholesale meat dealers arrested at instigation of the retail dealers have been arranged on charge of using borax as a meat preservative. They demurred to the charge and their cases were continued until April 29. A case similar to these is now pending in the Supreme Court, and it is expected that a decision will be had before the date of trial. Testimony was introduced in the Minneapolis case tending to prove that the use of borax is not injurious. On this point the decision rests."

GROATS FOR BLOOD PUDDING.

When we were in business in England groats were used in preparing blood pudding, but inquiry for them here in our city has failed to locate anyone who has them to sell. Can you assist us?

Groats are oats or wheat, hulled and crushed. They are used in England to make blood pudding, and we do not know whether they are handled by butcher supply houses in this country or not, but think they would get them for you if you wrote them. Write to any butcher supply dealer advertising in The Advocate, and you will receive full information.—Butchers' Advocate.

Remember there is no taste or smell to FAIRBANK'S

BOAR'S HEAD

Brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND in cooking.

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada, or direct.

Some people have been using lard so long, the odor of which has penetrated everything they have cooked, until they would not recognize the true food flavour. Their taste is distorted. Lard does not taste strong to some people because they have become addicted to it. Anything fried in lard the lard flavour predominates. Potatoes, steak, fish and chicken all have a similar lard taste. Try FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND and you will find that steak tastes like steak, chicken like chicken, each retaining its characteristic flavour not contaminated with any foreign grease taste. Tell your customers to surprise their stomachs and learn what good frying is by using FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND.

THE CONDUCT OF THE COMMERCIAL LIFE.

From "The Empire of Business," by Andrew Carnegie.

IT is the fashion nowadays to bewail poverty as an evil, to pity the young man who is not born with a silver spoon in his mouth, but I heartily subscribe to President Garfield's doctrine that "The richest heritage a young man can be born to is poverty." It is not from the sons of the millionaire or the noble that the world receives its teachers, its martyrs, its inventors, its statesmen, its poets, or even its men of affairs. It is from the cottage of the poor that all these spring.

DISTRIBUTION OF WEALTH.

By administering surplus wealth during life great wealth may become a blessing to the community, and the occupation of the business man accumulating wealth may be elevated so as to rank with any profession.

Money is left by millionaires to public institutions when they must relax their grasp upon it. There is no grace, and can be no blessing, in giving what cannot be withheld. It is no gift, because it is not cheerfully given, but only granted at the stern summons of death. The miscarriage of these bequests, the litigation connected with them, and the manner in which they are frittered away seem to prove that the fates do not regard them with a kindly eye.

INHERITED WEALTH.

Nothing is truer than this, that, as a rule, the "almighty dollar" bequeathed to sons or daughters by millions proves an almighty curse. It is not affection for the child, it is self-glorification for the parent which is at the root of this injurious disposition of wealth. There is only one thing to be said for this mode; it furnishes one of the most efficacious means of rapid distribution of wealth ever known.

INDEPENDENCE OF CHARACTER.

One false axiom you will often hear, which I wish to guard you against:—"Obey orders if you break owners." Don't you do it. This is no rule for you to follow. Always break orders to save owners. There never was a great character who did not sometimes smash the routine regulations and make new ones for himself.

Boss your boss just as soon as you can; try it on early. There is nothing he will like so well if he is the right kind of boss; if he is not, he is not the man for you to remain with—leave him whenever you can, even at a present sacrifice, and find one capable of discerning genius. Our young partners in Carnegie Brothers won their spurs by showing that we did not know half as well what was wanted as they did.

CONCENTRATION.

"Don't put all your eggs in one basket" is all wrong. I tell you "Put all your eggs in the one basket and then watch that basket." It is easy to watch and carry the one basket. It is trying to carry too many baskets that breaks most eggs in this country. He who carries three baskets must put one on his head, which is apt to tumble and trip him up.

It took me some time to learn, but I did learn that the supremely great managers, such as you have these days, never do any work themselves worth speaking about. Their point is to make others work while they think. I applied this lesson in after life, so that business with me has never been a care. My young partners did the work and I did the laughing, and I commend to all the thought that there is very little success where there is little laughter.

TRUSTS.

The fashion of trusts has but a short season longer to run, and then some other equally vain device may be expected to appear when the next period of depression arrives; but, there is not the slightest danger that serious injury can result to the sound principles of business from any or all of these movements. The only people who have reason to fear trusts are those foolish enough to enter into them. The consumer and the transporter, not the manufacturer and the railway owner, are to reap the harvest.

Given freedom of competition and all combinations or trusts that attempt to exact from the consumer more than a legitimate return upon capital and services write the charter of their own defeat.

MILLIONAIRES.

Here is a remarkable fact, that the masses of the people in any country are prosperous and comfortable just in proportion as there are millionaires.

In the old home of our race, in Britain, which is the richest country in all Europe, there are more millionaires than in the whole of the rest of Europe, and its people are better off than in any other.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

The trouble between capital and labor is just in proportion to the ignorance of the employer and the ignorance of the employed. The more intelligent the employer the better, and the more intelligent the employed the better. It is never education, it is never knowledge that produces collision. It is always ignorance on the part of the one or the other of the two forces. Speaking from an experience not inconsiderable, I make this statement. Capital is ignorant of the necessities and the just dues of labor, and labor is ignorant of the necessities and dangers of capital. That is the true origin of friction between them.

Wealth is being more and more distributed among the many. The amount of the combined profits of labor and capital which goes to labor was never so great as to-day, the amount going to capital never so small.

EDUCATION.

In my own experience I can say that I have known few young men intended for business who were not injured by a collegiate education.

Men have wasted their precious years trying to extract education from an ignorant past whose chief province is to teach us, not what to adopt, but what to avoid. Men have sent their sons to colleges to waste their energies upon obtaining a knowledge of such languages as Greek and Latin, which are of no more practical use to them than Choctaw.

CANADIAN FLOUR IN TRINIDAD.

Gordon Grant & Co., Port-of-Spain, Trinidad, under date of April 9, report: "All grades of flour are moving slowly at the moment, but we look for an improved demand, especially for the cheaper descriptions of Canadian, which are steadily growing in favor."

Which is the Wisest Plan ?

To sell the kind of teas that possess the essential qualities which contribute towards making every grocer's department profitable and successful---or to lose the opportunity of attaining a popularity for this department by handling teas the public will not show any particular partiality for.

OF COURSE

the former plan is the best for every go-ahead grocer to adopt, and as

are conceded to be by far the most preferable teas imported into Canada, we make no exaggerated claim when we state that if you are anxious to please your customers and win their confidence and tea trade you will find

of the greatest assistance to you in your most laudable ambition.

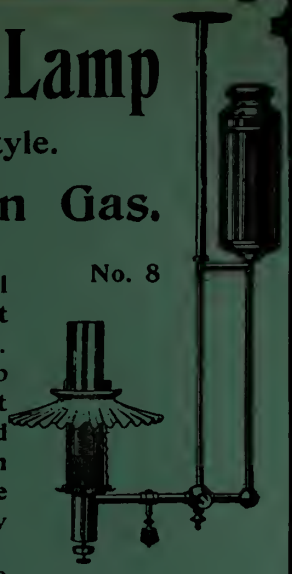
The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.

Makes its own Gas.



No. 8

OUR No. 8 is the best all around lamp on the market for either the store or home.

IT IS FITTED with an up and down adjuster so that the burner can be lowered two feet. You can hang it on a hook or screw it up—we supply a hook and a screw plate with it.

IT GIVES a light of à 100 candle power and is a fine lamp to show goods with.

THE COST of running it is less than an oil lamp and there is no smell or smoke from it.

YOUR MONEY REFUNDED IF YOU ARE NOT PERFECTLY SATISFIED.

Capital and Surplus, $1,500,000. Offices Throughout the Civilized World.

Executive Offices: Nos. 346 and 348 Broadway, New York City, U.S.A.

THE BRADSTREET COMPANY gathers information that reflects the financial condition and the controlling circumstances of every seeker of mercantile credit. Its business may be defined as of the merchants, by the merchants, for the merchants. In procuring, verifying and promulgating information, no effort is spared, and no reasonable expense considered too great, that the results may justify its claim as an authority on all matters affecting commercial affairs and mercantile credit. Its offices and connections have been steadily extended, and it furnishes information concerning mercantile persons throughout the civilized world.

Subscriptions are based on the service furnished, and are available only by reputable wholesale, jobbing and manufacturing concerns, and by responsible and worthy financial, fiduciary and business corporations. Specific terms may be obtained by addressing the Company at any of its offices. Correspondence Invited.

MAMMOTH PRIZE COMPETITION

$2,500.00 IN PRIZES

to be given to the persons sending in the greatest number of Gold Soap Wrappers before November 15, 1902.
Read the conditions below.

Starts May 1st, 1902. Ends Nov. 15th, 1902. | Begin now to save your Gold Soap Wrappers, and you will win one of the 5,213 PRIZES

DIRECTIONS

Save your Gold Soap Wrappers, and send them in to Gold Soap, Toronto, marked "Competition," before November 15th, 1902, with your own name and address enclosed. The prizes will be sent out on November 24th with a full list of the winners. You may send your wrappers in at any time so long as your name and address comes along with each lot. Do not send in the whole wrapper, but just the centre part.

LIST OF PRIZES

1st Prize—For the largest number of Gold Soap centres received, $100 in cash
2nd Prize—For the 2nd greatest number, - - - - - $50 "
3rd Prize— - - - - - - - - - - $30 "
Each of the next 50—A 14-k. Gold-Filled Watch, for Lady or Gentleman, guaranteed.
Each of the next 10— - - - - - - - - - $10 "
Each of the next 50—A handsome Silver Watch, for Lady or Gentleman, guaranteed.
Each of the next 100—One dozen Silver-Plated Tea Spoons, guaranteed.
Each of the next 3,000—A handsome piece of Silverware—Silver Sets, Cream Jugs, Novelties, Ladles, Sugar Bowls, Salts and Pepper, Butter Knives, etc., etc., etc.
Each of the next 2,000—A copy of the famous picture, entitled "King of the Forest," designed especially for Gold Soap. This picture cannot be procured elsewhere.
All those that do not win a prize, will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers.

CONDITIONS

All wrappers sent in must have contained soap; we have a secret process for detecting bogus wrappers. All wrappers (or centres) must be plainly marked "Competition," and must contain the name and address of the sender, and be mailed to Gold Soap, Toronto, on or before November 15th, 1902. Those that receive prizes will not receive a Premium as well, but all those not winning prizes will receive a regular Gold Soap Premium in return for their wrappers. In case two persons send in the same number of wrappers, the prize will be divided. Persons giving information leading to conviction of anyone trying to defraud Gold Soap will be liberally rewarded.

DON'T OVERLOOK THE FACT that, although you may possibly persuade your customers into purchasing other than JAPAN TEA, it is your disadvantage to do so if you aim at winning their confidence and to prove to them that the teas you sell are reliable and of the highest quality. Many teas are claimed to be "just as good" as

JAPAN TEA

But, if "popularity is the best proof of merit," then JAPAN TEA wins every time. The best tea judges in Canada testify to its absolute purity, wholesomeness, cleanliness and healthfulness. Grocers who are anxious to keep their tea departments in a good paying condition should not overlook the fact that only healthy, clean tea like JAPAN should be sold their customers.

GROCERY WINDOW DISPLAYS.

A FRUIT AND PRODUCE WINDOW.

IN many stores where the windows are good but not large no attempt is made to secure attractive displays, says Grocery World, because the storekeeper thinks it is not worth while trying to make any special effort at window advertising unless there are large windows at hand to work in. This is a very unpractical view to take. Large windows are very desirable when properly handled, but attractive displays can also be made in small windows as well, and an especially good line to work with in small windows at this season of the year is fresh truck.

It seems strange that window displays of fruits and vegetables are so seldom made when the readiness with which these lines lend themselves towards making attractive displays and the profits derived from pushing their sale is considered. One store that I know of reserves one of its windows for displays of fruit and vegetables alone, and while there is no pretence to an artistic display, the display is always effective, and that, of course, is the most important thing.

In this store a neat plain board platform, about 5 ft. high and the width of the window, is placed on the window floor about 3 in. back from the glass and allowed to slope back until the top is about 3 ft. back from the glass. Apples, oranges, tomatoes, and whatever else is in season, are simply laid in regular rows against the board, which is covered completely with the goods shown, each separate piece being wrapped in white paper having the upper part uncovered.

Now, this is a very primitive method, but it does its work. It brings trade which pays good prices, and that's what the goods are put in the window for.

A small window, not over 4 ft. wide and just about as deep, with a beautiful plate front, was used for the following displays. The window floor was covered with white crepe tissue, and the same was used for the sides and back to a height of 3 ft. from the floor. A strip of medium maroon color, 3 in. wide was fastened all the way around the top of the tissue on the sides and back. Another strip of maroon-colored tissue, 5 in. wide was run around the tissue on the window floor, the outside edge of which was about 2 in. from the sides of the window.

The display consisted of nothing but strawberries in boxes, arranged like the squares on a checkerboard; to do this, empty berry boxes were wrapped in white paper and laid on the floor inside the square formed by the maroon-colored strip. These boxes were placed bottom up alternately, with the full boxes of red berries in the box, and the boxes wrapped in white forming blocks of regular size and shape. Each white block had the price of the berries marked on it in figures of the same shade of maroon as was used for trimming.

At another time, for the season when strawberries were more plentiful, another display of them was made in this window by trimming it as described above, with the exception that white was used for the finish on top of the curtain at sides and back, as well as for the curtains themselves, and a 4-in. band of maroon was run straight down the white tissue at each end of sides and back, the outside being 4 in. from the edge; while other strips of maroon, the same width, were run across from end to end of the paper on sides and back, with outside edge 4 in. from top and bottom respectively. This same idea was used on the floor. In the centre of the square on the floor was placed an immense oval-shaped meat dish, the edge covered completely with fresh strawberry leaves, and the dish piled as high as it could hold with fresh, clean berries. A card painted in maroon color was placed in the centre of the space on the back curtain, with this copy:

A MEASURED QUART OF SOUND RIPE
STRAWBERRIES
15 CENTS

The berries were sold by measure as the customer asked for them, from a large tray. Good berries of almost equal quality were being sold for 10c. by the box. A little picking over, removing a soft one here and there, and measuring them, secured the additional 5c. very easily.

The same window was arranged another time by placing bunches of celery, arranged flat, against the sides and back, two rows high, placing the bases of the top row behind the tops of the bottom row. The celery was easily fastened with small thin nails to the sides and against boards placed across the back of the window.

The centre of the window was occupied by a four-deck wire stand for displaying seasonable fruits and vegetables, and around the base, in a circle 30 in. wide, were arranged heads of salad covering the floor and the base of the stand entirely. Around the salad, the window floor was covered with peas. The first deck of the stand was first padded well with paper, which was then covered with tomatoes; the next deck was filled with new potatoes; the third with bright oranges, and the top with apples. Each article on the stand bore a price card, and celery, peas and salad had several price marks each.

A BOOK OF INSTRUCTION IN SIGN PAINTING.

How to paint neat and attractive signs is instruction every window-trimmer or the merchant who trims and makes his own card signs must be instructed in. W. Edwards, Carleton Place, Ont., Box 315, has just issued a book of instruction in professional painting, that it would be well for every country merchant to possess. It instructs in artistic sign, show card and ticket writing, silver and gold lettering, etc., and is illustrated with over three dozen different model alphabets and figures. It is a condensed story of the accumulated experience of a lifetime in the business and a teacher of the art, perfected by method. Costs only $1, mailed postpaid, and you will find it worth a hundred. Buy it. See advertisement in this issue.

MEXICAN TOBACCO.

According to The Bulletin of the Bureau of American Republics, the creation of new tobacco plantations in Mexico has, it appears, resulted in considerably increasing the production of this article. Besides this, the Mexican planters affirm that their tobacco is greatly improved in quality, and that some of the plantations will soon be able to produce leaves of the same grade as the Cuban product. Whereas in 1896 the exports of Mexican tobacco were 2,885,685 lb. of leaf tobacco and 936,699 lb. of manufactured tobacco, in 1900, they were 4,079,030 lb. of leaf tobacco and 625,306 lb. of manufactured tobacco. The principal Mexican districts where tobacco is grown are those of San Andres, Tuxtla, Playa, Vicente and Hiumanguillo, in the State of Vera Cruz and the Territory of Tepic. The cultivation of this plant is not, however, confined to the above-mentioned districts; but it also extends to the neighboring States of Oaxaca, Puebla, and Chiapas. The total value of the production of leaf tobacco in Mexico is estimated at about £17,000,000. In 1900 the Mexican tobacco manufactories used in all 15,086,594 lb. of tobacco, against 12,915,764 lb. in 1899. Virginia tobacco figures in these amounts for £2,179,510 and £2,251,165 respectively. In 1900 Mexican manufactories produced 378,000,000 packages of cigarettes (a package contains from 15 to 25) and 121,000,000 cigars, or an increase of 10,000,000 cigars and 30,000,000 packages of cigarettes.

RELATION OF THE JOBBER TO THE RETAILER.

By A. Lichtenberger.

In my experience as a retail grocer for upwards of thirty years I have had opportunities of studying the subject in all its phases. The wholesaler has a mission to perform which is certainly a benefit to the retailer in many ways, if carried on proper lines; for instance, if we were obliged to buy direct from the manufacturer it would, as you can plainly understand, mean that we would be obliged to buy of a good many more houses, because of the variety of goods carried, and also mean that we must of necessity carry larger stocks; on the other hand, by dealing with a jobber we can be supplied more promptly, and especially at those points where there are jobbers located, a retailer can replenish his stock daily, and in consequence, need not have so much capital invested.

I recognize the wholesaler as occupying the proper relation as distributor, and believe that he can deliver goods to the trade at a margin not much in excess of that which the manufacturer could or would do, as the added expense to the manufacturer would be nearly as great as that of the wholesaler to sell and deliver the goods to the retailer.

There are manufacturers, as you undoubtedly know, that will not sell through a jobber, but what is the result? They do not visit the trade as often as the jobbers' salesmen, and, as a consequence, we find it difficult to keep a full stock; on the other hand, the jobbers' salesmen visit the trade oftener and keep a full line. The frequent visits of a jobber's salesman are also beneficial in other ways; it helps the retailer to keep in touch with the trade and prices and he knows what is going on, and, as a result is up to date.

I realize also that the travelling salesmen sometimes seem to be too numerous, but competition is the life of trade. So it is evident from my point of view, gentlemen, that the wholesaler is a necessary adjunct to the retailer. Let us not forget the fact that the founders of the Farmers' Alliance had to do away with the middleman—let us profit by their experience.

But there is another phase to this: The jobber should not forget the interest of the retailer, and I regret to say there are numerous nst ances where the wholesaler does persist in selling direct to the consumer. In that direction we should surely do all we can to try to persuade the wholesaler not to do it. It seems to me that if a jobber is found to sell to the consumer the matter should be taken up with him, and it should be made clear to him that his field of operation is the retailer and not the consumer, and I have no doubt but what it can be adjusted in every instance.

Another reason why the jobbers have been selling to the consumer to some extent has been because the retailers have not been in position to act together.

THE SCARCITY OF PICKLES.

IN last week's CANADIAN GROCER the Montreal market report said the stocks of cucumbers on hand there were low and the prices of pickles were likely to advance in consequence.

A representative of THE GROCER called on Mr. T. A. Lytle, of T. A. Lytle & Co., pickle manufacturers, Toronto, for the purpose of ascertaining his views.

"Our stock on hand is large," said Mr. Lytle, "but it is rumored that stocks in the country are scarce. The present prices of pickles are low and the chances are there will be an advance before the new crop comes in. We are not thinking as yet of raising our prices, but if the stocks of cucumbers fall short, there will be a greater demand on us, and we will have to put up our prices.

"The new cucumbers will not be ready until September, and then to make good pickles they will have to be let stand for a couple of months longer. We like to keep our stock even longer than that before using. Six, seven or even nine months is not too long for extra good pickles."

DIPLOMA FOR EGGS.

D. Gunn, Bros & Co., wholesale produce merchants, Toronto, are in receipt of the Commercial Diploma of the Glasgow International Exhibition of 1901 for their exhibit of eggs in the Canadian section. This is the only diploma awarded to Canadian merchants for their exhibits of eggs.

FLOUR MILLS BURNED.

John Brown's large brick flour mills at Dunnville, Ont., were destroyed by fire on the morning of April 29. The fire originated in the basement of the mill and quickly spread to the rest of the building, the office alone being saved. The building was erected a few years ago at a cost of $27,000. Additions have been made since then so that the total loss will be great, as there was from $10,000 to $12,000 worth of flour in the mill. There was an insurance of $10,000 on the mill and $7,500 on its contents.

CALGARY MERCHANTS ORGANIZE.

The merchants of Calgary, N.W.T., have organized themselves into the Calgary Retail Merchants' Association. This work was perfected on April 24, and the president is John Sharp.

The objects of the association are to maintain just and equitable principles in business; to further the interests of trade, and to acquire knowledge relative to the business in which its members are engaged. This organization embraces a large number of influential merchants of the place.

BON VOYAGE, MR. BORSBERY.

Mr. J. W. Borsbery, one of the oldest grocery travellers out of Toronto, who has been representing The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, on the eastern ground during the past 21 years, leaves on Saturday for the Old Country.

Mr. Borsbery thinks he has earned an extended vacation, as during his travels in the interests of his house he has sold over $2,000,000 worth of groceries, and it is his intention to visit his native land after an absence of over 25 years.

He will remain in Europe about two months, during which time he and Mrs. Borsbery will visit England, Scotland, Ireland and France. The GROCER wishes him and his wife a pleasant journey and safe return, as, after all, though an Englishman by birth, Mr. Borsbery is a typical, progressive Canadian and not likely to turn his back upon the land that has seen him prosper. Bon voyage.

DEATH OF MR. McINTOSH.

Thomas McIntosh, proprietor of the North Toronto Milling Company, died at his residence 56 Grenvelle street, Toronto, on April 29 of pleuro-pneumonia. Mr. McIntosh succeeded his father, Mr. W. D. McIntosh, about three years ago in the flour and feed business and was a well-known business man. He leaves a wife and two young daughters.

FREIGHT REBATES ON JAMAICAN SUGAR TO ENGLAND.

From The Daily Gleaner, Kingston, Jamaica.

THE commercial and planting community will be much interested in the new development which has taken place in the sugar situation. Sir Alfred Jones has announced his intention of remitting the freight on sugar carried in his vessels from Kingston to Bristol.

Lately, the conditions in America have been so favorable to our sugar that it has been gradually finding its way there to an ever greater extent. From April 1, 1900, to March 31, 1901, the following were the exports from the colony :

	Tons.
United Kingdom	2,868
United States	11,759
Canada	1,254
Other countries	1,178

From April 1, 1901, to March 22, 1902, the following were the exports :

	Tons.
United Kingdom	1,335
United States	12.834
Canada	512
Other countries	568

Thus, even in the course of a year, there has been a considerable shrinkage in the exports to England, to Canada, and to other countries, and a considerable increase of the exports to America. Will the concession of free freight to England arrest this process ? The freight on sugar from Kingston to Bristol is 20s. ($4.86) per ton. Placing the advantage which this gives to the suagr planters against the advantage which the American market at present gives the planter, the difference will be a matter of 2s. 6d. (60 cents) per ton in favor of the sugar landed in Bristol. But one has to remember the fact that the great market in England is London, and that the bulk of the West-Indian sugar goes there. If the carriage from Bristol to London is taken into account, the result is seen to be that the conditions in America and England will be equalized, and that no advantage will be gained over America by the sugar shipped to England under this concession, generous as it is. There are several other factors influencing the situation which must be considered in estimating the value of the remission and its effects on the local sugar industry. Most of the sugar produced in this country is of a dark color, only a few of the best estates producing white sugar. In America the market is regulated by the 89 deg. test, and any sugar testing above that point receives a bonus according to its quality, and any sugar below is worth so much less, whether it be dark or white. In England, on the other hand, a duty is charged on the degree of polarization, and all sugar above 76 degrees is charged in excess in proportion, so that the better the quality which is sent, the greater the cost. The English market largely supplies the grocery and confectionery trade, with which the better classes of sugars are more in favor. It seems, therefore, that America gives a better inducement than the English market, apart from all other considerations. Some of these considerations are, however, not unimportant in the eyes of the Jamaican planter. For instance, his sugar finds its way quickly to America, and the planter receives his return in a much shorter period of time than he does if he ships to England, and this is a point which strongly appeals to most planters. On the whole, it is obvious that the estates which will benefit by the remission of freight are those which manufacture specially for England and those which are bound by financial reasons to market their produce there. The great majority of the estates that are free to find the best market will no doubt continue to ship to America. Unless the inducement to ship to England is greater—unless there is some tangible benefit to be gained—it is to be feared that the planters who ship to America will not care to disturb their existing business relations. At the same time, as we have said, the concession will come as a boon to those estates whose market is England.

A cablegram this morning states that the English Government has been asked by the West-Indian Committee to give a bonus of £2 ($9.73) a ton on West-Indian sugar until the inauguration of the convention. This seems to be a curious step for the West-Indian Committee to take, unless there is something beneath it of which we, at present, cannot see the drift. At present, America imposes a countervailing duty on bounty-fed sugar, and if a bounty were given to Jamaican planters, their sugar would come under the operation of the countervailing law, and the American market would practically be shut against us. The effect of granting a bounty would be to force our sugars into the English market. The bonus of £2 ($9.73) per ton, along with the remission of freight, would, of course, be a good thing for the planters and would make the English market a profitable one. The West-Indian Committee is in close touch with the Colonial Office, and it may be that the proposition which they have put forward foreshadows the policy of the Government. It seems to be clear, now, that the latter have put their shoulder to the wheel, and, having obtained the abolition of the bounties, will not let the West Indies suffer for the want of a little further concession. They are probably saying to themselves that they may as well do the business thoroughly, and tide over the period until the abolition of the bounties by providing substantial relief for the planter ; and this will not the less commend itself to them in that it involves the conversion of the trade now rapidly drifting to the United States. Nothing short of something like this will be of any use, and certainly the remission of the freight only, in the way it has been done, cannot justify the Government for not doing something to relieve the existing strain. It is to be hoped that something will be done, for the price of sugar is exceptionally low in the United States. A slight rise has taken place, owing to the fact that the Cuban estates are holding back their produce in view of obtaining the benefit of the 20 per cent. reduction ; but when their supplies flood the market, the situation will be much worse for the Jamaican planter.

THE HIGH MEAT AGITATION.

(From National Provisioner, New York.)

SENSATIONAL newspapers and designing politicians have continued the attack on the meat interests during the week. Their statements have been wild and weird—their purpose definite. Their cry of a combination meets with approval from the unthinking and they are encouraged in believing that they may accomplish their selfish purposes if they continue the agitation.

On the other hand, reputable papers as well as politicians of reputation for earnestness and ability are meeting the attack with the true reasons for the present meat situation.

The National Provisioner has further strengthened its view of the causes which have operated to make a rise in the price of meats. As has already been stated, it is due solely to the rise in the price of live stock, for which there are good, sound, sensible, business reasons.

Packers buy live cattle in the open market for slaughtering purposes. Here are some figures on these purchases : Top steers are selling in Chicago for $7.50 ; the same week last year they sold for $6—an increase of 25 per cent. to the packer. Top steers are selling in Kansas City for $7.15 ; same week last year $5.75—increase to packer of 24.34 per cent. Top dressed beef is selling in New York at 10½c.; same week last year, 8½c. an increase in selling price by the packer of 23.52 per cent. The packer has not increased the selling price of dressed beef in proportion to the increase in price to him of the live stock he purchases.

Some idea of how sensationalism may run riot is gained from the statement made by certain newspapers that the top wholesale price in New York the latter part of this week was 13¼c. Who is paying this figure. Show the man or men who are buying at such a price and if they can be produced they should be held up to public derision. For top price in New York is 10½c. and for very fine stock 10¾c., and this only for special trade.

The Chicago Daily Drovers' Journal, a reliable authority, estimates that the shortage of cattle for this month as compared with April of last year will amount to 69,456,400 lb.

The situation is one which is not perplexing. The high price of corn, shortage of cattle, decrease in average weight and other natural causes, are at the bottom of the increase in price.

MOCHA COFFEE.

(From N. Y. Merchants' Review.)

THE following clipping is a reprint from an unknown source: "It is thought by a writer in The Times of India, that the diminishing importance of Aden as a port of export for Arabian coffee is likely to have some effect on the coffee market. At Hodeida and Jeddah no precautions are taken to render impossible an admixture of Java and other coffees, and the reexport of it as genuine Mocha coffee. In Aden such frauds are practically impossible, as special precautions are taken to prevent them. Every ounce of coffee that comes into Aden, both by land and sea, is inspected and tabulated, and regular returns are issued to all coffee merchants. To the general public it may not be known that genuine Mocha coffee is never imported except in certain specified and never changing external wrappings, which are made in the coffee districts of Arabia. Most of the Mocha coffee goes to Marseilles, and consignees will not accept any coffee that does not come in these covers as genuine Mocha coffee. Attempts have been made to establish a regular trade in these wrappings, and to export them from Aden to Hodeida and Jedda, so that Java and Abyssinian coffee may be shipped to Europe as genuine Mocha coffee. The Port Trust at Aden, detrimental to the interests of trade as it is said to be, will not allow ingenious enterprises of this nature, and in consequence the attempt has failed for the present. But if all Mocha coffee is to go to Hodeida and Jeddah, its purity may be in danger of being systematically diminished by admixtures."

Too much importance is attached to Mocha coffee as a factor in the coffee market, considering the small part it really plays there.

In the first place the reputation of Mocha is largely fictitious. The popular idea of Mocha as the king of all coffees is certainly erroneous. The genuine Mocha berry is small and ill-shaped and acrid in flavor. It could not well be otherwise, as the climate and soil of Arabia are not suited to the production of a perfect berry. The so-called Mocha coffee which is produced in Brazil is, much of it, superior to the bean whose name it takes. If it were not a fact that the public is fond of clinging to delusions, the reputation of Arabian coffee would have evaporated long ago, and the finer kinds of Brazil coffee would have usurped its place in popular esteem as they have in the respect of the expert.

As for Java coffee, the better kinds are too good to be mentioned in the same breath with Mocha, yet, because the supply is comparatively limited, Java, like Mocha, has become largely a general trade term which has little or no geographical meaning, but only significance as a standard of quality. A richly aromatic coffee-bean of Brazilian origin will smell as sweet and taste as fine under any other designation, and "What's in a name?" appeals to the philosophical coffee dealer with more force than to most men.

An inferior coffee labelled Mocha or Java will sell more quickly than a superior kind of Rio or Santos bearing its own true brand, glucose and syrups and mixed molasses are preferred to the more expensive pure cane goods; bleached pepper sells at a much better price than the virgin article of superior strength; artificial maple sugar and syrup sell more freely to many people than the genuine sell, because they are lighter in color, and so it goes. The public does not want its favorite coffee furnished under its true names, hence the survival of such a meaningless term as "Mocha." "Java" is nearly as obsolete, most of the so-called Java coffee being Sumatra grown. But it does not fetch a cent more than it is worth, and neither does the South-American coffee which masquerades as Arabian, and thus furnishes the newspaper wits with considerable ammunition which they use with the grocer as a target.

SALE OF FREMONA'S FRUIT CARGO.

THE first large fruit sale for the season 1902 took place on Friday at The Montreal Fruit Auction Company's rooms on Mountain street. The fruit offered was that ex steamship Fremona, which consisted of 62,000 boxes of lemons, 834 boxes and 559 half-boxes of oranges. The sale was started at 1.30 p.m., by Mr. Walter Kearns, the auctioneer, and in four hours he disposed of the entire cargo. A feature of the sale was the fact that lemons sold 40 to 50c. per box lower than at the opening sale a year ago, which was due to the large offerings, and the further large quantities on the way to this port; but notwithstanding this fact, everybody interested in the fruit sold to-day seemed to be perfectly satisfied with the prices realized, as they were about the same as lemons have sold at in New York during the past week. The range of prices was from $1.35 to $2.65 per box, as to quality and condition. In regard to oranges the bidding was strong for them, and, as the offerings were small, and of good quality, prices ruled comparatively high, and show an advance of $1 per box over those realized at the opening sale last season. The range for boxes was from $2.40 to $2.80, and half-boxes from $1.30 to $2.10. The bidding was spirited throughout the sale, and a large percentage of the cargo was bought for American and Western Canada account. The principal buyers were: Messrs. John Barry & Son, Hart & Tuckwell, John Caldwell & Co., J. J. Vipond, McBride & Harris, Vipond & McBride, A. Bowes & Co., J. & R. Clogg, Bell, King & McLaren, William Dixon, Hamilton; M. P. Clemes, Toronto; Frank Everist, Toronto; J. Dawson, Toronto; White & Co., Toronto; H. Bowker, Hamilton; J. F. Wood, Sarnia; E. Andrews, New York; R. A. Tucker, New York; J. W. Lumsden, New York; P. Van Valen, Chicago; A. Macpherson, Winnipeg; G. C. Sherman, Minneapolis; A. Mountjoy, London; H. Walker, Guelph; A. Ryerson, Brantford; H. Brouse, Ottawa; —. Dawson, Toronto; F. R. Franke, New York; E. Zucca, New York; Charles Parsons, New York; S. Sartta, New York; G. W. Hunt, Ottawa; G. Di Cola, Boston; Isaac Tuck, proprietor Tuck's Produce and Distributor (fruit journal); J. B. Oke, Port Hope; George McWilliam, Toronto; C. Husband, Toronto, and —. Emery, Boston.

Among the New York importers present at the sale were: T. Brucato and P. Brucato, of Brucato Bros.; G. Villari, of Villari, Mitchell & Co.; Frank Feltmann, Hirgel, Feltmann & Co.; C. Cavallaro, Cavallaro Bros.; F. Gatto, E. Southwill, of W. H. Westervelt & Co., and Felix Minaldi, A. Minaldi & Co.

Among the railwaymen who have gathered to take care of the trade are: Messrs. E. R. Hines, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; E. A. Mumford, G. T. R. and Central Vermont; H. B. Mussen, Canada Atlantic; Geo. H. Colby, Illinois Central; Robert C. Manson, G.T.R.; T. B. Montgomery, Wisconsin Central; E. M. Newbagin, Chicago Great Western; S. W. Manning, Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe; B. H. Bennett, Chicago and Northwestern; S. Geo. Tate, Michigan Central; Wm. Garty, Burlington Route; J. E. Hawkens, D. & H.; H. P. Swinton, C.P.R.; A. P. Massey, Boston & Maine; H. E. Tudor, Great Northern.

TRADE IN COUNTRIES OTHER THAN OUR OWN.

DRIED PEACHES IN CALIFORNIA.

PRIVATE advices from California say that: "Stocks of peaches (dried) are now reduced to 27 carloads held by three operators, as against three times that quantity last year at this time. There are fully four months to elapse before new pack can be available, and naturally holders are disposed to considerable firmness. There is a good demand from Western points, stocks in the principal consuming markets being comparatively light."

CANNED TOMATOES IN THE STATES.

In respect to tomatoes, reliable information has been received, and Harford County is virtually cleaned out of spot tomatoes which is almost a new record for this season of the year. Spot tomatoes, No. 3 standards, are now good property at $1.25 to $1.27½; futures are selling in this Chesapeake region at about 80 to 85c. for Baltimore standards; the Peninsula packers are paying $8 per ton for tomatoes on growers' contracts, and selling futures at 80 to 85c. for canned goods exchange standards, at 85 to 90c. for New Jersey standards, whilst New Jersey packers are asking 85 to 95c. for New Jersey standards, meaning thereby larger size. Californian canners have fixed the following prices for future peas: No. 2 standards, 85c.; sifted, 95c.; extra sifted, $1.10; petit pois, $1.25, gallons, $3.75; gallon extras, $4.25. These prices do not differ to any extent from present eastern quotations on futures.—The Trade, Baltimore, Md.

TEAS IN NEW YORK.

Green teas continued to be reported as firmly held, with offerings limited, due to the light stocks. A sale was reported of 500 packages country greens. Blacks were dull, and, while no changes were made in quotations, many of the trade expressed the belief that they could purchase supplies of nearly all grades at concessions had they an order in hand for an important quantity. The line business was quiet.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

Willett & Gray say of raw sugar: "The past day or two, during which the Bill is in the hands of the Senate Committee, has given encouragement that action of a desirable kind is not far off. We think it may safely be said that more harmony, instead of less, will prevail, and that every effort will be made to pass a Bill giving some relief to Cuba through a reciprocity treaty, without bringing in other matters not connected with it. Grinding will soon cease as a result of present unfavorable conditions, and we have reduced our estimate of the crop to 750,000 tons. The preparations for the next crop cannot, of course, go on, and indications now point to little improvement in that direction for the next season, unless the situation is made to improve by prompt and conservative action, say, 20 to 25 per cent. concession, if no more can be harmoniously agreed upon for quick final result. The European markets are weak, being affected by Mr. Licht's estimate of only 6 to 12 per cent. reduction in the beet sowings of all Europe, indicating but 380,000 to 830,000 tons smaller crop next season, which is less reduction than has been anticipated."

EASIER FEELING IN BROOM CORN.

A journal published in the interest of the broom corn trade says: "There seems to be considerable doubt amongst dealers in broom corn, as well as broom manufacturers, whether the market will maintain its present level of prices for any considerable time. Broom manufacturers claim that the demand for brooms is not large, and that it has not been especially heavy for this season of the year, as buyers have bought only in moderate quantities. It is held by some manufacturers that purchasing, having been on a conservative basis recently, will make a good, steady trade the entire season and that the usual number of brooms will be consumed just the same. However that may be, dealers in broom corn seem to be more willing to entertain lower figures than they have been inclined to do for some weeks."

ADVICE TO STOREKEEPERS.

IN the establishment of a business, whether it be a grocery store, meat market or any other style of retailing, the location, although not everything, is greatly to be considered, says Arthur Wetmore in Sydney Storekeeper.

Do not locate your proposed grocery store so near an undesirable business or locality that it will keep ladies, without escorts, away, as they will be among your best customers.

A man can go almost everywhere without being made the subject of criticism, while a woman cannot, and every woman knows this. Nearly every possible woman customer also knows the desirable streets in your town and the undesirable ones. If the street hasn't a first-class reputation, they will not care to be seen in the vicinity, and every woman knows that her reputation is always at stake, so she generally steers clear of all such locations.

One side of most all prominent thoroughfares is generally better for business than the other. Three hundred persons may be passing on one side of the street in the same time it takes one hundred to pass on the other. The rent on the 300 side will be greater than across the street, but it is usually more profitable to pay more and "get the best."

This is particularly true in this case if your location is on a street where you can do a cash or largely cash business. People who buy on credit are not so particular, are willing to go around the corner if they can only get trusted, but those who buy for cash buy where it is most convenient, other things being equal.

Once located, arrange the room so as to get the best possible light for use evenings and dark days. The more light you have the more attractive your store will be, the more people you will get to come and the more business you will do.

Some dealers really seem to thrive in dark stores, but if the same dealers had more light, so customers could see what they keep without using an extra pair of spectacles, these dealers would thrive still more.

In the selection of fixtures, no matter whether they cost much or little, first see that they are as nearly dust proof as possible, and next that the exterior finish is plain enough to prevent a "cheap" look, and also enable you to keep them perfectly clean.

In buying your stock, use great care to get the best goods in the various lines that can be had at that price. Satisfy yourself that you are buying the right goods and are not paying too much for them. If you are buying for spot cash you should not fail to get a better price than the man who asks for credit, no matter if only for a short time.

A WINE MERCHANT'S DIFFICULTIES.

George McConnell, of George McConnell & Co., wholesale wine merchants, 37 Colborne Street, Toronto, is wanted by the Sheriff who has a summons for him to appear for examination as a judgment debtor. It is stated that McConnell is on a visit to Mexico. The books of the firm show liabilities of $3,000, book debts of $400 and no assets. It is believed that a settlement has been offered to some of the creditors at 35c. to 50c. on the dollar. George Percival, wine and spirit merchant, Montreal, is one of his creditors. The amount owed him is $298, and some notes that when due will make a total of $687. He secured a judgment for $298 on April 9, but as yet nothing has been realized upon it.

Grocers should remember that Royal Baking Powder is never peddled. Consumers are supplied only through retail dealers.

It is the honest advertising which the Royal Baking Powder Company does that aids and protects grocers more than they sometimes remember. It trains the housewife to buy standard goods at reliable stores and to not patronize peddlers. Peddlers are the bane of honest grocers.

Grocers should keep a full, live stock of Royal Baking Powder, remembering that every sale of it is a blow at the peddler and a strike for honest dealing in high-class goods.

Tied Down?

Are you in a rut? Are you "tied down" by prejudice, or falling behind in the race for business? Are the chains of habit binding you tightly? You can break away if you will and throw off the chains—if you are in the rut of low prices let "quality" be your watchword from now on.

Windsor Salt is the Salt of highest quality. It is pure, white, dry, crystaline. It is as perfect as Salt can be, and that is saying much in these days when perfection is claimed for so many staple articles of trade. If you are "tied down" let Windsor Salt be one of the levers to help you break away from old-fashioned prejudice.

FEATURES OF THE EGG MARKET.

THE market for eggs continues firm at 12 and 12½c. per doz. in Toronto and 11 to 11½c. free on board at points outside the city.

These are higher prices than were paid this time last year, when eggs were only worth 11 to 11½c. and the receipts were heavy,

This spring the hens began to lay much earlier, but not as many eggs have come in as yet. The produce merchants began to pickle eggs for the export business about a a month earlier this spring, and thus no surplus stock was allowed to accumulate before the pickling operations had begun.

Several houses that were not in this business last year are entering into it this season, and all who were engaged pickling eggs last summer are making preparations to conduct it on a more extensive scale this year than ever before. So there will be a much larger demand for eggs this year than there was last season. And the present competition among the merchants is helping to keep the prices high.

A new feature of this spring's egg market is the fact that a large order for 150,000 dozen has been received from Swift & Co., the Chicago firm that has cornered the egg market of the United States, and it is reported that Armour & Co., Chicago, are at present also making inquiries on the Toronto market for eggs.

The duty of 3c. per dozen imposed by the United States tariff will prevent many eggs being exported with profit to that country. As it is, Canadian produce merchants realize more by shipping their eggs in pickle to Great Britain.

The present prices are stated to be 1 to 1½c. above the export basis and so it is expected that they will shortly decline.

WOULD NOT BE BOUGHT.

THE two tobacco trusts in Great Britain, namely, the American and the home trust, are making desperate efforts to secure control of the retailers.

It seems that the British combination approached the retailers and offered them a fair sum if they would agree to handle none but tobaccos supplied by it. The Americans were willing to go much better than this; in fact, they offered the retailers inducements said to be four times more valuable than those made by the British trust. But even this bait did not catch the retailers. They quietly gave both trusts to understand that they were not in the market to be bought.

The British retailers are certainly to be congratulated upon the stand they have taken. Merchants, either wholesalers or retailers, do not, as a rule, gain anything by binding themselves up to any one interest. The tobacco and all similar trusts only endeavor to get control of the merchants in order that they may use them as their tools. Their thought is their own welfare only, and not that of the merchants.

Merchants cannot afford to allow themselves to be used by any interest. Loss of free will means loss of one of the greatest essentials to success in business.

Successful merchants are those who act and think for themselves.

STILL MARKING UP THE TARIFF.

THE German Reichstag is still working away at the tariff. Among the most recent turns in affairs is the fixing of a uniform duty by the Tariff Committee, equal to $4.50, on all flours, pearl barley, grits, etc. This is significant, as it is an increase even over the proposal of the Government.

Canada, since Germany put in operation against her the maximum tariff, has ceased to take much interest in what the tariff tinkers are doing in Germany. At the same time, however, it is to be hoped that the Canadian Government will not delay in trying to secure better tariff arrangements with the German Empire. In his budget speech, Hon. W. S. Fielding intimated that efforts along this line would be made, but we have not since heard of anything being done. At present our exports to Germany in any of the lines affected by this increase in the tarlff amount to very little; in fact, all we sent last year was 315 bbls. of flour, valued at $1,425.

POLITICS CAUSED THE FAILURE.

A MERCHANT who recent failed ascribes his difficulty to politics. Just how they caused the failure is not explained.

Politics and business seldom mix well. And it is always dangerous to attempt to mix them. A good many people are exceedingly sensitive in regard to political matters, and the merchant who expresses disapproval of the party to which they belong may cause them to transfer their patronage to those who are not likely to give them offence in this respect.

Ontario is in the midst of a general election campaign, and business men will find it the better policy to refrain from discussing politics either with or in the presence of their customers. This is certainly the safer course to pursue, if unpleasant results are to be avoided.

It does not follow that business men should strictly eschew politics. On the contrary, every business man should give some concern to the political affairs of the country. It is the only way in which good government can be secured. But this can be done in a way that will earn the respect, rather than the disapprobation, of customers whose political faith is of the opposite kind.

THE VALENCIA RAISIN MARKET AND THE SEASON OF 1901.

AS will be noticed by our market reports the Valencia raisin market in Canada has developed increased strength during the past week, prices, generally, being higher. Selected raisins are now quoted at 6¾ to 7c., and layers at 7¼ to 7½c. This increased local strength is due to the fact that stocks have become almost exhausted, and, while a shipment is on the way, it is thought it will scarcely give much relief to the market as it will quickly go into consumption.

Advices from London, Eng., say that, while stocks of some fruit are about exhausted, there is some fine off-stalk, second pick, on the market, which might be offered as selected. There appears to be 100 tons of this fruit, and the trade is warned to be on the lookout for it as it might be offered as selected raisins.

Stocks in Spain, as our readers are well aware, have been exhausted for some time, and a report in regard to the season of 1901 is just to hand. This report contains much that is of interest to the trade. It is pointed out that, although the Californian yield of raisins showed no scarcity, the United States was a larger buyer of Valencia raisins than during the preceding season. Referring to the Canadian trade, the report says: "Canada has had her usual share, and, if it would appear that her direct imports are lower than in the previous year, the reason is, irrespective of the fact that the large stocks she held from the preceding campaign made her cautious and slow in her demand, that she has all through this season bought at Liverpool much larger quantities than for the last few years. Therefore, that market actually shows the steady, progressing elasticity which we have been noticing year after year."

The shipments to North America from Spain during the last three years were as follows:

	1901. cwt.	1900. cwt.	1899. cwt.
United States.....	25,047	14,068	30 991

England took a good deal less than usual, and this is explained by the fact that she is not the distributing point for Europe that she formerly was. "Indeed," says the report, "the centre of re-exports for the Northern markets has shifted from London to Hamburg, and this is the most remarkable feature of the campaign under review." It is significent that Germany is now the largest continental buyer of Valencia raisins.

Referring to the course of prices during the past season the report says: "Our market opened at $4.30 and ran up to $5, ultimately coming down to $4 within August. It lost 40c. early in September, which was recovered in the same month. From October it became nervous and prices went on descending till they reached $3 25 late in November, but early in December the Canadian demand re-established its tone and values rose again to $4, and in the new year transactions have mainly been at $4.50, at which figure it has closed. The average price for the season is $4."

NOT LIKELY TO BE REALIZED.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE, a journal published in London, England, in the interests of British and Colonial trade, recently contained an article showing the difference in trade between Great Britain and the United States.

"American exports," it says, "to our hospitable shores last year amounted to the neat little sum of £140,000,000, i.e. about half the total exports of the United States. At one time Uncle Sam used to reciprocate, but fiscal barriers have reduced our exports to America to £18,000,000.  The limit of effective protection against us has been reached, and 80,000,000 Americans buy of us, how much? Goods valued just at 4s. per head per annum. We long suffering 40,000,000 Britishers, on the other hand, buy from the United States to the extent of the handsome figure of £3 10s. per head per annum."

In view of this large balance of trade against Great Britain, The Commercial Intelligence "feels sure that many Americans will blush when they read this."

Our contemporary can scarcely be serious when it ventures the opinion that the Americans must blush when they realize that the balance of trade is so much in their favor.

We have yet to hear that the United States are prepared to blush under any such circumstances, they rather congratulate themselves that their trade has developed so rapidly at the expense of other nations. They are, of course, not to be blamed for this, for they are certainly progressive, and the way their trade has developed is the fruit of this progressiveness. At the same time, the one-sided character of the trade between the United States and many other foreign countries is stirring the latter up to the devising of ways and means for correcting the inequality. It will be remembered that a year or two ago one of the members of the Austrian Government openly preached an alliance among the European nations with the avowed purpose of meeting the keen competition of the United States.

The balance of trade between Canada and the United States is, as our readers are aware, greatly in favor of the latter, and has stirred up a good many in this country to agitate for an increase in the duties on our imports of United States products. This movement is viewed quite seriously by a number of business men in the United States who are interested in Canadian trade, and they are busy on their side preaching closer trade relations with this country in the hope of thereby being able to remove the cause of which the threatened retaliation is the effect.

If the ox gets a much higher opinlon of himself than he already has beef consumers may be compelled to call him a hog.

RESOURCES OF THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST.

REPORTS of sermons are not, as a rule, published in the columns of the trade and financial press. A sermon, or, more strictly speaking, an address that was delivered in a Toronto church on Sunday last was so filled with matter of interest to the commercial world, that no apology is necessary for reproducing a summary of it in the columns of "The Canadian Grocer."

The preacher was Rev. John McDougall, who, for 42 years, has been a missionary in the Canadian Northwest, except during a few months in 1885, when he acted as a scout for the Canadian troops during the Riel Rebellion.

His subject was the

"RESOURCES OF THE CANADIAN NORTHWEST."

He said he spoke from an experience of 42 years in travel and work throughout every part of the Northwest, and yet confessed that he knew only a part of it, notwithstanding the fact that the pastor had introduced him as a man knowing more, perhaps, about it than any other living person.

Mr. McDougall took as an illustration of the greatness of that country a block of land 1,000 miles square (640,000,000 acres), abutting the 49th parallel, and lying between the Rockies and the western boundary of Ontario. This great stretch of territory contained, in his estimation, more acres capable of agriculture and of responding to the thrift and mechanical operation of industrious men than any other stretch of like dimensions on the face of the globe. He called it the very acme of God's work in this respect. Of this great block of land he took 100,000,000 acres, less than one-sixth of it, and placed a conservative estimate of a yield, when cultivated, of 15 bushels an acre. Then he took the bulk estimate, and asked what it would mean to move it to the markets of the world. Looking at it as Mr. McDougall presented it, the haulage necessary seems enormous. He took a train of 40 cars leaving Winnipeg for the east. Each car would carry 1,000 bushels, making an aggregate cargo of 40,000 bushels. Then he asked how many trains of that kind it would take to move the conservative estimate of 15 bushels an acre of one-sixth of his selected block. He had found that it would take 37,500 trains of 40 cars, or a little more than 102 trains a day for every day of the year. Figuring more finely still, he had found that it would keep one of such trains moving out of Winnipeg every 15 minutes, day and night, for 365 days to move the wheat crop of but one-sixth of that stretch of country.

OTHER THINGS THAN WHEAT.

But Mr McDougall did not confine his estimates to wheat alone. He supposed that in time live stock would be raised in that part of the country. He had waited 23 years for a railway, and had come to know the virtue of patience. The country was rich in pasture land and grasses of rich butter and cheese producing qualities, so that it promised great possibilities. Mr. McDougall allowed one fat bullock a year for shipping purposes to every 40 acres of one-sixth of the block 1,000 miles square. That meant 16,000,000 head of cattle a year. At 20 head a car it meant 40,000 trains of 20 cars each, or a little more than 100 trainloads of cattle moving out of Winnipeg every day for a year. To every 10 acres he allowed one fat sheep and one marketable hog. That meant 64,000,000 of each, which, loaded 200 to a car, would show 32,000 trains of 20 cars each moving out of Winnipeg—one about every 15 minutes, day and night, for a year. Butter and cheese were not overlooked, but of wheat and live stock alone, at this very conservative estimate, it was shown that 109,500 trains of 20 cars each would pass out of Winnipeg every year, or one train every five minutes, to the markets of the world.

Mr. McDougall said that he himself had traced along the eastern base of the Rockies 500 miles long and 200 miles wide one great bed of rich anthracite and bituminous coal, or, in other words, 100,000 square miles of it. He had heard that China had the largest coal beds in the world, but his own observations had led him to believe that she had not one-fifth as much as this one block.

Then there were great water powers. Mr. McDougall, in his travels, had found strong and persistent currents. He and a companion, in an old punt, had once gone with the current down the big Saskatchewan 160 miles in 28 hours. There were also great natural reservoirs of water, with splendid tumbling power. The country along the valley of the North Saskatchewan was compared with England. It looked to Mr. McDougall as if some great race had lived there centuries ago, so splendid were the terraced forests and natural beauties.

THE PRODUCE EXCHANGE.

AT a meeting on Tuesday, April 29, of the Produce Exchange recently organized among the wholesale producemen of Toronto, it was decided to call it The Toronto Produce Exchange. It is stated to be an association for the establishing and maintaining of prices; for the collection and distribution of reports and information relating to their business; for the decision and action upon questions arising therein; for the establishment of a better understanding and closer relations among its members, settling differences and preventing litigation among them, and generally, for promoting the interests of the corporation and the social and business interests of its members.

Their headquarters are, for the present, in the office of Jenkins & Hardy, on Toronto street, Toronto.

Regarding the collection of debts it was decided that collections should be made regularly every Monday morning for all goods bought during the week. And any merchant who will not pay his debts according to the foregoing rule will be debarred from receiving credit from the members of the Exchange.

A by-law has also been adopted to the effect that all egg cases be paid for both by city buyers and country shippers. A committee has been formed to interview the railway authorities in reference to the quick delivery of freights and to having express companies made responsible for the return of empties.

The whole meeting was unanimous in the opinion that heretofore credits have been too free, and will endeavor to make the new system of collection mentioned above a success.

DEATH OF FRANK GALLOW.

ON April 25, Frank Gallow, city traveller for The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co., died at his residence, 499 Ontario street, Toronto, of pneumonia, after a week's illness. Deceased had been with The Pure Gold Manufacturing Co. since their commencement of business 19 years ago, and was a stockholder in the firm. And his energy and ability contributed much to the success of that company.

Mr. Gallow was born in Scotland 62 years ago and came to Canada in 1857. He was first a partner in the firm of Gibb & Gallow, produce merchants, Colborne street, Toronto, for some time before entering the employ of The Pure Gold Company. He was prominent in Masonic circles and was buried by Rehoboam Lodge A.F. & A.M. of which he was Past Master.

His funeral was largely attended by the commercial travellers of all the grocery houses in Toronto. A number of grocers were also present and marched in line with the travellers. Deceased leaves a widow, three sons and three daughters.

No traveller was better known than Frank Gallow and no traveller was probably better liked. He was always genial and had a pleasant word for everyone with whom he came in contact. His death, which was so unexpected, cast a gloom over the grocers and travellers in the city in which he was so well and favorably known.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

INFORMATION FOR BUYERS.

If any reader wishes to know where any article can be purchased in Canada or abroad, a letter to the Editor will probably place him in communication with the seller.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

TORONTO, May 1, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE wholesale grocery trade is, on the whole, quiet. This applies particularly to staples. On the whole, trade is rather disappointing. It is the general opinion, however, that the volume of business for the four months of the year is fully up to that of last year for the same period; in fact, the concensus of opinion is that it is ahead of that of last year. The most unsatisfactory feature of the trade is the dullness in the sugar trade, which, in view of the unsettled condition of the outside markets, is to be expected. Coffees are weak and quiet. The retail demand for tea is fair, but, in transactions between wholesalers and holders, very little is being done. Syrups and molasses are quiet. In canned goods, the situation is much the same as a week ago, with a fair volume of business being done. The Valencia raisin market is strong, and prices locally are higher on account of the scarcity in this kind of fruit. Currants and prunes continue in fair demand.

CANNED GOODS.

There is a steady demand for canned tomatoes at 92½ to 95c., with 97½c. being paid for certain brands. The buying is altogether for immediate requirements. The weakness in the market for canned corn is even more pronounced than it was, on account of some corn being offered by the syndicate at very low prices. It is understood, however, that the corn thus being quoted is of inferior brands. The wholesalers report that quite a little corn is being sold, particularly in the better class. Peas are in fair demand at 80 to 85c. There is a fairly good demand for canned fruits, such as peaches, pears, strawberries and raspberries. Canned salmon is in active demand. "I never saw the demand better at this time of the year," said a well known wholesaler, "and the demand is chiefly for the better class of red sockeye salmon." We quote as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

Although, as noted last week, the packers are advancing their prices of canned meats, the wholesale trade having bought at the lower figures, they are quoted much as they were before. The demand for canned meats is active, the retailers protecting themselves against the likelihood of higher prices. Canned lobsters are in moderate demand at $3.50 to $3.70 in talls, $1.75 to $1.80 in 1-lb. flats and $1.15 to $1.25 in ½-lb. flats.

SPICES.

In spices, the market remains much the same as a week ago, generally speaking—steady to firm. This applies particularly to peppers. Trade is just moderate.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The market for Patna rice is firm at the recent higher prices. Tapioca, on the other hand, continues easy. Business, locally, is moderate and without special feature. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c., and sago, 3¾ to 4c. per lb.

See pages 41 and 42 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

COFFEES.

Trade locally is quiet with prices much as before. The market for Brazil coffee is slightly higher in New York on account of speculative buying. We quote: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

SUGAR.

Up till Monday the condition of the sugar market was decidedly unsatisfactory, prices being weak, and the demand dull. On Monday, however, raw sugars advanced slightly in New York, and cane sugars were a little higher in Europe. On the same day, however, that raw sugars advanced in New York, the price of refined there declined 5c. The feature of the trade in Canada is the decline of 10c. per 100 lb. which took place in all refined sugars on Friday last. This puts the price of granulated down to $3.80 Montreal, and $3.88 Toronto. The basis for No. 1 yellow is now $3.05 in Montreal and $3.13 in Toronto. The demand for sugar in Canada is dull, and the reduction in price does not yet appear to have increased the consumption. The receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were 31 407 tons and the meltings 31,000 tons. The total stocks in the four United States ports at the end of last week were 115 895 tons, against 186,300 tons last year. The total stock in Europe and America was 3,226,895 tons, against 2,337,425 tons the same time a year ago.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The situation remains much about the same as a week ago, the demand for both syrups and molasses being quiet. Our quotations are as follows: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

TEAS.

The latest mail advices from Japan, under date of April 10, say that, so far, the season is a few days earlier than last year. On the local market, there appear to be a few more transactions than a week ago, but the volume of business is by no means large, and buyers are experiencing difficulty in getting suitable grades. Ceylon teas are quiet and easy. Mail advices from London, Eng., under date of Aprill 15, say that at the auction good and fine Ceylon teas were in rather better demand, but other grades showed a tendency to weakness, teas for price being somewhat irregular, and medium teas selling at occasionally lower rates. In regard to Indian teas, the market was somewhat irregular, medium teas being occasionally weak, while fine grades met with more attention. There is very little inquiry for Ceylon green teas, and the few that are selling are principally to the package-tea men. The supply, at any rate, is very light. A few small parcels of China green teas have been moving, but they are still scarce.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS—The demaud for currants is keeping up fairly well, and prices rule as before. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c.

VALENCIA RAISINS—These are the most interesting line in foreign dried fruits. Spot stocks have become almost exhausted, and the wholesalers are this week asking higher prices. They quote selected 6¾ to 7c. and layers at 7¼ to 7½c. A shipment is on the way to this market, but, it is thought, will only temporarily relieve the situation.

PRUNES—The demand is still good with price steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's., 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40 50's, 8¾ to 10c.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS—The demand for peaches and apricots continues good. We quote peaches, 11 to 14c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

DATES—Business is quiet and prices rule at about 4½c.

FIGS—There is still a little being done in tapnet figs at 3½c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The market for oranges is strong and the receipts are light. Large shipments of lemons from ports on the Mediterranean Sea are arriving and there will be a quantity of cheap lemons on the market for a few weeks. The prices of the better grades will remain firm. The demand for bananas is brisk and the prices are steady. Tomatoes are moving freely and strawberries are more plentiful. Apples are quiet and scarce. Pineapples have gone down $1 per crate, a shipment being received. We quote as follows: Oranges, Mexicans, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian navels, $4.25 to $4.75 per box; Mediterranean sweets, $4 00 to $4.50; Valencias, $5 to $5.50 per small case, $6 to $6.50 per large case; apples, $3.50 to $5.50 per bbl.; grape fruit, $4 to $5.50 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; bananas, $1.20 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $2 to $2.25 per doz.; Egyptian onions, $3.00 per sack; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.50; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $3.50 to $4 for fancy and $3 for choice per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 15 to 20c. per pint, and 30 to 40c. per quart.

VEGETABLES.

Trade is quiet, the bulk of the movement being in rhubarb and other green stuffs. Some outdoor-grown rhubarb is being placed on the market, and so the prices are expected to come down. We quote as follows: Green onions, 10c. per doz.; rhubarb, 80c. to $1.00 per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 40 to 50c. per bag; turnips, 25 to 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 40 to 60c. per doz.; dry onions, $1.25 per bush; potatoes, 85c. per bag.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The prices of eggs still remain high, and 11 to 11½c. is paid f.o.b. at outside points. The prices in the city are 12 to 12½c. per dozen.

BEANS—Trade is dull. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40; prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY—There is a quiet demand. We quote as follows: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.; dark honey, 5 to 5½c. per lb.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR — There is a little trade doing. We quote: Maple syrup, in 10-lb. tins 90c., and 90c. to $1.10 per imperial gallon. Maple sugar is quoted at 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is not much trade doing. We quote: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES—There is a big demand for potatoes from the United States, and the prices have advanced 8 to 10c. per bag in carlots. Higher prices from this out are expected. We quote potatoes at 70 to 73c. per bag on the track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There have been freer receipts of dairy butter, and the market is weaker. The stocks of the poorer grades are low on account of a big demand for them from the United States. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 18 to 20c.; large rolls, 16½c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 23c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 22c. per lb.

CHEESE—The market for cheese continues firm, and the local cheese men are well cleaned out of last season's make. But fodder cheese is now on the market and is selling freely. We quote cheese at 11½ to 12c. locally, and 11½ to 11¾ in export lots.

FISH.

There is a brisk demand for all kinds of fish owing to the high prices of meats. The prices of fish are lower than they have been for years. Some large bluefish are being offered at 15c. per lb. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; Lake Erie perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7c.; mullet, 3c.; pike, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c., and catfish, 10c. per doz.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN — The prices of Manitoba and Northern wheat are easier this week, and not much buying is being done. The bulk of the grain that is being moved has already been sold. We quote: Manitoba hard wheat, 86c.; No. 1 Northern, 82½c. and No. 2 Northern, 80c. per bushel. Locally, there have been light receipts of red and white Ontario wheat, which is worth 71 to 79c. per bushel, according to quality; 74c. is being paid on cars for fall wheat at outside stations. Oats are worth 46 to 47c.

FLOUR — During the boom in wheat the buying was brisk, but it is now slackening off. One firm is asking 15c. more for Hungarian patents and Manitoba bakers'. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4.00 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3.30 to $3.40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS — The demand for spring is improving and the prices are steady. We quote as follows: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.50; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100 lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4.75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

HIDES, SKINS AND WOOL.

HIDES—Hides are scarce and the price has been advanced ½c. all around in sympathy with the high prices on the United States markets. We quote: No. 1 green, 7c.; No. 2 green, 8c.; No. 1 green, steers, 8c.; No. 2 green, steers, 7c.; cured, 8c.

SKINS—Calfskins are scarce and sheep and lambskins have been advanced 5c. We quote: No. 1 calfskins, 10c.; and No. 2, 8c.; deacons (dairies) 60 to 70c. each; sheepskins, 80c. to $1; lambskins, 20c.

WOOL—The demand is slack and the market is weak. We quote: Fleece wool, 12½c., and unwashed, 7c. per lb.

SEEDS.

Trade is quieter and the prices are steady. We quote out of store at Toronto: Red

PRESENTATION TO MR. LOCK.

Mr. Tom. H. Lock, who has severed his connection with Campbell Bros. & Wilson, Winnipeg, for whom he has been manager for many years, to enter the produce business of Lock Bros., in which he has been interested since its organization last year, was presented with a beautiful silver tea service by the house and employes. The following address accompanied the gift:

Winnipeg, April 23, 1902.

THOS. H. LOCK, ESQ.:

Dear Sir,—We, the employes of Campbell Bros. & Wilson, wholesale grocers, who for many years have been associated with yourself as manager, cannot allow this, the present time, when you are severing your connection with the said firm, after many years' faithful attention to your numerous duties, to pass by without conveying to you in a small way a token of high esteem and sincere respect in which you have been, and are held by us, after years of harmonious work together, which enables us to recognize in you a store of successful, discerning tact and ability. We speak our feelings when we state that we will miss you in our midst, yet at the same time, in your new sphere of business, we predict a bright and prosperous future for you, one who is so widely known and popular, possessing a spirit of affability noticeable under all circumstances, a trait that others might with an advantage to themselves wisely emulate. We ask you to accept from us, as a testimony of our good-will and wishes for your future welfare, this silver tea set and tray, and we sincerely hope and trust that both yourself and Mrs. Lock may long be blessed with health to enjoy, and that the happy remembrances of our associations may ever remain perennial.

Signed by W. J. Campbell, D. M. Horne, John Horne, A. D. Campbell, H. Rankin, H. McLaughlin, H. Harvey, P. Johnston, C. Vivian, W. Duff, F. Scott, R. Jack, C. Coates, T. Wilson, C. Duncan, A. C. Campbell, J. Nesbitt, Geo. Duncan, G. Whittin, Miss Johnston, Miss Lane, Miss Jamieson, Miss Sheppard.

A NEW JOBBER.

Mr. James Wilkins, a former well-known commercial traveller, has opened up a wholesale and jobbing business for himself in the building formerly occupied by Taylor Bros., at the corner of Colborne and West Market streets, Toronto. Mr. Wilkins carries all kinds of supplies for the grocer, such as wrapping paper, bags, twine, "Crown" fruit jars, etc., and is going to sell to the trade at very close prices. Just now, he is offering some assorted lines of fireworks for the 24th of May trade, very cheap.

THIS MONTH WE HAVE SOME NEW AND ESPECIAL

Cigars.

In our cigar department everything has undergone a "housecleaning" since our last advertisement. We never let anything get stale on our hands; it must go, no matter what the sacrifice, hence our large stock is completely turned over several times in the year, and our goods are perfectly fresh. We can quote you prices on Havana, Manila and Mexican cigars of our own importation, while our large factory in Montreal is busy turning out thousands of cigars, as good, if not a little better than any Canadian made cigars, and for the reasons above stated we can quote lower prices and better value than any other house in Canada.

Do you believe this? Write us for samples and prices and see for yourselves.

OOD OFFERS FOR YOU:

Pipes.

Our pipe department this month will be found the most interesting on record. The large demand which we have received for pipes has led to our placing orders for an extraordinary large number for the season's trade, and, as we said before, they must be kept moving. Rather than be overstocked we will give them away. These are not cheap goods either. Of course, we have them at all prices, from the proud meerschaum down to the humble corn-cob, but the greater number are composed of the middle class, that is—a good briar, to be retailed at a reasonable price. We have them at prices that will retail at 25c. and give you a handsome profit.

Prices speak louder than words. A Post Card will bring them to you.

THREE lines of pipes which you can retail at 25c.:

STYLE A.—Large bent vulcanite, push stem, regular 40c. value, gives a handsome profit at 25c.

STYLE B.—Six-inch straight briar, flat stem, amber tip, egg-shape bowl, stem W. B. R. Good value at 50c. retail. You can handle it and make good money at 25c.

STYLE C. — Vulcanite mouthpiece, egg-shape bowl, silver ferrule, exact B.B.B., bent stumpy shape. Extra good value, with large margin at 25c.

All we want at first is a trial order—the rest will take care of itself.

Let us include you in our Mail Order System.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Montreal, May 1, 1902.

GROCERIES.

THE feature of the grocery markets during the past week has been the further decline in sugar. Apart from this, though, some other changes have occurred, the week has been comparatively uneventful. Trade is active in most lines, and few, if any, have any cause for complaint with the way things are moving. On all lines of foreign dried fruits the jobbing houses report a good demand at firm prices. Canned goods are also moving well. In evaporated apples there is a great scarcity, and although they are being sold by some jobbing houses at present at a price less than 10c. per lb., yet these holders, to replenish their stocks, would have to pay 10¼c. at the least. Peanuts have advanced ½ to ¾c. per lb., and are now quoted, according to the grade from 6¾ and 7¾c., and according to the quality, to 7¾ and 8¾c. Some new small cheese have appeared on the market and were sold at 12 to 12½c.

SUGAR.

A further decline in sugar of 10c. took place on Saturday, and brings the price down to $3.80 for granulated, and $3.05 to $3.70 for yellows. Business goes along at about the same pace. Some increase has been noticed in the demand from points east of Montreal, in Quebec Province, but it is not as great as would be under other market conditions. With the opening of the St. Lawrence canals, however, trade will take a turn for the better. The market for raw cane sugar shows a firmer feeling. Raw beet sugar, on the other hand, is weaker.

TEAS.

The tea market is in general quiet, though business is better than a week ago. There is a good demand for gunpowders, which have, however, become quite scarce, and the price has been advanced by some houses about 5c. There is also a good inquiry for low-grade Japans, and the market is firmer. China blacks are dull. Other teas are about stationary. Though several reports have been sent in concerning the crop of new Japan tea, yet no certain knowledge is held of it. A very good authority does not believe the reports that the market will open higher. On the contrary, he expects it to open lower, as the market is well supplied with high grade teas, and these are what will come from the first pickings.

SYRUPS.

The market is featureless. The demand, though steady, is a very light one. We quote corn syrups as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

The primary market for Barbados molasses is not all that growers could wish for as the weather goes. As we stated some time ago everything pointed to a dry season. At present, though a few light showers have fallen much rain is needed to fill out the stalks. A good deal of the crop has already been cut. The price in Barbados is 8c. On the local market there has been no change. Dealers are still selling at 23 and 24c., according to the quality. Some old molasses was disposed of at 22c. Antigua is still quoted at 24c., and Porto Rico, 38c. per gallon.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned tomatoes is very good, and the market is in a rising condition. Though one very good authority states that he is selling a considerable quantity to New York buyers at 90c. f.o.b. Montreal, and that when he tried to raise his price to $1 here it was a failure, yet other houses quoted the price from 90c. to $1, and state that under the latter figure a fair amount of business has been transacted. That the dollar mark will be reached shortly by all seems to be the prevailing opinion. The demand from New York for canned tomatoes is on the increase, and will tend to accentuate the scarcity here. Owing to the high price of tomatoes, one or two jobbing houses report an increased demand for other canned goods, such as corn, peas, etc. Our quotations are as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 90c. to $1.00; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1.00; salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser River red sockeye, and $1.42½ to $1.45 for "Clover Leaf" talls.

SPICES

Business is fairly active this week in all lines. White peppers have become very scarce and are correspondingly dearer. Importers report that a great deal of very poor stuff is being turned out. We quote: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

As was anticipated the price of Patna rice has been advanced by the English mills on that market, and, notwithstanding that advance, the market is still so strong that another may shortly take place. The advance is represented by 1s. 6d. per 112 lb. On that basis Patna rice here should sell at 4⅝ to 5¼c. per lb., according to the size of the package. On May 12 The Mount Royal Milling and Manufacturing Co. will operate on new prices, which we understand are to be lower than their former quotations. We quote in combine district as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags, and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½ to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—Business in currants is fairly good at steady prices. Fine Filiatras are quoted at 5⅝c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾c. to 8c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—These are even scarcer than last week, and the market is very firm. It is difficult to find any stock of first-class brands. Second brands are all that can be obtained, and even these are in light supply. They sell at 5¾ to 6c. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 5⅝c.; selected, 6⅜c.; layers, 6⅞c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—The local market is not well supplied. The price is 9c. per lb., with an active inquiry. Reports from Smyrna state that the vines are beginning to blossom, and such blossom is vigorous. The prospects are that there will be a good crop, and prices consequently reasonable.

CANDIED PEELS.—These are in the usual demand, and no quotable change has been made. Orange peel sells for 11½c.; lemon peel, 10c., and citron, 16½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—Stocks are rapidly becoming low in this line. The demand keeps up, though the market is steady and prices unchanged. Quotations follow: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—There has been no change in the market here. Prices are firm. On the London market there was an advance of 2s. made, and dates selling formerly at 11s. are now quoted at 13s. Hallowees on this market sell for 4½c.

FIGS.—The market for figs is still quiet and has undergone no change in prices. Tapnets are worth $1.20, and layers sell for $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—The conditions on the primary market have not materially altered. Locally, there is a fair inquiry. Seeded raisins are quoted at 9¼ to 9½c. per lb.

PRUNES.—The demand for prunes has been good this week. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—There is a fairly active market for these, and the prices have not changed. Apricots sell for 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS.

There is not much doing now in any line except peanuts. They are going Reli and have advanced ½ to ¾c. per lb. In the primary market filberts and Tarragona almonds have advanced about 1s., which is equivalent to about ¼c. per lb. here. We quote as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—There was rather an unexpected change in the butter market a few days ago. Toward the close of last week the feeling was easier, though dealers were not looking for a decline. But with the commencement of this week, the market opened up very weak, and dealers would not purchase their supplies except at a reduction. At present 19 to 19½c. is the ruling price for finest goods, a decline of 1½ to 2c. It is hard to say whether this is the bottom price or not, but it is expected that the export demand will commence earlier than usual and keep the local market from going any lower. In large rolls there is not much doing now. The price is the same, 18c. Buyers, however, are inclined to force the price down, and it looks as though lower prices will prevail.

CHEESE.—The cheese market is quiet. The price is 11 to 11¼c. for finest colored, still be irregular direct shipments. In Canadian salt there is a good demand. We quote: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—Tomatoes are getting scarce and few of the factories have any to offer. Prices will be higher. In corn and peas there is still a fair supply. In fruits, two-pound peaches are rather short, but this is not a large market. There are few changes. One New Brunswick canner has lately placed quite a little corn here at the association price. Salmon have a fair demand at even figures. In meats the market is very firm, and higher prices are likely to rule. Domestic fish are unchanged. A few old sardines are offered. Herring and haddies are scarce. The demand for these lines shows an improvement.

GREEN FRUITS.—The variety is limited. Valencia oranges, which largely supply the market, are rather higher, and the quality is good. Jamaicas have been scarce, but the direct boat arriving this week landed quite a few. Bananas are cheap, and the sale is very large. The direct Jamiaca boat has brought competition, but for best stock there is little change. Lemons are still very low and there is a fair sale. Strawberries, which were getting more reasonable, advanced again quite quickly. Shipments will soon be getting larger. Cranberries are out of the market.

DRIED FRUITS.—Prunes are disappointing holders. New York is quoting lower prices than ever. It is surprising where some of the shippers there get the fruit. The large quantity of old fruit has hurt the business. In quality it seems to give good satisfaction. Raisins are dull. Currants continue low with a fair sale. Apricots and peaches are in light demand. Evaporated apples have been so high buyers have bought from hand to mouth. Stocks are very short and now are difficult to get. Prices here must go higher. Onions keep firm and prices are higher than last season.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—While the St. John market was well cleaned up of old butter for export, there is still considerable in the country. Dealers are shy of it as new butter is coming in. For the best new butter a good price is obtained. Eggs are quite easy and there is a fair demand. Stocks are not large. In cheese, supplies are light. All old cheese will be well cleaned up. New cheese is daily expected, and prices are high. Twins have the demand.

SUGAR.—Prices are again lower this week. Granulated was never as low considering the present duty. There is quite a large sale. Dealers have been inclined to keep stocks light.

MOLASSES.—There is a steady sale. The present West India steamer brought no Barbados, owing to smallpox on the Island, and it is doubtful if any shipments will be made for some time. Spot stocks are light and firmly held. In Porto Rico the prices are unchanged. There are two or three cargoes daily expected. In syrups, our market is a small one. Quite a little maple is handled at this season. It is largely New Brunswick product.

FISH.—Business is rather quiet. In fresh cod and haddock supplies are good. Gaspereaux has been scarce and prices are quite well maintained. The pack of alewives is likely to be small. In dry cod the market continues easy, with sales light. Pollock are unchanged and dull. In pickled herring business is light and prices easy. Finnan haddies are confined to local business, and are lower. Herring is very low. The market is overstocked. We quote: Large and medium dry cod, $3.50 to $3.60; small, $2.50 to $2.60; haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 5½ to 6c.; fresh cod and haddock, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.75 to $1.80 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.50 per bbl.; Gaspereaux, 60c. per 100.

FLOUR, FEED, MEAL AND SEED.—In flour, while prices are unchanged the market is quite firm and business is fair. Feed is still scarce and high. Oatmeal is still high, though there has been some range in price. Oats are still bringing full figures. Hay is rather less active. The supplies for Africa have come forward faster than shipments have been made. Five more steamers are chartered. Barley is hardly as firm. Split and blue peas are scarce. Beans are firmer as is also cornmeal. Timothy seed and alsike clover are high. Our quotations are as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.60 to $4.75; best Ontario flour, $4.00 to $4.15;

Those doing business with him felt he had not an equal.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Winnipeg, April 28.

BUSINESS has been good all week in every line; prices are firm, and there are advances in a few lines.

SUGAR—Sugar is a noticeable exception to the general rule. The drop of 25c. per hundred announced to come in on April 21 has been in force since that day, and on Friday was followed by a further decline of 5c. per 100 lb. This makes granulated $4.50, and bright yellows $3.55. The B.C. refiners have, however, only dropped 20c., which looks as if they did not greatly covet Winnipeg trade. This last drop is probably due to the presence of Austrian and American sugar in considerable quantities. Present prices are extremely low, and there is little doubt there can be little or no money in them to the manufacturer.

COFFEE—Market is fairly firm and prices unchanged.

EVAPORATED AND DRIED FRUITS—Dried fruits show no changes for the week and the demand is only nominal. Evaporated fruit is firm in tone in nearly all lines. Evaporated apples have advanced slightly and are now quoted at 11 to 11½c.; dried, 7¾ to 8c.; apricots, 13 to 13½c.; peaches, 10 to 10½c; pears, 9½ to 10c.; nectarines, 10½ to 11c. Evaporated plums, dark, 9½c.; red, 10 to 10½c.; yellow, 11½c.; silver prunes, 9 to 10c. Ordinary prunes, 5 to 8½c., according to sizes.

SYRUPS — Glucose syrups are stiffer although there can scarcely be said to be a change in price, quotations still being 3½ to 3⅝c. Maple syrup is in good demand although the figures are high. The State of Vermont and the Eastern Townships are looked upon by the knowing ones as the garden of sugar bushes, and the place from which to obtain the real thing in maple syrup. Winnipeg is to be congratulated on having some of the "pure quill," even if it runs from $1.00 to $1.25 per gallon. The "Maple Leaf" and "Imperial" are two popular brands here, and the latter has just published a reward of $2,000 to anyone who can prove manipulation in their syrup. The packages coming here are quart, half-gallon, gallon and five gallon tins.

HONEY—There is a good demand, and supplies in the city are rather short. Pure white clover strained is worth 11½c.: comb honey, in 12-oz. sections, 17c. per lb.

CANNED GOODS—The vegetable and fruit situation remains without change for the week. Canned meats of all kinds are stiffer, and it looks as if some lines would advance in sympathy with pork products.

FLOUR—The Ogilvie Milling Co. have announced a 10c. advance upon all grades of their flour, but this has not been met by any of the other companies, all of which are selling on last week's prices.

CEREALS—Rolled oats are in fair demand both for local consumption and export, but have not changed in price. Cornmeal is again 5c. higher, and is quoted at $1.80. White beans continue low and dull at $1.60 for prime mediums. Split peas are firm at $2.85.

BUTTER—The situation shows little change. Supplies have increased slightly, but not enough to meet the demand, which continues heavy. Commission houses are paying from 16 to 18c. for fresh rolls and bricks. A few thousand pounds of creamery have come in this week. The price paid is 21 to 22c. Winnipeg.

CHEESE—Slow market. Price, 13½ to 14c.

EGGS—The supplies for the week have not been heavy, and the prices paid are 10 to 11c., Winnipeg, for the best cases of freshly candled stock. Large shipments of eggs are going to British Columbia. Dealers here declare themselves open to buy from four to five cars of eggs at the present time.

GREEN FRUITS—The market is active and has assumed a more summer character. Supplies of strawberries are coming in regularly and pines have arrived this week. The banana situation is still unsatisfactory. Large quantities of Messina lemons have been purchased and are now on their way to this market. The supplies of oranges now on the market are St. Michaels, Med. sweets and seedlings. Prices are as follows: Oranges, St. Michaels, 150 to 250s, $5.25; 288 to 324s, $4.75; Med. sweets, 150 to 250s, $4 75; 288 to 324s, $4 25; navels, $4.50 to $5.25, according to quality. Lemons—Fancy Messinas 300 to 360s, $4 50; Cal. lemons, 300 to 360s, $4 50. Strawberries, $6.50 per case of 24 quarts; pineapples, $5.50 per doz.; bananas, $3.00 to $3.50 per bunch; apples, American Ben Davis, $6.50 per bbl.; rhubarb, 9c. per lb.

VEGETABLES—Potatoes are still moving slowly at 25 to 30c. per bush. in car lots; celery (Cal.), 90c. per doz.; lettuce, radishes and onions, 30c. per doz; tomatoes (Floridas), 6 basket crates $5; Californian cabbage, 5c. per lb.; Egyptian onions, 4¾c. per lb.

NOTES.

Mr. Whitesides, who used formerly to represent The Delhi Canning Co., visited Winnipeg this week in the interests of The Simcoe Canning Co. It is not known that any business resulted, as jobbers here are still shy of canned goods at present prices.

The representative of Libby, McNeil & Libby was in the city during the week, and, if his advice is correct, jobbers would do well to stock up a little more freely with canned meats. The situation certainly points to an advance in canned meats in the near future, in sympathy with the advance in pork products.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, April 28, 1902.

WEATHER conditions and good roads in the country districts have combined to make the last week an unusually active one in the grocery trade, and all the wholesale houses report an extensive business. Payments continue unusually prompt for this season of the year, and travellers on the road still report most favorable conditions from all sections of the country for a large spring and summer business.

The prices of nearly all the staple lines remain unchanged, but there have been some fluctuations here and there. Flour, cornmeal, oatmeal and rolled oats show an upward tendency, and have advanced somewhat, flour being 10 to 15c. higher for the finer grades, while the cheaper flours remain practically unchanged. Dried fruits also show an advance, especially prunes and evaporated apples. Canned tomatoes have advanced 5 to 10c. per dozen, and present stocks are low.

Hay is somewhat firmer than a week or two ago, when a slump in prices was imminent. There is not a very considerable quantity held by the growers, but these are firm in their demands, and there will probably be no further reduction. The last steamer to the West Indies took over 2,000 bales, on which dealers claim they can make a good profit. The wholesale price, carload lots, is still $12 to $12.50. Good hay in the Halifax market, by the load, brought $14.

The season when there is usually a lessened demand has had a tendency to make middlings and other feeds easier, though, with the grass-feeding season a month further off, prices would be higher. Oats are still high, and the tendency to decline, a week or two ago, has cleared up. Prices abroad are high, and considerable quantities are being exported. Ontario oats are now quoted here at 51 to 53c., and Nova Scotian and P. E. Island at 3c. higher. There is usually a considerable decline in oats at this season, but stocks are small and this is now unlooked for.

Dairy and creamery butter is now coming in a little more plentifully, and the local market is well supplied. Price, however, is unchanged, and 23 to 24c. is being realized. Farmers from various districts in the Province are now sending in considerable quantities in 5-lb. wooden boxes, which is an excellent article, and brings 20 to 21c., according to quality. Dairy rolls of lower grade bring 18 to 19c. Much imported butter of a still cheaper grade is used. Cheese is in light supply, and 11½ to 12c. is being asked.

There is considerable difficulty this spring in securing sufficient first class beef for the local market. This is no doubt due to the high price of feeds, which caused farmers to fatten less for the market. Though good beefsteak retails at 15c., the local dealers claim that there is no profit in beef for them, as the live cattle cost more than in former years. There is now an agitation among them to combine and raise prices, as the Toronto victuallers did a short time ago. Spring lamb is now in the market, but carcasses are very light and prices high. Veal is very plentiful.

The presence of some 1,500 volunteers for the fourth contingent makes a very heavy call on the provision market, and prices of provisions, which ought to be on the decline, have rather the opposite tendency, and prices will be firm if not higher for the next three or four weeks.

* * *

There is not much activity at present in the fish markets. There are still a few cargoes of old fish to dispose of, and these are being held for better prices. The usual shipments are being made to the West Indies. The lobster business is now much better than a few weeks ago. Some 750 crates of live lobsters were shipped from Halifax to United States markets. These were procured along the shores near this port east and west. Very large shipments have also been made from the South Shore districts, via Yarmouth. The price in Boston, which a few weeks ago was $25.00 a crate, has gone down more than one half.

THE BEET-SUGAR INDUSTRY.

BRANTFORD WANTS BEET SUGAR FACTORY.

BRANTFORD, Ont., is working for a sugar factory, and a letter from a representative of a large United States firm has been received by Joseph Stratford, and is in the hands of the Mayor. It states that if $100,000 is subscribed locally the firm will furnish $500,000 to put up a $600,000 beet-sugar plant. A guarantee of 5,000 acres of land for sugar-beet growing will also be required.

TRYING TO INTEREST CAPITALISTS.

F. Howard Annis, of Whitby, was in New York a short time ago seeking to interest United States capitalists in the beet-sugar industry of Ontario, and he reports that a number of Wall Street magnates have become interested, and have guaranteed an expenditure of $750,000 towards the erection of a sugar refinery at Whitby. Mr. Annis has been empowered to make contracts with the farmers for the supply of sugar beets.

THE PROPOSED GALT FACTORY.

Galt, Ont., failed to secure the erection of a sugar factory there for 1902, but efforts are now being made to secure a refinery for 1903. The beet-sugar factory committee appointed by the Galt Board of Trade have reported to that body that they are at present in negotiation with two United States firms for the erection of a 500-ton factory in 1903 and the securing of it is now practically assured. A free site and tax exemption for a number of years will be given by the town, $100,000 will be subscribed by local capitalists and $500,000 by the American concern.

In connection with this factory a company has been formed by a number of Galt citizens to grow sugar beets. Ten members constitute this concern and 100 acres of land have been rented from various farmers around that town. Men will be hired to work this land.

STEAMER FROM P.E.I. TO MANCHESTER.

Commencing next July, the steamer Manchester Trader will make four trips from Charlottetown, P.E.I., to Manchester, Eng., direct. She will sail from Manchester to St. John and take on a cargo there, reserving enough space to accommodate what load there is waiting for her at Charlottetown. The Manchester Trader is a steamer of 3,218 tons, has three chambers for cold storage under different systems, and accommodation for 388 cattle. She is a fast sailer, and will be able to make the trip between Manchester and Charlottetown in about 10 days. She is a good, steady vessel, and has successfully landed several cargoes of cattle from St. John, N.B., without much loss, only one bullock being lost in three voyages.

GETTING READY FOR TOURISTS.

The Nova Scotia Tourist Association will make vigorous efforts this summer to develop summer travel in that Province. A handsome booklet of the Association will be distributed in the large centres of population, and another smaller booklet is being prepared for sending out to supply information regarding the attractions of the city of Halifax and the country in general.

A complete set of colored slides of Nova Scotian views is being supplied to Rev. Dr. Rose, of Newark, N.J., who visited Halifax and other parts of Nova Scotia last year, and has since been delivering illustrated lectures on the "Land of Evangeline" before large audiences.

The Business Men's League, of Montreal, are establishing a bureau in that city to supply information to tourists and visitors. They are desirous of cooperating with the Associations of St. John and Halifax, and propose sending their secretary to those two cities.

CANNED MEATS IN AFRICA.

When asked a question in the House of Commons a few days ago regarding the paucity of the canned meat contracts for South Africa given to Canada, and as to whether Americans had obtained the bulk of the contracts because their tenders were lower or their provisions of better quality, the Financial Secretary to the War Office, Lord Stanley, refused to make a reply. He said the whole question of the comparative merits of various tinned meats was now under consideration.

Sell Jonas' Flavoring Extracts

Women are finicky about such things as extracts, and rightly so, because the results of their cooking is to a very marked degree dependent upon the quality of the flavoring extracts used. Cheap, weak extracts are expensive at any price, because more flavoring is required, and good results can never be secured, no matter what quantity is used. Jonas' Flavoring Extracts are the only kind that can be depended upon to please your customers. They yield a rich, natural flavor that is true to the fruit, flower or spice represented.

THE PROVISION TRADE.

The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The market for all kinds of fresh meat continues strong, and the receipts of hogs and beef are not large. The consumption is curtailed by the high prices. The price of live hogs has advanced 25c. per 100 lb., and there is a brisk export demand for them. The other prices are unchanged. We quote as follows : Dressed hogs, $8.50 to $8.75 ; beef carcasses, $8.00 to $9.00 per 100 lb. ; hind quarters, $9.00 to $10.00 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $6.50 to $7.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 9c. per lb.; lambs, 10½ to 11c. Live hogs : Selects, $6.75, lights, $6 00 to $6.50 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $5.75 to $6.50; choice export cattle bring $5.75 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $5.00 to $5.50.

The demand for cured meats is fair and the prices are steady. A brisk demand is expected to set in in a few days. We quote : Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c. smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c. ; rolls, 10½ to 11½c.; medium hams, 13 to 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21; short cut, $22 ; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

There is a good demand both for local and export account for smoked meats. Pork is still moving slowly. Prices, however, are steady all around. Lard, both pure and compound, is being freely inquired for, at current quotations. The market for dressed hogs has declined somewhat since last week. The demand is still good, most of the business being done in small lots for butchers. The price is now $8.50 to $8.75 for fresh country killed, the present quotations being back again to those of two weeks ago. For live hogs the market retains all its firmness, though no advance has been made, and the price per 100 lb. is still $6.75. We quote : Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $22 00 ; Chicago clear pork, $25.75 for heavy and $25.25 for medium ; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00 ; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c. ; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail ; refined lard compound (Fairbank's) ; $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails ; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails ; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail ; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20-lb. pails, and 10⅝c. for 60-lb. tubs, for Quebec and Ontario.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

Barrelled beef is out of sight. Advance has been very marked, being over $3 per bbl. It is difficult to get full advance here. Sales are light. Pork continues firm. Lard still remains unchanged, and price is yet quite firm. In fresh beef, very high prices rule. Veal is, however, low. Farmers sell their milk to the factories, and so will not keep the calves. They would find that it would pay them much better to have separators, and sell the cream and feed the milk. Lamb and mutton are both quite high. Pork holds at full figures. We quote : American mess pork, $22 to $22.50 ; domestic mess pork, $21.50 ; plate beef, Canadian, $13 to $14.50 ; veal, $4 to $7 ; lamb, $4 to $5; mutton, $10 to $12 ; clear pork, American, $24 50 ; plate beef, American, $15.00 to $16.50 ; fresh beef, 8 to 10½c.; round hogs, 7 to 8½c. ; pure lard, tubs, 12c. ; pure lard, pails, 12c.; compound lard, tubs, 9½c.; compound lard, pails, 9¾c.; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10½c. ; pails, 10¼c.

A car of Fairbank's lard was distributed this week to the trade.

The F. E. Williams Co., one of our largest packers, finding business quiet, have made a contract with The Jamaica Steamship Co. to take such bananas as they supply here, and are doing a large trade.

WINNIPEG.

BEEF—The market has been well supplied all week, but there is every indication of a coming scarcity of supply. Prices are 8c. for best grade of dressed beef and 7 to 7½c. for inferior grades.

VEAL—It would seem that farmers have at last learned the wisdom of raising their calves for stockers, for the market is short of veal of desirable quality. Prices asked are 8½ to 9c. per lb.

MUTTON—There have been no offerings this week.

POULTRY — Practically no fresh has reached the market this week, and the demand for frozen stock is very slow.

CURED MEATS—The market is firm and again advancing, many lines having advanced ¼ to ½c. this week. The advance in prices is stated to be entirely due to increased demand and shortage of hogs during the past season. Hams, smoked, 14 to 15c., according to size ; breakfast bellies, 15c.; backs, 14½c.; shoulders, 11c.; spiced rolls, long, 12½c.; short, 12c. ; dry salt long clear, 12½c.; backs, 12½c. ; shoulders, 10½c.

LARD—Lard is firm and has advanced slightly. We quote : 20-lb. pails, $2.65 ; 50-lb. pails, $6.50 ; 3, 5 and 10 lb. tins, $8 per crate.

PORK PACKING.

The Cincinnati Price-Current says: The offerings of hogs have been moderately increased. Total Western packing 350,000, compared with 310,000, the preceding week, and 335,000 two weeks ago. For corresponding time last year the number was 440,000, and two years ago 445,000. From March 1 the total is 2,745,000 against 2,950,000 a year ago—a decrease of 205,000 Current offerings of hogs are without much change as to quality, the weights running irregularly, and quality generally fair or better. Prices are easier, and lower, the average for prominent markets at the close being $6.85 per 100 pounds, compared with $7 a week ago, $6.75 two weeks ago, $5.85 a year ago, and $5.35 two years ago.

The average of the monthly range in cash prices of mess pork, lard, and short rib sides, at Chicago, for the eight summer months of years indicated:

	Mess pork, per bbl.	Lard, 100 lb.	S.R.Sides, 100 lb.

DAIRY PRICES.

Dairy prices are likely to continue at a permanently higher level, according to American Agriculturist, unless marked changes speedily take place in the dairy industry. This authority says that the most important factor in the present very high price of butter is the shortage in the number of milch cows in the United States compared with the population. The 1900 Federal census figures show a startling deficiency. While the population has gained nearly 22 per cent. in the decade, the number of milch cows in the same period gained less than 4 per cent. Population has increased several times as fast as the number of cows upon which dependence must be made for the supply of milk. This falling behind in the supply is a little less pronounced in the dairy States of the West than elsewhere, but it is universally marked. In the six leading Western dairy States population increased nearly 21 per cent. in 10 years, while the number of milch cows gained but 5.7 per cent. In New England the gain in number of milch cows was 8.6 per cent,, while the population increased 19 per cent., or more than twice as fast. The poorest showing of all is in the group of three great dairy States—New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio—also favored with good markets. There the population increased nearly 19 per cent., while the dairy herds gained a little more than 2 per cent. A modifying influence is the breeding-up of dairy herds, and census figures show some positive advances in this direction.

INQUIRIES ABOUT CANADIAN TRADE.

THE following were among the recent inquiries relating to Canadian trade received at the Canadian Government Office in London :

1. A salesman of chilled meats at Manchester desires to get into communication with Canadian shippers.

2. A firm of distillers at Cognac, France, desire an energetic and reliable agent in Canada to whom they might entrust the agency for the sale of their brandies.

3. A Barcelona, Spain, house have requested to be glaced in touch with wholesale lumber firms having interests in the Maritime Provinces of Canada who require representation in that city.

4. Inquiry is made by a Staffordshire firm for the names of Canadian buyers of machinery, iron and rails, scrap metal, wire rope, etc.

5. A London firm of hat manufacturers are contemplating doing business with Canada, and ask to be furnished with information to this end.

6. A firm of high-class grocers and provision merchants at Cape Town desire to get into communication with Canadian houses with the view of doing an increased business in Canadian butter, fodder, oats and general provisions.

7. A London agent wishes to hear from Canadian firms exporting plumbers' and engineers' supplies and accessories, cheap furniture, caskets and coffins, marble, etc.

8. Inquiry is made for Canadian producers and shippers of molybdenite and tungsten.

9. An old-established firm of importers,salesmen and agents in London, having every facility for turning over a big stock, desire to be placed in communication with some important Canadian shippers of dairy produce.

10. A Liverpool firm of general merchants and importers have asked to be furnished with names of Canadian exporters of general produce as well as clog soles, india rubber cuttings, etc.

11. A Turkish manufacturer of genuine handmade oriental embroideries wishes to be placed in communication with Canadian importers of these goods as well as carpets and rugs.

[The names of the firms making the above inquiries can be obtained on application to the editor of THE CANADIAN GROCER.]

E. W. GILLETT CO., LIMITED.

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, was held at the company's offices, 32-34 Front street west, Toronto, yesterday forenoon. A large number of stockholders were present, including Mr. E. W. Gillett, of Chicago, the founder and organizer of the most extensive yeast business in the world. A large amount of business was transacted, and the new company and its shareholders, who are composed of merchants of Canada, have every reason to be proud of the flattering auspices under which this large business starts out. Under the management of Mr. Wm. Dobie, who, during the past 16 years, has built up, through upright and honorable business methods, one of the largest and most flourishing industries of our country, the interests of the new company will receive a continued close attention, and success is assured.

A WORD IN SEASON.

The most careful dealers are anxious to supply their customers with the best article on the market at the most reasonable price, and thus build up their trade upon a sure foundation. Experience has proven that Cane's, Newmarket, wooden packages in lard, candy, syrup pails, butter tubs, etc., are among the most reliable and all round satisfactory goods manufactured. A careful selection of materials and large experience, combined with their great facilities, resulting from the consolidation of the United Factories and reduction of expense in making has put them in a position to produce high-class goods at reasonable figures.

BACK FROM THE WEST INDIES.

MR. ROBT. MUNRO, managing-director of the Canada Paint Co., and president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and Mr. E. F. M. Stuart, also of the Manufacturers' Association, have returned to Montreal after making a tour of the West India Islands on the lookout for openings for Canadian trade with those colonies.

Speaking to a representative of THE CANADIAN GROCER Mr. Munro said that he very much appreciated the prominence that this journal had always given to the doings of the Manufacturers' Association.

Of their trips, he said : "We visited nearly all the Islands and Jamaica, and none of the important points were passed by. Mr. Stuart is at present engaged in preparing a report, which will be submitted to the Manufacturers' Association in a few days. We met all the Chambers of Commerce or leading merchants and planters of the Islands, and were well received everywhere. There is great room for improvement in the share that Canada enjoys of the trade of these Islands, and, with the existing friendly attitude of the people there toward us, the present time is opportune to foster that trade. As sister colonies, they are proud of Canada's achievements in the trouble in South Africa. I am sure they will give a cordial welcome to representatives of Canadian manufacturers who should wish to show their goods there.

"As to the conditions of the Islands, it must be said that some of them are still suffering from the terrible depreciation of sugar, and there is great anxiety shown as to what the Government of Great Britain will do until the bounties are abolished. But, at any rate, the trade of the West-Indian Colonies is well worth the attention of the manufacturers of Canada."

Mr. Munro did not care at present to go into the subject of what lines of trade could be made most profitable between Canada and the Islands. After the publication of Mr. Stuart's report a more comprehensive grasp of the subject would be afforded.

George C. Smith, trader, Montreal, has consented to assign to C. A. Harwood.

W. N. Andrews and Co. Thornbury, Ont., have sold the Vivian Oatmeal Mill to Harry Parkinson.

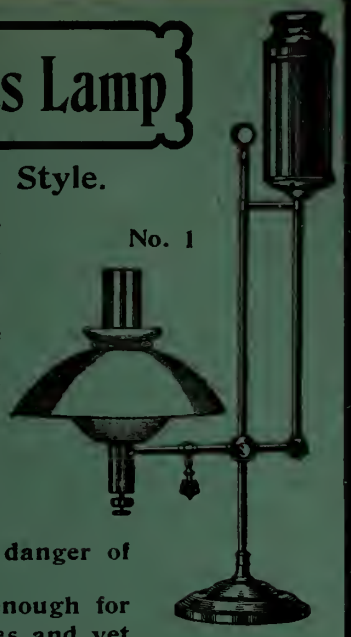
The Auer Gas Lamp

Money-Back Style.



No. 1

THIS style is particularly suited for a reading light—the shades prevent the light from tiring the eyes and the burner can be raised just the same as any other students lamp.

IT can be carried around the house with perfect safety and as the base is heavily weighted there is no danger of its up-setting.

THE light is soft enough for the most sensitive eyes and yet strong enough for the finest print.

When he talks quantity . . .

STRONG POINT
In Colman's Mustard

Imagination goes a long way with some people—you can play on their credulity with considerable audacity—Not so with the clear-headed business man—in business for the money there is in it—and keen sighted enough to realize that QUALITY is the surest foundation of a successful, profit-yielding trade—Asked to decide between that is "just as good as" BUT NOT "IMPERIAL"—or something "considerably less in price and your customers will never notice the difference" sort—there is little doubt what the verdict will be.

"IMPERIAL" and a guarantee of perfect satisfaction to consumers.

"'Round the Corner."

That's where the woman goes who can't buy standard goods at your store—'round the corner! Your competitor gets the trade that rightfully belongs to you. A woman's confidence begins to weaken in the quality of the class of goods you carry in stock if you don't keep standard brands on hand. Nine times out of ten it's your fault when a woman goes "'round the corner."

THE MEN WHO ARE IN CONTROL OF THE PREVAILING BEEF TRUST.

THE men who have "cornered" the food supplies of America are modest and unassuming. Strangely enough, all except one have been poor men, born in humble surroundings, frequently in youth feeling the pinch of poverty and the pangs of hunger.

This is the story of who they are, what they are doing, and how they are able to do it.

Armour was a farm laborer. He left an estate of $40,000,000.

Nelson Morris came to America in the steerage, was a hog-driver, then a watchman. His first week's wages in Chicago was $4. He is now estimated to be worth $20,000,000.

The Cudahy brothers began life as laborers. They are estimated to be worth a total of $25,000,000.

G. F. Swift earned his first money in Boston as a clerk. He is said to have an estate of the value of $30,000,000.

All these vast sums were piled up within 40 years.

G. H. Hammond was the one man with money. He inherited it and invested $200,000 in a packing plant in Hammond 33 years ago.

Chicago was not big enough for the operations of these men. As the West developed they moved nearer a source of supply. Great branch plants were created in Omaha, Kansas City and St. Joseph, Mo. They own stock yards, railroads, special car lines and cold-storage plants. Their combined annual business is put at $700,000,000.

Of the self-indulgent or generous weaknesses of human nature they have none. Each man is a money-making machine. Without the benefit of education in youth, they are graduates of that hard school, experience; they early acquired shrewdness, progressiveness and worldly wisdom. Books, art, travel, worship at the shrines of the mighty have no place in their hearts. It is work, work, work, scheme and plan for the making of money.

ARMOUR DIED IN HARNESS.

Five years ago a physician told P. D. Armour he would be a dead man in a short time if he did not quit business. Mr. Armour said he could not live without business. His health declined. He decided to retire. He went to Europe, but the spirit of unrest possessed him and business would let him have no peace. He came back and became the slave of business. In a year he was dead in harness.

A MAN WITH AN IDEA.

Twenty-five years ago an idea flashed through the brain of an obscure workman in the G. H. Hammond plant. This idea has been worth hundreds of millions of dollars to the packers. It has been developed until the meat supply of the country is in control of a few men who began life as butchers for the Chicago market. Following that idea, they have reached out and obtained control of other food supplies, chiefly eggs, fruit and poultry. This workman, whose name is not even known, and who is said to have never reaped any substantial benefit from his idea, said to himself one day: "Why can't Hammond & Co. sell meat to surrounding towns same as in Chicago."

"Because the company has no method of cooling and keeping the meat," came the answer. This workman's idea was a refrigerator car and cooling depots in large towns. Hammond & Co. said it was a good idea, and they were the first to build refrigerator cars and cold-storage plants. Dressed beef was shipped out of the city, sold at a profit, and then began the invasion of all the States. The other packers were quick to see the success and scope of the scheme. With greater resources, they followed the lead of Hammond & Co., and it was not long before they passed the pioneer in the struggle for supremacy.

THE WHOLE WORLD PAYS TRIBUTE.

To-day, the United States, the islands in the seas and lands beyond the same are paying the tribute that Chicago packers exact. They own and operate 20,000 cars, of which 14,000 are refrigerator cars. They have thousands of cold-storage plants scattered through the United States. When a firm grip on the meat supply had been secured, the power of cold storage impressed them.

Why not reach out for control of the other food supplies? Easy enough. More and bigger cold-storage plants were built. Poultry, fish, eggs, fruit and butter are bought at a low price when supplies are plentiful. The stuff is kept until a scarcity prevails, be it six months or two years, and is then dumped upon the public at high prices. This coup is just now being successfully executed. Poultry and eggs are at high prices, and the great cold-storage plants of the packers in Chicago, Kansas City and Omaha are selling out at 25 per cent. profit.

The possibilities of the idea of that Hammond workman are not yet exhausted.

HEAD MEN IN THE FOOD TRUST.

But who are the men who grasped that idea and by main strength developed it into such a tremendous, powerful system? Who are they, what are they, and how do they manipulate their giant machine?

Jonathan Ogden Armour, head of Armour & Co., is "the mildest mannered man" that ever held up the public and demanded tribute. He is the only son of the late P. D. Armour and is not yet 40. A hard worker, a good husband, democratic, but unobtrusive is J. Ogden Armour. He attends strictly to business, is scarcely ever seen in what is called "society," dislikes publicity and will not meddle with politics, reform movements, except so far as the Armour Institute is concerned. He lives in a big house on Michigan boulevard, loves automobiling and has a fine French machine which he recently purchased. Though he belongs to half a dozen leading clubs, he is not a club man. He has one child, the famous "incubator baby," Lolita Armour, now five years old. The Armours are Presbyterians.

Mr. Armour is really not responsible for the policy of Armour & Co. The tremendous business, which reaches $200,000,000 a year, is controlled by a "system." The "system" was developed by the Armour who is now in the grave. The mighty departments of beef, pork, grain, elevator storage, cold storage, refrigerator cars, are each managed by a man brought up under the system, and each is all powerful in his domain.

P. A. Valentine is the financial man. He looks after the money and has his hand in five or six banks. Mr. Valentine recently married the widow of P. D. Armour, jr., and is just now back from his honeymoon, It is said of him that he can obtain for Armour & Co. $5,000,000 in currency upon an hour's notice.

A. I. Valentine, his brother, has charge of all the grain business and elevator systems. Four years ago he was suspended by the board of trade for uncommercial conduct, but through the Armour influence is now back again.

Arthur Meeker manages the packing department, and so it goes. The capital stock of the Armour corporation is $30,000,000.

Swift & Co. press Armour & Co. very closely in the packing line. Swift & Co. own and control the great packing and canning house of Libby, McNeil & Libby. In the canning line it is greater than Armour.

G. F. Swift, head of the company, is a most religious and domestic man. He is a member of St. James' Methodist Church, and has subscribed liberally to the cause of Methodism. Mr. Swift is a hard-headed Yankee, who comes from Eastern Massachusetts. He is of a retiring disposition, has no fads, and spends his time at home or in his office. He is not a club man and hates politics.

HAS 19,000 EMPLOYES.

Mr. Swift began butchering in a small way 30 years ago. Last year his company did $180,000,000 worth of business. Nineteen thousand employes are on his pay roll. Swift & Co. have slaughtered in one day as high as 11,000 cattle, 18,000 sheep and 30,000 hogs.

L. F. Swift and E. F. Swift, sons of G. F. Swift, are largely in control of affairs. The "system" also exercises wide influence in the business of Swift & Co. Under it the packers in the combine are protected and upheld. No fight is tolerated. The field is big enough, and instead of gunning for one another the combined artillery is turned upon the public.

The Cudahys are the most popular of all the packers. They are four Irish giants, with all the good humor, energy and talent of the race. The brothers were born in the County Kilkenny, Ireland, and arrived in Milwaukee with their parents, when infants. They are Michael, John, Patrick and Edward. All began life with little education and in humble occupation in the pioneer Milwaukee packing house. They were employed for a time by Armour & Plankington.

John Cudahy was the first to go into business for himself. The Cudahys do but comparatively little in the dressed beef line. They are the pork and lard specialists of the world.

The firm of Cudahy Brothers was established 25 years ago. Michael and John managed the Chicago plant, Patrick the Milwaukee plant, and Edward the Omaha and Kansas City plants.

JOHN A NOTED PLUNGER.

John Cudahy has been noted for 15 years as one of the biggest grain and provision "plungers" on the board of trade. He has made tremendous losses and big winnings. In 1893, in company with N. K. Fairbank and Austin Wright, he attempted to "corner" July pork and lard. The operations began back in the fall of 1892. The hog supply dropped to alarming figures, and through the winter and spring pork went up from $9 to $21 per bbl.; lard from $4 to $9 per 100 lb. The combination bought all that was offered for the July delivery. The panic came on and liquidation set in. They supported the market for two months, and then came the cholera. On the day that the Normania brought the first case of cholera into New York, Armour & Co. broke the "corner" by heavy sales. The crash that followed cost Cudahy $3,000,000. Fairbank lost as much. Cudahy paid $1,000,000 in cash and gave notes for two years for the remainder, and paid the notes when due.

This did not cure him of plunging. He is still active in grain, and usually swings a line of 5,000,000 bushels of wheat, mostly on the bear side.

Michael Cudahy, the elder of the brothers, never speculates. All are popular with their employes, are democratic, home-loving men, and are noted for their good-fellowship and charity. They have large families and are strict Roman Catholics. Within the last few years the brothers have taken up golf and field sports. Michael and John have yachts and summer homes at Mackinac Island.

NELSON MORRIS, ECCENTRIC AND CLOSE.

Nelson Morris, who exports more cattle to Europe than any man in the world, is the most eccentric character among the beef barons. Though he is credited with making over $20,000,000 in his business, he dresses but little better than when he was a watchman in the stockyards, 40 years ago.

It is said of him that he has never worn a dress suit.

Mr. Morris was born in the Black Forest, Germany, and came to Chicago when 15. He worked his way along the Erie Canal, over the lakes, and settled down here as a watchman in the stockyards at $4 a week. He soon became an expert judge of cattle and hogs, and going into business for himself made an enormous success.

"Save your money, young man," is Mr. Morris' motto. "There are more chances to-day for young men than there were 40 years ago," said he.

Morris is after the English public, too. He has suddenly ceased exporting cattle, asserting the price is so high here he cannot now export at a profit. He is waiting for the British price to soar. Having cut off supplies, he is confident the British will soon be paying more for their meat.

Mr. Morris is another good man. He stays much of the time in his office, and, when not there, is at home. He has never been connected with any public movements, dodges publicity, and is interested only in the cattle and butcher business. He has two sons and two daughters, and is a member of the Standard Club, a Jewish organization.

UNLUCKY END OF THE COMBINE.

The most unlucky member of the combine is The G. H. Hammond Co., whose unknown workman made it possible to send dressed beef to Africa and Asia. Mr. Hammond, a shrewd Yankee, was the only man who entered the business with money. He put $200,000 in a plant in 1869.

Mr. Hammond died in 1886. Three years later the plant was almost totally destroyed by fire. It was rebuilt, and, in 1890, its control passed into the hands of an English syndicate. The Englishmen did not make much of a success, and it is understood that control is again lodged in the hands of Americans.

The Hammond Co. does an enormous export business, having under charter many of the steamers of the Leyland Line.

WHERE THE TRUST OPERATES.

And the stockyards — the picturesque spot, of which Chicago boasts, and which has attracted 1,000,000 visitors to see the mechanical operations of the trust.

The yards form a good-sized city, covering 470 acres, with 25 miles of brick and plank-paved streets. They have a capacity for caring for 75,000 cattle, 50,000 sheep, 300,000, hogs and 5,000 horses. The plants of the packing concerns are estimated to have cost $40,000,000, while the capital in their business is about $75,000,000.

In and about the houses 30,000 men and women find employment. The annual wages paid is estimated at $25,000,000. Every railway entering Chicago is connected directly with the stockyards by The Stockyards Company's Belt Line of 296 miles of tracks and switches, equipped with its own engines and cars. The trust really owns the stockyards and its equipment, though it stands in the name of the Stockyards Company. The stock is said to pay 10 per cent.

CLUBS THE RAILROADS INTO LINE.

The statement of Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. S. Prouty, that the rebates paid by the railroads to the packers amounted to about $4,000,000 a year, has attracted wide attention. "The condition of the meat trade is such," said he, "that the packers do not have to argue with the railroads; they use a club. A year ago, the Santa Fe got no business at all from the packers for three months. When an official went to the packers, he was told the Santa Fe could get a share, provided proper rates were allowed. When the Santa Fe was beaten down, the other trunk lines in self-defence were forced to come to the same terms. The packers have it within their power to make every railway in the country violate the laws and grant them discriminating rates, to the annihilation of small competitors."

It is estimated that the packers have between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000 invested in refrigerator cars. Upon every car thus owned by the packing-houses the railroads pay a charge of ¾c. per mile for every mile travelled east of the Mississippi river, and 1c. per mile for every mile travelled west of the Mississippi river. This charge, it is stated by some officials, amounts to at least 25 per cent. upon the money invested in the cars, and enables the packers to do many things they would not otherwise be able to accomplish. A 25-per-cent. return upon an investment of $25,000,000 is $6,250,000, which the railroads pay the packing-houses yearly for private car mileage. Cars that are in the service between Chicago and the Atlantic seaboard earn on every round trip an average of $14.50, and the trips are frequent, because the beef and provision service is an express-train service.

Although the railroads, as a rule, are aware that the rate paid for private car mileage is exorbitant, no effort is made to obtain a reduction, because such an attempt would be useless. Should any road have the hardihood to build its own refrigerator cars, it would be capital lost, as all the big packers would boycott that line, and refuse to give it business. The railroads, therefore, are bound to submit to paying whatever mileage the packers think they are entitled to, and do so without protest.

OATS FOR AFRICA.

The Imperial War Office has awarded a contract to The Brackman-Ker Milling Co., Victoria, B.C., for 4,000 tons of oats, about 230,000 bushels, for shipment to South Africa. The company have their oats in their elevator at Edmonton, N.W.T, and the shipment will be made from the Pacific Coast to Durban, South Africa. The steamer Ganges, it is understood, will carry this shipment to Africa. She is on her way from Yokohama and will be ready to receive her load of oats in a couple of weeks.

DETERIORATION IN QUALITY OF CHEESE.

THROUGH the High Commissioner a report from the Home and Foreign Produce Exchange, London, Eng., has been received by the Canadian Minister of Agriculture. This report is in brief as follows: The quality of Canadian cheese shipped during the season of 1901 was not so high as that of previous years. The importations from New Zealand have improved in quality. Some of the earlier Canadian makes were rank in flavor, garlic being the predominant odor, and whenever the stocks accumulated, owing to a falling off in the demand, this flavor grew so strong as to lessen the value of the cheese. A cause of this was the shipping of the cheese when too young, a time when they are more susceptible to rapid change and external influence. A good deal of heavy cheese was made last year and much money was lost through the Provinces in quality of the packages, the boxes being too thin.

Weights ought to be marked or stencilled on the boxes in figures at least one and a half inches long, as was suggested by the cheese sub-committee of a year ago. Steamers should be fitted with a system of cool air ventilators like those installed on some steamers carrying cheese between Montreal and London. At present all vessels carrying cheese from New Zealand are fitted up in this manner, and its general adoption for the carriage of cheese from Canada would promote the popularity and so increase the consumption of Canadian cheese.

WELL PLEASED WITH TORONTO.

Mr. E. W. Gillett, the millionaire manufacturer of Chicago and president of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, 32-34 Front street west, Toronto, has been paying that city a visit during the past few days. Mr. Gillett was present at the meeting of stockholders of the Canadian company held in the company's offices on Thursday last, May 1. After an absence of some years, the growth and general prosperity of Toronto was a revelation to him, and the great improvements, both in the way of our buildings and streets as well as the large number of manufacturing establishments that had sprung into existence, evidenced to him that Toronto's future was assured on a substantial basis. Mr. Gillett was the guest, during his stay, of Mr. Wm. Dobie, general manager and treasurer of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, and left again for Chicago on the evening of May 1.

Sold Canadian Ham as English—The Markets—Miscellaneous Notes.

SOLD CANADIAN HAM AS ENGLISH.

"WHILST we have no sympathy with any kind of fraud, we must say that we do not admire the plan of campaign adopted by the Bacon Curers' Association in their crusade against the fraudulent substitution of Canadian and American hams for the home-grown article," says Grocery, London, England. "There is a right and a wrong way of fighting a campaign of this kind, and we are sorry to see that the Bacon Curers' Association has been adopting the wrong one. Many thoroughly honest and well intentioned retailers have been haled before the police court and fined, with or without their assistance, in which appears to us a distinctly unjust manner. A notable instance of this is the prosecution of Mr. Radbone at Oxford recently.

"In this case the proprietor of the shop had done everything that lay in his power to comply with the law both by verbal and written instructions to his assistants. In spite of this, when one of his assistants was seduced into writing the word "English" on an invoice when the ham was American, in his endeavor to please a lady he believed was merely a tiresome customer, Mr. Radbone was fined by the Oxford magistrate. Except for this very technical offence—for the price was right, and there was no suggestion that there had been an attempt on the part of the assistant to secure English prices for American produce—there was no other charge against Mr. Radbone.

"It appears that the assistant himself was over-persuaded by the paid emissary of the Bacon Curers' Association, and that he did not commit his technical offence willingly. There have been several other cases of a similar nature in which the assistants have been worried into writing the word "English" on an invoice when the ham was American, and the prosecution has taken every advantage of it; but there have been hardly any instances of real fraud, as the prices have always denoted the class of produce which was being sold. If we are to have prosecutions under the Merchandise Marks Act conducted in this manner, it will be necessary to take strong steps to have the law amended."

COLD STORAGE.

W. Harris & Co. have purchased the cold storage business recently conducted by The Toronto Cold Storage Co., Limited, at 9, 11, and 13 Church street, Toronto. In addition to increasing the capacity by 45 carloads, the new proprietors are expending some $5,000 in improvements, including a thorough system of insulation which will greatly benefit the chilling and freezing-rooms throughout the building. They have also bonded two rooms for the benefit of merchants who import fruit, etc. When completed, Messrs. Harris & Co. will have one of the largest and best equipped cold storage buildings in the country. They intend paying strict attention to the requirements of the trade.

THE PROVISION MARKETS.

TORONTO.

The demand for dressed hogs and beef is light, but the receipts are small and the market continues strong. Dressed hogs have advanced 75c. per 100 lb. Beef hind quarters have declined 50c., and veal is more plentiful. It is worth 1c. per lb. less. Live hogs have advanced 25c. per 100 lb. We quote: Dressed hogs, $9.25 to $9.50; beef carcasses, $8.00 to $9.00 per 100 lb.; hind quarters, $8.50 to $9.50 per 100 lb.; front quarters, $6.50 to $7.00 per 100 lb. Veal, 7 to 8c. per lb.; lambs, 10½ to 11c. Live hogs: Selects, $7.00, lights, $6.25 to $6.75 per 100 lb., and thick fats, $6.00 to $6.75; choice export cattle bring $5.75 to $6.50 per 100 lb.; lights sell at $5.00 to $5.50.

The high prices of fresh meats have made the demand for smoked meats keen and the prices firm. Barrel pork is moving freely, and lard is steady with a fair demand. We quote: Long clear bacon, 10 to 10½c. smoked breakfast bacon, 14 to 15c.; rolls, 10½ to 11½c.; medium hams, 13 to 13½c.; large hams, 12½ to 13c.; shoulder hams, 10½ to 11c., and backs, 13½ to 14c.; Canadian heavy mess pork, $21; short cut, $22; lard, in tierces, 11 to 11¼c. per lb.; tubs, 11¼ to 11½c., and pails, 11½ to 11¾c.

MONTREAL.

The price of pork has gone up, due to the continued scarcity of hogs, and the present prices are not likely to be lowered until the fall. Jobbers are now quoting Canadian short cut mess pork at $23.25 to $23.50. Business has improved and a fairly good demand for all lines of provisions was experienced this week. Fresh killed hogs are in good demand, in small lots, the price being $9 to $9.50 per 100 lb. We quote as follows: Heavy Canadian short cut mess pork, $23 to $23.25; Chicago clear pork, $26.75 for heavy and $25.75 for medium; selected heavy short cut mess pork, boneless, $22.50 to $23.00; hams, 13c.; bacon, 15c.; lard, pure Canadian, $2.30 to $2.35 per pail; refined lard compound (Fairbank's); $2.05 for 1 to 24 pails; $2.03 for 25 to 49 pails; $2.02 for 50 pails and over. Snow White and Globe compound, $1.75 per pail; Cottolene, 10⅞c. for 20 lb. pails, Smoked meats are in demand.

WINNIPEG.

DRESSED MEATS—The supply is fair, but prices are very firm for the best grades of city dressed, being 8 to 8¼c. per lb.; inferior grades, 7½ to 7¾c. Veal is slightly cheaper and the supply is more abundant, 8 to 8½c. being paid this week. Spring lambs are in limited supply at $3.50 to $4 50 per carcass.

POULTRY—The only freshly killed poultry arriving is a limited supply of chickens. These are very dear, being quoted at 15c. per lb. wholesale.

CURED MEATS—The market is firm, and supplies in the city are somewhat limited, particularly in the matter of bacon. The demand at the present time is brisk, as many contractors are laying in their supplies for summer work. Prices are firm at last week's quotations.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

In barrelled pork and beef the local sale is very light. The advance in beef was very marked. In both a little local packed is offered. The domestic pack of pork is showing quite an increase from year to year. In lard, prices are firm with sales somewhat slow. Fresh pork is firm and in fair supply. Beef is higher than for years, and the market is very firm. Lamb is still scarce. Mutton is rather lower. Veal is unchanged. We quote as follows: American clear pork, $24 to $25; domestic mess pork, $21.50; plate beef, Canadian, $14 to $15; mess pork, American, $22; plate beef, American, $15 50 to $16; fresh beef, 6½ to 9c.; round hogs, 7½ to 8c.; pure lard, tubs, 12c.; pure lard, pails, 12½c.; compound lard, tubs, 10c.; compound lard, pails, 10¼c; refined lard compound, Fairbank's, tubs, 10¼c.; pails, 10½c.

Brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND in cooking.

Orders can be filled by any of the leading packing houses or jobbers in Canada, or direct.

Some people have been using lard so long, the odor of which has penetrated everything they have cooked, until they would not recognize the true food flavour. Their taste is distorted. Lard does not taste strong to some people because they have become addicted to it. Anything fried in lard the lard flavour predominates. Potatoes, steak, fish and chicken all have a similar lard taste. Try FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND and you will find that steak tastes like steak, chicken like chicken, each retaining its characteristic flavour not contaminated with any foreign grease taste. Tell your customers to surprise their stomachs and learn what good frying is by using FAIRBANK'S BOAR'S HEAD brand of REFINED LARD COMPOUND.

GROCER'S PLAN FOR HANDLING PROPRIETARIES.

From Grocery, London.

"Got the blues?"

During a flying visit to the North recently, we had occasion to call upon a well-known single-shop grocer, who is a very good friend of ours. It was a slack time of the day when we arrived, but our friend was looking by no means happy, and we greeted him as above.

In reply he said, "Did you notice that tall fellow you passed on the way in?" We nodded assent. "Well, he is the fourth traveller to-day who has come in with a new line of proprietaries. I don't know what the trade is coming to. However willing he might be, the grocer really hasn't shelf-room to put the goods on if he were to stock even half the proprietaries that he gets offered to him."

As this is rather a burning question at the present time, we thought it worth while to extract a little wisdom from our friend's ripe experience. "Well, what do you do yourself?" we asked.

In response he walked out into the middle of the shop and said, "Look round for yourself."

We did, taking careful stock of the goods on the counter and on the shelves at the back. There were one or two "own name" brands pushed prominently forward, and the rest of the stock in view was composed entirely of articles which carried a remunerative profit; whilst bulk samples of all kinds were strongly in evidence, very nicely displayed on the counter. None of the heavily advertised and equally heavily cut goods were to be seen anywhere. We gave our friend the net result of our observations, and with the remark, "Just so," he led us into a stockroom at the back, which was used also as an office. Here the shelves were loaded with all the cut proprietaries, from Blank's 12-ounce soap packets to Thingembob's rolled oats, and we noticed that special care had been taken to arrange the stock, so as to keep it as free from dust as possible.

After allowing us time for a full inspection, our friend went on. "That's my plan; I never by any chance show an article in the window, on the counter, or on the shelves in the shop which does not pay me a satisfactory profit. As you see here, I have a very varied stock, although the quantity of each particular line is not large. I work this by an arrangement with —— and ——, who have shops in different parts of the town, by which we divide our orders on these sort of things and exchange, if necessary, so that each can keep only a small stock of cut lines. You can see for yourself that all the advertised lines are represented here, and it is very rarely that I have to say to a customer who asks for a well-known brand of goods that I do not stock it. I don't believe in the substitution plan which so many grocers feel themselves bound to adopt nowadays. I believe it is a great mistake, if a customer comes in to ask for a particular brand of goods to try and impose something else upon her. Although you may often over-persuade customers to take your special brand that you wish to push, they usually resent it in the end, especially as, in so many cases, the substituted article is not so good in quality as the one they ask for. As you saw in the shop, I run one or two 'own name' brands, but I take particularly good care that they are of the best quality and are likely to bring credit and not discredit upon the establishment. I advertise these brands, too, in the local papers, and find that it pays well. You would be surprised," said our grocer friend, as he cast his eyes round the shelves, "how few of these goods I really do sell, and I pride myself on never losing a customer when I have once got her."

"If you always give a customer what she asks for, how do you manage to push your own special lines?" we asked.

"My plan is to always bring out the packet she asks for first," was the reply, "and then to say, 'The next time you come in, madam, you might try this special brand of our own. It is equally good with the one you have there, and is slightly cheaper in price. If you will give it a trial I feel sure you will be satisfied with it.' And then in some cases I hand her a small sample packet. No, barefaced substitution is a mistake, but there are more ways of killing a dog than hanging him. Tact and discretion are very valuable qualities in this life."

As our friend seemed inclined to start moralizing on things in general, which he has rather a habit of doing, we brought him back to the subject by saying, "Don't you think you lose trade rather by not making a display of well-advertised goods?"

"Quantity, perhaps," he replied, "but not so much as you would think even there. In quality, however, I don't think it is any loss. What is the use of a man selling any quantity of goods at a bare profit over the cost of handling? He is simply acting as an unpaid salesman for the manufacturers. So-and-so, who represents our association on the G. P. C., believes in quantity, and his turnover is probably bigger than any grocer in this town; but when the profit has to be reckoned up, I think I can beat him easily, although I do a much smaller trade. Of course, it looks very big and important to have such a big turnover, and by so doing you can get rather better terms in the way of discounts; but even then I don't think it is worth it. My belief is this, that a customer asks for particular brands because he sees the articles staring him in the face in the shop. If he did not see them he wouldn't want them, but would ask for the article without naming any particular maker. That's where the grocers have made such a mistake in the past, and many of them do it still. They give their windows, their counters, their shop space free to any manufacturer who likes to ask for them, and get very little in return. It is the retailers who build up the manufacturers' trade in many instances, free gratis, and for nothing, and then, when it is too late, and they have educated the public for years at their own expense into buying this particular article, the retailers begin to cut it and grumble because they cannot get any profit out of it. 'Out of sight, out of mind,' is my motto in regard to cut proprietaries."

BEET SUGAR IN IRELAND IN 1852.

The following appeared in The Toronto Globe of May 1, 1852:

"Among the plans for the improvement of Irish agriculture is the introduction of the beet-root into the island for the manufacture of sugar. . . . . A company was formed, which has recently commenced manufacturing, and with very satisfactory results, when they are compared with the production of the continent. The average crop of beet-root in Ireland is said to be 26 tons per acre, while on the continent it is only 16 tons, and it is now affirmed that the minimum yield of saccharine matter is 7½ per cent. in raw sugar, whereas on the continent 7 per cent. is the highest. A further advantage is also said to exist in the cost of the process as carried on at Mount Mellick, where it averages £7 5s. per ton, against a cost of £9 abroad. On the other hand, the price of the roots in Ireland last year has been 15s. per ton, the continental price 12s. 6d. . . . On the whole, at present rates the Irish sugar is alleged to be produced at £17 per ton; the continental average being £17 15s. The manufactory now at work cost about £10,000. It employs 160 laborers, has two steam engines, together of 40 horse power, and works up about 300 tons of beet root per week. A company proposes to erect six more establishments during next year. Refined sugar has not yet been made, but its manufacture will soon be commenced."

The A. F. MacLaren Imperial Cheese Co. are in receipt of a shipment of olives, the well-known brands of Chas. Gulden, in glass and kegs.

A car of green Rio coffee arrived in New York on Tuesday for The Eby, Blain Co., Limited. The coffee is high grade and a good roaster. It is due to reach Toronto by the end of the week.

T. A. Lytle & Co., pickle manufacturers, report a large sale among their customers for their "Sterling" brand sweet pickles, which are done up in small or large quantities.

The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, are offering special prices on their well-known "Anchor" brand brooms, and would advise all grocers to put in large stocks, in view of further advances in broom corn.

A. P. Tippet & Co., the consignees of the sulphur on board the steamer Forest Holme, report the greater portion of it landed safely; so the trade will not be inconvenienced, although some temporary shortage may exist.

An evidence of the merits of "H. & H.," the cleaner, is that without travellers its sale has extended from Halifax to Vancouver, including all the French territory. Mr. McIntosh, the Canadian representative, has been offered an increased territory, including the northern part of New York State, as a tribute to his good work in extending this end of the business.

The "Anchor" brand of pure orange marmalade has already gained an enviable reputation for its fine flavor. It is put up in 1-lb. glass jars (full weight) and quart gem jars, and is sold only by The Eby, Blain Co., Limited.

THE EBY, BLAIN CO. ENLARGE.

It is a growing time with The Eby, Blain Co., Limited, of Toronto. Owing to the increase in their business they have decided to enlarge their building at the corner of Front and Scott streets. Two storeys are to be added to the front of the building and three to the rear. When the work is compteted The Eby, Blain Co. will have a six-storey building, 50 ft. wide by 180 deep. The contract for the work was signed on Tuesday.

In order to facilitate building operations, the firm has decided to clear out some of its stock at special prices.

FRANCIS GALLOW'S WILL.

APPEALING TO THE PREMIER.

A DEPUTATION, representing the Toronto Board of Trade and the Canadian manufacturers, is to wait upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier on Tuesday next in order to impress upon him the necessity for the establishment of a Canadian trade office in London, and also the appointment of a Canadian trade commissioner there.

We are glad to see that these two influential bodies have taken upon themselves the task of jointly impressing this most important matter upon the attention of the Government. It is now two or three years at least since THE CANADIAN GROCER first took this matter up, urging it upon the attention of Sir Richard Cartwright, the Minister of Trade and Commerce. Since then the Manufacturers' Association has been most active and persistent in the advocacy of the same, but Sir Richard seems to remain obdurate, and it is only proper that the matter should now be pressed upon the Premier himself.

There is no question about the need of such an office and of such a commissioner in London. Canada in this respect is far behind Australia. Canadian manufacturers and merchants who visit London on business have had this necessity impressed upon them time and again, but so far they appear to be unable to impress it upon the Minister of Trade and Commerce. The Premier has shown himself to be more impressible in other matters affecting the welfare of Canada, and, it is to be hoped, that he will also in this particular.

UNCLEAN BANK BILLS.

IN the House of Commons, on Tuesday, the question of unclean bank bills in circulation in the Dominion was briefly discussed. It was brought to the attention of the House by Dr. Sproule. The Hon. Mr. Mulock explained that clean Dominion notes could be obtained if anyone asked the banks for them.

This is a matter which has been discussed in these columns before, and it is a pity that something has not been done to rectify the matter. Everyone who is conversant with the unclean character of many of the bills knows that they are not only dirty in appearance, but frequently emit an offensive odor.

Were it not a fact that coin is bulky, and often inconvenient, the unpopularity of paper money, on account of its uncleanliness, would certainly cause people to use the coinage rather than the latter.

As Mr. Mulock pointed out, clean bills can be obtained on application to the banks, and it is to be hoped that business men, particularly, will, by carrying out this suggestion, bring about the use of cleaner money, and cause that which is unclean to be kept out of circulation.

A more drastic, and perhaps a more effective, remedy would be to compel in some way the banks to keep back from circulation dirty and offensive bills that pass through their hands.

It is obvious that some severe measures should be adopted to abate the evil. It is to be hoped that some good will result from the ventilation which the subject received in Parliament, superficial and all as that ventilation was.

HONORS FOR A HALIFAX GROCER.

MR. W. H. CAWSEY, of W. H. Cawsey & Co., retail grocers and provision dealers, Halifax, has been elected alderman by acclamation for one of the wards of that city.

Mr. Cawsey is a young man, is full of energy and enterprise and if he is as successful in civic affairs as he has been in business, he will make his mark in the City Council of Halifax.

When he began business for himself he was only 16 years of age. To-day, three of his brothers are associated with him in business. Between them they conduct two stores besides doing a large oil trade.

THE CANADIAN GROCER has for years been urging business men to devote more of their attention to public affairs. We cannot say whether Mr. Cawsey has been converted by the logic of our arguments, but it is gratifying to us to know that he has done, busy man and all that he is, what we have so long been urging business men to do.

He is a foolish man who believes he is perfect; but he is a wise man who strives to get as near perfection as possible.

THE B. C. SALMON COMBINE.

Our exchanges from British Columbia indicate that the negotiations for the salmon combination are not altogether successful. No doubt a number of packers have agreed to be part of the combination, but all the packers have not so decided. A gentleman who has recently been in British Columbia, and has given some attention to the matter, informs THE CANADIAN GROCER that the largest packers on the Fraser are not in the combination. In his opinion, it is extremely doubtful whether the combination will really be consummated, while, if it is, with some of the largest packers outside it, there will be a good deal of trouble in store for the organization.

At present the work of appraising the different factories who have consented to sell out to the combination is going on, and time alone can tell whether the combination can be placed on a solid and successful footing. Our readers will remember that hitherto all similar attempts have been unsuccessful.

THE LABOR DISPUTES--A REMEDY.

THERE are strikes and rumors of strikes these days. Coming at a time when trade conditions are so healthy they cannot be viewed with anything else but concern. This is particularly true of the strikes in the building and allied trades. Never in the history of Canada have building operations been carried on so extensively as they are at present, and never, in consequence, has there been such a demand for material and labor. What the effects of a prolonged strike would be under such conditions no one can to the full extent calculate. It can, however, be well expressed in the one word "disastrous."

We do not propose to enter into the merits or demerits of the questions which have led up to the strikes. But those who have given the matter any thought must have wished for the consummation of some practical scheme which would take the place of the strike or lockout as a means of settling disputes between capital and labor.

If those immediately interested in the labor disputes were the only ones to suffer, it would not be so much a matter of concern to the community at large. But the trouble is that trade and commerce also suffer. Anything, therefore, that can be devised, whereby strikes and lockouts can be obviated, would be a benefit to society at large.

If both parties to a dispute would agree upon submittlng the same to arbitration, there would be no strikes. Only this week, Chancellor Boyd has agreed to arbitrate the labor dispute between the trackmen and the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. But the trouble is that all parties to a difficulty between employer and employe will frequently not consent to arbitration.

In New Zealand, as our readers are well aware, compulsory arbitration has been in existence for some time. And, while opinion is somewhat divided in regard to the working of the law, the fact that strikes have been prevented is an evidence that compulsory arbitration has succeeded in doing what it was designed to do. The fact that the new Australian Commonwealth has decided to imitate her sister colony is also an evidence that the compulsory arbitration of New Zealand must have some strong features to recommend it to the Commonwealth's Parliament.

Canada, too, is now proposing to take a step in the direction of compulsory arbitration, Hon. Wm. Mulock, who is Minister of Labor as well as Postmaster General in the Dominion Government, having introduced on Tuesday a Bill providing for compulsory arbitration for the settlement of railway disputes. It is therefore a Government measure.

When introducing the Bill he explained that it would apply to Government railways and to all railways under the control of the Dominion Parliament. Strikes and lockouts will be prohibited and penalties imposed for contravention of the provisions of the Bill. Every labor dispute was to be referred to a Provincial Board of Arbitration if the question were of a Provincial character. Larger disputes would be referred to a Dominion board. Each Provincial board would be provided with a clerk who, among other duties, would act as a medium of communication between the parties to the controversy. Each Provincial board would be composed of three arbitrators, one appointed by the railways operatlng within the Province, another to be chosen by the men, and a third to be chosen by these two. If these two failed to agree on a third, then the third would be chosen by the Governor in-Council. The Dominion board would consist of five members, two chosen out of the seven elected by the railway companies to the Provincial boards, two chosen from the seven elected by the railway employes to the Provincial boards, and a fifth to be named by these four, or by the Governor-in-Council. It would be the duties of these boards, first, to endeavor by conciliatory methods to arrange the matter in dispute; failing in that direction they would be clothed with ample powers to determine the dispute and make an award. On a Provincial board the decision of the chairman and one more would be an award. On the Dominion board the decision of the chairman and two more would be an award. This award would be current for such time, not exceeding a year, as the award should state, with provision that either party may terminate it within a lesser period, but that it must continue in force until another award has been made to take its place. The award shall not be cognizable in any court and shall not be removable to any court for the purpose of review, of amendment, or of being quashed.

It is not the intention of the Government to press the Bill through to its final stages during the present session of Parliament. That will be left to the next session. In the meanwhile the Bill will be printed and distributed, so that everyone interested may be able to thoroughly digest its contents and suggest any amendments that may be deemed necessary.

We believe the Bill is a step in the right direction, and it is to be hoped that it will be possible to eventually extend its principle to industrial disputes of all kinds, for all strikes and lockouts disturb the trade and commerce of the country.

Compulsory arbitration may be deemed by a good many people an interference with the liberty of the subject. But wherever there is an organized society there is interference with the liberty of the subject in order that the greatest good may be provided for the greatest number. And in the matter of compulsory arbitration the idea is certainly the greatest good for the greatest number.

A FLURRY IN POTATOES.

CONSIDERABLE advances have taken place in the potato market during the last two weeks. They are now worth 85c. per bag on the track in Toronto, and some buyers are asking 90c. That was the ruling figure early this week, the high prices being caused by the demand from the United States, where potatoes were worth in some places $1.50 per bushel during the latter part of last and the early part of this week.

The stocks on hand over there became low and a panic ensued. United States buyers came to Canada, bought up quickly all the potatoes they could at prices ranging from 80 to 90c. according to the distance they had to be shipped, and sent them over to New York, Detroit, Chicago, St. Louis and other centres. Numerous sales were made in Toronto at 90c. per bag and it began to look as if potatoes would reach $1. But almost as soon as they had come, the buyers went back, and the market is easing off here as a consequence.

Prices in the United States are still high, but already new potatoes are being offered on the Southern market and in two or three weeks new crops will begin to come in. So prices may be expected to decline shortly.

CAUSE OF LOWER SUGAR PRICES.

THE sudden and unexpected reduction of 10c. per 100 lb. in Canadian white sugars which took place on Tuesday evening is due altogether to local causes, the United States and European markets being firmer. And these causes are the importations of foreign granulated.

These importations have, so far this year, been heavier than ever. The latest figures we have for the present fiscal year are for the eight months ending February, and they show a total importation for that period of 35,404,518 lb., against 21,519,543 lb. for the same period in 1901. This means an increase of 66 per cent.

The following table gives the imports of refined sugars for the two eight-month periods of 1901 and 1902 :

EIGHT MONTHS IMPORTS.

	1901. Pounds.	1902. Pounds.
Great Britain	6,960,778	6,523,744
United States	7,696,808	12,103,427
Germany	1,544,231	12,139,081
Holland	2,474,104	2,632,783
B. W. Indies	.....	700
Other countries	2,843,532	2,004,783
Total in pounds	21,519,543	35,404,518

Imports from the United States are likely to be considerably curtailed on account of the new equalized freight rates which went into force a few weeks ago, but it is thought, as we pointed out at the time, that they will not materially effect imports from Europe.

On Saturday last the ss. Frisia arrived at Montreal with 30,000 bags of Austrian sugar. And this was, no doubt, the immediate cause of the decline of 10c. in the price of Canadian granulated on Tuesday last.

MR. HANBURY'S SPECIOUS PLEA.

THOSE in Great Britain who are in favor of the removal of the embargo against Canadian cattle have not ceased their efforts. Resolutions are being passed by organizations interested in the removal of the embargo, and deputations are waiting on the Minister of Agriculture in order to impress upon him the necessity of doing so. Hon. Mr. Hanbury, is, however, still just as persistent in his refusal to comply with the request, notwithstanding that it is backed up by a good many influential men in Great Britain. A deputation which waited on him a few days ago was told that since the Diseases of Animals Act was passed in 1896 the imports of fat cattle from Canada for immediate slaughter have been practically as large as the imports of both fat and store cattle prior to 1896.

It is all very well for Mr. Hanbury to make such a statement. It seems that he is unable to resort to anything else but to weak statements in order to back up his position. It was clearly demonstrated that when the embargo was placed on Canadian cattle no pleuro-pneumonia existed even in the animals which were alleged at the time to have the disease. There were no Canadian cattle then, either in this country, on the seas, or actually landed in Great Britain, that had the disease. Neither since then has a case of pleuro-pneumonia been discovered in Canada. Mr. Hanbury himself acknowledged that this is so, and, in fact, does not attempt to advance that plea as an argument for keeping out Canadian cattle.

He now falls back on the specious plea that the trade is not decreasing. While this is true, it can be said that trade is not increasing, in fact, the number of cattle exported from Canada to Great Britain in 1901 was actually smaller than in 1898. And one of the best evidences that the embargo is interfering with the export of Canadian cattle to Great Britain is the fact that this trade is practically at a standstill, and has been for five years, while in all other branches of our export trade to Great Britain there has been an enormous increase. Then, in addition to this, there is the fact that a large number of farmers and others in Great Britain are importuning Mr. Hanbury to allow what we call stockers to be brought in to be utilized for fattening purposes.

The following shows the export of Canadian cattle to Great Britain from 1895 to 1901 :

	No. of Cattle.	Value.
1895	85,863	$6,797,615
1896	97,042	6,816,361
1897	120,063	6,454,313
1898	122,139	7,404,388
1899	116,075	7,165,370
1900	115,056	7,579,080
1901	119,061	8,028,476

BUSINESS MEN OF PROMINENCE.

MR E. B. NIXON.

MR. E. B. NIXON, of Winnipeg, whose resignation as buyer for The Hudson's Bay Co., in order to go into business on his own account, was referred to in a recent issue of THE CANADIAN GROCER, was born in Montreal, but at a very early age was taken to England, where he remained until he was 12 years of age, and where he received the groundwork of a good plain English education. Immediately on his return to Montreal he entered the business of his uncle, David Crawford, who kept the Italian Warehouse, and was almost as well known as the city itself. Here the subject of this sketch began at the bottom rung of the ladder, swept floors, cleaned windows, ran errands, and worked up through the various stages of cash boy, office assistant, salesman, and finally head salesman of the house. This position he resigned to come West in 1882 to enter the wholesale house of Lyon Mackenzie & Powis, Winnipeg, as traveller and their manager of the warehouse. In the latter part of 1883 he joined H. L. Reynolds in a large retail grocery business, which was opened on the east side of Main street, near the site of the present Bank of Hamilton. After a short time with Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Nixon left to enter the wholesale and retail grocery house of David Nicholson, of St. Louis, where he remained until 1886, when he returned to Winnipeg as manager of the retail grocery department and buyer for The Hudson's Bay Co. This joint position he filled until 1900, when the growth of the business compelled him to relinquish the management of the retail stores and devote his attention exclusively to the duties of grocery buyer for the company.

It will be seen from the above that Mr. Nixon has worked up from the bottom rung of the ladder to a position of great trust and importance, and his success has been achieved through native ability coupled with unswerving attention to business.

Throughout his long business career, Mr. Nixon has had few holidays, and no serious illness. He is entering business on his own account in the prime of life and in the best of health, and his friends throughout the Dominion of Canada—and they are legion—will wish him long life and continued prosperity.

Beyond a regular and conscientious use of the franchise, Mr. Nixon has taken little interest in politics, either Dominion, Provincial or civic, but he has been, as already stated, an ardent admirer of legitimate sport and a great friend to the Victoria Hockey Club.

Mr. Nixon occupies a comfortable modern home of his own on Balmoral street, Winnipeg. His wife was a Miss McMillan, of Collingwood, Ont., youngest sister of the Hon. D. H. McMillan, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba.

The acme of every grocer's desire should be "success" with his Tea department, this being the pivot upon which the whole business must revolve.

ONTARIO MARKETS.

GROCERIES.

Toronto, May 8, 1902.

THE feature of the wholesale grocery trade this week is the sudden and unexpected decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in the price of white sugars. The outside markets, on the other hand, are ruling firm, and instead of a decline an advance was expected. The demand for sugar has been rather better than it was a week ago, and the same, in fact, may be said of the wholesale grocery trade generally. The demand for canned goods is certainly better than it was, particularly in vegetables, meats and fish. In spices trade is just moderate, with ginger rather firmer in the outside markets. Rice and tapioca are in fairly good demand, and the latter shows a little firmer tone in the primary market. Coffees are weak with the demand fair. Not much is transpiring in the tea market, and the most interesting feature is the strength of the Japan market, which has opened at about 1½c. per lb. higher than last season. In foreign dried fruits the feature is the strength of currants, which have advanced quite materially within the last week. On account of these advances the local market is firmer and some of the houses have advanced their prices ¼c. per lb. The scarcity of Valencia raisins on the spot is more pronounced than ever, but a shipment is expected to arrive before the week is out. In other kinds of dried fruits the demand is fair.

CANNED GOODS.

The demand for canned tomatoes and peas has improved during the past week, and a good business is being done. Nothing new has depeloped in regard to prices. Tomatoes are firmly held at 92 to 95c., with some brands selling at 97½c. The ruling price for peas is 80 to 85c. There is a fair quantity of corn selling, but prices continue weak at from 65c. upwards. A little better demand is being experienced for canned fruits, particularly peaches and strawberries, at $1.75 to $1.90 for the former and $1.60 to $1.75 for the latter. There is still some speculative buying in canned meats on account of the strong position in prices and the scarcity of beef. The scarcity and dearness of fresh meats is still stimulating the demand for all kinds of canned fish, the sale of which is quite brisk. This is particularly true of canned salmon, a fair quality of which can be retailed at 10c. a tin, but, of course, this is not Fraser River sockeye. Our quotations are as follows: Fraser River sockeye, $1.42½ for five-case lots and over, and $1.45 for less quantities. Northern sockeye, $1.25 to $1.30; cohoes, $1.05 to $1.15, according to quality.

SPICES.

The volume of business so far this month is not equal to that of April, although, for the time of the year, a fair trade is being done. In the outside markets the principal features appear to be the firmness of ginger. In other lines of spices prices are steady to firm.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a fair trade doing in both rice and tapioca, but more particularly in the former. Tapioca, which has been rather easier, has taken a firmer turn during the last few days in the outside markets. We quote: B rice, 3¼c.; Japan, 5½ to 6c.; tapioca, 3½ to 3¾c.; sago, 3¾ to 4c. per lb.

COFFEES.

The market for Brazilian coffees is still characterized by a great deal of irregularity, and at the time of writing is weak. The bearish influence at the moment is chiefly the increase in the visible supply of 134,833 bags during April, bringing the total visible supply up to nearly 11,400,000 bags of coffee. There has been a little business done on spot on importation account in both Brazilian coffees and mild Central American descriptions. On the local market wholesalers are doing a fair trade at unchanged prices, and our quotations are as follows: Green Rio, No. 7, 7¾c.; No. 6, 8c.; No. 5, 8¼c.; No. 4, 9c.; No. 3, 10 to 12c. per lb.

See pages 39 and 40 for Toronto, Montreal, and St. John prices current.

NUTS.

The feature of the nut market is a firmer feeling in regard to Tarragona almonds. In New York prices are about ½c. per lb. higher.

SUGAR.

Late on Tuesday evening a decline of 10c. per 100 lb. took place in white sugars. This, in view of the firmness of the raw markets and also of refined in New York, was quite unexpected, and the result is a somewhat demoralized market locally. No one seemed to dream of a reduction, and were, on the other hand, expecting an advance. The reduction is due to local causes, the chief of which is the arrival in Montreal of a cargo of Austrian sugar. The price of granulated is now on the basis of $3.70 f.o.b. Montreal, and $3.78 Toronto. Acadia granulated is still 5c. less than that of Montreal refined. Yellows are unchanged. Beet sugars, after an advance to 6s. 5¼d., receded to 6s. 3¾d., and the latest cables quote an advance of 3d. in Java cane sugar with beet firm. In New York centrifugals are strong at 3½c., being an advance of 1-16c. for the week. At this figure there are buyers but few sellers. The general tendency of the outside markets is toward increased strength. Until Tuesday's decline the Canadian market had a stronger tone in sympathy with the outside markets.

Receipts of raw sugar in the United States last week were heavy, amounting to 49,210 tons, while the meltings were 31,000 tons. Stocks were thus increased by 8,210 tons. Stocks, however, are nearly 60,000 less than the same time last year. Cuban stocks, on the other hand, show an excess of 227,000 tons compared with the same date a year ago.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

The demand for molasses is, perhaps, less active than it was, still there is a moderate business doing. For syrups the demand is fair. There have been some transactions between the refiners and the wholesalers in sugar syrups, but they have only been small. Advices from New Orleans say that it is generally understood that the coming crop of molasses is controlled by a few interests. This, naturally, imparts a steady tone to the market. We quote: Corn syrup, 3½ to 3¾c. in barrels and kegs; sugar syrups, 30 to 32c. for medium, and 35 to 40c. for bright. Molasses, 24 to 26c. for open-kettle.

TEAS.

The market for both Indian and Ceylon teas is weak. At the last auction sale, advices of which are to hand, the large quantity of Indian tea brought forward just after the declaration of the Budget, proved in excess of requirements, and prices declined ¼ to ½d. In Ceylon teas, there was a similar decline, although fine Ceylons were held fairly steady. On the local market there have been a few transactions, principally in good liquoring teas at 7 to 7½d. According to advices from Colombo that market is also weaker there. The market is, of course, closed in Calcutta.

In Japan teas the interest is, of course, in the opening of the market for the present season. Several cable advices are to hand, and all report a strong market. The opening prices are $3 (Mexican) higher per picul compared with last season. This is an advance of about 1½c. per lb. The advices say that the crop has been damaged by frost, and that it is likely to be short in consequence.

The fact that the United States is taking the duty off tea has also helped to give strength to the market. On the local market there has been some business done between the different wholesale houses, indicating that stocks of Japan tea are getting light. Ceylon green teas are being offered at from 7 to 7¾d. for medium grades, and there is a good demand from the packers, but from other sources the demand is very light.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The feature of the dried fruit market is the strength in currants, which, according to cable advices, are much higher than they were. Prices seem to be about 2s. 6d. above the recent lowest point. On Tuesday cables were received which were contradictory, one quoting slightly lower prices, and another even higher prices than at the close of last week. On account of the higher prices in the outside markets some of the local houses have marked their prices up ¼c. per lb., and all are firmer in their quotations. A fairly good business is being done. We quote: Filiatras, 5¾ to 6c.; Patras, 6½ to 7c.; Vostizzas, 8 to 8½c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—The position of Valencia raisins is also stronger. Stocks on the spot are practically exhausted, and wholesalers are buying from each other when possible in order to do business. A small shipment, however, is due to arrive this week, but this is expected to give very little relief to the situation. According to cable advices supplies are rapidly falling off and stocks are nearly exhausted at all points. Local wholesalers are quoting selected firmly at 6¾ to 7c. and layers at 7¼ to 7½c.

PRUNES.—The demand is keeping up fairly well and quotations are unchanged. We quote as follows: Californian prunes, 100-110's, 5c.; 90-100's, 5½ to 6¼c.; 80-90's, 6½ to 7c.; 70-80's, 6¾ to 7¼c.; 60-70's, 7½ to 8c.; 50-60's, 8 to 8½c.; 40-50's, 8¾ to 10c.

DATES.—There is not much doing and 4½c. per lb. is the ruling idea as to price.

FIGS.—A fair trade is being done in tapnet figs at 3½c. per lb.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS There is a fair trade being done at firm prices. We quote: Peaches, 11 to 14c.; apricots, 13 to 17c.

GREEN FRUITS.

The uncertain weather of this week has made the fruit market dull. There are large offerings of lemons of both good and inferior quality, large shipments having been received direct from Messina and other European lemon-growing districts, and these are being offered all the way from $2 up to $3 50 per case. Oranges are scarce, and Valencias have advanced $1 per crate. Pineapples are ripening in the South and larger shipments have come in, weakening the market for them here. More tomatoes and strawberries are being offered, and the latter are 5 to 10c. per quart lower. A few new potatoes and wax beans are being imported from the South. The potatoes are worth $6 to $7 per bbl., and the beans $2.75 to $3 per case. We quote: Oranges, Mexicans, $2.75 to $3.25 per box; Californian navels, $4.25 to $4.75 per box; Mediterranean sweets, $4 00 to $4.50; Valencias, $6 to $6.50 per small case, $7 to $7.50 per large case; grape fruit, $4 to $5.50 per box; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per bbl.; bananas, $1.20 to $2 for firsts, and $1.25 for eight hands; pineapples, $4.50 per case; Southern cucumbers, $1.75 to $2.25 per doz.; Egyptian onions, $3 per sack; Messina lemons, $2.50 to $3.50; Palermo lemons, $2.25 to $2.75; Sorrento lemons, $2.50 to $3.50 per crate; Californian celery, $4.50 to $5 per case of 8 doz.; Southern tomatoes, $3 to $3.50 per case of 6 baskets; strawberries, 12 to 15c. per pint, and 23 to 40c. per quart.

VEGETABLES.

There have been large quantities of outdoor grown rhubarb placed on the market this week, causing the price of that article to come down 60c. per dozen. Green onions are also more plentiful. Potatoes have advanced 15 to 20c. per bag and cabbage has gone up 10c. per dozen. No more Canadian onions are being offered and those imported from Egypt have taken their place. We quote: Green onions, 7 to 8c. per doz.; rhubarb, 20 to 40c. per doz.; carrots, parsnips and beets, 40 to 50c. per bag; turnips, 25 to 35c. per bag; lettuce, 20 to 30c. per doz.; radishes, 35 to 40c.; mint and parsley, 20 to 25c.; red cabbage, 40 to 50c. per doz.; cabbage, 50 to 70c. per doz.; dry Egyptian onions, $1.75 per bush; potatoes, 85c. per bag; asparagus, 75c. per doz.; butter beans, 90c. per peck.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS—The prices are firm at 12½ to 13c. per dozen and the receipts are moderate. The competition amongst the local buyers, together with their scarcity, keeps the prices high.

BEANS—There is little trade doing. We quote: Choice hand-picked, $1.20 to $1.40; prime, $1.10 to $1.20 per bush.

HONEY — Trade remains quiet. We quote as follows: Clover, in 60-lb. tins, 9½ to 10c.; less quantities, 10 to 11c. per lb.; in combs, $2 to $3 per doz.; dark honey, 5 to 5½c. per lb.

MAPLE SYRUP AND SUGAR — The demand keeps steady. We quote: Maple syrup, in 10-lb. tins 90c., and 90c. to $1.10 per imperial gallon. Maple sugar is quoted at 9 to 10½c. per lb.

DRIED AND EVAPORATED APPLES—There is a brisk demand for evaporated, but dried apples are slow. We quote as follows: Evaporated apples, 9¾ to 10c. in carlots and 10¾c. per lb. in less quantities. Dried apples, 5 to 6c. per lb.

POTATOES — There has been a heavy demand from the United States, and prices have advanced to 85 and 90c. per bag on the track.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER—There have been larger arrivals of butter this week, and this has had the effect of weakening the market. The stocks of old and inferior butter have been cleared off, leaving the market in a healthy condition for the spring and summer. The demand for choice dairy butter is good. Some grades of creamery butter are 1c. per lb. lower. We quote as follows: Choice 1-lb. prints, 17 to 18c.; large rolls, 15 to 16½c.; tubs, best quality, 15 to 16c.; tubs, medium grade, 13 to 14c. per lb.; bakers' lots, 10 to 12c. Creamery prints are worth from 21 to 22c., and creamery solids, 20½ to 21c. per lb.

CHEESE—Considerable quantities of fodder cheese are being offered at 11½c. per lb., and at that price sales are readily effected. The export demand continues heavy and the prices are firm and unchanged. We quote cheese at 11½ to 12c. per lb., in small lots, and 11½ to 11¾c. for export.

FISH.

Trade continues brisk in fresh fish, and the prices are steady. A quantity of mackerel has been received and they are selling well. The high prices of fresh meat have increased the quantity of fish consumed. We quote: Fresh fish—Lake Erie herring, 4 to 5c.; perch, 4 to 5c.; trout, 7c; mullet, 3c.; pike, 4c.; British Columbian salmon, 20c.; whitefish, 7½ to 8c.; catfish, 10c. per doz.; blue fish, 9c. per lb.; mackerel, 12 to 15c.

GRAIN, FLOUR AND BREAKFAST FOODS.

GRAIN—There has been some uncertainty in the Chicago wheat market this week, and the prices here are unsteady. Manitoba hard wheat is worth 86c.; No. 1 Northern, 82½c. and No. 2 Northern, 80c. per bush. On the local market hardly any grain of any description has arrived. Red and white Ontario wheat is worth 68 to 81c.; goose, 67½ to 68c.; oats, 46 to 47½c., and rye, 64c. per bushel. 77c. is the price paid on cars for fall wheat at outside stations.

FLOUR — The uncertainty of the wheat market is causing the buyers to purchase their flour only in small quantities, and so trade is quiet. The prices are unchanged. We quote as follows: Ontario patents, in bags, $3.60 to $3.75; Hungarian patents, $4.00 to $4.15; Manitoba bakers', $3.70 to $3.85; straight roller, $3 30 to $3 40 per bbl. in Toronto.

BREAKFAST FOODS—The prices are unchanged and trade continues fair. We quote: Oatmeal, standard and granulated, in carlots on track here, $4.75; standard rolled oats in carlots on track here, $4.50; in bbl., 20c. more; broken lots are 20c. per bbl. extra; rolled wheat, $2.40 in 100-lb. bbl.; cornmeal, $3.60; split peas, $4 75; pot barley, $4.25, in 196-lb. bbls.

SEEDS.

Trade is slackening as the season is nearly over. We quote out of store at Toronto: Red clover, $6.50 to $9; alsike, $10 to $16, and timothy, $7.80 to $8.25.

MARKET NOTES.

Hides have gone up ½c. per lb.

White sugars are 10c. per 100 lb. lower.

Potatoes have advanced 15 to 20c. per bag.

Valencia oranges have advanced $1 per case.

Currants are higher in Greece and firmer locally.

The prices of dairy and creamery butter are weakening.

Valencia raisins are almost exhausted on spot, and a small shipment that is due to arrive this week is not expected to give much relief.

Rhubarb is considerably cheaper than it was a week ago. Last week the prices were 80c. to $1 per doz., and this week they are 20 to 40c., a decline of 60c. This is owing to the outdoor grown rhubarb being placed on the market.

QUEBEC MARKETS

Montreal, May 8, 1902.

GROCERIES.

GROCERIES during the past week have been quite active all round, and with the opening of the St. Lawrence canals a considerably increased trade with points in Ontario has been brought about. The market for sulphur has become firmer in price owing to the destruction of a quantity of it by fire in the steamer discharging it at this port. There has been an advance in cotton twine of ½c. The wholesale houses report having difficulty in obtaining clothes pins. The demand is great now, and manufacturers have not been able to cope with it. Large cheese have advanced ¼c. and are now quoted by wholesalers at 11⅞c. Small cheese are still worth 12 to 12¼c. White beans are scarce, and the scarcity is not likely to be relieved until the new crop is on the market in August or September. Whatever is left of the old stock is being held by jobbers at $1.35 to $1.40.

SUGAR.

The market shows a further decline of 10c. per 100 lb. in white sugars. Yellows are unchanged at $3.05 to $3.70, and granulated is now quoted at $3.70. Trade is much more active this week, business with places west of here having commenced well.

TEAS.

Recent cables from Japan state that the market has opened firm and higher than last year. Judging by present conditions it is likely that a further shortage in the crop will occur. Locally, medium and low-grade Japans are scarce and dealers are quoting them higher. China greens are changing hands, going from one house to another, and in consequence are gradually working up in price.

SYRUPS.

There is very little doing in corn syrups, and our prices are only nominal. We quote as follows: 3½c. in bbls.; 3⅝c. in ½ bbls.; 3¾c. in ¼ bbls.; $1.60 in 38½-lb. and $1.20 in 25-lb. pails.

MOLASSES.

In Barbados molasses on spot there is not much business doing. One buyer reports receiving advanced quotations from the primary market. The price is still 23 to 24c., though business has been done in certain cases as low as 20c. Porto Rico molasses is quoted at 38c. per gallon and Antigua at 24c.

CANNED GOODS.

There has been no change in canned goods since our last report. Tomatoes are still very scarce, and holders are selling them between 95c. and $1. Other lines are not moving very well. Corn is dull. Canned blueberries are scarce; holders are few, and whoever has any has only a small quantity. The 2-lb. cans sell at 90 to 95c. Our quotations are now as follows: Peas, 82½c. to $1.15; corn (ordinary), 80c.; tomatoes, 95c. to $1; gallon apples, $2.70 to $2.80; 3-lb. apples, $1.00; salmon, $1.00 to $1.05 for pink; $1.30 for spring; $1.32 for Rivers Inlet red sockeye; $1.45 for Fraser

SPICES

Trade has been fairly good during the past week. No quotable change has occurred, and our quotations are as follows: Nutmegs, 30 to 55c. per lb., as to size; penang mace, 45 to 50c. per lb.; as to quality; pimento, ground, 12½ to 15c.; cloves, 15 to 25c.; pepper, ground, black, 17 to 22c., according to grade; white, 25 to 27c.; ginger, whole, Cochin, 15 to 17c.; Japan, 13 to 14c.; Jamaica, 16 to 20c.; Afghan, 12 to 13c.; ground, Japan, 15c.; Cochin, 16 to 17c.; Jamaica, 20 to 22c., and Afghan, 13 to 14c.

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

There is a moderate demand at unchanged prices. Quotations are as follows: B rice, in bags, $3.10; in ½ bags, $3.15; in ¼ bags, $3.20; in pockets, $3.25. In 10-bag lots an allowance of 10c. is made. CC rice, $3 in bags; $3.05 in ½ bags; $3.10 in ¼ bags, and $3.15 in pockets. In the open territory prices are about 10c. less. Patna rice is worth 4½ to 5c. per lb., and tapioca, 3⅝ to 4c.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

CURRANTS.—The primary market has advanced 1s. 6d. Trade, locally, is active. The outlook for the new crop is not very bright at present. Fine Filiatras are quoted at 5⅝c. in ½ cases; cleaned, 6c.; 1-lb. cartons, 8c.; finest Vostizzas, 7¾c. to 8c. per lb.

VALENCIA RAISINS.—These continue to be scarce. Some jobbers are entirely out of off-stalk raisins and cannot obtain any in a good condition. There is a limited quantity of four-crown layers, which is practically the only grade to be procured. They are selling at 6⅞ to 7c. What little off-stalk raisins are held are being sold at 6¼c. We quote: Finest off-stalk, 6¼c.; selected, 6⅝c., and layers, 6⅞ to 7c. per lb.

SULTANA RAISINS.—There is a good demand and the market is active at the present price of 9c.

CANDIED PEELS.—There is no change. Citron peel sells for 16½c.; orange, 11½c., and lemon, 10½c.

MALAGA RAISINS.—These have become scarce under a heavy demand. "Connoisseur Clusters" are not to be had, and the price quoted is purely nominal. Our quotations are as follows: London layers, $1.50 to $1.60; "Connoisseur Clusters," $2.15 to $2.25; ½'s, 65 to 70c.; "Royal Buckingham Clusters," $3.30 to $3.35; ¼'s, $1.05 to $1.10; "Excelsior Windsor Clusters," $4.50 to $4.60; ¼'s, $1.30 to $1.40.

DATES.—A fair amount of business is passing in dates. Hallowees are quoted at 4½c.

FIGS.—There is not much doing. Tapnets sell for $1.20 and layers for $1.15.

CALIFORNIAN RAISINS.—The scarcity of Valencias has turned the demand to seeded Californian raisins in which there is now an active trade. The price of seeded raisins is 9¼ to 9½c. per lb. Indications are that the new crop of raisins will be a good one.

PRUNES.—There is a good demand and the market is steady. We quote: 8½c. for 40-50's; 8c. for 50-60's; 7¾c. for 60-70's; 7½c. for 70-80's; 6¾c. for 80-90's; 6½c. for 90-100's.

CALIFORNIAN EVAPORATED FRUITS.—Business continues active, and prices are steady and unchanged. Apricots are quoted at 14½c.; peaches, 10½c., and pears, 10c.

NUTS.

No quotable change has been made in nuts. The demand is, naturally, at this time of the year, light, but better than is expected at this season. Our quotations are as follows: Walnuts, 9¾ to 11c.; Tarragona almonds, 12 to 13c.; shelled walnuts, 16½ to 17½c.; shelled almonds, 26 to 27c.; Jordan shelled almonds, 42c.; filberts, 8¾ to 9¼c.; pecans, 15 to 16c.

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

BUTTER.—Trade during the week has been somewhat irregular. Prices paid at the factory are from 19 to 20c. It has been possible to export a few lots under these prices, but most of the receipts are going into local consumption. There is a little dairy coming forward, prices being 17 to 18c.

CHEESE.—The price has not changed, finest colored still selling at 11 to 11¼c. There is a very good inquiry for old cheese, but little, if any, business is done, as buyers take the goods at the prices asked. New cheese is coming forward more freely. The market in general is still firm, though the volume of business is not great.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

EGGS.—Deliveries during the past week have increased but not sufficiently to make any quotable change. The increasing demand for pickling purposes has greatly helped to clean up the receipts. The price in wholesale lots is 12½c. and in single cases, 13c. Most dealers expect lower prices during the week, but it is a question whether this will be realized, as the advanced price in all other lines of food products will likely have its effect on eggs.

HONEY.—The market is still dull, prices being only nominal. We quote as follows: Buckwheat honey in comb, 9 to 10c.; strained, 7 to 8c.; white clover comb, 13 to 14c.; white extracted, 9 to 10c. per lb.; slightly tinged, 10 to 11c.

ASHES.—The market for ashes became much weaker during the week, and prices declined. There is a light demand. We quote: First pots, $4.30 to $4.35; seconds, $3.90, and pearls, $6 per 100 lb.

MAPLE PRODUCTS.—Trade is fair, most of the business being done in small lots. There has been no change in price, syrup selling for 70 to 80c. in large tins, and 50 to 60c. in small tins. Sugar, 9 to 9½c. for finest goods.

POTATOES.—There is a firmer tone to the market. Business is active. Choice Quebec stock, in carloads, sells at 73 to 75c. per bag, and ordinary at 55 to 65c. per bag.

BEANS.—The market is fairly active and an advance of 5c. was made in primes, the price now being $1.25 to $1.30 in jobbing lots.

GREEN FRUITS.

The fruit market is becoming more active as the season advances. Oranges and lemons have continued to arrive, the steamer Jacona bringing in some 30,000 boxes of lemons, Messina, Sorrento and Maiori fruit, and 24,000 boxes of oranges, mostly Sorrento fruit. The cargo of the steamer Forest Holme, now in port, was sold on Thursday, May 8, and consisted of 20,000 boxes of Messina fruit and 5,000 boxes of Sorrento fruit. Messina lemons have dropped 50c. per box. Strawberries have taken a further decline of 10c. per box. Pineapples are 5c. lower. Some small shipments of Canadian asparagus have been received. They sell at $2.50 per basket. Florida tomatoes are 50c. to $1 per crate lower, and No. 1 cucumbers have gone down 30 to 35c. Grape fruit is $1.00 per box lower. Our quotations are as follows: Jamaica oranges, in bbls., $4.50 to $4.75; in boxes, $2.75; Valencia oranges, 420's, $5.00; 420's, Jumbo, $4.75; 714's, $5; Messina lemons, $2 to $3 per box; pineapples, 20 to 25c.; Canadian apples, $4.25 to $5.50 per bbl.; cocoanuts, $3.50 per bag of 100; bananas, No. 1, $1.25 to $2, and eight hands, $1 to $1.50; sweet potatoes, Vinelands, $5.50 to $6; Malaga grapes, $5.50 to $7 per keg; cranberries, $7.75 to $10.50; red onions, $3.50 per barrel; yellow $3.25; chestnuts, 10 to 11c.; Italian chestnuts, 12½c.; grape fruit, $4.25 to $5 per box; Florida tomatoes, $3 to $3.50 per crate; fine spies, $5.00 to $5.50; radishes, 45c. per doz.; spinach, $3 per bbl.; No. 1 cucumbers, $1.20 to $1.40 per doz.; strawberries, 25 to 30c. per box; asparagus, 50 to 60c. per bunch; Boston lettuce, $1.00 per dozen; Canadian lettuce, 40c. per doz.; Canadian spinach, $2.75 to $3 per bbl.

FISH.

Business in fish continues fair. Salmon has been selling very well this week. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 6c.; bloaters, 95c. per box; kippers, 90c. per box; smoked herrings, 9 to 10c. per box; fresh haddock and cod, 3½c. per lb.; whitefish, 6½c.; dore, 5½c.; pike, 4½c.; halibut, 10 to 12c.; salmon, 12½c.; trout, large and medium, 7c.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $4.75 to $5.25 per bbl.; No. 1 herrings, Nova Scotia, $2.80 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Holland herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, $6.50 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 Scotch herrings, 98c. per keg; Holland herrings, 72c. per keg; salted eels, 6½c. per lb.; No. 1 green codfish, $6.00 to $6.25 per barrel; No. 2, $4.50 to $5.00 per barrel; large, $6.50; No. 1 green haddock, $4.25 per bbl.; No. 1 pickled sardines, $5.50 per bbl.; No. 2 mackerel, $12.50 per bbl.; No. 3 mackerel, $9.00 per bbl.; cod, 1 and 2-lb. blocks, 6c. per lb.; loose, boneless cod, 5c. per lb. in 40-lb. boxes; dressed codfish, $4.80 per case; dry codfish, $4.65 per 112-lb. bundle; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $17.50 in tierces; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $10 to $11 per bbl.; No. 1 Labrador salmon, $6 per ½ bbl.; No. 1 British Columbian salmon, $5 per ½ bbl. and $9 per bbl.; standard bulk oysters, $1.30 per gallon; select bulk oysters, $1.50 per gallon; Malpeque, Blue Point and other shelled oysters, $6 per bbl.; clams, in shell, $4.50 per bbl.; Marshall's kippered herrings, and same with tomato sauce, $1.45 per dozen; Canadian kippered, $1 per dozen; Canadian ¼ sardines, $3.75 per 100; canned Cove oysters, No. 1 size, $1.30 per dozen; canned Cove oysters, No. 2 size, $2.20 per dozen.

FLOUR AND GRAIN.

FLOUR.—There is a moderate demand from both local and country buyers. Manitoba spring wheat patents have advanced 15 to 35c., and strong bakers' the same. We quote: Manitoba spring wheat patents, $3.90 to $4.25; winter wheat

"The Grocer's" tour of South Africa

Our policy has always been expansion. It took us many years of hard and steady work to build up our circulation in Canada, and that persistent effort has not ceased yet—even though we have received subscriptions from about 90 per cent. of the grocers and general store keepers throughout the Dominion.

Next field was Great Britain—for exporters. Our EXPORT NUMBER each May is sent out to a list representing practically all the provision buyers, importers, colonial merchants, and produce brokers in Great Britain and Ireland. Our representative obtained these lists from the various associations connected with the produce trade, and numerous private lists were placed at the disposal of THE GROCER when the object was made known.

Now, it is South Africa. The country is settling down again after its years of disorganization, and business is more active than ever—under the British flag. We have been fortunate in securing accurate lists of the best provision houses, and importers of flour, grain, cereals, meats, canned goods, etc., etc. All dealers on these lists will receive copies of the EXPORT NUMBER, and will be advised beforehand, in order that they may fully appreciate the object with which it is sent.

Exporters have a rare opportunity here for getting in communication with buyers in this important field. The demand for all classes of goods will grow with the fast increasing influx of new settlers, so connections made now are sure to grow stronger later on.

Have you anything to sell in either field? We reach Great Britain and South Africa—the old and the new markets. There are innumerable openings in both for Canadian goods, and a good bold advertisement will help you to get a footing.

OFFICES: MONTREAL and TORONTO

patents, $3.75 to $3.85; strong bakers', $3.55 to $3.95; straight rollers, $3.40 to $3.50.

GRAIN.—The grain market is not active. Oats are firmer and have advanced. Our quotations are now as follows: Ontario No. 1 spring wheat afloat, May, 77c.; No. 2 spring wheat, 76c.; peas, 87½c.; rye, 62½c.; oats, 17c. ex-store; corn, 72c.; buckwheat, 67c., middle freights; feed barley, 51 to 52c. ex-store.

OATMEAL.—The demand is fair, mostly for small lots. Prices are unchanged. We quote: $4.90 to $5 in bbls, and $2.40 to $2.50 in bags.

FEED.—There is an active inquiry for feed, but deliveries are light and not a great deal of business is done. We quote: Ontario bran, in carlots, $18.50 per ton; shorts, $21.50; Manitoba bran, $19; shorts, $22 per ton, including bags.

BALED HAY.—The market is fairly active and prices are steady and unchanged. We quote as follows: No. 1 timothy, $9 to $9.50; No. 2, $8 to $8.50; clover, mixed, $7.50 to $8; clover, $7 to $7.50 per ton, in carlots.

MONTREAL NOTES.

Sugar is 10c. lower.

Valencia raisins have advanced.

Messina lemons are 50c. lower.

Pineapples have gone down 5c.

Strawberries are selling 10c. lower per box.

Pork, both Canadian and American, has advanced.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., May 3, 1902.

MOVING day has come and gone. The day was a very wet one. Many had to move. More each year endeavor to move before May 1. The week in business circles has seen quite an active movement in goods, although prices show little change. Beans and flour are quoted higher. The merchants are well pleased with the regulation among themselves and the millers in regard to the selling price of flour. It gives them a profit and enables them to follow the market up as well as down, which has not been the case, as previously they were compelled to follow it down, but could seldom get the advance. Cream of tartar is rather higher. Ginger is somewhat lower. Jamaica is quite low.

OILS.—In burning oils there is rather less movement. The quiet season of the year is at hand. Prices are unchanged. Lubricating oils are having a large sale at steady prices. The prospects are bright for a good season. Paint oils are firm at the quite high figure. Cod and seal oil are held firm, and supplies are light.

SALT.—There is a fair stock of Liverpool coarse salt held, and the market is firm. While some direct shipments will be received during the month some are now afloat for here from Boston, being shipped via that port. In fine salt, two houses here are packing fine English salt in wood boxes. Our market has never adjusted itself to the advanced price of Canadian in wood boxes We quote as follows: Liverpool coarse, 50 to 60c.; English factory-filled, 95c. to $1; Canadian fine, $1 per bag; cheese and butter salt, bulk, $2.40 per bbl.; 5-lb. bags, $2.85 to $2.90 per bbl.; 10-lb. bags, $2.70 to $2.75 per bbl.; 20-lb. wood boxes, 22c. each; 10-lb. wood boxes, 14c. each; cartons, $2 per case of 2 dozen; English bottled salt, $1.25 to $1.30 per dozen; mineral rock salt, 60c. per 100 lb. (Selected lumps.)

CANNED GOODS.—In tomatoes the market is much firmer. The supply here is not large. Corn moves freely at even figures. Peas have not been large sellers. Supplies seem ample. Perhaps rather larger stocks were held owing to the advance early last fall. In blueberries, the market is quite bare. There has been an increased demand for these during the last few years. Last fall the supplies were very light. Strawberries are not a large stock, being quite good sellers. Peaches, particularly two's, have a fair demand. Gallon apples are scarce. Salmon is unchanged, and there is a fair business. Meats are higher and very firm. There is an improved demand. The packing season for domestic fish is now here. The past season has shown improved sales.

GREEN FRUITS.—Bananas have been very plentiful and cheap, two dozen good bananas for 25c. being the regular retail price, perhaps as low as good bananas have ever sold at here. In oranges, some few Jamaicas were received by direct steamer, and further arrivals are expected via Halifax about next week. Valencias are high and are held very firm. They have a large sale. Lemons are still low. One of our fruitmen attended the Montreal sale this week. A few pines have been received, and the quality is but fair with the sale light. Strawberries are rather lower and receipts a little larger, but the season is still early.

DRIED FRUITS.—There is little news. Some Valencia raisins held here have been sold in Quebec. The sale for raisins is small at this season. Currants have a good regular sale at quite low figures. The sale is for cleaned in cartons. The market is largely supplied from New York. In prunes, prices seem lower than ever. The old prunes carried over in California have upset the market. These goods, being packed this season, look and sell well. Sales have not been large. Evaporated apples are scarce and high. In dates there is a fair sale at full figures. Egyptian onions are rather higher. The prices have remained much higher this season than last. It is said the season is about over. Our dealers hold quite good stocks.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—In butter, our market has been quite well cleaned up for export. This has been a very welcome business, as there were quite large supplies of poor stock. Prices are rather higher. New is coming in more freely. Cheese are scarce and higher. A few new have been received. Eggs are quite firm, with supplies not large.

SUGAR.—The very low price continues. The sale of granulated is large. Yellows are pushed in the background. Some foreign sugar is sold. The agreement between the refiners and the trade is working better than ever. One firm which caused considerable trouble has come in and signed the agreement.

MOLASSES.—Two cargoes of Porto Rico molasses have arrived within a week, and further arrivals are due. The prices are low. In Barbados, supplies are rather small for the season. The local sale is not large, but the quality this year is particularly good.

FISH.—The catch of gaspereaux in the harbor, which should be the matter of particular interest, is disappointing and unless there is a great change the pack of alewives will be light. A few shad are seen. In dry cod and pollock the market is somewhat dull. Prices are easy. Smoked herring are very low and pickled are dull. Halibut is quite high. Our quotations are as follows: Haddies, 4½ to 5c.; smoked herring, 5 to 6c.; fresh haddock and cod, 2 to 2½c.; boneless fish, 4 to 5c.; pollock, $1.50 to $1.60 per 100 lb.; pickled herring, $1.50 to $1.75 per ½ bbl.; Canso herring, $5.75 per bbl.; kippered gaspereaux, $1.10 per box; Shelburne, $2.50 per ½ bbl.; dry cod, $3.50 to $3.65; fresh gaspereaux, 65c.; smoked, do., $1; halibut, 10c.; shad, 14c.

FLOUR, FEED AND MEAL.—In flour, rather higher prices rule and the market is very firm. Feed is high and scarce. In oatmeal there is quite a range in price, and the market is rather firmer. Oats are firmer and there are fair sales. Cornmeal is unchanged, but the market is rather firmer. Beans are higher from 10 to 15c. They are not freely offered. Spot stocks are light. Barley is dull. Split peas are high and scarce. In seeds the season has been a good one, and sales are quite active. Timothy is again high. Our quotations are as follows: Manitoba flour, $4.80 to $4.90; best Ontario, $4.10 to $4.25; medium, $3.70 to $3.80; oatmeal, $5.00 to $5.10; cornmeal, $2.95 to $3.00; middlings, $26 to $28; oats, 52 to 54c.; handpicked beans, $1.50 to $1.60; prime, $1.40 to $1.50; yellow eye beans, $2.80 to $3.00; split peas, $5.15 to $5.25; barley, $4.50 to $4.55; hay, $12 to $14.

The grocer talks to a woman about Chase & Sanborn's Coffee—describes it, prices it, illustrates it, shows it—but all this does not convince her to use it. Then she drinks merely a single teaspoonful of it and ever after insists upon Chase & Sanborn's. This happens almost daily. Only extra choice Coffee can thus change the habit of years. But Chase & Sanborn's Coffee will do it.

TROUBLE AMONG WINNIPEG FRUIT DEALERS.

(From Winnipeg Telegram.)

LAST year the retail fruitmen of the city attempted an experiment to break up the fruit combine which has been in effect among the wholesale dealers for many years. On that occasion they shipped in a carload of peaches themselves and were thus enabled to cut down the price to the consumer very materially. Now they have taken a step further and have formed a combine of their own, which it is hoped will effectually close out the wholesale trust.

A number of them have got together and put up $10,000 with which to commence a wholesale business of their own. The intention is to ship in fruit in carload lots from the various orchards of the world and sell it by retail on the Winnipeg market at just such a price as will recoup them for their outlay and leave a fair margin of profits to the sellers.

The effect of the move is for the future to unfold but those at the head claim that it will at once materially lower the price to be paid by the consumer and put the trade on a proper basis so far as it relates to the retailers.

Under existing conditions they claim that the fruit combine practically prevents any credit being given to the most honest of traders. The method being to supply fruit as desired during the week and sending round on Wednesday to collect payment in full for all shipments during the week. Cash must then be paid on the spot or supplies are immediately cut off until a cheque is sent. This, the retail men conceive to be a grievous hardship, and one which is seriously interfering with the proper prosecution of their business. But at the same time, although this is a serious grievance, it is not the only one. It is claimed, in addition, that the trust operates in another way. Fruit is, of course, a very perishable article, which must be consumed very rapidly or the loss will be heavy. Consequently when delays occur on the road the wholesalers often have to sustain heavy losses, and they have been in the habit of arbitrarily increasing the price to the retailer week by week so as to recoup themselves for losses thus sustained. The result being that no man knows, under the present system, how much he will have to pay for his stock next week. Furthermore, the wholesaler is alleged not to be content with charging up his actual losses week by week, but puts on also a sum sufficient to recoup him for profit which he reckons he would have made had the damaged shipment come to hand sound and good and he had parcelled it out among his customers in the ordinary way of business.

This is the state of things which the new organization of retail men intend to correct. They claim that a fixed price should be placed on the various articles which should fluctuate as little as possible, and although they admit that the shifting of market prices must, of necessity, affect them, the changes should be such as can to some extent, at least, be discounted in advance. Besides they do not see the force of paying for the damage done to fruit in transit. Last year when the C. N. R. announced an increase in the rate for carrying fruit to Winnipeg they gave as their reason the fact that they had to recoup the shipper for any loss which he might sustain in transit. If this is so the retail men do not see why the wholesaler should obtain from the railway company damages which are afterwards charged up to them as well. They allege instead that they should be able to save all that is lost in this way for by shipping their own cars in they would get the advantage of the railway payments and have no combine to pay it over to again.

CLERKS' PICNIC.

It has been decided by the Montreal Grocery Clerks' Association to hold their annual picnic at Carillon, Que., on July 6. A committee was appointed to visit that place on Thursday, May 8, and make all the necessary arrangements. Much interest is being shown in the event, and it is expected that it will be even more successful than in the past. The officers appointed in connection with the occasion were Mr. Martel, chairman of the dancing committee; Mr. Dubord, chairman of the banquet committee; Mr. Robichaud, chairman of the games' committee, and Mr. Sauriol, chairman of the committee in charge of printing. The treasurer will be Mr. J. B. E. Poirier.

S. H. EWING & SONS IN THE WEST.

S. H. Ewing & Sons, of Montreal, have appointed Messrs. Gibson & Hilton, of Winnipeg, as Western selling agents for their coffees and spices. What with the good values offered by this celebrated and well-known firm and the good connection Gibson & Hilton have in the West, a largely increased business should be the result of this appointment.

TORONTO CLERKS' PICNIC.

The members of the Retail Clerks' Association of Toronto will meet on Tuesday evening next to arrange for their annual picnic to be held at the Island on May 24.

A new salmon cannery will be erected at Smith Sound, B.C., by P. Hickey, engineer of The Hudson's Bay Co., and W. J. Kelly, of Kelly & Douglas, Vancouver.

We have a contract for one-half of the output of these splendid gardens this year. Output last year, 42,000 chests. If our contract is carried out by the tea planters we will be able to sell you at London auction prices. These teas are thick, rich, creamy and do not go off in flavor like most of Ceylon flavory teas. You buy good value to-day, in a month they are not worth within 5 or 6c. of price you paid for them, and then you wonder why you do not do a tea trade. Avoid this trouble by buying all grades of the Hapugastenne Gardens and have your teas every month the same.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

HALIFAX, May 5, 1902.

THOUGH the spring business, with the season, opened up a month earlier than usual, which would indicate an early steadying-down to the average trade of early summer, there has been no falling-off in the rush of the wholesale grocery trade as yet, and last week's business was a remarkably heavy one. Buying seemed to be general in every line, and none with whom I consulted had any fault to find with trade or the general trade conditions. The travellers out on the road—and they are nearly all so engaged—send in numerous, if not heavy, orders, and their reports of the business outlook throughout the Province have a very healthy and encouraging tone. Payments are being met with an unusual promptness in most cases, and the impression is given that money is rather more plentiful in the country than usual.

The market prices are, however, somewhat unsteady, and changes, though only slight, have taken place in some lines. Flour has been subject to an advance of 10 to 15c., but, as this article is remarkably low, no surprise was expressed. There is a firmer feeling in flour, and no doubt there may be a further advance, as soon as the crop prospects are fully known. Millers are firm in their demands, and there is some delay in filling orders. Oatmeal and rolled oats are also firm, and at an advance of 25c. Beans and split peas have also advanced slightly.

Refined sugar has now reached the lowest point on record, having been subject lately to a decline of ten cents, which was somewhat unlooked for. This is said to be due to the arrivals at Halifax and at Montreal of large quantities of German and Austrian sugars. It is not at all unlikely that sugar will advance again suddenly at any time, and probably run higher than it has been during the last few months. The preserving season will commence very soon now when an extra demand for sugar will open up. In connection with the decline in refined sugars, it is also noted that raw sugars advanced about the same time. This is considered an anomaly of the trade, as refined should have been firmer in sympathy with the raw product. Molasses prices are unchanged.

The retail market is in a healthy condition, and no doubt this is due to the presence of some 1,500 to 2,000 soldiers being in the city for the fourth contingent. Every one of these, besides having to be fed by the caterer, spends his amount, even if small, in tobacco, candies, oranges, apples —and no doubt in other lines as well. Every dollar spent in this way helps all lines of business by way of the great circulating medium—ready cash.

* * *

The hay situation remains about as formerly reported, considerable Quebec hay being imported. Oats are considerably firmer—much firmer than they should be at this season—and there is a tendency to advance rather than to decline. There is considerable hay and oats required at the concentration camp, and will be an extra large amount this week as there will be nearly 2,000 horses in the stables. This extra using up of stocks here will prevent an early decline in prices.

* * *

The egg situation is still unsatisfactory, except from the producer's point of view. At this time of year eggs usually wholesale at 10c., but they are now worth 12 to 13c., and the retailer has to pay 16 to 17c. for really fresh stock. Butter is still coming in more plentifully, but prices for best stock are no easier. From circumstances already mentioned, both these, with other lines of provisions, are in strong demand.

* * *

The meat situation is unsatisfactory. A week ago, beef on foot was subject to an advance of 1c. per lb., to $9 to $10, and still there is not enough extra beef coming in to supply the local market. The dealers say that they have not been making anything on the handling, even at the old prices—and now it will be much worse for them. An attempt was made to form a combine and raise prices all around, but some of the large dealers declined—possibly with the intention of freezing out the small dealers.

SCHEME TO MAKE BETTER CHEESE.

THE conference of Dominion dairy experts held at Ottawa, April 30 to May 1, made some important recommendations. It was stated that to secure a better and more uniform quality of butter and cheese all cheese factories and creameries should be organized into groups or syndicates. Each group would consist of from 15 to 30 factories under the supervision of a competent instructor, and all these groups should be centralized under one authority in each Province. Short courses of instruction should be held in the dairy schools for the sons of farmers, and this would insure cheese and butter being manufactured only in factories free from sanitary defects and possessed of well constructed and readily cleansed rooms, pure water, good drainage and clean utensils and surroundings.

All cheese factories should be compelled to take out a Provincial license. To secure efficient dairy instruction each factory should be charged a license fee so that it could be visited regularly in turn by instructors.

Cheese and butter makers will be urged to use the fermentation test and the acidimeter. The Department of Agriculture will be asked to supply alkali solutions and furnish cultures at nominal cost until the larger number used will allow them to be supplied by Canadian merchants. It was recommended that a dairy conference similar to that just held should be held every year in future.

INDUSTRIAL GOSSIP.

A COMPREHENSIVE PROJECT.

The J. W. Dumas Company, Limited, of the county of Gloucester, N.B., is applying for incorporation. The capital stock of the company is placed at $9,000, divided into 900 shares of $10 each. The incorporators are: Joseph W. Dumas, general merchant; Sylvester Theriault, postmaster; Peter Landry, farmer, of Grand Ance, N.B.; Isaie Godin, manager, and John Bolton, engineer, St. Joseph, N.B. The purposes of incorporation are to take over the business of Joseph W. Dumas, Grand Ance, N.B., and conduct saw mills, roller mills, carding mills, to purchase grain and wool and to sell wheat flour, bran, starch and to import and sell wool and the products thereof manufactured and unmanufactured.

A NEW BRUNSWICK COMPANY.

The Hartland Mercantile Company, Limited, Hartland, N B., is applying for incorporation. Twenty thousand dollars, divided into 200 shares of $100 each, is the amount of the capital stock, and the following are the incorporators, the first three named being the provisional directors:

J. T. Allen Dibblee, merchant, Woodstock, N.B.; George M. Shaw, merchant, Arthur R. Rigby, bookkeeper, Arthur L. Baird, clerk, Hartland, N.B.; W. Jack Dibblee, clerk, Woodstock, N. B., and Mary E. Shaw, married woman, Hartland, N. B.

The reasons for incorporating are to purchase the business of J. T. Allen Diblee and George M. Shaw, at present conducted under the style of Shaw & Dibblee, general merchants, Hartland, N.B., and to carry on a business as plumbers, tinsmiths, hardware merchants, grocers and agricultural implement agents in the Province of New Brunswick and elsewhere.

ENGLAND EDUCATED TO CORN.

FROM the United States, to meet the wants of Canadian and American visitors, green Indian cobs have been forwarded to the London market, this esculent being preserved in crossing the Atlantic by means of cold storage.

But this class of competition is not to go unchecked, and many astute market gardeners and others are developing enterprises to secure the British market for themselves.

In one instance we have to chronicle the advent of a new English vegetable, new, however, only inasmuch that until recently green Indian corn has not been grown as a vegetable in this country, although so well known in the form it was sent to Covent Garden from America.

It is true that the maize plant, with its tall stem, long flaglike foliage and silvery fringe, has grown for years in our gardens for decorative purposes, but the cobs have been neglected in their edible or profitable possibilities until last year, when certain market gardeners discovered that an ordinary summer will develop the heads in this country quite sufficiently for eating in the green state, and from these experiments it was found that in delicacy of flavor the heads grown in this country were fully equal to those grown in the United States and Canada.

So rapid has this esculent advanced in favor that whole fields are now devoted in Essex to growing this Indian corn, or maize, as it is called in England, to be cut early, and this season it is finding a growing demand at the large hotels in the west end.

The ordinary cookery books as yet do not include recipes for it, but in the preparation of this vegetable nothing can be more simple, for the cobs only need to be boiled in slightly salted water till tended, and served with plain, melted or oiled butter.

When taken at table one finds that "fingers were made before forks," for, like asparagus, it cannot be properly consumed with other assistance.—Pall Mall Gazette.

A FISH DEALER FAILS.

Ovide Moreau, fish dealer, Montreal, made an assignment on May 1 at the instance of Archer & Perron. His liabilities are something over $15,000, and the assets are the stock in trade and five lots at Cartierville, Montreal, which had been transferred as security to J. V. Gervais & Cie., tobacconists and cigar manufacturers, Joliette, Que., for a loan of $1,382.

A BIG TRANSPORTATION SCHEME.

A SYNDICATE has taken it in hand to provide a proper system of grain and general freight transportation from the great lakes to Montreal. Several prominent Canadians are interested in this scheme, among them being James Playfair, vice-president and general manager of The Midland Navigation Co., Midland, Ont.; John Bertram, president of The Bertram Engine Works, Toronto, and Joseph Kilgour, of Kilgour Bros., Toronto.

This company is at present in communication with the Montreal Harbor Board, asking them to recommend their project to the Government. As stated in the communication their plans are to erect elevators at Montreal and the Upper Welland canal. The elevator at Montreal would have a capacity of 1,000,000 bushels, and the other, at Port Colborne, a storage capacity of 2,000,000 bushels.

To provide the money for the building of these elevators a bond issue to run 30 years and bearing interest at the rate of 4 or 4½ per cent. is proposed. A sinking fund will be provided for in the bonds sufficient to pay them off at maturity.

The Government is desired to support the measure to the extent of guaranteeing the interest of the bonds of the company and the furnishing of free sites in localities where Government lands were suitable for the purpose.

It is hoped that by having elevators at Montreal ocean vessels could regularly come up the St. Lawrence for cargoes, as freight would be always awaiting them there. Grain would be attracted to Montreal through Canadian waterways and railways, and a regular and continuous carriage of Western grain to Montreal would take the place of that carriage which is now intermittent.

At present a large portion of the products of Western Canada reach the sea through United States channels. It is hoped by the scheme mooted to remedy this.

SECOND FRUIT SALE.

THE second of the large fruit sales at Montreal took place on May 1 and 2, when the cargo of the Jacona, consisting of some 30,000 boxes of lemons and about 25,000 boxes of oranges were disposed of at good prices. The lemons were sold on Thursday, and though bringing a somewhat lower price than last season, the sales were quite satisfactory. The fruit was in excellent condition, but the large supply is accountable for the lower prices.

A good many buyers from other places attended, and the bidding was brisk. The lemons sold as follows: Messina, 75c. to $2.30 per box; Sorrento, $1.10 to $2.85 per box; Maiori, $1.55 to $3.50 per box.
